

SAY!

(By CHARLES J. ARNOLD)

If Henry Ford is ever going to satisfy our curiosity he had better do it soon or the supply of curiosity may run out. It has been under a terrible strain.

Greencastle celebrated Fire Prevention week by having two fires. Which, by the way, is just two too many.

The toll of the Friday night grade crossing accident in Indianapolis has now reached 19. Miss Margaret Pauley, the last victim to die was the eighth member of one family to lose her life in the accident. And the horrible accident easily could have been averted had the driver of the truck, which was struck by a traction car, heeded the teachings of the Safety First propaganda.

Dirt track automobile drivers are running a close second to trans-Atlantic flyers in the casualty lists.

Ruth Elder, picked out of the Atlantic ocean by a Dutch oil tanker, after her trans-Atlantic plane had refused to function is now in Paris. Miss Elder refuses to "tell the story of her experiences." Perhaps she intends to capitalize on her experiences.

Things did not go right in football for me Saturday. I wanted Purdue to beat Chicago and Indiana to defeat Minnesota. Purdue got beat and the best Indiana could do was to tie its football guests.

I had the pleasure Sunday afternoon of visiting McCormicks Creek canyon, near Spencer. This has been heralded as one of the beauty spots of Indiana and has been taken over by the State Conservation department as a state park. Personally I believe that there are many, many beauty spots in Putnam County that have the McCormick Creek canyon cheated to death. If you do not believe it go down and take a look. If it is a beauty spot, comparatively speaking, I failed to find the spot.

Following last Sunday's "Four killed and many injured in auto accidents in Putnam County," yesterday was comparatively quiet. No bad accidents are reported. Perhaps the last week-end disasters caused the Putnam County motorists to be more careful in their driving.

One of the outstanding features of the DePauw-Earham football game on Blackstock field, Saturday afternoon, was that DePauw won. Butler comes next. Lets keep up the good work and defeat the "Bull Dogs."

Another woman is "poised" on the eastern coast ready for a trans-Atlantic flight. Lets hope her attempts will at least be as successful as that of Miss Elder.

Try as they will, the managers of professional football teams fail to stir up much enthusiasm. Football, so the public believes, is strictly a college sport, and where the big college games draw thousands the professional game draw hundreds.

Kiwians from Bedford, Bloomington, Terre Haute and Crawfordsville will be here Wednesday to "Make merry" with the home town Kiwanians. As guests of the Green-castle club members the visitors will be entertained at the Country Club. Golf in the afternoon with a banquet in the evening will make up the entertainment menu.

Come on with your boulders for the War Memorial monument.

"Out of the mud before winter sets in" should be the motto of the east Washington street road builders and the Indiana street pavement builder. And here is hoping that they can live up to the slogan.

The recent robbery of a Greencastle home was declared to be an "inside job" by the police officers who investigated. With winter right at our door "inside jobs" are quite in demand.

The condition of Orville Sutherland, Greencastle young man, who is ill of typhoid fever at the County Hospital, was reported very serious Monday. The attending physician said the young man was holding his own and that unless unexpected complications arose, he would recover.

THE DAWN FAILS IN OCEAN FLIGHT

TRIAL OF FALL AND SINCLAIR BEGINS MONDAY

MILLIONAIRE OIL OPERATOR AND FORMER SECRETARY OF INTERIOR FACE CRIMINAL CONSPIRACY CHARGE

HAVE HIRED BEST TALENT

Counsel Prepares For Long Drawn-Out Fight To Select A Jury—Venemire Number 104

By GEORGE E. DURNO
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil operator and sportsman, and Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, today were to go on trial in Justice Frederick Siddons' supreme court room, criminal division, on charges that they had criminally conspired to defraud the United States government of invaluable oil land.

They had the best legal talent that money can hire. Opposing counsel prepared for a long, drawn-out battle to select a jury. Available were 104 veniremen, comprising four panels, but as these are panels who have been assimilating court gossip for the past fifteen days it was quite likely that a special venire would have to be called before twelve men and women could be agreed upon.

As the courtroom was comparatively small, seats were at a premium. The corridors were cluttered with "trial fans" and prospective jurors long before time for court to convene. Deputy marshals manned the courtroom door and scanned carefully the credentials of newspapermen and others entitled to admission. At the far side of the building, a crew of telegraphers were busy at their wires, over which will go out to the world a complete story of the sensational trial.

Fall was showing his 66 years and the strain of a four-year battle for his freedom quite plainly. He looked far from well. Sinclair, on the other hand, was quite self-possessed. Despite the three-month's jail sentence hanging over him for contempt of the senate.

Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, special federal oil counsel, are charging that Sinclair diverted to Fall some $230,500 of the profits of the defunct Continental Trading Company of Canada, in exchange for which Fall turned over to Sinclair the lease on Teapot Dome in the naval oil reserve. A week ago today, the supreme court of the United States confirmed a lower court decision voiding this lease on the ground it was "shot with fraud."

Martin W. Littleton, of New York, William E. Leahy and George Hoover, of Washington, and Mark Thompson, of New Mexico, are the lawyers who will defy the government to substantiate its case.

FIRE DAMAGES COWGILL HOME EARLY SUNDAY

BLAZE CAUSES LOSS OF $150 ACCORDING TO FIRE CHIEF JOHN GODDARD—SMALL SON DISCOVERS FIRE

Damage estimated at $150 was done to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lois Cowgill at Hanna and Jackson streets about 10 o'clock Sunday morning by a fire which started under the roof and ate its way finally through the shingles. The blaze was discovered by a small son of Mr. and Mrs. Cowgill who was playing out doors. Seeing the smoke pouring from the roof the youngster notified his mother who called the fire department. In four minutes the department had the flames under control. Most of the damage was to the exterior of the attic where the blaze ate away rafters and supports before reaching the outside of the roof. A defective flue was believed to have started the fire. Sunday was the last day of National Fire Prevention Week. During the week but two fires occurred in the city the other one being a small roof fire at the home of James Tate just a block away from the Cowgill home.

MEMORIAL SERVICE OCTOBER 30

Prayers Offered At Church Sunday For Accident Victims—Death Toll Reaches Nineteen

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 17.—(INS)—With the death toll standing at nineteen, and one injured woman still in a critical condition, relatives today began the task of burying victims of the grade crossing crash Friday when a Union traction company interurban struck a truck trailer loaded with Sahara Grotto members bound on an outing. Fourteen persons were killed instantly in the crash. Four died within twenty-four hours. Miss Margaret Pauley died yesterday in the City hospital, bringing the total dead to nineteen. Mrs. Charles V. Wheeler, suffering from a fractured skull, today still was hovering at the borderline between life and death, at the City hospital.

Eight funeral services, for fourteen of the victims, were to be held today. Members of the Masonic Blue Lodge were to attend in bodies, and the Blue Lodge ritual was to be read at each funeral. Oct. 30 has been tentatively set as the date for memorial services by the lodge. Prayers were offered at churches in all parts of the city yesterday for the victims. During the day, it was estimated, more than 10,000 visited the scene of the crash, at 21st and Emerson.

JOYOUS RIDE ENDS IN DEATH FOR 3 PERSONS

DRIVER OF AUTOMOBILE IN CHICAGO SHOOT'S GIRL COMPANIONS AND THEN TURNS GUN ON SELF—LOVERS QUARREL DENIED

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(INS)—Moonshine, an automobile and a gun. This was the solution police contributed here today into the murders of two pretty stenographers and the suicide of the youth who killed them. Two empty moonshine bottles found in the wreckage of the car told the story. CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(INS)—A laughing joyous automobile ride turned into mysterious tragedy here today when the driver of the machine shot and killed his two pretty girl companions, until recently high school students, hurling their bodies from the car, and then killed himself. The victims were: Miss Margaret

CHILDREN MOTHERLESS; PARENTS DIDN'T AGREE

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(INS)—Two babies are motherless today because their parents couldn't agree on a name for one of them.

Mrs. Elizabeth O'Brien, high school teacher, wanted to name her second son Joseph or Parker. Her husband, William, objected to both names. The couple separated because of the quarrel, and Mrs. O'Brien committed suicide by turning on the gas in her home.

BISHOP EDWIN HOLT HUGHES DELIVERS ADDRESS ON "THE GIFT TO THE UNIVERSITY"—DR. MURLIN IN CHARGE OF CEREMONIES

Hundreds of visitors were in Greencastle Sunday afternoon to attend an event marking a mile stone in the history of DePauw University. The event was the laying of the cornerstone for the Lucy Rowland Hall for women at Hanna and Locust streets. Mrs. Edward Rector, Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, and Roy O. West, of Chicago, took part in the laying of the cornerstone of the new Lucy Rowland Rector hall of DePauw University, to be built at a cost of $250,000 from bequests of the late Edward Rector, Chicago patent attorney as a dormitory for women students. The ceremony was held here Sunday, October 16. Bishop Hughes delivered the principal address on "The Gift to the University." Mr. West, who is president of the board of trustees of the University read the contents of the box which was placed in the stone. Those who laid the stone were Mrs. Rector, for whom the hall is named; Bishop Hughes; Mr. West; Dr. Lemuel H. Murlin, president of the University; and Katherine S. Alvord, dean of women. Dr. Murlin was in charge of the ceremonies. Edward Rector, who died August 1, 1925 was one of the greatest patient lawyers in the country. TWO BEATEN TO DEATH; FARM ESCAPE SOUGHT

DAVID BOYLES AND STEP-DAUGHTER MRS. ZENITH BURRESS EWING, BOTH OF INDIANAPOLIS, FOUND NEAR GREENFIELD—WOMAN'S HUSBAND ESCAPED FROM PUTNAMVILLE INSTITUTION LAST WEDNESDAY

GREENFIELD, Ind., Oct. 17.—(INS)—Their heads and their hats beaten to a pulp with an army hatchet, the bodies of David Boyles, 65, and his step-daughter Mrs. Zenith Burress Ewing, 34, both of Indianapolis, were found today in a deep ditch one mile south and one mile west of Mount Comfort and five miles northwest of this city. C. M. Gibbs, after viewing the bodies, said the victims had been dead since Saturday night. Sheriff Harry Comstock and Indianapolis immediately started a search for the woman's husband, Willard Ewing, 42, who escaped from the State Farm at Putnamville last Wednesday where he was sentenced Sept. 9 for six months on a bigamy charge growing out of his marriage to Boyles' step-daughter. Sheriff Comstock said Ewing married Mary Day of McCordsville about a year ago. Boyle, Mrs. Ewing and Ewing were last seen in their automobile at 2324 Brookside Ave., Indianapolis, last Saturday evening, bound presumably for Greenfield to discuss with Ewing's lawyer the annulment of the second marriage. The gruesome find was made by Earl Hartig and Claude Whiteside, who were hauling gravel. The bodies were lying in the tall weeds on the south side of the road. The weeds had hidden the bodies from the view of hundreds of Sunday passing motorists. Both bodies faced west when found. A bloody army hatchet with which the two had been slain was found not far from the bodies.

JURY TRIAL POSTPONED IN LOCAL COURT MONDAY

Trial of the case of H. W. Proffitt & Son against Harry V. Beeson, venued here from Parke county, which was scheduled to begin in the Putnam Circuit court before a jury Monday, was postponed, because attorneys for the defendant were unable to be present. The case is a suit for $10,000 damages growing out of the burial of a Crawfordsville youth in 1924. The plaintiffs allege that an article published in the Marshall (Ind.) News following the burial of the youth was damaging to their reputation. The defendant is charged with instigating publication of the article. Both the plaintiffs and defendant are engaged in the undertaking business.

MRS. GRAYSON FORCED BACK AFTER HOP-OFF

TRANS-ATLANTIC PLANE TURNS BACK AFTER TAKE-OFF FOR COPENHAGEN MONDAY

LEVINE RETURNS TO NEW YORK

Miss Ruth Elder and Captain Alde-man Start For Lisbon Enroute To Paris

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., Oct. 17.—(INS)—Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson was forced to turn back on her non-stop flight to Copenhagen, Denmark within ten minutes after the take-off here today. Her airplane "The Dawn" did not rise readily as the ship was swung out to sea.

Four hundred of the 850 gallons of gasoline aboard had to be released three miles out and pilot Wilmer Stultz immediately turned about and headed back into the beach. "The Dawn" flew very low in approaching the beach. The plane was nose-heavy and Stultz said it was impossible to keep it up, after the ship landed. Tomorrow will bring the first opportunity for another attempt.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(INS)—Charles A. Levine, the only trans-Atlantic airplane passenger ever to come back to his home town alive, returns to New York today to tread the hero's path up Broadway to the city hall.

In recognition of his daring non-stop flight to Germany with Clarence D. Chamberlain in the Columbia, Levine will be given an official reception, including a parade and an official scroll commemorating his act. PLYMOUTH, Eng., Oct. 17.—(INS)—Four mammoth Royal air force supermarine seaplanes left here today on a spectacular cruise of 25,000 miles scheduled to last more than a year. The route includes the first aerial coasting survey of India, a complete circuit of Australia, and visits to Hong Kong and Singapore, where the cruise ends and where the planes will be permanently attached. The planes weigh 22,800 pounds each, fully loaded and have sleeping and cooking accommodations aboard.

HORTA, THE AZORES, Oct. 17.—(INS)—After being roundly welcomed and entertained by the inhabitants of this port, Miss Ruth Elder and George Haldeman, rescued American trans-Atlantic fliers, today bid farewell to Horta and started for Paris by way of Lisbon. They are expected to board the Portuguese mail ship, Lima, which will take them to Lisbon. According to Miss Elder, she may fly from Lisbon to Paris, where her trunks await her, but she added this depended upon circumstances when she reached the portuguese capital.

CARAVELLO, Brazil, Oct. 17.—(INS)—Dieudonne Costes and Lieutenant Le Brix, French aviators making a Paris to Buenos Aires flight, took off from here at 8:10 A. M. today for Rio De Janeiro. They are expected to arrive at their destination this afternoon. They arrived here last night from Natal, whence they had started for Rio De Janeiro. They were forced down by darkness.

VIGO, Spain, Oct. 17.—(INS)—Forced down here while making a flight from Amsterdam to the Azores with New York as their ultimate goal, the crew of the German Heinkel Seaplane today prepared to take off again for Horta. If weather conditions are satisfactory, they announced, they will continue on across the Atlantic to New York on a non stop flight.

INDIANA CAVE IS MECCA FOR MANY VISITORS

UNDERGROUND BEAUTY SPOT NEAR BLOOMINGTON ONE OF MOST PICTURESQUE SPOTS IN STATE — ELECTRIC LIGHTS SHOW WONDERS

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 17.—(INS)—I. U. cave, near Bloomington, one of the smaller caves of Indiana, yet one of the most picturesque, is becoming a mecca for visitors in this region.

All the cave has not yet been explored, but a lighting system has been installed in part of the cave, a refreshment house has been built, and acres of oak and hickory have been thinned out to make picnic grounds.

The cave is owned by Mayor Lewis Sartor and Henry Edwards, of Martinsville.

Down an avenue 1800 feet long the visitor to the cave walks and climbs to the bridal chamber. Pool table, alligator, and other examples of marvelous natural stone sculpture are to be seen in the cave. Two and a half miles west of the cave's mouth a subterranean stream comes to the surface as a spring.

In 1896 a boy and girl, students of Indiana University, were lost in the cave for more than two days, but finally found their way out, frightened and exhausted. Recently the owners of the cave were lost in its depths for more than an hour.

The property was purchased by the present owners from Mrs. H. H. Hetherington, mother of the former Mayor of Bloomington, John Hetherington.

MRS. FRANCES WILSON GRAYSON WRITES EXCLUSIVE ARTICLE FOR INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE—CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS ON TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT

By FRANCES WILSON GRAYSON (Written by the daring aviatrix on the eve of her flight from America to Denmark exclusively for International News Service). Copyright 1927 by International News Service.

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Maine, Oct. 15.—I am a child of destiny. I am about to realize the fulfillment of a dream of several years.

I am to be the first woman to span the broad expanse of the Atlantic by air.

My plane "The Dawn" will awaken American women to greater efforts in aviation and will bind together the women of the two continents. My heart is filled with joy. The greatest opportunity of my career is at hand.

We are ready, my plane, "The Dawn," my pilot, Wilmer L. Stultz, and my navigator, Eric Goldsborough. We are all in the pink.

All we ask is the favor of good weather throughout the trip. We will not be hurried.

I am going to win. I am going to place American women in the front rank of aviation pioneering. When "The Dawn" leaves the Beach here a successful venture will have been begun.

Our hop to Copenhagen is the culmination of many secret desires to do big things in aviation. As I look back, I remember that for two years I wanted to fly. But business made heavy demands on my time. I didn't feel I could afford the time or the money.

I realized that aviation was a coming thing of importance in world events. It was to play a large part in international relationship and as a means of international commercial transportation. That in itself was the first interest aviation held for me. Early last spring I started to fly. I suddenly wanted to fly across the Atlantic. Several times I was at

Curtis Field while preparations were being made for trans-Atlantic flights, and in my amateurish way wondered why manufacturers of planes were building land planes to fly across the Atlantic.

In my moments of serious thought about the possibilities of aviation I wondered if a woman couldn't successfully organize an expedition for a trans-Atlantic flight. I then looked into the airplane market for a land and water plane. I wanted one that would ride the waves if I were forced to come down at sea. In my search I found that the Sikorsky Corporation was building such a plane.

I wanted to make it a woman's program exclusively. Therefore, I didn't want any but women interested in the financing of the flight.

About that time Mrs. Aage Ancker, of Copenhagen, arrived in this country from Europe. She too was interested in aviation. We discussed my ambitions and she decided I could carry out such a program. She then placed money at my disposal for the expense of fitting out the expedition.

How we strived to make ready for the flight is really known only to us who are about to entrust ourselves to the worthiness of the plane and the wisdom of our plans.

I realize full well the lateness of the season for trans-Atlantic flight. I realize also, however, that the time will come when we will be flying across the oceans the year around.

Our ship is sturdy and can ride the waves if necessary. I hold no fears for our safety in the event we are forced to come down at sea.

The weather is now favorable, I believe, though it has taken weeks of patient waiting to obtain such conditions while others were making an effort to be the first to cross the Atlantic.

I feel sure that our flight will be successful and that a woman—an Indian girl—can succeed in such a venture despite the kindly warnings of many.

I feel that those who have cautioned us against going did so because they were not close enough to the picture. I believe we will succeed. I may be wrong but at this writing I think I am right.

That is my attitude as I am about to draw away from the shores of our wonderful United States headed for the hospitable shores of old Europe—to awaken a new dawn for American womanhood and cement the friendship of the women of the world.

EXPERTS FIND HUMAN BODY ONLY LIMIT TO SPEED FOR PLANES

By International News Service

LONDON, Oct. 17.—So great was the speed attained by the Supermarine Napier S-5 Seaplane flown by Flight-Lieut. S. N. Webster that students of aeronautics are being seriously asked whether it will be humanly possible to fly faster.

The general view of British pilots, aircraft manufacturers and designers of aero engines is that there is no reason why ever greater speeds should not be attained in the air. A few, on the other hand, think that greater speed can only come by changes in the design of aircraft, so that the pilot will not have to stand the great pressure set up, particularly when the machine is turning.

Members of the firm of D. Napier and Sons, designers and constructors of the engines with which all the British machines in the Schneider Cup were fitted, think that the engines were patently able to stand up to even greater speeds. None of them gave the slightest trouble in the race, and it was not on account of the failure of his motor that Lieut. Kinkead had to give up.

Captain H. Board, who won the race for Britain one a Supermarine Napier in 1923, when it was flown in Italy, says, "I think machines will be constructed that will attain greater and greater speeds. That seems a reasonable assumption."

Medical opinion, however, inclines to the view that the human frame could not stand up to the pressure of cornering a plane with an open cockpit at very much more than five miles a minute.

YOUTH STEALS PAIR OF GLOVES AT PERU—MAD ALL OVER WHEN HE IS SENTENCED TO JAIL INSTEAD OF PUTNAMVILLE INSTITUTION

A twenty-year-old youth, giving his name as Dante Cheisy and home Taylorsville, Ill., stepped into the C. & O. crossing watchman's shanty on South Broadway about 11 o'clock Friday morning and asked T. S. Bowling the watchman, if he could remain for a while and get warm. He was permitted to remain in the shanty while Watchman Bowling went about his work. Some time after the youth had gone Bowling missed a pair of new dollar gloves, the matter was reported to the officers and in the afternoon the boy was located and placed under arrest. He was wearing the gloves when arrested.

This morning Cheisy was arraigned in police court for petit larceny and was fined $10 and costs, to which was added a jail sentence of ten days. On the way back to jail in custody of an officer the youth said he couldn't see what was the matter with the mayor. He was mad all over because he was not sent to the penal farm for ninety days, so that he could have a home for the winter. He said he had served time on the Illinois penal farm and was just recently discharged from there.—Peru Tribune.

TIGER RALLY WINS GAME IN THIRD QUARTER

EARLHAM TOUCHDOWN IN OPENING QUARTER GIVES VISITORS 7-0 LEAD IN FIRST HALF—METHODISTS SCORE TWO TOUCHDOWNS IN SECOND HALF—ANDERSON AND GUNN HURT

Gloom descended upon football fans here Monday when it was announced that Capt. "Swede" Anderson left end and Gunn, quarter back had received injuries in the Earlham game Saturday that will keep them out of the DePauw lineup against Butler this coming Saturday. Coach W. L. Hughes stated that both players had sustained either badly sprained or fractured ankles. Each is forced to walk aided by crutches. The Tiger mentor said it will be practically impossible to have either in condition in time to play against the Bulldogs.

With Johnny Marshall, sub center and Hogan, a deceptive half back also on the hospital list, Hughes is planning only light workouts during the week in an effort to get his injured stars in shape. Loveless will take Capt. Anderson's place at end in practice tomorrow. "Speed" Brandenburg will be shifted from this regular position at left half to Gunn's job of calling signals. "Stew" Smith, Vaughn Scott and either Marion Crawley a Greencastle boy or G. Vanriper of Indianapolis will complete the Old Gold back field as DePauw prepares for its invasion of the Butler stronghold.

Earlham's fighting football team from Richmond proved an obstinate foe Saturday afternoon, but the DePauw Tigers crashed through for a 14-10-1 victory on Blackstock field. The Quakers led 7 to 0 at the half, but the Old Gold eleven accounted for two touchdowns in the third period to put the contest on ice.

Earlham made its score when DePauw fumbled a punt on the ten-yard line in the opening quarter. A short pass to Druly, right end for the visitors, put the pigskin behind the goal line. The Quakers made good the try for the extra point, Reynolds, full back booting the ball between the uprights.

Relying solely upon straight football, DePauw came to life in the third quarter with "Stew" Smith and "Speed" Brandenburg making touchdowns in rapid time. Brandenburg made good the extra points.

For Earlham, Fatherly, center and Druly, end, played best while Shoup, tackle Messersmith, end and Smith full back were outstanding for DePauw.

BRAZIL ELKS WIN 1-0 FROM CEMENT TEAM

LONE STARS LOSE SUNDAY AFTERNOON TILT WHEN CASH OF VISITORS CRACKS A THREE-BAGGER TO SCORE RUN IN FIFTH INNING—BROWN NOT UP TO PITCHING FORM

A. G. "Splinter" Myers, manager of the Lone Star team, announced Monday morning that the Lone Star and Brazil Elks teams will play another game next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the Linedale Park diamond. Neither team was satisfied with the result of the Sunday game. Mr. Myers said, and determined to play another tilt.

Frank Cash, owned by the Chicago White Sox, pitching for the Brazil Elks Sunday afternoon, was the principal reason why the Lone Stars of the Portland Cement plant were defeated 1-0. Besides pitching a splendid game, Cash in the fifth inning crashed out a three-base hit driving in Beeler a teammate, for the only run of the game.

Cash pitched a splendid game striking out fifteen Lone Star players and allowing but two hits. Lloyd "Lefty" Brown, owned by the Washington Senators pitching for the Lone Stars, was not up to his usual form. He struck out eleven Brazil players but allowed five hits, one of them a three-bagger, and another a two-base hit.

Brazil succeeded in getting ten men safely on base but splendid pitching by Brown prevented a score. Errors by the Lone Star players allowed several men safe passage to first base. Only four Lone Star players landed safely on base during the tilt.

A large crowd of local fans turned out for the Sunday afternoon game and the final one of the season. Warm sunshine made the day perfect for the contest. Much verbal rivalry has existed between the two teams regarding their relative merit and the contest Sunday afternoon was arranged to decide the supremacy of the two nines.

Dewey, Brazil shortstop, the first man up, crashed out a two-base hit but failed to get around the bases when Brown caught him between home plate and third base after a teammate hit a hot grounder to the Lone Star pitcher. The game went

USE WRECKER TO RESCUE AN INJURED HORSE

LOCAL GARAGE MAN SAVES VALUABLE ANIMAL BELONGING TO WELCH CONSTRUCTION COMPANY—AT BIG FOUR STATION SUNDAY NIGHT—ANIMAL TRAPPED BETWEEN CAR AND PLATFORM

Garage wreckers are usually associated with the rescue of hapless motorists, but Sunday night a wrecker from the Tribby Garage was employed to rescue a hapless horse, which was trapped at the local Big Four station when it fell into an opening between a car and the platform.

The animal, being loaded by employees of the Welch Construction Company, an Illinois firm, for shipment home, got too near the edge of the platform and one of its hind legs sank into the opening between the platform and the car. The horse was unable to rise and workmen were unable to extricate it from its painful predicament.

Fearful they would lose the animal the workmen hastily summoned a wrecker which attached a rope to the horse and hoisted it from the opening. The horse was cut and bruised but no bones were broken.

The Construction firm has been employed on the State Road south of Cloverdale and were loading their equipment preparatory to shipping the outfit home, when the accident occurred.

scoreless until the fifth inning when Beeler, Brazil left fielder got a safety to first. Two men were then retired via a strike out and at first base. Cash, the third man up, hit the ball squarely driving it far into the field between the right and center fielders. Beeler scored while Cash reached third base. Dewey, next up for Brazil was retired at first base. The remainder of the game went scoreless as the two teams tightened their playing and retired one player after another.

Lineup and batting order of the two teams follow:

Lone Stars—R. Brann, catcher; J. McQuigan, ss; Black, 2b; Lean, 1b; Hanneman, cf; Brown, p; Fuqua, 1b; T. McQuigan, 3b; Huskey, r. Byers went for Huskey in the second inning.

Brazil Elks—Dewey, ss; Brann, 2b; Valentine, c; Brown, rf; Beeler, lf; Frazier, 3b; Goddard, cf; Cash, p. Another Cash, a former player for the Lone Stars, was substituted for Goddard in the fifth inning. A feature of the game was the playing of the Brann twin brothers one of whom caught for the Lone Stars and the other playing second base for the Brazil Elks.

Only Buick has an engine Vibrationless beyond belief

BUICK'S remarkable freedom from vibration is due primarily to three vitally important factors. First—the inherent smoothness of the Buick Valve-in-Head six-cylinder engine. Second—rubber engine mountings, front and rear. And third—the scientific and almost perfect balance of the entire Buick crankshaft assembly. Only Buick enjoys these advantages. SYNOPSIS

Frisco Polly, a dancer from "Crawley's Riverside," is kidnapped aboard the "Sea Sprite" because of an imaginary wrong she had done along the coast.

Harsh voices raised in apparent anger floated forward from the fo'castle hatch. The wind caught the voices and wafted occasional scraps to her ears.

"He's crazier than a bed-bug," she heard Brady say, "an' the sooner you put him in irons an' me in charge, the safer we'll be."

A babble of voices blotted out further remarks, but judging from the tone of the remarks they were far from antagonistic.

"Lord, Polly, they're goin' mad down there. Brady's getting them was stealing a few moments of comparative peace. Bronson loved Polly, so did the rest of the crew, but to him she represented something in a rather tawdry world that was not touched by any of its grossness.

Now as he came up behind her, he marvelled at the difference in the girl. No one would know the present Polly for the pale faced little girl who had won his pity and admiration while she danced for the crew.

A huge wave slapped lazily past, sprinkling Polly with its spray. She turned to shake a little list at it and turning saw the mate.

"Isn't this great, Bronson? Don't you just love the sea-fog?" Bronson looked at her and saw how much she meant her words.

"Somebody like her, he wouldn't mind

"Is he ever goin' to forgive me?" she asked.

all smoked up an' there's goin' to be trouble or h'im a Dutchman."

"Is he goin' to start anything now?" Polly asked.

"Eh hain't agoin' to do anything for an hour or so. I never seen anyone beaten up so bad."

"Limey, will you go back, an' if there's to be any trouble let me know," Polly pleaded.

The slim little sailor stepped close to her.

"Why kid, you know I'd do anything for yer. Yer the first real person who ever spoke to me. You some'ow makes me feel as if I were amissing something, an' if I can h't'll let yer know what the gang down there are doing."

All that night Polly curled up in the bow of the Sea Sprite wrapped in a blanket that Limey brought back to her.

Seven bells rang out, and dull leaden strips of gray began to mottle the eastern sky.

Truant glints of sunlight began to play among the crests of the tumbling waves, and touch the pearl grey pinions of the seagulls with the silver gleam.

Then as the sun began to poke his red rim above the horizon, the wind veered a little, and a heavy arctic fog began to sweep around them.

Queer wreaths of living mist. Fantastic shapes, like phantom ships swirled around the schooner.

Dim smoke-like mist that clung damp and cold to the face and hands. That carried on the wind wrapped the ship in a grey blanket through which the sun-tipped toasts gleamed.

Then they, too, disappeared. Polly loved the fog. Standing on the base of the bowsprit she threw her head back and breathed in the thick sea scented air.

She was there when Bronson, having mistaken her from the cabin, came to look for her. Limey was at the wheel, and as the little cockney was one of the best sailors aboard, Bronson going back to the little village that used to be home. With thoughts such as these running through his mind, he answered gruffly deep down in his throat.

"I wouldn't care if we wasn't in the steamer tracks, we're liable to have the Vancouver packet walking aboard any minute. Say, for'ard there. What's the matter? Keep that fog hot, goin'!"

As the slow hoarse notes of the horn ground out their message of warning, Polly jumped down from her perch.

"How's Hurricane?" she queried. "Sleeping, now. He'll be all right in a few days, and it's a clean break, so it shouldn't give any trouble. There's something worryin' me more than that, an' that's Brady. He isn't goin' to take his medicine, 's' he's down, an' we're in no condition to rope with him now."

"How long will it be before he'll be able to get around," she asked.

"Well, if I know the skipper," said Bronson, "he'll be around in an hour or so. Say, Polly are you enjoying yourself. What is there between you and Hurricane, that causes you to act so queerly."

Bronson, of different type to the men of the fo'castle, had not been told or had he listened to the usual gossip, and Polly realizing that she was unknown to at least one man began to tell him her story.

She sketched her childhood roughly, then told him of her uphill fight to the glory of a part of the Riverside stage. Long before she reached that point, Bronson was sorry for the kid, and as she broke into passionate sentences that told him the intensity of her desire to make good, he wondered what he might have been, if he had the spunk of this kid.

"It wasn't my fault, Bronson," she said, "if I had the chance as he ever got to forgive me."

"God, he ought to forgive me," she said, "I think he will someday," and Bronson's voice was huskier than any fog could make it.

Just then a seaman came up behind them and coughed to get attention.

"Well," asked Bronson, "Please sir, the weather back-stay's fouled an' I thought ..."

"All right, I'm coming," answered Bronson, and followed the man aft.
