

SAY!

(By CHARLES J. ARNOLD)

I note with a great lack of interest that a couple of St. Louis Aviators are now on the verge of breaking the sustained flight record of the Hunter Bros., recently established in Chicago. Why, all this up and up flying anyway? Looks to me like it is nothing more than a lot of wasted energy. Already it has been established that an airplane can be kept in sustained flight for 500 or more hours. And, as far as I am concerned that is plenty long enough.

When it comes to breaking sustained flight records, it would be no great honor to break mine. About thirty minutes is as long as I was ever up at one time and all the time I was up I was wondering if I would get down, all right.

Poor old Governor Leslie. His drought relief activities are going to interfere with his vacation.

When I dropped into the Adam Waggoner Shoe Shining Emporium, this a. m., for a shine, I was informed that I would be able to get the shine provided I did not attempt to put on any golf ball construction demonstrations. And right here I learned for the first time that the other day when I inadvertently punctured the inner recesses of a golf ball, while seated in Adam's shining bench, the liquid center of the said ball, not only squirted on me, but also hit Adam a couple of jolts.

I have been asked to call attention to the brand new show cases, recently installed in the J. F. Cannon & Co., store. I noted, during the installation of the cases that my friend Fred Snively was attired in a suit of overalls, which evidenced that he was doing heavy duty, although I must admit that I never caught him in the act. The cases, I must admit, are very nice and are represented to me to be the very latest in show case fashions, by Mr. Cannon and his corps of able assistants.

STATE TROOPS OCCUPATION OF MARION ENDED

ENTRAIN FOR CAMP KNOX AT 8:30 O'CLOCK MONDAY EVENING— COST THE STATE OF INDIANA $5,000

MARION, Ind., Aug. 12.—(INS)—The National Guard "occupation" of Marion was over today, the troops have departed for Camp Knox, Ky., last night, and normal conditions prevailed here again.

No disorders attended the funeral services at Weaver, west of here yesterday of Abram Smith and Thomas Shipp, 19-year old negroes who were lynched by a mob here on Thursday night for shooting fatally Claude Deeter, 23 and attacking his fiancée, Miss Mary Ball, 19.

Reporting to L. O. Chassey, secretary to Governor Harry G. Leslie in Indianapolis that there was no further need for troops here, Colonel George H. Healy, in command of the two companies, was ordered to return to Camp Knox. The guardsmen entrained at 8:30 o'clock last night.

Lieutenant William Donovan who was in charge of state policeman mobilized here, dispatched his group of twenty men back to their various stations in the state.

DEPAUW CLASS WORK TO START SEPTEMBER 15

FIRST TWO DAYS OF REGISTRATION TO BE GIVEN TO FRESH- MEN—ENROLLMENT TO BEGIN WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 10

291 SCHOLARSHIPS GRANTED

Student Body Expected to be Large as Usual Despite Financial De- pression—Seventeen Ad- ditions Made to Faculty

DePauw university will officially open its doors to registration of students, Wednesday, September 10. The first two days will be devoted to enrolling freshmen who will have two days in which to become acclimated before the upper-classmen arrive on the campus, Friday and Saturday, September 12 and 13, will be for registration of the upper classes.

Precitations and lectures will start Monday, September 15. The enrollment this year is expected to be equal to last year's despite any financial depression that is being felt over the country. To date 291 Rec'or scholarships have been awarded to incoming students. This sets a new record as the highest number ever granted before was 270. Reservations for rooms in the five university dormitories are being made rapidly now and the possibility of a waiting list is likely.

Seventeen additions have been made to the faculty in the liberal arts college and two additions have been made to the music school staff. A number of promotions were also made by the board of trustees in their meeting in June. The staff of teachers will probably reach 130 with the enrollment for the fall term approximately 1,600. More transcripts of high school credits were received at the office of the registrar than usual at this period of pre-registration.

Asbury Hall, DePauw's new $250,000 recitation building, will be used by students for the first time when school opens. The building was formally dedicated at commencement time last June. It is one of three new buildings that will form a quadrangle on the old West College campus. Gubin Hall, a $100,000 building to be dedicated to Dr. Hillary Asbury Gubin, a former president, will be a simultaneous project along with this quadrangle.

The new building just completed will house the departments of English composition, English literature, comparative literature, history, political science, sociology, psychology, mathematics and education. The departments of psychology and education have been combined this year and the new department will be headed by Dr. Fowler D. Brooks of Johns Hopkins university.

A new university catalogue of courses and a new freshman week bulletin have been printed and are being distributed by the registrar and dean's offices.

FOOTBALLERS TO REPORT ON SEPTEMBER 8

DEPAUW SQUAD TO BE ON CAMPUS TWO DAYS BEFORE REGIS- TRATION BEGINS—NEAL MUST BUILD NEW BACKFIELD

GREENCASTLE, Ind., Aug. 12.—DePauw University's football squad will report to the campus September 8, the date laid down by the Indiana Collegiate Conference. This is only two days before registration begins for students and only a week before class-room work starts.

The problems that face Coach "Gaughey" Neal, new head football coach, are just the opposite of those that faced Coach Hughes last September. Coach Hughes had to develop a new line from green material while he had his backfield intact. This year the heavy losses were suffered in the backfield and the line that Coach Neal helped develop will have a nucleus of letter men to start the season.

Such ball carriers as Captain Blake VanRiper, Hogan, and Crowley were graduated last June. Even the line suffered some loss with Johnston and Kappes, ends, and Beem guard, being lost to the squad. The freshman squad last year while not brilliant in its performance, did boast of several varsity prospects and was the largest the school has had for a number of years.

The eligibility list may also play a big part in the prospects for a team this year. Struck and Stegall, lettermen on the line, are having text book worries. DePauw is especially anxious to have a presentable team this year in view of the fact that the school will make another eastern invasion playing at Boston, November 8. Two years ago DePauw met the Army and succeeded in scoring two touchdowns on the cadets. Wabash, Franklin, Earlham, Manchester, Illinois Wesleyan and Indiana Central completes the 1930 card for the Tigers.

Blackstock field is being put into shape for the fall practice sessions. Dry weather during the summer has caused grass to be a scarce article. Plans are being made for a new press box that will afford protection from the weather. Coach Neal will be assisted with the varsity by Coach Moffett, Coach Buchheit, while Coach Messersmith, the new addition to the staff will have charge of the freshmen.

Of twenty-one who received letters last year, thirteen did not graduate. They are Ragsdale, Struck, Tomlinson, Hammond, Leaby, Stegall, Stackhouse Ransburg and Bailey, linesmen, and Means, Cassidy, Spina and Melhottine, backfield.

KERCHEVAL AND BENDING TO GO TO STATE FARM

ARE SENTENCED TO THE PUT- NAMVILLE INSTITUTION ON CHARGES OF PETTY LAR- CENY MONDAY AFTER- AFTERNOON

ALLEGED CHICKEN THIEVES

Plead Guilty When Arraigned Before Judge James P. Hughes—Took Chickens From The Hugh Hicks Farm

Ralph Bending and Kenneth Kercheval, alleged chicken thieves were each sentenced to the Indiana State Farm at Putnamville for a period of 1 year by Judge James P. Hughes in the Putnam circuit court late Monday afternoon. The men were sentenced on charges of petty larceny.

Charges of grand larceny, which were filed against the two were dropped by prosecutor Marshall Abrams when it developed that the chickens stolen in the particular case in connection with which they were arrested were not of sufficient value to warrant the more serious charges.

When arraigned before Judge Hughes the men both entered pleas of guilty and received sentence. They confessed stealing 30 chickens from the Hugh Hicks farm east of town on the night of July 18. It is alleged by authorities that the two stole several other chickens from Putnam county farmers.

Indianapolis police apprehended the men about two weeks ago while they were attempting to dispose of the stolen chickens and held them for the Putnam county authorities. The men are said to have confessed to the Indianapolis officials and to have implicated a Terre Haute man, but the third man was never apprehended.

Deputy sheriff Alva Bryan went to Indianapolis and brought the alleged thieves to Greencastle July 29, and affidavits were immediately filed against them, charging them with grand larceny.

Kercheval is said to have signed a confession soon after being brought here for trial. The alleged confession is said to have implicated men in Indianapolis and Terre Haute, who were receiving stolen property from several rings of thieves. Bending, however, was sullen and refused to talk.

It had been hoped by Putnam County officials to use the confession of Kercheval to bring about the arrest of the alleged "fences" in the larger cities. However, it is understood that necessary cooperation was not given by the State officials.

Both men, according to Prosecutor Marshall Abrams have criminal records. Bending having served a term at Pendleton and one at the Putnamville institution, while Kercheval is seen on the Indiana State Farm. They are said to have been sentenced on charges of vehicle taking.

The alleged chicken thieves were taken to the Indiana State Farm at Putnamville this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Alva Bryan.

AFRIDI TRIBESMEN ATTACK AN- CIENT WALLED CITY IN THE FAMOUS KHYBER PASS. BRITAINS MOST IM- PORTANT INDIAN OUTPOST

PLAN ATTACK ON JAIL

Communal Riots Between Hindus and Moslems Are Reported Along The Indus River—Spirit of Lawlessness Increases Over Entire Country

BOMBAY, Aug. 12.—(INS)—Hundreds of Afridi tribesmen were reported slain today in bitter fighting in the Peshawar district on the northwest frontier.

The ancient walled city, gateway of Afridi tribesmen were reported slain today in bitter fighting in the Peshawar District on the Northwest frontier.

The ancient walled city, gateway to the Khyber Pass and Great Britain's most important military Indian outpost, was in a panic as the swartly warriors dashed boldly into the gardens on the fringes of Peshawar. The British garrison rained tons of shells into the cultivated spots all day yesterday.

Armored cars slowly patrolled the Peshawar-Nowshera road, seeking the tribesmen. An attempt by the Afridi to isolate the key city through wrecking of the railroad tracks was frustrated by watchful troops.

Early today it was reported that the Hillmen were planning to attack the Peshawar Central jail situated opposite the Fort, hoping to liberate the many prisoners therein.

An Exchange Telegraph reported that an armored train filled with troops which left Lahore secretly is speeding toward Rawalindi in the troubled frontier locality.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(INS)—British authority in India faced the task of coping with two harassing problems today, consisting of frontier attacks by Afridi bands and Hindu-Muslim disturbances in the Sind district.

Communal riots which began between Hindus and Moslems at Suikar on Aug. 5, resulting in 12 fatalities and 150 injuries have suddenly flared up in townships along the Indus River. Assuming such serious proportions that troops were dispatched to Pano, Sultanpur, Akil, Ghotzi and Dubar, villages in the Sind region.

White clashes at present have not been regarded as extremely serious, messages from the affected districts stated that the spirit of lawlessness was fast increasing, producing a tense situation.

Meanwhile the fierce Afridi tribesmen menacing Peshawar continued to lurk in the nearby hills, engaging in sporadic encounters with British troops in the hope of effecting a surprise entry into the defenses of the City, key position of the northwest Indian border sector.

Withering gunfire from the well entrenched troops and the relentless attacks from above by Royal air force planes discouraged the swartly fighters in their assaults upon Peshawar but it is believed they have retired into the Afghan Hills only temporarily in order to reorganize their offensive strength.

REMOTE CONTROL OPERATES TRAINS ON PENNSYLVANIA

NEW ELECTRIC SYSTEM GOES INTO EFFECT TODAY—TRACK FOR TWENTY MILES CONTROLLED FROM LIMEDAILE TOWER

Railroad officials throughout the country are eagerly watching the electric system by which trains are operated by remote control which goes into effect today on the Pennsylvania railroad at Limesdale. Track for twenty miles east of Greencastle and comprising twelve main track switches and siding switches is now operated from the block tower at Limesdale by a dispatcher.

The system controls the blocks at Alameda, Coatesville and Summit. The installation of the electric plant was completed at Alameda on July 11 and Coatesville on July 29 and on those dates the switches at the respective towers were operated from the Limesdale tower. Today the installation was completed to Summit and that tower taken into the system.

Work is being rushed and it is planned to have all the track to Ben Davis operated by electricity by September. As soon as it is completed the block towers along the road will not be used.

The electric plant which has been installed at the Limesdale tower was made by the General Electric Company and is very complete in its makeup. The block record for each hour of the day is automatically recorded. An expert from the General Electric company is in charge of the installation of the system and will be in charge for six months until all operators are trained and competent to handle the system. Schools of instruction are being conducted several nights each week for the men in charge.

The purpose of the controlling of trains by electricity is to speed the movement of trains and is far more expensive to operate than the original tower system, when dispatchers were installed all along the railroad and were in charge of the track for several miles. While the tower dispatchers will not be used several men will be required to maintain the system and at present four men have been installed permanently in Greencastle.

61st Coast Guard Soldiers Are En- route from Camp Knox to Fort Sheridan—Twenty-eight Motor Vehicles And 88 Men and Three Officers in the Outfit

The sixty-first company of the U. S. Army Coast Guard Artillery, anti-aircraft division, enroute from Camp Knox, Kentucky, to Fort Sheridan, Ill., consisting 28 motor vehicles, 88 men and three officers, arrived in Greencastle this afternoon from Seymour, where it pitched camp last night, and will camp here over night. The march for Seymour covered 105 miles.

Camp grounds have been provided at the Handy pasture lot, just south of the Pennsylvania railroad station on Cemetery road. This evening at 7:30 o'clock the artillery company, will give a demonstration of its anti-aircraft equipment. This consists of four large anti-aircraft searchlights and powerful power plant, and anti-aircraft guns.

The first detachment of the company arrived here at near 10 o'clock this morning, when Lieut. I. H. Esteban, advance officer, accompanied by two aides, arrived to inspect the camp grounds and mark the route for the remainder of the outfit to follow upon its arrival at the city limits.

The arrival was followed at near 1 o'clock by the Light convoy, consisting of the four huge searchlights and power plant. There are 10 motor vehicles in this column.

Upon arrival here this detachment of motor vehicles and soldiers passed through the square and then went to the camp grounds where camp was pitched. The heavy trucks bearing the guns and other heavy baggage were not expected to arrive until later this afternoon.

After spending the night here the company will proceed to Kentland, Indiana, where it will camp tomorrow night, proceeding on to Lagro, Indiana, the following night and then into Camp Sheridan Friday morning.

The most interesting features of the company equipment are the four immense searchlights, each with a 60-inch beam and of 800 million candle light power, and four of the latest model 3-inch anti-aircraft guns, capable of firing 15,700 yards horizontally. Some new model machine guns of 20-caliber and 50-caliber, are carried by the company.

Another interesting feature is a truck which carried special equipment by which the sound of an airplane can be detected, and its direction established while the plane is many miles away. This is accomplished by the use of amplifiers and other delicate electrical equipment.

This evening the company will give a search light drill at the camp grounds which promises to greatly interest. Every one is invited to attend. Capt. W. F. Marquat is the officer in charge of the company.

JACK SHARKEY MAY FIGHT THE GIANT ITALIAN

PROPOSED BATTLE TO TAKE PLACE AT SOLDIER'S FIELD, CHICAGO—TENTATIVE DATE IS SEPTEMBER 29

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(INS)—Chicago, gateway to romance, may be the site of the greatest prize fight of this and several preceding years according to negotiations that were rapidly coming to a show down today. The principals—Primo Carnera and Jack Sharkey, respectively bigger than anybody and better than anybody. The scene—Soldiers Field, where the finals of the Dempsey-Tunney dramas was enacted. The date—Monday, September 29. The distance—ten rounds to a decision. The gate write your own ticket and don't spare the ink.

If this fight is made, it will carry no title, barring unofficial recognition as heavyweight champion of the world, a distinction now enjoyed by the Herr Schmeling while lying prone upon the nape of his neck. If the fight is made—

It virtually is made now. Carnera's heavy of managers and seconds and thirds have agreed to terms. The Sharkey people are coming into town tomorrow, ready to say it with fountain pens. They really are leveling, since Mique Malloy, propositioned the managers of twenty heavyweights by wire on a Carnera match and only one of them answered. His name is Johnny Buckley, manager of Sharkey.

When the girl swirled off at the end of her number, amid tumultuous plaudits from the uproarious soldiery, Griff noticed that prominent in the applause was Klotz, ordinarily so woodenly undemonstrative. The Sergeant slicked back his hair and spoke imperatively to Dupont, the plump proprietor, who was bustling officiously about. Dupont shrugged objections, then appeared to yield. Though Griff could not hear a word, he knew what this meant.

What he did not know was that Marie, for all her French name, had the sophisticated outlook and vocabulary of a Broadway showmen in your regiment," retorted Marie pointedly, "and I'm glad to see all of 'em on pay day. You all wear the same uniform and you all look alike to me. Now heat it!"

"Atta girl—I like 'em tough!" grinned Griff. "The tougher they are, the quicker they bounce into my lap."

Before he could fulfill his desire of gathering her in his arms, the door opened and MacGuire strode darkly in. Griff gaped in surprise. Ignoring him, Mac strode up to Marie, kissed her—and was rewarded with a slap likewise.

"I thought you were in the cool-er!" burst from Griff.

"There ain't no cooler big enough to hold me," said Mac, glowering

Marie: He's out! I don't like him girl. When Dupont told her in her dressing room that a live one was waiting outside, Marie agreed to sit with him for the sake of the money he would spend, though her lip curled as she said that "Klotz rolled off her knife."

Thus when Dupont led out the seemingly reluctant girl by the wrist, with a grip which she privately enjoined against harsh realism, Griff gritted his teeth, unsuspecting of this coy byplay. As Klotz pulled the girl down into a chair with pawing hands, Griff rose belligerently, despite a caution from the frightened Bert. And when Marie, keeping up her stratagems, burst into tears, Griff strode toward Klotz.

Immediately all the lights in the place went out as the scared Bert pulled the switch. Pandemonium broke loose. In the turmoil and the darkness Griff was able to whisk up Marie in his arms and carry her up the stairs toward the backwaters of the dressing rooms. In her chamber Marie, sensing that he was not the Sergeant she had supposed, promptly slapped him as he set her down and blazingly ordered him out.

"Say," exclaimed Griff, checked but not checkmated, "I heard about you, and I came over here to get acquainted. Ain't you glad to see me?"

"There are a couple thousand at him. 'What're you doing it here?' He turned to Marie. 'Tell him how we stand.'

"I'll tell you how we stand," she bridled. "You're just another mug in uniform." And to prove her attitude to both she turned airily to Klotz, whose frowning face had suddenly loomed in the doorway, and greeted him winningly. "Hello, Captain, we sorta got parted at the altar, didn't we?"

Klotz was not minded for demonstrative affection at the moment, but was keyed for wrath. Though Mac explained circumstantially that the Colonel himself had released him from his cell, Klotz now ordered him back to the guardhouse—and Griff with him this time. They sallied forth, but no sooner had the Sergeant left Marie alone to change her costume, than Griffith was back in her dressing room.

"I just wanted to tell you," he informed the gasping girl, "that after I get out of the guardhouse, you and me ought to get together for a little party. In the meantime I want you to keep away from Klotz. And there's something else I want to tell you."

"I'm not supposed to talk to non-paying customers," she gibed, but her voice lacked the assurance it held before.

Advertisements are a guide to value

EXPERTS can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it. More accurately, by handling and examining it. Its appearance, its texture, the "feel" and the balance of it all mean something to their trained eyes and fingers.

But no one person can be an expert on steel, brass, wood, leather, foodstuffs, fabrics, and all of the materials that make up a list of personal purchases. And even experts are fooled, sometimes, by concealed flaws and imperfections.

There is a surer index of value than the senses of sight and touch—knowledge of the maker's name and for what it stands. Here is the most certain method, except that of actual use, for judging the value of any manufactured goods. Here is the only guarantee against careless workmanship, or the use of shoddy materials.

This is one important reason why it pays to read advertisements and to buy advertised goods. The product that is advertised is worthy of your confidence.

Merchandise must be good or it could not be advertised. Buy advertised goods.

MILLET AND SUDAN GRASS MAY PROVIDE LATE HAY

Millet and sudan grass as emergency hay crops are worth seeding in the growth stricken regions of the state as late as August 10, or even August 20 in the extreme southern part of Indiana, says M. O. Pence, of the Agronomy department of Purdue university.

"Millet or sudan grass hay is not the best that can be grown but it is better than no hay at all," is the comment of the livestock specialists of Purdue. These hays rank with coarse timothy hay for all classes of livestock, except that caution should be used in feeding them to horses.

These hay crops should be ready to cut in 60 to 75 days from the date of seeding, and the yield will depend upon the rainfall from now on. Ordinarily from one-half to one and one-half tons of hay per acre may be expected, depending on the amount of rainfall and fertility of the soil.

Small grain stubble, where clover and grass have failed or other places where crops have failed are logical places to seed these emergency hay crops. The land should be disced, harrowed, rolled or culpacked and seeded as soon as moisture conditions permit. Sudan grass should be drilled, using an ordinary grain drill, at the rate of 25 to 30 pound of seed per acre; millet should be drilled at the rate of two pecks to the acre. Common, German, Hungarian, and other millets of the foxtail group are much preferred over the broom corn, hog and Japanese millets or "billion dollar grass." Sudan grass is much more drought resistant than the millets. Where no drills are available, the seed may be broadcast and harrowed in, although this is not as satisfactory. The culpacker or roller should be used after seeding if the soil remains dry. The cost of seeding at present prices will be one to two dollars an acre.

In case farmers have soybeans available they may be used in addition to either millet or sudan grass. About 15 to 20 pounds of Sudan grass or 1 peck of millet and $\frac{3}{4}$ to 1 bushel of soybeans should be used. These combinations will improve the quality of roughage, particularly for cattle and sheep. Seed of these crops is available at most seed houses and in some cases at local seed stores.

Buckwheat may be seeded for grain until August 10 in the southern one-third of the state. The rate of seeding is 3 to 4 pecks per acre.

It is too late to seed mangels or rutabagas. Long white or cow horn turnips broadcast at the rate of 2 to 3 pounds of seed per acre will still produce a root crop. There may be some difficulty in beating a sufficient seed supply of this crop.

Alice White Mixes Flaming Role With Strong Drama in New Film "Sweet Mama"

Alice White puts one over on us all at the Voncastle Theatre tonight and Wednesday where she is appearing in her latest First National Vitaphone picture, "Sweet Mama." She puts this picture over with a bang. We've been seeing Alice in so many singing and dancing pictures that we haven't considered this piquant star as a dramatic actress but in "Sweet Mama" Alice enters in to the action with a vengeance and proves that she can handle emotional scenes with the best of them.

Miss White has been given a difficult role in "Sweet Mama." Not the usual trite flapper part, but the distinct characterization of a girl of the footlights—no this is not another backstage drama—who finds her sweetheart in peril and plays the game to save him. Jimmy is the boy. A young man in the evil clutches of Palmer, owner of an underworld cafe, Palmer frames him lets him languish in a prison cell, then has him released so that he will have to carry on the nefarious work. But Alice combines her own clever brainwork with that of a smart detective and then surprising moments come thick and fast. See them for yourself.
