SPECIAL STUDENT DAY.

The pastors of the churches of Greencastle has noted with the keenest interest and satisfaction the splendid work of "Dad" Elliot among the students of DePauw University. They desire to assure the student body of their eagerness to co-operate for the promotion of all things good on the campus and in the community. The four co-operating churches represented in the ministerial association, the Christian church, the Presbyterian church, the Locust street M. E. church and the College avenue M. E. church have set next Sunday, February 23, as a special Student Day, at which time sermons will be preached in all of the churches of special interest to and recognition of the students of the college. And they wish to assure them of the most cordial welcome to all of the activities and services of the churches, and of their desire to co-operate in the very commendable action of the Christian associations to secure 100 per cent attendance on the part of the student body in the churches of their choice.

WHEN THE BOYS COME HOME.

A Barbecue and Then a Memorial Hospital.

A great many soldier boys are quietly coming home and dropping into their accustomed places without any chance of their fellow townsmen being able to show their appreciation of their sacrifice and the great work they have accomplished. Just as the volunteers slipped away quietly, so many are returning, and no way of greeting them beyond what their relatives do.

I am counting the hours and waiting for the telegram that will tell me my own boy is on the train headed for home and I am devoutly thankful he is safe and well. I can show him I am glad, but I am glad and thankful for the other fellow's boys and would share my joy and gratitude with them, but so far no way has been planned that we may do so. I would suggest that we wait until the summer when all should be back home and have a great thanksgiving day, kill the fatted calf and have a feast, songs of thanksgiving and appropriate speeches and all that would be in keeping with a county-wide welcome home to our soldiers. Then as a permanent memorial I would suggest not a marble shaft in the cemetery that might be seen once in a while, but a memorial hospital here in the county seat as a perpetual blessing to all who suffer—a real mark of appreciation on our part of the toil, suffering and sacrifice of our soldiers who return home and a lasting and worthy memorial to those who will never return.

C. FENWICK REED.

NAZARENE REVIVAL

Evangelist Effie Moore brought a very stirring message last night on "Paying the Price," using the Scripture in the sixth chapter of John. She said, Jesus had been feeding the five thousand. He saw the crowd following him and perceived that they were not following for love of Himself but for the loaves and fishes. There are a lot of folks that covet and admire the happiness of God's saints and would like to enjoy the satisfaction that comes from a full surrender to God but they are like those people that were following Jesus when they saw what it was going to cost they walked no more with him. There is a large crowd today when they see that salvation means a separation from the world in the sense of being unlike it in conduct. That it means to quit filthy habits, pay up old debts, make wrongs right. The same willingness to confess to God and forsake sins that was manifest in the early days of Methodism will bring the same happiness and joy to the heart of that one who pays the price.

The afternoon service was a very blessed and profitable one. Sister Moore announced that she will begin soon at the afternoon services to take up a line of Bible study showing sanctification to be a second definite work of grace (the second blessing properly so called as John Wesley says) wrought instantaneously in the heart of believers (converted people) subsequent to conversion by the Holy Spirit. All are welcome to attend these meetings.

INSTITUTE OFFICERS ELECTED BY FARMERS

The Greencastle Farmers' Institute, held Thursday in the assembly room of the Greencastle high school, was largely attended and was a most successful and instructive one. Officers for next year were elected as follows: President—W. M. Goldsberry. Secretary and Treasurer—Mrs. Albert Houck.

"When you borrow, you lose a friend," said the wise student. A student who borrows has the feeling that his creditor is always eyeing him and about to approach him for the payment of the loan, while on the other hand the creditor feels that the debtor is trying to avoid him at all times. College friendships are often broken by these small loans.—Ex.
