MISS KATHLEEN JAMES, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. JOHN H. JAMES AND DR. W. D. JAMES OF THIS CITY ARE UNITED IN MARRIAGE AT THE HOME OF THE BRIDE'S PARENTS, SUNDAY AT HIGH NOON

A most impressive and beautiful wedding was solemnized Sunday at high noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. James, 111 West Columbia Street, when their daughter, Kathleen was united in marriage to Dr. William David James of this city, but formerly of Martinsville, Illinois.

The impressive ring ceremony was used, Dr. Levi Marshall of the Christian Church officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of only the members of the family and was beautiful in its simplicity.

The bride was prettily attired in a tailored suit of blue-wool twill with accessories to harmonize.

Dr. and Mrs. James left during the afternoon for Martinsville, Ill., where they will visit Dr. James' parents for a week. They will be at home to their friends after November 29, at 111 West Columbia Street.

The bride is one of the city's most popular and talented young women. She attended DePauw University and also State Normal at Terre Haute. She is a member of the several social clubs of the city.

Dr. James is one of the leading veterinarians of the county. He is a graduate of the Veterinary College of Indianapolis and also served as a first lieutenant in the World War being stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

ARBUCKLE ON TRIAL TODAY ON MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 13.—Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, motion picture comedian, will go on trial tomorrow on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the death, Sept. 9 of Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress. Elaborate preparations have been made for handling the crowds expected. Admission to the court room will be by card.

Unlike Arbuckle's preliminary hearing, to which only women spectators were admitted, due to the fact that it was held in the women's department of the police court, both sexes may attend the trial.

Among the spectators will be a delegation from the woman's vigilance committee. The jury venire of sixty-six citizens contains the names of thirteen women.

DEPAUW DICKERS WITH BUTLER FOR GAME NEXT FALL

DePauw athletic authorities have started negotiations with the Butler management for a football game between the two schools next fall. DePauw has offered Butler the date of October 28 but so far has received no acceptance, and the scheduling of the game remains an uncertainty. The place has not been determined, either.

Coach Walker yesterday received a letter from Centre College, Danville, Ky., wanting a game with DePauw for 1922, the date of Nov. 16 being suggested. In the letter it was added that Centre was losing some of its stars this year and the two football teams might be evenly matched for next year.

CLOVERDALE HIGH SCHOOL IS DEDICATED

EXERCISES IN THE NEW $116,000 CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON—STATE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION IS A SPEAKER

Cloverdale town and township dedicated their new $116,000 consolidated school building, recently completed in Cloverdale, Sunday with dedicatory exercises, at which State Superintendent of Instruction B. J. Burris was a speaker.

The large auditorium of the school building was filled to capacity for the event, which started at 2 o'clock. L. E. Michael, principal of the Cloverdale school spoke interestingly on "The Growth of Education in Cloverdale Township."

He told of the first school, which started in 1835 and told of the advancement to the time when there were 10 one room and one grade school building and high school in the township.

During his address he read a list of teachers from the time the first school was organized until 1908. The township now has four one-room school houses and the modern and commodious Consolidated schools in Cloverdale, which consists a grade school, Junior High School and High School.

County Superintendent Frank Wallace in speaking of the Future of Education in the township, predicted that with the new and modern educational plant, much more could be accomplished in much less time than formerly. He predicted a higher education with less time devoted to school work for Cloverdale township children.

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction, B. J. Burris, discussed the "School problems in Indiana." According to Mr. Burris the great problem now confronting the State Department is the elevating of the county school system to a place where it will be equal to the city systems. Mr. Burris stated that just such work as has been done in Cloverdale township would solve the problem and give the rural districts educational facilities equal to those of the cities and larger towns.

Senator Estes Duncan spoke of the "Community and the School," and pleaded for a close co-operation between the citizens and school authorities in putting their school system on the highest possible plane. Without this co-operation, he said, little could be gained. The program of the exercises is as follows:

FIRES DAMAGE 2 RESIDENCES IN GREENCASTLE

INTERIOR OF ALONZO COOK HOME ON FRANKLIN STREET SUFFERS FROM SMOKE—SPARK SETS FIRE TO ROOF OF J. H. PITCHFORD RESIDENCE

Smoke did much damage to the furniture and the interior of the residence of Alonzo Cook, corner of Franklin and College Ave., Saturday night at 9 o'clock when the pipe taking the smoke from the furnace to the chimney blew off filling the whole house with smoke.

Alger Leatherman who fires the furnace, closed it up too tight and the accumulated gas exploded blowing the pipe leading to the chimney off. The fire department was called but could do nothing. A loss of about $100 in covered by insurance.

A small part of the roof of the home of J. H. Pitchford, on Crown street was burned Sunday morning near 11 o'clock, when a spark from the chimney lit on the roof and started a blaze. The quick work of the fire department, who made the trip in three minutes limited the destruction. The men had the blaze under control in a short time with the chemical tank, no water being used.

Early this year the school board issued a statement that no face powders, cosmetics, rouges, peekaboo wais, thin stockings or abbreviated skirts would be tolerated in the schools.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASS. HAS INTERESTING MEETING

The Parent-Teacher's Association of the Martha J. Ridpath School held its November meeting Friday afternoon and despite the inclement weather twenty five members were present. Mrs. Ferd Lucas gave a splendid report from the State Parent-Teacher's meeting which was held in Indianapolis in October.

Dr. Richards also gave a review of the Red Cross work as he personally knew it during the war.

The organization passed a resolution signifying its support in every way possible to the coming Red Cross Drive.

This is important not only because of the benefits derived by any community in case of fire, flood or the other disasters but that we as a county may be able to retain our present Red Cross nurse and thus stand as one of the leading counties of the state in regard to the care and promotions of the health of our children.

Paul McCarty of Lebanon and John Redmond of Terre Haute who are attending Indiana University, spent the week end here the guests of Mr. McCarty's aunt, Mrs. John McAlinden.

NOTICE

THIS IS TO CERTIFY that The Greencastle Herald, Chas. J. Arnold, Proprietor, has this day purchased a 5-Passenger, $1,075.00 Buick Touring car which is to be given away as one of the many prizes in the "Everybody Wins" campaign. HERALD CHRISTIE-THOMAS AUTO SALES CO.

The names of the few candidates thus far enrolled in the Herald's $3,000.00 "Everybody Wins" Grand Gift Distribution are published today. Beginning tomorrow (Tuesday) the vote standing of the candidates will appear three times each week, on Tuesdays, on Thursdays and on Saturdays, therefore it is important that candidates report their vote collections promptly—daily if possible.

While this newspaper has been commended on all sides for its generosity, it is rather surprising why more candidates have not been nominated up to this time. In view of the number and great value of the prizes being offered, it is expected that a number of nominations will be received at campaign headquarters by time of going to press Tuesday.

IN WHAT CLASS ARE YOU?

People as a whole are divided into two classes—those who do things and those who do not even try, the latter class spending their time complaining that it's always "Somebody else" who gets the good things of life. They plod along on a meager existence simply because they do not seize the opportunities that are offered them. In life, you will always see those who make the effort—those who try are the ones who "cash in" on the good things of life. The ambitious, "I will" type of man or woman gets the worth-while things of life and prospers—succeeds because ambition is always rewarded. But this is not because they are brighter or more capable than others, but because they ACT instead of sit back and wail, "I can't."

OPPORTUNITY UNPARALLELED
And, so it is in the Herald's big $3,000.00 gift election. There never was nor will there be such an opportunity offered again to Putnam county people. Think a moment—realize just what this proposition means to you. Without spending a single cent, you can win as high as $1,075.00 in the next few weeks of your spare time. And you cannot lose for you are paid for every moment of your spare time that you spend.

Have you ever been offered a better business proposition? Have you ever cashed your spare time for more REAL MONEY?
Each and every prize will be given away absolutely free to the persons who are nominated in the election. Your name can be in the list of those from whom the winners of the big prizes will be selected if your nomination is sent in immediately. You can win the prize of your choice. But you must ACT NOW. The campaign is an extremely short one and will be "all over" in a short time.

"Well, there were only three boys in school to-day who could answer one question that the teacher asked us," said a proud boy of eight, according to a writer in the Chicago News.

"And I hope my boy was one of the three," said the proud mother.

"Well, I was," answered Young Hopeful, "and Sam Harris and Harry Stone were the other two."

"I am very glad you proved yourself so good a scholar, my son; it makes your mother proud of you. What question did the teacher ask, Johnnie?"

"Who broke the glass in the back window?"

A Husband's Mistake

Mme. la Baronne de Givone was a reproduction of that famous type of classic beauty, the Greek goddess, examples of which are so rare now and growing more and more so in this fin-de-siecle epoch. A woman born for the Olympian cothurne and the simple drapery clasped upon the shoulder, neither pretty, nor witty, nor marvelous in any way, but Greek, plain Greek from brow to instep—upon the word of her estimable husband, the shrewd, far-sighted, and successful financier, M. le Baron and banker, Alonzo de Givone.

The baron, moreover, was not wrong; madame his wife reflected the universal admiration as a polished reflector throws back the light; they always chose her to preside over those functions that required traditionally statuesque patronesses; men bowed before her as before an armed sentinel, and women never thought of such a thing as being jealous of her.

The age of this beautiful Greek, however, announced by herself, was of a very vague character, like the age of a statue as given on the bill of sale, "somewhere between nine-and-twenty and nine-and-forty-years."

As for the baron's age, it was that of all husbands when they are loyal spouses—fifty years. Very rich and childless, every evening saw them in the social swim, but leading there, as elsewhere, the solemn, ceremonious, well-regulated, dignified life of the old clock in the salon of their stately old mansion in the outskirts of the Bois de Boulogne.

But—alas, that it should be so—transcendent virtues are always subject to thunder-clap releases. One day, at the house of a diplomatic personage—a careless parvenu, who opened his doors to all sorts of arts and artists through an affected democracy—Mme. de Givone made the fatal encounter. She trembled—she the proud, distinguished Baronne de Givone, trembled before a comic singer, the vulgar star of a cafe concert hall.

He had come there, poor devil, to earn a louis and his supper, without a thought of reanimating goddesses of the Parthenon, and was chiefly concerned, while chipping out his "imitable imitations," by a suddenly discovered slit that striped with white the sooty black of his coat under the arm, and the necessity for keeping his hand clasped over his heart to hide the fiery stroke of an unpaid laundress's iron, which spread itself out in brownish tint upon an otherwise snowy shirtfront.

The physique of this singer of comic ditties perfectly corresponded with his employment—call-eyed, thick-lipped, nose like a duck's bill, awkward in gait, and with only the knowledge of making a stage-bow fairly well—an ungainliness, all the same, that mattered little; Mme. de Givone was caught by the epidemic that at times seizes all too-perfect women of vaguely defined years.

She believed that she loved Caesar Ibes, and fell upon him, like a bolt from a clear sky, with all the notes, flowers, invitations, et cetera, that women of the great world employ in such cases as barometers, so to speak, of the condition of their affections. Caesar did not, however, return this love, though touched a little, of course, like all amiable animals to whom, through an impulse of pity, one speaks caressingly as one passes. He did not love her; and when she called him the "ray of sunlight in the autumn of her life," instead of telling him, as she might have done, of his "imitable tones," a dull dislike rose up in his heart against her.

Caesar Ibes was not rich, either; Hermine bankrupted him in cabs engaged by the hour, and actually dared to offer him on his birthday a cigar-case embroidered by her slim Greek fingers, when he would have infinitely preferred to the work of the needle a diamond scarf-pin, or even a good imitation diamond, provided the mounting was not too sham.

Still one can taste a little of love and not become a drunkard. Caesar, not knowing what else to do, permitted himself to go on being loved and being ruined by cab hire, in obedience to the will of the goddess, who made of this prosaic and useful vehicle their regular and not too compromising trying-place.

It went on thus—well, really, it does not matter how long—when, one morning at the breakfast-table, M. de Givone, with frowning brow, announced a sudden departure, possibly a week's absence, and a call to Lyons on a serious banking errand.

Hermine saw him set out with the joy of an emancipated school-girl, and promptly dispatched a note to her "dear friend" to call upon her that coming evening, closing with directions as to finding the servants' stairway.

"My husband deceives me," she declared; "I am sure that he deceives me, because he has grown so cold to me of late. This voyage is but a pretext to join some—some creature. I scorn him, and I wish to see you—to see you here, in my own house come!"

The evening came, and the clocks of the quarter were still striking ten as Hermine de Givone, the "deceived" wife, all glittering with diamonds and rustling with lace, as she had come from the concert where Ibes, all the fashion at the moment, had been the hon of the occasion, stopped from herriage, dismissed the waiting-maid

GET YOUR NAME IN Nominations Must Be Made RIGHT AWAY

Today on the first page of this paper are the names of the candidates who have thus far entered in the Herald's $3,000.00 Grand Prize Automobile and Cash Prize Campaign.

There is plenty of room for more "live wires" in the Herald's liberal campaign. In fact, easily more subscriptions have been paid at the office, since the campaign has begun, by subscribers themselves in the regular course of business than the participants themselves have brought in. This shows that there is a tremendous interest in the campaign.

If you are alive—if you have the least spark of business judgement—the least ambition to better yourself financially and add to your present income—GET YOUR NAME IN. Show a little action and make more money in your spare moments than most people make in an entire year.

The big, brand new $1,075.00 Buick automobile and all the prizes are going to be given away just as announced. All these prizes are to be distributed simply in exchange for collecting votes.

You'll never again in Putnam county have such an opportunity—we'll wager you that. Never again will a newspaper offer such valuable rewards. THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY.
