

STRUCK ON HEAD WITH PITCH FORK

JOHN BELL, CLOVERDALE TOWNSHIP FARMER, BADLY INJURED LAST THURSDAY BY WILLIAM McMANS, WHEN TWO MEN MET ON ROAD AND HAD DISPUTE—DETAILS NOT OBTAINABLE.

HIS CONDITION IS SERIOUS

A dispute growing out of the line of a road known as "Moccasin Trail," about 3 miles southwest of Cloverdale, resulted in the serious injury of John Bell early Thursday afternoon, was struck on the head by a pitch fork in the hands of William McMans, according to a report from Cloverdale, and was badly injured.

One prong of the fork punctured the flesh just above the left eye. Another prong went through the scalp and into the skull. The skull was badly "chized" by this prong, and the injury is serious. The third prong cut a long gash in the scalp but did not injure the skull.

The trouble between the two men occurred when the two met in the road about 3 miles southwest of Cloverdale. There were no witnesses that afternoon.

John Wallace, who happened to be near when the trouble occurred, took Bell to Cloverdale where his injuries were dressed by Dr. Prichard. When at the physician's office Bell was in a semi-conscious condition and could not give the details of the trouble.

The "Moccasin Trail," as the piece of the road which caused the trouble is known has been a subject of controversy for many months and trouble between farmers who own land along the trail has been at a breaking point for months.

The controversy is over the line of the road. The men on the south side of the road allege that McMans has builded his fence out in the road, while he maintains that his fence is on the property line. Several law suits have resulted from the controversy, but the dispute never has been satisfactorily settled.

REVIVAL MEETINGS AT LOCUST STREET CHURCH

The special evangelistic services in Locust Street M. E. Church are now in progress, with pastor and people all united under God, in an endeavor to bring the Old Story of the Cross in a very simple, yet forceful way to all the people of Greencastle and vicinity, of every walk and station in life, so that they may all have a fair chance at salvation.

The speaker, with no apology for sin in any of its forms, presented the Bible plan of salvation—repentance from sin and faith in our Lord Jesus Christ and at the conclusion of the sermon presented the altar to all who were tired of sin and wanted to live a new life. Two young women and a little girl came forward, knelt at the chancel and professed conversion.

If you, dear reader, haven't the assurance of your own personal salvation, we invite you to come and pray with us until you have it; if you are interested in the salvation of your friend or loved one, come with us and let us help you to bring that one to Jesus; if you are fully prayed up yourself, come with us, we need you. Prayer service begins at 7:00 p. m. in the class room, preaching in the man auditorium at 7:30. If you can not be with us, kindly breathe a prayer for us in the Master's name that some wanderer from the fold may find his way back.

Mrs. M. E. Clodfelter of this city are cousins of Mrs. Ratcliff.

SHOULD PROHIBIT A MULTIPLICATION

ADVOCATES STERILIZATION

The Gary, (Ind.) Evening Post of November 18, gives the following interesting resume of the paper read by Dr. W. M. McGaughey of this city before the State Conference of Associated Charities, which met in that city recently:

"Dr. W. M. McGaughey, a member of the Putnam County Board of Children's Guardians, at the Child Welfare Round Table, gave a most interesting paper on 'The Relations of the Board of Children's Guardians to the Problems of Feeble Mindedness.'"

"Dr. McGaughey began his paper by the statement that the feeble-minded, like the poor, are always with us, and with the hope that such would not always be the case. He quoted statistics showing that in the United States there are more than 300,000 feeble-minded persons and that this, added to the great army of the natural increase, which is twice that of the normal figure as given above, makes an appallingly large figure. The jails and the reformatories are full of feeble-minded persons, both male and female according to figures compiled by heads of these institutions which show that nearly fifty per cent. of the inmates of such institutions are mentally deficient.

"Dr. McGaughey said that the question naturally arose as to what was to be done and announced that his paper dealt entirely with those cases now actually with us, rather than with those to come, and said that heredity work could do nothing for those who were already with us, although he stated that this work would eventually be of the greatest value to the country.

Gives Many Examples.

"A number of examples of the rapid increase of feeble-minded persons were given by Dr. McGaughey, the most striking of which was the story of the Kallikak family, a fairly familiar one. From the two original Kallikaks there descended in a period of six generations four hundred and eighty human beings, only forty-six of whom were normal, one hundred and forty-three were undeniably feeble-minded and the remaining were doubtful. All these people descended originally from a normal father and a feeble-minded mother. Other examples, almost if not equally appalling were given by Dr. McGaughey.

"The speaker went on to say that the schools were totally unable to deal with the feeble-minded. A mind which cannot learn derives no benefit at the public schools and works detriment to the other scholars. The Kallikak story is repeated in practically every community in Indiana, and the schools can do these people no good.

"Sheriffs, police officers, and other are maintained to look after the law breakers, insane commissions decide on sanity, other boards look after other things, but the mentally deficient child receives nothing but neglect.

Immediate Action Needed.

"Dr. McGaughey declared that while waiting for the state to provide for these unfortunates, some action should be taken to provide for them temporarily, to place them in some institution where they can be cared for until better provision is legally made for their care.

"Declaring that the propagation of the feeble-minded is like unto that of the rabbit, whose habit of rapid multiplying is well known, Dr. McGaughey stated that he was strongly in favor of two things, segregation and sterilization. He stated that sterilization

SEASON ENDS IN D'PAUW VICTORY

EARLHAM COLLEGE TEAM IS DECISIVELY DEFEATED BY METHUENISTS IN LAST GAME OF THE YEAR ON McKEEN FIELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON—THOMAS STARS FOR OLD GOLD.

QUAKERS DEFEATED 26 TO 0

The DePauw football team wound up the 1913 season by overwhelmingly defeating the Earlham College pigskin chasers Saturday afternoon on McKeen Field by a score of 26 to 0. At no time during the game was the DePauw goal threatened by Earlham. The visitors were outclassed in every department of the game. The field was muddy caused from the intermittent showers Saturday and the game was slow throughout.

Although this game did not figure in the standing of the secondary teams DePauw has convinced followers of the game that its strength is far greater than that of Franklin, who played the Old Gold team a 0 to 0 game earlier in the season. The game was characterized by the use of straight football tactics. The field being

If any one on the Old Gold eleven this year has played the old army game it has been "Dick." muddy very few forward passes and trick plays were tried by either team. The tackling and the interference of the Old Gold backfield was perfect.

The DePauw team did not score until in the first few minutes of the second quarter, although the Earlham goal was threatened several times earlier in the game. Rowan carried the ball over for the first touchdown after a sensational run by Thomas who placed the ball on the 4-yard line. The second touchdown was soon made by Thomas, who plunged into the Earlham line for a score. After receiving the kick-off House, Ade and Thomas took the ball to the Earlham 4-yard line, with three plays, Thomas netting a 40-yard gain on a fake end run. The half ended with the ball in DePauw's possession on Earlham's 4-yard line.

At the beginning of the second half the coach sent in several substitutes.

THINKS ALL ARE BORN CRIMINALS

R. B. VON KLEINSMID PRESENTS STARTLING THEORY AS RESULT OF PRISON STUDY—GLANCE INTO AN AVERAGE NURSERY ALMOST LEADS ONE TO ACCEPT IDEAS.

AND PERHAPS HE IS RIGHT

What and why is a criminal?

There have been almost as many answers to this question as there are criminals in the country and still the wisecracks are trying to discover new ones. Probably one of the most unique of the answers, one which meets with the most general public scorn and still one which sounds quite reasonable to men of science is that advanced by Rufus B. von Kleinsmid, formerly professor in DePauw University, who is making a study of criminology at the State Reformatory at Jeffersonville.

According to the scientist a criminal is a person whose mind has remained as the mind of a child, thus leading to the conclusion that all persons are born criminals.

Investigations made by Mr. Von Kleinsmid at the Reformatory caused him to announce in a lecture in Indianapolis recently that a majority of the persons in that institution, most of whom are supposed to be full grown men, in reality are children, from 4 to 12 years old. It was with fine sarcasm that he told of gray judges and ponderous juries passing judgment on mere infants.

Are Children Criminals?

The address was delivered before about 200 men, many of them prominent in professional and industrial circles in Indianapolis and there was none there to disprove his contentions.

And is he right in his contentions? If so, the yellow-back novel will have to be revised materially, for it always has pictured the criminal as a man polished, educated and singularly gifted, with all the qualifications of learned men. The novel criminal often is seen in his haunts poring over Shakespeare or Homer or Milton or some other of the "grand old masters."

He says a law-abiding citizen is a product of civilization, a person who has been trained to obey the law instead of following his natural inclinations. One glance into the average nursery will lead one almost to accept this theory at once. Consider the child of from 2 to 6 years old.

Glance Into the Nursery.

Give him a toy train building blocks, mechanical toys, or almost anything that is breakable. He will handle them carefully for a few minutes, and then comes a wild swipe with hands or feet and the train is wrecked the block castle is swept from its foundation, the mechanical toy train is smashed beyond repair and the infant criminal views his work of destruction with a shout of fiendish joy. Give him a small hammer and everything destructible within reach soon is destroyed.

Enter a kindergarten or a primary school and frequently you will hear the teacher giving to her charges a series of "don'ts," telling them to suppress their criminal tendencies. Watch the child as it goes through the school and you will find it surrounded by a series of checks, intended according to modern science, to check these tendencies.

School Thefts Numerous.

One of the greatest problems of high school principals is to prevent thefts in cloak rooms. School boards deliberate over this problem and none has solved it. Children are given individual lockers. The average boy is known as an expert locksmith and the locks do not keep him out. Combination locks are tried, but embryonic Jimmy Valentines soon learn to open these and so it is found necessary to station janitors in the cloak rooms to watch the boys and girls carefully and

THE ENGAGEMENT OF MISSO'HAIR

ANNOUNCEMENT OF APPROACHING MARRIAGE OF ONE OF GREENCASTLE'S POPULAR YOUNG WOMEN IS ANNOUNCED BY HER SISTER, MRS. FRED O'HAIR MONDAY AFTERNOON.

TO WED NEW YEAR'S EVE

The engagement of Miss Mable Irene O'Hair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Hair, and Frederick K. Stevens, of Princeton, Indiana, a merchant of that town, was announced on Monday at a International tea, given by Mrs. Fred O'Hair, at her home at the corner of Poplar street and Spring avenue. The wedding is to occur on New Year's Eve.

The event was a most elaborate and cleverly designed one. The home was tastefully decorated in ferns, yellow chrysanthemums, potted plants, flags of different nations, and Japanese lanterns. Assisting Mrs. O'Hair were Miss Jessie Gobin, who was dressed as an Irish lassie; Miss Lillian Hays, in a Japanese costume; Miss Nellie Farrow, dressed as a Dutch girl; Miss Frances McGregor, in Scotch costume, and Miss Irene Selby, as an American girl.

As the twenty guests arrived they were met at the door by the hostess, and after removing their wraps, each was given a small flag which corresponded to the decorations of one of five tables.

In this manner each guest was directed to her place at a table. The tables were decorated in flags and other decorations which represented one of the five nations.

After the guests were seated they were given small packages, wrapped in white tissue paper and bound in white ribbon. Upon opening the packages the guests found dust clothes, tea towels, napkins, small bits of embroidery and other pieces of needle work. The guests had been asked by the hostess to bring their thimbles, so that they might assist the bride-to-be in preparing for house keeping.

In the packages also was found a small folder. On the outside of the folder was the date "New Year's Eve 1913." On one side of the inside of the folder was painted an Irish flag, under which was the picture of and name of Miss Mable Irene O'Hair. On the opposite page was the picture and name of Frederick K. Stevens. In this novel manner the engagement was announced.

The afternoon was most delightfully spent in needle work and in the appreciation of the reading of an Irish story by Mrs. E. B. Doll and a reading of "My Bride That is to Be" by James Whitcomb Riley by Miss Minna Mattern. Miss Jessie Gobin further entertained the guests with popular pianoforte numbers during the afternoon.

Later delightful refreshments, consisting plumb pudding in a nest of whipped cream served with carmel sauce, candied cherries, nuts and coffee, were served. The scheme of nations was carried out in the serving of refreshments, the china in which the refreshments were served carrying out the scheme of the decoration of each table.

DIVORCE CASE FILED.

John R. Strange has filed suit in the Circuit Court asking divorce from Lola Grace Strange on the charge of cruel and inhuman treatment and failure to care for the couple's home. The complaint sets out that the couple were married September 24, 1910, and separated November 24, 1913. The complaint avers that the defendant is guilty of profanity, is cross and quarrelsome and that she stays out late at night despite the protests of her husband. The complaint asks for absolute divorce and the custody of the couple's child, Theodore Crawley is the attorney for the plaintiff.

CHEEK KILLED IN LOUISVILLE

FORMER GREENCASTLE INTERURBAN LINEMAN DIES FROM INJURIES ACCORDING TO REPORT.

WIDOW LIVES IN BRAZIL

Reports were received here Monday evening that William Cheek, a former Greencastle lineman on the interurban, had died in Louisville Monday his death resulting from injuries received several days ago. Mrs. Cheek, who resides in Brazil at present, has received no word from her husband or from Louisville authorities and is greatly worried.

Mr. Cheek left the employ of the interurban last August and went to Louisville to work. Mrs. Cheek was to have joined him this week. Several days ago she received a letter from him saying he had been badly injured his back being hurt severely. He did not give particulars of the accident.

He did say, however, that he expected to go to the home of his father, who resides on a farm near Toboso, Ohio where he expected to recuperate. Mrs. Cheek was then to join him.

When the word was received in Brazil yesterday Mrs. Cheek was without means to go to Louisville. She was in a nervous condition and Monday was awaiting further word from Louisville hoping that the word of her husband's death was erroneous. Mr. Cheek has a large circle of friends among the interurban employes here.

SHOWER FOR MISS OSTRUM.

Miss Florence Cook, Miss Mayme Naylor and Miss Kathleen Campbell entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Black Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Mariam Ostrum, who is soon to become a bride.

The guests assembled in the front parlor, from where when a curtain separating the room from the drawing room was drawn a large pink bell fastened to the chandelier with wide pink and blue ribbons depicting the colors of the Beta Sorority, of which Mr. Benedict, Miss Ostrum's fiancée, is a member, was displayed. The bell was trimmed with smilax. A large chair, also decorated with smilax awaited the bride-to-be.

After being seated in the chair the bride-to-be pulled ribbons attached to the bell, precipitating a shower of rice, confetti and presents. Miss Ostrum received many beautiful presents.

Refreshments of white brick ice cream, with pink balls of ice in the centers, white cakes with pink frosting, coffee and nuts were served. Each guest was pinned with a favor in the nature of a small, baby pink slipper filled with rice and tied with pink and blue ribbons. The hostesses each wore a dozen pink tea roses, gifts of the bride-elect.

The guests were members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Mrs. Ostrum, Mrs. Black Mrs. Frank Bittles and Mrs. J. G. Campbell. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Henry Ostrum, Jr., and Mrs. P. C. Benedict, both of Indianapolis.

That's one of the reasons for having a Thanksgiving Day, a harvest feast, a general gathering of families and friends, a season of festivity.

We have a good deal to be thankful for in our business; we have done well in it--as well, we hope, for our customers, as for ourselves. That's the idea of this business; to make every transaction profitable for you as much as for us.

When we sell a man one of our suits or overcoats, for example, we know that our customer is getting big value for his money; more value than any other clothes will give him; better style, better quality in all-wool fabrics, better tailoring, better service in wear, than he can find in any other way, or in any other store.

We mean to have that true of everything else we sell, from the smallest to the largest thing.

The suits and overcoats we sell at $25 are the best examples of this value-giving we have ever known. The man who gets one of those suits or overcoats, gets more for his $25 than he'll ever get for the same money anywhere in clothes. We have others from $10 and upward.

STRUCK ON HEAD WITH PITCH FORK

JOHN BELL, CLOVERDALE TOWNSHIP FARMER, BADLY INJURED LAST THURSDAY BY WILLIAM McMANS, WHEN TWO MEN MET ON ROAD AND HAD DISPUTE—DETAILS NOT OBTAINABLE.

HIS CONDITION IS SERIOUS

A dispute growing out of the line of a road known as "Moccasin Trail," about 3 miles southwest of Cloverdale, resulted in the serious injury of John Bell early Thursday afternoon, was struck on the head by a pitch fork in the hands of William McMans, according to a report from Cloverdale, and was badly injured.

One prong of the fork punctured the flesh just above the left eye. Another prong went through the scalp and into the skull. The skull was badly "chized" by this prong, and the injury is serious. The third prong cut a long gash in the scalp but did not injure the skull.

John Wallace, who happened to be near when the trouble occurred, took Bell to Cloverdale where his injuries were dressed by Dr. Prichard. When at the physician's office Bell was in a semi-conscious condition and could not give the details of the trouble.

The "Moccasin Trail," as the piece of the road which caused the trouble is known has been a subject of controversy for many months and trouble between farmers who own land along the trail has been at a breaking point for months.

The controversy is over the line of the road. ## REVIVAL MEETINGS AT LOCUST STREET CHURCH

The special evangelistic services in Locust Street M. E. Church are now in progress, with pastor and people all united under God, in an endeavor to bring the Old Story of the Cross in a very simple yet forceful way to all the people of Greencastle and vicinity, of every walk and station in life, so that they may all have a fair chance at salvation.

Last evening the pastor preached an impressive sermon from Psalms 119:59, "I thought on my ways, and turned my feet unto my testimonies."

The speaker, with no apology for sin in any of its forms, presented the Bible plan of salvation—repentance from sin and faith in our Lord Jesus Christ and at the conclusion of the sermon presented the altar to all who were tired of sin and wanted to live a new life. Two young women and a little girl came forward, knelt at the chancel and professed conversion.

If you, dear reader, haven't the assurance of your own personal salvation, we invite you to come and pray with us until you have it; if you are interested in the salvation of your friend or loved one, come with us and let us help you to bring that one to Jesus; if you are fully prayed up yourself, come with us, we need you.

Prayer service begins at 7:00 p. m. in the class room, preaching in the man auditorium at 7:30. If you can not be with us, kindly breathe a prayer for us in the Master's name that some wanderer from the fold may find his way back.

ADVOCATES STERILIZATION

The Gary, (Ind.) Evening Post of November 18, gives the following interesting resume of the paper read by Dr. W. M. McGaughey of this city before the State Conference of Associated Charities, which met in that city recently:

"Dr. W. M. McGaughey, a member of the Putnam County Board of Children's Guardians, at the Child Welfare Round Table, gave a most interesting paper on 'The Relations of the Board of Children's Guardians to the Problems of Feeble Mindedness.'"

"Dr. McGaughey began his paper by the statement that the feeble-minded, like the poor, are always with us, and with the hope that such would not always be the case. He quoted statistics showing that in the United States there are more than 300,000 feeble-minded persons and that this, added to the great army of the natural increase, which is twice that of the normal figure as given above, makes an appallingly large figure. The jails and the reformatories are full of feeble-minded persons, both male and female according to figures compiled by heads of these institutions which show that nearly fifty per cent. of the inmates of such institutions are mentally deficient.

"Dr. McGaughey said that the question naturally arose as to what was to be done and announced that his paper dealt entirely with those cases now actually with us, rather than with those to come, and said that heredity work could do nothing for those who were already with us, although he stated that this work would eventually be of the greatest value to the country.

Gives Many Examples.

"A number of examples of the rapid increase of feeble-minded persons were given by Dr. McGaughey, the most striking of which was this story of the Kallikak family, a fairly familiar one. From the two original Kallikaks there descended in a period of six generations four hundred and eighty human beings, only forty-six of whom were normal, one hundred and forty-three were undeniably feeble-minded and the remaining were doubtful. All these people descended originally from a normal father and a feeble-minded mother. Other examples, almost if not equally appalling were given by Dr. McGaughey.

"The speaker went on to say that the schools were totally unable to deal with the feeble-minded. A mind which cannot learn derives no benefit at the public schools and works detriment to the other scholars. The Kallikak story is repeated in practically every community in Indiana, and the schools can do these people no good.

"Sheriffs, police officers, and other are maintained to look after the law breakers, insane commissions decide on sanity other boards look after other things, but the mentally deficient child receives nothing but neglect.

Immediate Action Needed.

"Dr. McGaughey declared that while waiting for the state to provide for these unfortunates, some action should be taken to provide for them temporarily, to place them in some institution where they can be cared for until better provision is legally made for their care.

"Declaring that the propagation of the feeble-minded is like unto that of the rabbit, whose habit of rapid multiplying is well known, Dr. McGaughey stated that he was strongly in favor of two things, segregation and sterilization. He stated that sterilization

SEASON ENDS IN D'PAUW VICTORY

EARLHAM COLLEGE TEAM IS DECISIVELY DEFEATED BY METHODISTS IN LAST GAME OF THE YEAR ON McKEEN FIELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON—THOMAS STARS FOR OLD GOLD.

QUAKERS DEFEATED 26 TO 0

The DePauw football team wound up the 1913 season by overwhelmingly defeating the Earlham College pigskin chasers Saturday afternoon on McKeen Field by a score of 26 to 0. At no time during the game was the DePauw goal threatened by Earlham. The visitors were outclassed in every department of the game. The field was muddy caused from the intermittent showers Saturday and the game was slow throughout.

Although this game did not figure in the standing of the secondary teams DePauw has convinced followers of the game that its strength is far greater than that of Franklin, who played the Old Gold team a 0 to 0 game earlier in the season. The game was characterized by the use of straight football tactics. The field being

The DePauw team did not score until in the first few minutes of the second quarter, although the Earlham goal was threatened several times earlier in the game. Rowan carried the ball over for the first touchdown after a sensational run by Thomas who placed the ball on the 4-yard line. The second touchdown was seen made by Thomas who plunged into the Earlham line for a score. After receiving the kick-off House, Ade and Thomas took the ball to the Earlham 4-yard line, with three plays, Thomas netting a 40-yard gain on a fake end run. The half ended with the ball in DePauw's possession on Earlham's 4-yard line.

At the beginning of the second half the coach sent in several substitutes.

THINKS ALL ARE BORN CRIMINALS

R. B. VON KLEINSMID PRESENTS STARTLING THEORY AS RESULT OF PRISON STUDY—GLANCE INTO AN AVERAGE NURSERY ALMOST LEADS ONE TO ACCEPT IDEAS.

AND PERHAPS HE IS RIGHT

What and why is a criminal?

There have been almost as many answers to this question as there are criminals in the country and still the wiseacres are trying to discover new ones. Probably one of the most unique of the answers, one which meets with the most general public scorn and still one which sounds quite reasonable to men of science, is that advanced by Rufus B. von KleinSmid, formerly professor in DePauw University, who is making a study of criminology at the State Reformatory at Jeffersonville.

According to the scientist a criminal is a person whose mind has remained as the mind of a child, thus leading to the conclusion that all persons are born criminals.

Investigations made by Mr. Von KleinSmid at the Reformatory caused him to announce in a lecture in Indianapolis recently that a majority of the persons in that institution, most of whom are supposed to be full grown men, in reality are children, from 4 to 12 years old. It was with fine sarcasm that he told of grave judges and ponderous juries passing judgment on mere infants.

Are Children Criminals?

The address was delivered before about 200 men, many of them prominent in professional and industrial circles in Indianapolis and there was none there to disprove his contentions.

And is he right in his contentions? If so, the yellow-back novel will have to be revised materially, for it always has pictured the criminal as a man polished, educated and singularly gifted, with all the qualifications of learned men. The novel criminal often is seen in his haunts poring over Shakespeare or Homer or Milton or some other of the "grand old masters."

He says a law-abiding citizen is a product of civilization, a person who has been trained to obey the law instead of following his natural inclinations. One glance into the average nursery will lead one almost to accept this theory at once. Consider the child of from 2 to 6 years old.

Glance Into the Nursery.

Give him a toy train building blocks, mechanical toys, or almost anything that is breakable. He will handle them carefully for a few minutes, and then comes a wild swipe with hands or feet and the train is wrecked, the block castle is swept from its foundation, the mechanical toy train is smashed beyond repair and the infant criminal views his work of destruction with a shout of fiendish joy. Give him a small hammer and everything destructible within reach soon is destroyed.

Enter a kindergarten or a primary school and frequently you will hear the teacher giving to her charges a series of "don'ts," telling them to suppress their criminal tendencies. Watch the child as it goes through the school and you will find it surrounded by a series of checks, intended, according to modern science, to check these tendencies.

School Thefts Numerous.

One of the greatest problems of high school principals is to prevent thefts in cloak rooms. School boards deliberate over this problem and none has solved it. Children are given individual lockers. The average boy is known as an expert locksmith and the locks do not keep him out. Combination locks are tried, but embryonic Jimmy Valentines soon learn to open these and so it is found necessary to station janitors in the cloak rooms to watch the boys and girls carefully and

THE ENGAGEMENT OF MISSO'HAIR

TO WED NEW YEAR'S EVE

The engagement of Miss Mable Irene O'Hair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Hair, and Frederick K. Stevens, of Princeton, Indiana, a merchant of that town, was announced on Monday at a Inter-national tea, given by Mrs. Fred O'Hair, at her home at the corner of Poplar street and Spring avenue. The wedding is to occur on New Year's Eve.

The event was a most elaborate and cleverly designed one. The home was tastefully decorated in ferns, yellow chrysanthemums, potted plants, flags of different nations and Japanese lanterns. Assisting Mrs. O'Hair were Miss Jessie Gobin, who was dressed as an Irish lassie; Miss Lillian Hays, in a Japanese costume; Miss Nellie Farrow, dressed as a Dutch girl; Miss Frances McGregor in Scotch costume, and Miss Irene Selby, as an American girl.

As the twenty guests arrived they were met at the door by the hostess, and after removing their wraps, each was given a small flag which corresponded to the decorations of one of five tables.

In this manner each guest was directed to her place at a table. The tables were decorated in flags and other decorations which represented one of the five nations.

After the guests were seated they were given small packages, wrapped in white tissue paper and bound in white ribbon. Upon opening the packages the guests found dust clothes, tea towels, napkins, small bits of embroidery and other pieces of needle work. The guests had been asked by the hostess to bring their thimbles, so that they might assist the bride-to-be in preparing for house keeping.

In the packages also was found a small folder. On the outside of the folder was the date "New Year's Eve 1913." On one side of the inside of the folder was painted an Irish flag, under which was the picture of and name of Miss Mable Irene O'Hair. On the opposite page was the picture and name of Frederick K. Stevens. In this novel manner the engagement was announced.

The afternoon was most delightfully spent in needle work and in the appreciation of the reading of an Irish story by Mrs. E. B. Doll and a reading of "My Bride That is to Be" by James Whitcomb Riley by Miss Minna Mattern. Miss Jessie Gobin further entertained the guests with popular pianoforte numbers during the afternoon.

Later delightful refreshments, consisting plumb pudding in a nest of whipped cream served with caramel sauce, candied cherries, nuts and coffee, were served. The scheme of nations was carried out in the serving of refreshments, the china in which the refreshments were served carrying out the scheme of the decoration of each table.

DIVORCE CASE FILED.

John R. Strange has filed suit in the Circuit Court asking divorce from Lola Grace Strange on the charge of cruel and inhuman treatment and failure to care for the couple's home. The complaint sets out that the couple were married September 24, 1910, and separated November 24, 1913. The complaint avers that the defendant is guilty of profanity, is cross and quarrelsome and that she stays out late at night despite the protests of her husband. The complaint asks for absolute divorce and the custody of the couple's child, Theodore Crawley is the attorney for the plaintiff.

CHEEK KILLED IN LOUISVILLE

FORMER GREENCASTLE INTERURBAN LINEMAN DIES FROM INJURIES ACCORDING TO REPORT.

WIDOW LIVES IN BRAZIL

Reports were received here Monday evening that William Cheek, a former Greencastle lineman on the interurban, had died in Louisville Monday, his death resulting from injuries received several days ago. Mrs. Cheek, who resides in Brazil at present, has received no word from her husband or from Louisville authorities and is greatly worried.

Mr. Cheek left the employ of the interurban last August and went to Louisville to work. Mrs. Cheek was to have joined him this week. Several days ago she received a letter from him saying he had been badly injured his back being hurt severely. He did not give particulars of the accident.

He did say, however, that he expected to go to the home of his father, who resides on a farm near Toboso, Ohio where he expected to recuperate. Mrs. Cheek was then to join him.

When the word was received in Brazil yesterday Mrs. Cheek was without means to go to Louisville. She was in a nervous condition and Monday was awaiting further word from Louisville, hoping that the word of her husband's death was erroneous. Mr. Cheek has a large circle of friends among the interurban employes here.

SHOWER FOR MISS OSTRUM.

Miss Florence Ostrum, Miss Mayme Naylor and Miss Kathleen Campbell entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Black Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Marlam Ostrum, who is soon to become a bride.

The guests assembled in the front parlor, from where when a curtain separating the room from the drawing room was drawn a large pink bell fastened to the chandelier with wide pink and blue ribbons, depicting the colors of the Beta Sorority, of which Mr. Benedict, Miss Ostrum's fiancé, is a member, was displayed. The bell was trimmed with smilax. A large chair, also decorated with smilax awaited the bride-to-be.

After being seated in the chair the bride-to-be pulled ribbons attached to the bell, precipitating a shower of rice, confetti and presents. Miss Ostrum received many beautiful presents.

Refreshments of white brick ice cream, with pink bells of ice in the centers, white cake with pink frosting, coffee and nuts were served. Each guest was pinned with a favor in the nature of a small, baby pink slipper filled with rice and tied with pink and blue ribbons. The hostesses each wore a dozen pink tea roses, gifts of the bride-elect.

The guests were members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Mrs. Ostrum, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Frank Bittles and Mrs. J. G. Campbell. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Henry Ostrum, Jr., and Mrs. P. C. Benedict, both of Indianapolis.

TAKES CULTURES

FROM SIXTY THROATS
Dr. Jerome King, city and county health officer, visited the Fox Ridge school Thursday and took cultures from the throats of more than 60 Fox Ridge school children, in an attempt to check the diphtheria epidemic which is threatened there.

Besides taking cultures from all the school children present, the homes of other children, who are being kept out of school, were visited and cultures were taken of these children.

The cultures were sent to the State Board of Health in Indianapolis, and each child showing symptoms of the disease will be placed under quarantine.

Already there are three cases of diphtheria on Fox Ridge. The school children were exposed to the disease when one of those now ill with the disease attended school. Dr. King says he believes that several of the school children now attending school have the disease germs in their throats and it is to find these and place them under quarantine that he is taking the cultures.

If those who have the germs in their throats can be placed in quarantine, there will be little danger of the disease spreading to any great extent. "But those who have the disease must be placed under quarantine," says Dr. King. Should conditions as they now exist be allowed to continue the disease might spread until the condition would be alarming.

PROGRESS IN FORESTRY DEPENDS ON THE PUBLIC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—"Progress in forestry depends more upon what the public permits than upon what forests and lumbermen perform." This is a conclusion of the forestry committee, as expressed at the conservation congress today.

"As a consequence," the committee goes on to say, "public education is of prime importance, and the best methods of educating the public demand special study. Since no one else has the interest or the requisite forestry knowledge, foresters and lumbermen must learn this trade or profession in addition to their own."

"It is not forests, but the use of forests, which we seek to perpetuate and therefore to be sound and convincing education must include a knowledge of the lumber business."

NOTICE TO GROCERS

ANG EGG DEALERS

The Cold Storage law provides that when eggs that have been in cold storage for thirty days are sold at retail "there shall be placed in or on the receptacle containing them, in full view of the public, a card not smaller than six inches in width by six inches in length, upon which shall be printed the words 'cold storage,' in plain gothic letters not less than two inches in length, and the wrapper, bag or container in which said eggs are delivered to the purchaser by the retailer shall be plainly stamped with the words 'cold storage.'" Neglect to comply with these provisions subjects the person, firm or corporation responsible to a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars, and it is made the duty of all food and health officials to see that the law is enforced. Any evasion or neglect will not be tolerated.

Your attention is further called to the Renovated Butter Law which requires that all butter produced by re-churning or reworking packing stock or other butter shall bear the words "Renovated Butter" or "Process Butter" in bold-faced letters at least three-fourths of an inch high. This statement shall be made on the top and sides of the receptacle, package or wrapper in which it is kept for sale or sold.

If butter is exposed for sale uncovered, then a placard bearing the words "Renovated Butter" or "Process Butter" shall be attached to the mass of butter in such manner as to be easily seen or read. Violation of this law is punishable by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars.

MISS ERNESTINE McHAFFIE WEDS

At 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McHaffie, on the Forest Home farm, near Stilesville, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ernestine and Harry Tharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Tharp of Cartersburg. The ceremony was pronounced by the Rev. J. E. Sherrill of Danville.

The wedding was a quiet home affair only the immediate friends and relatives of the bride and groom attending. Following the ceremony the young folks left for a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home to their many friends at their home in Cartersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Tharp have already furnished their home in Cartersburg, where they will reside. Mr. Tharp is a young and prosperous farmer and will devote his time to his agricultural pursuits. The bride is a talented and attractive young woman, who has gained a wide circle of friends.

Emory Wass, quarterback on the DePaw Academy football team, suffered a severe injury to his hand in the Academy-Brazil football game played at Brazil Tuesday. Thinking his hand was only sprained he did not receive medical aid until Thursday when it was examined by a local physician, one of the small bones of the hand was found to be fractured.

INCIDENT IN THE LIFE OF A COUNTRY PASTOR

I had just preached on "Absolem, My Son" and was passing out the side exit of the church, for reasons well known to ministers, that the effect of that particular sermon should not be dissipated as usual in the stereotyped hand-shakes and conventional compliments of the people in the front vestibule, when I was halted by the sad solicitous face of a care-worn mother. Her only speech was the agitated gripping of my hand, but I interpreted her suppressed sobs as an invitation to make a pastoral call.

This I performed promptly early that week. The door opened before I rang the bell. I was expected and forthwith escorted to the front room or "parlor."

Here my hostess launched into the subject, which she assumed I had come to discuss, almost precipitously. (Her story, however, was neither unique or new, but rather a type of thousands of cases almost identical.) Her boy was wayward. His evenings and leisure hours away from home were elongating while his mother's life and happiness were shortening. Her countenance was as sad as any I have ever looked upon. Worry and grief had chased the laughter out of her otherwise beautiful face. She was a good intelligent woman. Her husband was a kind father and successful in business. Why should her son go astray? The answer was not in her story which was too familiar to require my whole attention to understand it.

But the answer was very manifest in that same "parlor" in which our dialogue occurred. As we entered the room my hostess raised the dark green shades so that we could see each other in the broad daylight. The windows, however, were not opened, although the air within was damp and musty, while the aid without was exuberant and delightful.

As I stepped across the home-made rag-carpet seated myself on the haircloth settee and leaned my elbow on the little white "tidy" neatly planned over its arm, I saw the answer to her question. In the center of the room was a little walnut table with a white marble top, while the pile of ocean shells immediately under it on the floor, gave to its location an air of fixity. In the corner was a "what-not," a series of triangular shelves, supported by columns of spools and covered with all manner of trinkets and family souvenirs. On the walls hung the enlarged family photographs in walnut frames. Aside from these, a huge wreath of flowers made out of wax and enclosed in a great encased frame, constituted the art exhibit of the room.

This was the "parlor," 14x16, as exact and indifferent as the figures that indicate its dimensions, as sedate as the white wierd marble of tombstones. Its precision in form and nicety of adjustment bid defiance at even the suggestion of a change. But even more pronounced was the clearness of its utterance, reinforced by the orders of its mistress: "Let boys beware who enter here. No furniture can be disturbed; no games or merriment permitted." Yet this was the only place for the son to spend his "social evenings" and in its damp unalluring air it held the answer to the question of a mother's aching heart.

A MULTIPLICATION SHOULD PROHIBIT

was one of the most important things and that through its use many of the higher type of the feeble-minded, could be colonized in state institutions and sent back home to become self-supporting citizens. He stated that if any person of this type did not wish to submit to the sterilization operation that he should be segregated in a suitable institution and that under this alternative no trouble would be met in operating on most of the unfortunates.

"In closing, Dr. McGaughy declared that he favored a crusade, to be backed by all the Boards of Children's Guardians of the State of Indiana, for the benefit of this hapless class which so far has had nothing but neglect. A hunt for the higher type of feeble-mindedness could be made and these unfortunates determined. The school teacher could be a great help in this work. All of them could find time to apply some simple test which would show whether or not a child was normal. Statistics could be obtained in this way and I believe that these statistics could be put up to the legislature in such a way as to secure the needed legislation."

OBITUARY.

For the first time the dark cloud of sorrow has gathered over our home when the Death Angel came and separated from us our husband and father, Nathaniel Warren Holland, the son of Thomas and Jane Holland.

He was the youngest child of a family of ten children, all of which have preceded him to the beyond, except one brother, William Holland, who resides in Michigan. He was born Nov. 27th, 1860, in Clinton township where he spent his whole life with the exception of three years, which he spent in Cherryvale, Kas.

He was united in marriage to Margaret Ellen Brackney the twenty-second day of December, 1881. To this union was born five children, two sons and three daughters, Charles Nathaniel, Estella Ellen, now Mrs. Payne Moore; Thomas Elam, Lucy Ethel, who is now Mrs. Kenneth Harris and Laura Rebecca.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland went to the home of their daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Harris the 8th of November to visit, when he was taken sick with his fatal illness. His death occurred Nov. 12. Mr. Holland would have been 53 years old the 27th of this month.

While on his death bed, Mr. Holland made the following statement: "I have tried to live an honest life and would like to get well in order to live with my family and relatives, but if it is the Lord's will I am ready to die."

He was an honest and loving husband and was very affectionate toward his children. He was always ready to lend a helping hand to his neighbors in anything he could do.

He leaves to mourn his death a wife and children five grandchildren, one brother and a host of other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held at the German Baptist Church on Friday, November 14, 1913. Many relatives and friends were present at the services. The interment was at the church cemetery.

OBITUARY.

Death has again entered our home, taking our dear mother, only a year and four days from the time our father was called home.

Laura I. Cooper, daughter of Wm. and Samantha Cooper, was born on Oct. 22, 1859, and departed this life Nov. 16, 1913, being fifty-four years and twenty-four days old at the time of his death.

She was united in marriage to Wm. Scoby March 25, 1888. To this union were born four children: two sons and two daughters, Florence Edna, Ezra Raymond, Willis Mason and Chloe Alpha.

She professed a hope in Christ at the age of twelve years and united with the Bethel M. E. Church. She lived a faithful Christian for forty-two years.

Her sufferings have been long and intense, but she bore them with a Christian spirit. In her last sickness she often expressed her willingness to go, all her trust being in God.

She was a loving mother and a kind neighbor. Never was she too weary to lend a helping hand in time of need.

She leaves to mourn their loss her four children, a step-daughter Mrs. L. E. Knight, four brothers and one sister, besides a host of friends.

Father and mother are with us no more; but their Christian training will live on and influence our lives through the years to come and some day we can go to them where partings and sorrows are no more.

OBITUARY.

Martha Stewart Tharp was born March 18th, 1827, and departed this life November 8th, 1913, being eighty-six years, seven months and twenty-eight days old at the time of her death. She was born in Henry county, Kentucky, and was married to John D. Tharp, August 8th, 1852. To this union was born seven children: Rufus, Whitney, Geo., Lucinda, John W., Jonathan and Alpheus, four of whom are still living. They immigrated from Kentucky to White county Indiana, and thence to Hendricks county in 1854, living in this county about fifty years. Sister Tharp united with the Primitive Baptist Church in Hendricks county in early life, and remained a devoted Christian until death. She attended church regularly as long as her health permitted. Her husband preceded her to the grave April 2, 1913. Since that time she has been making her home with Alpheus Tharp, the youngest child. He and his wife have given their mother loving care and attention day and night besides rearing her own family she had the care from infancy of two grand-daughters, Viola and Alice Phillips. They are living today as witnesses of a mother's untiring love and devotion as to her own children. On account of her acts of kindness and pleasant disposition, she was generally known as "Aunt Martha" in her own neighborhood. She leaves many warm friends and neighbors in Hendricks county, her old home. Her constant prayer was that she might die and be reunited with her loving husband children. All through her long illness she showed a remarkable patience and a Christian faith in God. The funeral services were conducted at the home of Alpheus Tharp. Burial was in the New Providence cemetery.

HUSBANDS ARE THE HOSTS.

The Crescent Club was entertained by their husbands Thursday night with a banquet at the Martha Washington Tea rooms. The affair was the 15 anniversary of the Crescent Club. The hosts give an entertainment semi-annually for the club members.

The tea rooms were decorated with the yellow chrysanthemums. Mrs. W. O. Timmons, secretary of the club, presided as toastmaster and several responded with appropriate talks. Dr. Eugene Hawkins responded on behalf of the host, while Mrs. Julius Bryan, president of the club, and Mrs. Elam Denny gave toasts in behalf of the club members.

A musical program was rendered by Mrs. Alva Brothers, Mrs. Walter Crawford, Mrs. Cleve Thomas, Mrs. J. A. Throop, and Mrs. W. O. Timmons, after which the whole attendance sang a parody on "Marching Through Georgia."

Those who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. Elam Denny, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Baney, Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Timmons, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Throop, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hibbit, Miss Ethel Hibbit, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Bryan and Lee Harlan.

YOUNG EDITOR MARRIES.

Paul G. Hathaway, until recently local editor and manager of the Clayon Enterprise, became impatient waiting for the material to arrive at Bainbridge, where he goes to start the Bainbridge Journal, and lied himself to Huntington county last Thursday and put in his time securing a marriage license and making all necessary arrangements for bringing back to Coatesville as his bride, Miss Zelma Paulin Hidy, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles L. Hidy, of Benton Harbor, Mich., who is now Mrs. Paul Gordon Hathaway. It isn't necessary for The Herald to congratulate Paul and his bride upon their entrance into double blessedness, for we have done that already, but we can not resist the temptation to congratulate our son in this public manner on securing such a winsome, good natured and accomplished young woman—one whom we believe will be a real help and encouragement to him when things look blue and subscriptions are over due and job work and ads are scarce. For the present they are domiciled at the Hathaway home in Coatesville, but will be "at home" to their friends in Bainbridge Ind., on or before Jan. 1, 1914.—Coatesville Herald.

Thus far sentiment has not crystallized beyond a strong feeling that the convention should go to one of the smaller cities and a community which is not strongly partisan to either faction. The convention is not likely to go to Chicago, since it will not attract a crowd sufficient in numbers to demand such facilities as only Chicago can offer.

DEATH OF MRS. SUSIE MURPHY.

The death of Mrs. Susie Murphy occurred at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart, who resides on west Washington street of this city, Thursday night at 7 o'clock. Her death was caused by Bright's disease. The deceased was 78 years old. The body was taken to her home in Knightsville Thursday night. The funeral was held at her home Saturday at 1 o'clock and the interment was at the Calcuta cemetery.

Mrs. Murphy has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Stewart in this city for several weeks and was taken ill while here. Her death was hastened by a serious injury she received two weeks ago when she fell and fractured her right hip. The deceased is survived by two sisters, who are Mrs. S. F. Adamson, of Knightsville, and Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart, of this city.

BEE HIVE REBEKAHS ARE ENTERTAINED AT CLOVERDALE

The Bee Hive Rebekah lodge of this city were entertained at Cloverdale Thursday night by the Martha Rebekah lodge of that city. The local degree staff initiated four candidates for the lodge work. About thirty guests attended from this city.

The local lodge made the trip to Cloverdale on the Monon and returned home on a large automobile truck. After the lodge meeting the evening was spent with social conversation. Refreshments of sandwiches, ice cream, cake and coffee were served. The local degree staff was highly complimented on their work.

DIES IN THE JURY BOX.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 20.—George Clouse, age sixty-three, a farmer, of Madison township, died suddenly from heart failure yesterday afternoon while he was seated in the box, serving as a juror at the trial of the damage suit of Wilbur G. Houk versus Isaac L. Waldrip. Clouse had been dead for several minutes, it is thought, before a jurymen seated next to him noticed that his eyes were closed and his head drooped. Every effort made to revive him proved futile. The trial of the case was stopped by Clouse's death. He is survived by his widow and several children. He had been enjoying good health and had had no illness recently.

While driving to his farm Thursday afternoon James I. Nelson had a peculiar accident. The horse he was driving stumbled and fell. The animal turned completely over when it fell, its head and neck being doubled under it. Mr. Nelson got out of his buggy and examined the horse and believed it to be dead. He was so sure of it that the animal was dead that he went and got some men to help him drag the animal out of the road. Just about this time the horse suddenly came to life and in a few minutes he was able to be harnessed up again and driven away.

GIRL IS TAKEN TO THE HOME OF HER PARENTS

Bertha Richards, 13-year-old daughter of S. L. Richards, living at Sandcut, nine miles north of this city, who has been missing from her home since noon Tuesday, returned to her home last night.

After wheeling Craie Brumigan, an invalid, for more than 25 miles over rough country roads, the girl decided that she would quit the job. She reached Seelyville on her return, yesterday evening, when she was apprehended by Clarence Edmunson, a saloonkeeper of Sandcut.

Edmundson, who had been searching for the girl, failed to persuade her to return to her home with him, and Sheriff Rea was notified. Deputy Sheriff Ace Robinson went to Seelyville last night and brought the girl to the Home of the Friendless, where she was later turned over to her parents.

Persuaded to leave her parents by the Brumigan woman, the girl, who is large for her age, pushed the woman in an invalid's chair to this city, and thence to Brazil and to Putnamville. At Putnamville, it is said, the girl demanded Mrs. Brumigan pay her money which had been promised, and when refused, the girl abandoned her while she lay asleep at the home of a farmer, near Putnamville, where they had been given shelter. The girl started homeward and reached Seelyville.

Domestic trouble, it is said, caused Mrs. Brumigan to leave her husband at Sandcut. Unable to walk and get away by her own efforts, it is said, she induced the girl to wheel her by the offer of money for her services. Mrs. Brumigan and her husband, it is said, were formerly engaged in the show business; he, as a ventriloquist and she as a hypnotist. While the parents of the girl believe that the woman practiced this diabolical power upon their daughter to influence her from home, the police discouraged such belief, and believe the woman to be a fakir.—Terre Haute Star.

The alley between Vine and Indiana streets was opened for traffic Monday morning by Contractor Kisner. The guests who were present were as follows: Misses Marjorie Campbell, Hazel Vermillion, Ruth Fraeley, Jennie Mills of Indianapolis, Irene Selby Mildred Curtis, Frances McGregor, Lois Shouse, Helen Broadstreet, Mary Curtis, Mary Wade, Jessie Gobin, Clara Sharp and Helen Kelley; George Byrely, James Crouch, Victor Varner, Halstead Selby, Neil Booth, John Clarke Mitchell, Tillotson, Wallace Welch, Maurice Sharp, Benjamin Hopewell, Robert O'Hair, Stanley Barnett, Olin Varner, Ralph Overstreet and Clifford Warner.

WILLIAM BROTHERS—

SOME HUNTER! Fred Reising, Ferd Lucas, C. C. Gillen, William Sutherland and Ernest Stoner, all armed with the latest pattern shot guns and other hunting equipment took a hunting trip north of town Friday. Desiring to hunt on the farm of William Brothers, they invited him to go along. Now Bill had not been hunting for ten or twelve years but he accepted the invitation and digging up an old $2.50 shot gun, which had the appearance of the Revolutionary War weapon, went along. His companions informed him that he would be unable to do any good as a nimbrod but that they would let him carry the game for him. Bill consented to this arrangement.

When they reached the farm and began their hunt, Bill got busy. Every time a rabbit or a quail would get up, Bill's old antique would bang! And down would come the game. And it continued that way all day Bill showed the high-toned hunters some tricks of the game. He bagged more rabbits and quail than any of his companions. Today when any of his Friday's hunting companions saw Bill coming their way they would dodge him. And Mr. Brothers is not a bit backward about telling how he showed up the men who ridiculed his hunting ability.

THE TIMBER SUPPLY MUST DEPEND ON PRIVATE FORESTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—After the remaining virgin timber of the United States is exhausted, forest supplies will have to come from national forests state forests, or from privately-owned land; but federal and state forests, according to E. A. Sterling, Director of the American Forestry Association, who addressed the national conservation congress this afternoon, constitute only one-fifth of the total forests area of the country.

"On private lands" he says, "the timber of the future will be either such growth which has sprung up voluntarily on cutover land and has managed to escape fire, or that from areas which have been devoted to forest production as a business enterprise. So far the practice of private forestry has been mainly confined to small operations, often more for pleasure than for profit. An extensive forest policy on a scale large enough to establish its commercial feasibility has not yet been undertaken.

"Private forestry in the United States has been retarded by many influences among which the more important are large stored-up timber supplies, comparatively low stumpage and lumber values, lack of market for many minor forest products, and a public sentiment which has not realized that forest production is essentially the growing of successive crops. "Present tendencies in private forestry indicate a more logical development than at any time since forest conservation became an issue. Instead of attempting to put immediately into effect complete policies and an intensive management which are scientifically correct, the things now being attempted are the logical steps which will ultimately lead to systematic, long-time management of private forest lands. The private owner is learning that fire protection is possible and that it pays. With this fact established, other things will be taken up and worked out until the progressive timberland owner will find that he is practicing the kind of forestry that pays in this country. "In a word, private forestry, as it

GIRLS RUN AWAY FROM HOME.

Two Orphans' Home girls, Pearl Hamilton and Martha Elkins, aged 14 and 15, respectively, decided Friday evening that they would leave the home and go out to earn their own living. Without notifying Mr. or Mrs. Harcourt, who manage the home of their intentions, the lassies slipped away late in the evening and came to Greencastle.

One of the girls has a sister working at the home of Mr. and Artie Call, near Fern, and the girls started to find this sister. They went to the home of Mrs. Fannie Wells on West Washington street at about 9 o'clock, Friday night, inquiring their way to Fern.

Mrs. Wells told the girls it was entirely too late and too dark for them to attempt to go to Fern that night and asked them to stay at her home until morning.

They accepted the invitation but were up early and off to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Call. Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt did not learn of the girls' disappearance until morning, when they notified Marshal Johns. The officer located them and Saturday morning drove to the Call home and got them. They were taken back to the home.

MISS MONA RUARK WEDS.

The marriage of Miss Mona Ruth Ruark, age 19, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ruark of this city, and Athol Banks Lagle, age 20, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lagle of Mitchell, Ind., occurred at the home of the bride's parents on Beveridge street Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The house was very beautifully decorated with ferns, white chrysanthemums and smilax. Miss Ethel Daniels presided at the piano and played the wedding march. The bride was dressed in a very becoming gown of white crepe de chime. Miss Ruth Hutcheson presided at the punch bowl.

After the ceremony an elegant three course luncheon was served.

The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of the city. She has been employed at the Allen Bros. Dry Goods store for several years. The groom recently moved to this city and has made many friends here since. Mr. and Mrs. Lagle will reside at their newly furnished home on Beveridge street. The young couple have a wide circle of friends.

The out-of-town guests who were present for the ceremony were: W. F. Lagle and son Athol of Mitchell, B. McCaw, Ladoga; Mrs. Margaret Culbertson and granddaughter, Hallene Miller of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Ona Girton of Knightsville.

COUNTY JAIL IS EMPTY.

For the first time in six months the county jail is empty. The jail became empty Sunday morning when Wilks Mays, colored, was released, after having served a sentence of 35 days for intoxication, and Frank Pierce was released after having served a 17-day sentence for the same offense. Just a week before Enoch Sillery was released after having served a six months' sentence for cutting a man.

Daniel Scott, the test car driver, who was killed in an automobile accident near Indianapolis last Thursday, was a former resident of Greencastle. Mr. Scott moved to Indianapolis about eighteen years ago. He was in the electrical business while here. The funeral will be held at his late home in Indianapolis next Tuesday afternoon.

MR. BELL WILL MAKE GOOD.

It will be remembered that during the late municipal campaign the Indianapolis News persistently attacked Joseph E. Bell, the Democratic candidate for mayor of the capitol city, while it carried on one shoulder a so-called "citizens" candidate and on the other the Republican nominee. But the News, on occasion, has given proof that it is open to conviction.
For instance, it has rendered loyal support to the policies of President Wilson, and this is greatly to its credit. Recently it has heartily approved the acts of Governor Ralston, which is also greatly to its credit.
And now it has taken the pains to print, under favorable headings, an extensive interview with Joseph E.
Bell, the mayor-elect of Indianapolis.
In this interview Mr. Bell re-asserts his campaign pledge to give to the citizens of Indiana's chief city a clean, honest and efficient business administration. Among other things, the News quotes him as follows:

"I do not care to enter into any detailed statement of my policies except to say that they shall be for the best interest of all the people. I prefer that my administration shall tell its own story. I will say, however, that every pledge I made, every promise for the betterment of Indianapolis will be carried out. I made no pledges nor gave any promises but those I knew I had the ability to keep.
I said for instance that wineroms would be abolished. They will be abolished and will not be permitted to run while I am mayor. I told the people that there would be no public gambling in Indianapolis. I mean that now just as I did then. Every public gambling house in Indianapolis will be closed, and they will stay closed. My general policy will be to give the people of my home city a clean honest business administration."

And every person who knows Joe Bell knows that he means every word of it and that he will do what he says he will do.

DIRECT ELECTION OF
UNITED STATES SENATORS.

It will not be forgotten, of course, that under the recent amendment to the United States constitution, senators are to be elected by popular vote. Candidates will be nominated by the delegates to the state conventions of the different parties. Every voter will have a chance to express his individual preference. There has been talk of Beveridge as the candidate for the Progressives, but there is a large speculation that Beveridge intends to seek the nomination of his faction of the Republican party for president.
Among the Republicans there is favorable mention of William L. Taylor, former attorney general. Hugh Miller of Columbus and George Shideler of Marion are also spoken of. If Beveridge decides to be a candidate before the Democratic convention he will, of course, be nominated. He has made it very clear that he is going to run on the Democratic ticket, regardless of any opposition to himself or his faction. In his speeches that he has made throughout the country he has stated that he has burned all Republican bridges behind him and that he is compelled to the task of keeping the party together, not the old party wide open.

The Progressive candidate for attorney general makes a public declaration with State Chairman Fred A.
Singer as some other Republican, upon the subject of these respective factions.

It would be amusing, and, perhaps, in some respects informing. The people would like to know just how the Republicans and their late associates, the Progressives, think of each other.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR GOVERNOR RALSTON.

Telegrams and letters have been pouring in on Governor Ralston from citizens who extend their congratulations on the part he played in bringing about a truce in the Indianapolis street car strike. That the strike situation was followed with interest throughout the state is indicated by the fact that more than half of the letters are from persons living outside of Indianapolis. The letters were from Republicans as well as Democrats.—Indianapolis Star, (Prog.)

And then the Star quotes words of commendation sent to the governor by persons of all callings and political beliefs. It is now well known that the city of Indianapolis faced a dangerous situation which the local authorities either could not or would not control. Governor Ralston acted with the courage and firmness for which he is noted. There had been violence and loss of life. Property had been damaged, and there had been a loss of wages which the families of the men involved in the strike could not endure without great hardship. It was apparent that even more serious consequences might be expected. When Governor Ralston was convinced that the power of the state should be invoked he did not hesitate for a minute. The national guard was called, but it was not necessary to use it. The governor commanded the situation and all conflicting interests were submitted to him. He brought about an agreement for arbitration. At once condition became normal. The people not only of Indianapolis, but of the state, owe to Governor Ralston a debt of gratitude.
By his wise and tactful action he showed how easy it was, after all, to bring employers and employees together in a spirit of reasonableness, and mutual concession.

THE REASON WHY.

The fact that the Democratic state board of finance was compelled by the condition of the treasury to make a temporary loan of $460,000, payable after the December settlement with the county treasurers, seems to give Republican editors great joy. But this joy is superficial and is expressed for partisan effect only. The plain truth is that the state Democratic administration has shown a remarkable and commendable ability in handling a most distressful financial condition passed down to them from their Republican predecessors. In his first message to the legislature of 1905, Governor Hanly, the successor of Governor Durbin, both Republicans, declared that "the revenues for the present year have been anticipated (drawn in advance) to the extent of $529,659.03." Mr. Hanly said further,
"This condition of the finances will become an actual embarrassment to the treasury before the end of the current year. It can be met only by borrowing money outright, or by anticipating the revenues for the first fiscal year." The course chosen by the Hanly administration was to anticipate the revenues, that is, to "draw in advance to pay past debts."
These drafts were as follows: $994,
449.00 in 1905; $1,245,000 in 1906;
$996,000 in 1907; and $1,778,000 in 1908. In addition to these advance drafts the Hanly administration used for general expenses the state debt sinking fund tax, which averaged about $500,000 a year. If it had not been for using the sinking fund and "drawing in advance" to pay current expenses the Hanly administration would have left nearly $3,300,000 of unpaid bills at the end of its term.

As it was, that amount represents the deficit between the state's regular general fund income and its outgo during the last Republican administration and shows the condition that the Democrats had to face when they entered the statehouse.

DEMOCRATIC MANAGEMENT OF STATE FINANCES.

The state tax levies from 1895 to 1909, inclusive, amounted to seventeen cents, annually, on each one hundred dollars of valuation for the state general fund Benevolent institutions fund and State Sinking fund.

In 1810 the sinking fund was reduced one and five-tenths, making the net annual tax levies since that year fifteen and five-tenths cents.
The sinking fund of three cents, established by the Democratic legislature of 1893 was used for the payment of the state debt up to the year 1904.
In the years, 1905, 1906 and 1907, under the Hanly administration, the sinking fund of three cents was transferred bodily to the state revenue fund. In 1908 the sinking fund of three cents was restored but the law making the levy authorized the transfer of the sinking fund for the years 1908, 1909, 1910 and 1911, to the state revenue fund for the payment of current expenses. The legislature of 1911 in fixing the sinking fund levy provided that it should be held sacred for the payment of the state debt.
The money collected for sinking fund in 1912 and 1913 was used for the payment of current expenses. If the system inaugurated by Hanly had been followed by the present administration, the sinking fund would have been spent for general expenses and no part of the debt paid and there would have been no temporary loan.

The reduction of the tax rate in the year 1910 of one and five-tenths cents made a total saving for the years 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1913 of six cents on every one hundred dollars of taxable property in the state. One cent upon the present taxation of taxables will yield revenue of one hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars, so that in the last four years the present administration has saved to the tax payers six cents on each one hundred dollars of valuation, which would amount to $1,100,000;
that is, the tax payers have retained in their pockets eleven hundred thousand dollars instead of paying that amount into the state treasury. The present administration has paid off $400,000 of the bonded indebtedness, and $100,000 of the board of agriculture's coliseum indebtedness, making in all a total reduction in the debt of $500,000. With reduced revenues of over $1,100,000, and a payment of $500,000 upon the state debt the state board of finance was prompted to make a temporary loan of $460,000 until the next semi-annual settlement.

It does not take a skilled mathematician, who figures with an honest pencil, long to learn that the taxpayers have been benefited by the present administration in the improvement of the finances of the state by reduction in taxes and payment of the debt, more than $1,600,000.

The present administration inherited the embarrassed financial condition and did not create it. The legislature of 1913 had the courage to meet the condition and provide a remedy, and made a tax levy sufficient to meet the obligations of the state in a business like way. The tax levy for current expenses was reduced 2 cents, or $370,000 per year.

The increase in the levy is for the support of the educational and benevolent institutions. Do the Republicans want to cripple the state schools and deprive the unfortunates of the state of comfortable and decent care?

NO TANGO HERE SO WHY WORRY

While the faculties of many of the colleges of the state are battling with the problem of barring the tango, hesitation waltz and similar fancy and often times vulgar dances, De Pauw is able to sit back and merely give the matter a passing glance.

With dancing prohibited here, the dancing problem offers no chance for the worry of deciding the line between graceful steps and those tending to lean toward the obnoxious. Other colleges, however, are facing the problem. Following the action of other educational institutions in the state and throughout the country, the authorities of Wabash College have decided to take steps toward the regulating of the new dances which prevail at the functions given by the various organizations.

Speaking of the proposed changes Prof. D. D. Hains, head of the Greek department, said: "Faculty action in this matter is unnecessary, and at the present time improbable." Members of the fraternities and of other organizations which give dances have been informed of the attitude of the faculty toward the new dances, and have been asked to put such limits on the dancing of their respective organizations that action by the faculty will not be necessary.

"In regulating the dancing, the faculty does not attempt to confine the permissible dances to the two-step and the waltz. The students know, they say what dances should not be permitted and what ones should be barred, and if they do not engage in the extreme type of dancing in the future no further action by the professors will be necessary. When asked what steps would be taken by the faculty in the event that the request that they have made should not be complied with, Professor Hains replied that he did not anticipate such action on the part of the students.

The movement has caused considerable discussion, but the sentiment of the Wabash men seems to be that they do not care to engage in the dances that are termed indecent by the faculty. They are inclined to be partial, as a rule, to the new dances, however, when the extreme steps are not included in the exercise.

ASSISTS IN REPRODUCTION OF INDIAN UPRISING

Gen. and Mrs. Jesse M. Lee, who have just recently returned from a short visit in Terre Haute were the subjects of the following sketch in a recent issue of the Terre Haute Tribune:

"Gen. Jesse M. Lee, U. S. A., retired, of Greencastle and wife are visiting the family of Judge D. W. Henry on south Sixth street. Gen. Lee has just returned from South Dakota, where he had a novel experience at the Pine Ridge Indian agency, in assisting in taking a series of photographs reminiscent of frontier happenings in the latter part of the 80's and the early 90's. The scenes taken recently are intended to be used for moving picture reproductions of the last Great Indian uprising in 1890-91 and Gen. Nelson A. Miles, who was in command of that department at the time; Gens. Maus and Baldwin, Charles King, the well known author of stories relating to the army and 'Buffalo Bill,' all of whom figured in the proceedings of that day, were present in person to take part in the moving picture reproductions. Gen. Lee at the time of the uprising was a captain in the Ninth infantry, stationed in Arizona but his knowledge of Indian traits and characteristics, and his long experience in handling the Indians, induced Gen. Miles to send for him to assist in the work of pacifying the aborigines. Several hundred Sioux Indians and about 200 United States cavalrymen from nearby posts were used in taking the pictures. Thirty days were spent at the camp, which was established for that purpose and the expense of the camp was not less than $1,500 a day, a total of $45,000 merely to get the first films. The syndicate backing the movement is said to be worth millions, and the series of pictures produced will be historically correct and valuable because it is a record of the last Indian outbreak of any importance.

"Gen. Lee met many of his former army friends and Indians with whom he had been associated while stationed there, and the experience was a most enjoyable one for him. He will be in the city several days visiting Judge Henry and other friends."

ALLEGED HORSE THIEF ESCAPED

Hiding on the second floor of the jail at Crawfordsville while Turnkey Charles Smith walked to the first floor and turned the big wheel section of cells Arthur Gasaway, alias Charles alias Sam Green, made his escape at nine o'clock Sunday evening and through the night his capture failed. Gasaway, who was being held on a charge of horse stealing, is now thought to have made a clean getaway. He reached the ground from the third floor of the jail by blankets that he had tied together and swung from the window. Marshal Johns has received word asking him to watch for Gasaway as the man has relatives in this county.

The Crawfordsville Journal has the following concerning Gasaway: "The man was arrested several weeks ago by Chief of Police Offutt as he was trying to get away with a horse and buggy belonging to Robert Davis, local liveryman. He was arrested at Jamestown and returned here where he has since been in jail. A few days ago his case was taken up by the grand jury and charges of horse stealing and larceny were returned against him.

"In all likelihood Gasaway would have taken a trip to the penitentiary from this city. Evidence that would almost undoubtedly have led to his conviction was held by the local police department. His case would have come up for hearing within a few days. The man has served time in the Kansas state prison and also in the Eastern prison in Pennsylvania. It is thought that he escaped from the latter institution where he was serving time for deserting from the army. Recently the police here received a card from the authorities asking for information regarding Gasaway but although several replies were sent to the inquiry no further information was received by the police here.

"When he came to this city several weeks ago and secured a rig from the Davis livery barn he stated that he was in search of a brother living south of the city. A few hours later when he was seen driving into Jamestown, twenty-five miles east of here, local authorities were notified. The marshal of Jamestown was instructed to hold the man and Chief Offutt, accompanied by Mr. Davis took the next car for Jamestown. When arrested Gasaway put up a plea that he had learned his brother had moved to a farm near Jamestown. Investigation later by Police Capt. Al Michael showed that the fellow had no brother or other relatives living in this part of the state. Relatives of Gasaway are residing in Brazil and Greencastle however, and the authorities in both of these places received notice last night to watch for the man carefully. The police at Danville, Ill., were also told to be on the lookout for the man. He came here from Danville on the day he attempted to steal the livery horse.

"The man, when arrested gave his name as Charles Miller. In his pocket were letters addressed to Sam Green, which he tried to explain belonged to a friend of his by that name."

FOREST NOTES.

Eastern manufacturers are looking to the northwest for hardwoods for the manufacture of clothes-pins. Birch is particularly wanted.

The Panama Canal Commission has requested the forest service to inspect the timber being creosoted at Seattle and Tacoma for the commission.

The net receipts from the national forests of Washington and Oregon during the past four months amounted to $115,620, an increase of 17 per cent over receipts for the same period last year.

Of the two million trees to be planted on the national forests of Montana and northern Idaho during the present fiscal year, one-half have been set out this fall and the rest will be put in next spring.

A thoroughly up-to-date saw mill with a capacity of 60,000 board feet a day has been erected, on the south coast of Mindanao island. It is of American make throughout and uses the modern bandsaw. This is only one of several such mills in the Philippines.

CHILDREN ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR 62 PER CENT OF ALL INDIANA MATCH FIRES

Of the 211 match fires in Indiana which have been reported to the state fire marshal within the past six months, children are said to be responsible for fully sixty-two per cent.

The total loss from match fires for the six months considered was $45,931. Of this amount, children with matches were responsible for a loss of $28,849. More than eighty fires, causing a loss of $20,082 were the result of general carelessness.

Parents Are Responsible.

"While, of course, the records show that the children were responsible for 130 of the 211 match fires which have occurred in Indiana since May 15," said the fire marshal, "the people who are really to blame are the parents of the children. They are the ones who leave matches in open boxes where children can easily reach them.

"And it must be remembered," he added, "danger from the match is not confined to property alone. Many match fires have occurred in Indiana recently which have resulted in serious injury and loss of life."

For the purpose of diminishing losses caused by match-fires, several states have already prohibited the use of the ordinary "strike anywhere" match. Merchants are not allowed to handle it, and only the safety match is permitted to be sold.

A model city ordinance, forbidding the use of the ordinary match has already been drawn up by the National Fire Protection Association, and its adoption is being recommended by the fire marshal to all Indiana cities.

Among the suggestions bearing upon matches and match fires have been drawn up by the fire marshal, are the following:

"The 90,000,000 people of the United States use more matches than all the 900,000,000 people of the rest of the world.

"The common parlor match, which can be ignited on one side or at the end with equal ease is a constant source of danger. Sparks struck from it often fly many feet and are the cause of many dwelling house fires. The 'bird's eye' or 'double dipped' match is an improvement.

"If it is still necessary to stick to parlor matches they should be kept in a metal or stone receptacle and out of the reach of the children.

"The Hughes-Esch bill, which was passed by Congress, will stop the manufacture of white phosphorous matches after July 1, 1914. Because of the increased temperature of the ignition points in matches made under its provisions, fire hazards as compared with those resulting from the white phosphorous match of the past, will be greatly lessened.

"The safest type of matches is the 'strike on the box' match. It throws some sparks, but on the whole is less dangerous than the protected tip match.

France Has Match Tax.

"In France, the national government has a monopoly on the manufacture and sale of matches. The monopoly tax which is collected not only yields the nation a revenue, but makes the cost of matches so high that their use carelessly is prohibited.

"Undoubtedly a large number of match fires are wrongly attributed to rats and mice. Laboratory experiments indicate that these animals will die before touching the ordinary match. Although matches may sometimes be carried to the nests of rats and mice and there accidentally ignited, cases of this kind are extremely rare. It is expected that further researches will completely acquit rats and mice of the charge of being agents of incendiarism."

John A. Hayes, chief detective for the Monon and well known in Greencastle, is talked of as a candidate for the marshalship of Lafayette. Mr. Hayes' numerous friends here and in other towns on the Monon would be glad to hear that he had been chosen by the Lafayette mayor for the office. He is well qualified to fill the place, as his efficient work and excellent record in his present capacity evidences.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

WOULD DEVELOP ADVANCE METHODS

OBJECT OF THE PUTNAM COUNTY CORN SHOW IS TO TEACH THE FARMERS ADVANCED IDEAS IN THE CULTIVATION OF CROPS—GOOD FOR COMMUNITY.

AN EXPERT WILL BE HERE

One of the most interesting features to those persons interested in farming, attending the land show at Chicago this month, is a new corn, which, it is said, grows ears at a uniform height from the ground, convenient for husking. If such a feat as this can be brought about by breeding corn, it is certainly reasonable to believe that the quality and yield of any corn can be greatly increased by proper attention.

This is what the Indiana Corn Growers' Association and Purdue University are attempting to bring about, and this is the reason for the Putnam County Corn Show, which will be held in the Central National Bank, next Saturday. The officers of the bank take the attitude that what is good for one man or class of men is good for the community, and they believe that if the yield and quality of Putnam county corn can be improved, it will be a great benefit for the community, not only Greencastle, but for the entire county and the surrounding counties.

The bank has procured the services of Prof. G. R. Frier of Purdue University, who will make informal talks to the farmers, and who will act in the capacity of judge. Four prizes will be awarded, $10 in gold to the exhibitor showing the best five ears, $5 in gold for the second best five ears, $2.50 in gold for the third best five ears, and $2.50 in gold for the best single ear.

Entries are already coming in, and while the quality of the corn is not as good as it might be, it as good as can be expected this year. The entrants are requested to call for their corn after the prizes have all been awarded Saturday afternoon, as the bank believes that a great benefit to be derived from the show will be the distribution of the prize winning corn, and the comparison of the different types of corn.

Illustrated booklets will be distributed to those interested in the exhibits, treating of every phase of corn growing, showing the different types of corn, and with instructions for testing, selecting and planting the seed.

REAR WHEEL DELIVER

Fred Bryan, driving his car, and Harry Kennedy, driving the one horse Harry Kennedy, driving the Marshall & O'Hair Freed store onehorse delivery wagon, collided on Washington street, near the Bloomington street intersection at 5:30 o'clock Thursday night. As Mr. Bryan was driving slowly little damage was done.

Mr. Bryan had just left his home and had started down town, while Kennedy was on his way home, when they met. The side lights on the auto were lighted but the front lights were not.

Neither driver saw the other until they were nearly together and then it was too late to avert a collision. Kennedy had turned around to look at something in the rear of his wagon and had just turned back when he saw the auto. He stopped his horse, just before the machine hit the animal.

The horse was knocked back and its legs slightly skinned by the impact. The radiator of the machine and a front lamp were damaged and the wagon slightly damaged.

FELL FROM MOTORCYCLE.

"Robert Williamson, age 71 years a resident of Cloverdale, Putnam county, came to grief last night when he essayed to ride on tandem seat of a motorcycle behind his son, the home on north Ashley street."

"Williamson is now confined to his son's home with a fractured rib and a badly bruised shoulder and a terribly wrenched idea that 'he's not the man he used to be.' He is ready to admit now that a man past 70 years of age has no use riding on a motorcycle, and two wheel motoring is sport for

OFFICERS LOCATE MISSING GIRL

C. L. Edmonson, of Heckland, a small town in the northeast part of Vigo county, was here Friday looking for Bertha Richards, a sixteen-year-old girl, who left home without her parents' consent a few days ago. The girl had started to walk to Indianapolis. She is supposed to have been lured from home by an invalid woman, whom she promised to wheel through to Indianapolis in a wheel chair.

Mr. Edmonson arrived here Friday morning. After consulting the authorities of this city he and Marshal Johns started out to search for the girl who was believed to be somewhere along the National Road near this city. An automobile was secured and they went to Putnamville through which the National Road runs.

After interviewing several people in Putnamville it was learned that the woman and girl had passed through there late Wednesday afternoon. They had stayed at the home of John Allee east of Putnamville on the National Road Wednesday night. The girl had deserted her companion early Thursday morning and started to walk back to her home by way of the National Road. Both the woman and the girl were penniless.

After communicating with the police at Brazil it was learned that the girl had passed through there a few hours before. She was bare-headed and was very poorly dressed. Mr. Edmonson, who had been sent in search of the girl by her parents, left immediately for Seelyville where he expected to overtake the girl.

It is supposed that the invalid woman had lured her from her home. Little was learned as to their intentions after they reached the capitol city. The people of Putnamville contributed enough money for the invalid woman to get to Indianapolis.

ENGAGEMENT OF DePAUW GRADUATE ANNOUNCED

What proved to be one of the most elaborate 1 o'clock luncheon announcement parties was the one given by Mrs. J. B. LaPlante at her beautiful suburban home south of the city, Thursday and the announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret Nicholson and Wylie W. Fay of Nevada, Ia., was made. The announcement was made in a very charming manner. Cards were found under each napkin which bore the names of Miss Nicholson and Mr. Fay written with muriatic acid and when held over the candle blaze both names could be plainly read by the guests. An elegant five course luncheon was served. The table was handsomely decorated with smilax tulle, bride's roses and ferns. The place cards were hand painted for-let-memora. After the luncheon the afternoon was spent in sewing. Tea towels were hemmed for the bride-elect. Miss Nicholson became acquainted with Mr. Fay when both were in the wedding party of Mrs. Max Emmert, formerly Miss Virginia Kuykendall of Atlantic, Ia. Miss Nicholson acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Fay also took a part. Mrs. Emmert and Miss Nicholson were among the bridesmaids for Mrs. J. B. E. LaPlante's wedding. Mr. Fay is graduate of the State University of Iowa and is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity, while Miss Nicholson is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nicholson of Broadway street, and is quite popular in local society. The wedding will be an early spring event and will be a large affair.—The Vincennes Capital.

Miss Nicholson was a member of the DePauw class of 1911 and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She has many friends in Greencastle.

HONOR MEMORY OF CAPT. MARTIN

At a meeting of the Putnam County Bar Association held this morning the following statement submitted by a committee, consisting of Col. C. C. Matson, S. A. Hays, Ben F. Corwin and T. C. Grooms was adopted and will be placed in the permanent records of the court:

"The Putnam County Bar Association wishes to place upon the permanent records of the Circuit Court a brief testimonial to the character and worth of our departed brother, Capt. Henry B. Martin.

"He was a native of this county and spent nearly all of his life here. He raised a large and interesting family in our midst. He had strong characteristics and left an impression upon the minds and hearts of his fellow-men, where he was known. "Truth was his guiding star and no acquaintance of his could avoid knowing of his detestation of a liar. He was honest with himself and expected others to be honest with him. He was a very forceful and earnest speaker, but careful in every assertion to adhere to the real facts.

"He was an able and faithful representative of the people he was chosen to represent in the State Legislature. He was chosen for much important public service by the Federal Government and after being tried, was sent for again without any solicitation upon his part or the part of his friends.

"He was sincere in his convictions and never afraid to express his sentiments. His friendship was steadfast and he could be trusted in the most important matters. He was more willing to serve a friend than he was to promote his own interests.

"An unflinching courtesy was one of his chief characteristics and yet he was quick to resent the slightest reflection upon his honor or his truth.

"He was a brave man, brave in battle and in every circumstance of life. He served his country faithfully and well. He served his family long and abundantly. He served his community profitably, and he goes to his reward with the regret of many friends and will be remembered as one of the strong men of his day in his native county.

"The clerk of this court is requested to have this memorial printed in the newspapers of this county and send copies to his children."

McMAINS SAYS BELL THREATENED TO SHOOT

William McMains, who last Thursday struck and badly injured John Bell, with a pitch fork, when the two men had some trouble in a road near Cloverdale was in town Saturday and told his side of the story. The two men had had trouble before over the question of a road line. When they met in the road the controversy was resumed. Bell became angry and threatened to shoot McMains, according to the story of the latter. When Bell reached into his hip pocket to get as McMains believed, a revolver, the latter struck him over the head with a pitch fork, which he had on his wagon.

Bell was knocked down but soon got up. McMains drove on down the road. Later Bell was taken to Cloverdale where his injuries were dressed. Mr. Bell is reported as getting along all right and it is now believed that his injuries will not be serious.

Mr. McMains came to town late on the afternoon of the trouble and retained Allee, James & Allee to defend him if he should be prosecuted for his act. So far no affidavit has been filed against Mr. McMains.

MORE INTERURBAN TALK.

The Terre Haute Star of Wednesday gave the following account of the Indianapolis, Linton & Vincennes traction line:

"A flying squadron has been busy today raising money in this city for the survey of the traction line for the Indianapolis, Linton & Vincennes road. Three thousand dollars is needed to cover the expenses of the engineering crew, and $2,000 was raised by noon today. The crew will begin its survey through Stocton township Thursday."

The surveying squad surveyed from Mooresville to within four miles of Cloverdale. They stated they had an excellent way planned to enter Cloverdale. The surveyors were called in last Saturday and were sent to Linton, but will however, in the near future, take up the survey at HigKins Creek and go through Cloverdale."

The largest load of shingles that ever left Cloverdale was sent Wednesday by the Cloverdale Hardware & Lumber Co., and Edgar Curtis of near Little Point was the purchaser and hauler. Thirty thousand shingles were put on one wagon and started east. The enormous load came to grief though on the Neler hill, 3 miles east of here. On the ascent the double trees broke and the heavy load plunged back down the hill turned over and scattered shingles all over the hill side. The driver escaped uninjured.—Cloverdale Graphic.

WITNESS AFTER WITNESS IN GREENCASLE
Such Evidence Our Readers Cannot Dispute.

As we take up the Daily Herald and Herald-Democrat week by week, we are struck by hearty, unmistakable way in which witness after witness speaks out as Mr. Matkin does here. If these people were strangers living miles away, we might take little notice of them. But they are not. They are our neighbors living among us. Their word is too easily proven to admit of any doubt. They speak out in the hope that their experience may be a guide to others.

William W. Matkin, carpenter, 421 E. Washington St., Greencastle, Ind. says: "A number of years ago I was in a railroad wreck and my back and kidneys were injured. After that I suffered from pains in my loins and the kidney secretions were too frequent in passage, causing me annoyance. I tried different remedies and treatments, but was not helped until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They made me feel better from the first and I was soon relieved. I have no objection to my name being used in the local papers recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

THE FOOTBALL BANQUET.
"Gobble gobble gobble! the turkeys used to say, but now it is Bogle, Bogle Bogle!" said Dr. W. G. Blanchard at the annual football banquet in the Woman's Hall dining hall Saturday night. Dr. Blanchard was one of the faculty members on the toast list who had an enthusiastic congratulation for everybody.

One hundred and fifty men attended the banquet, a smaller number than usual at the athletic celebrations of this kind, but with the Earlham victory just over and everyone in the best of spirits it was a success.

Charles W. Jewett, of Indianapolis, president of the Athletic Board, was toastmaster. Professor N. W. Barnes the first speaker on the program, talked to the men of the university on their indebtedness to the new alumni management. He reviewed the work of the alumni board since its organization last November and showed how it was through their efforts that the team was made a success this year. Barnes also read a message from President Grose, whose absence was made necessary by an engagement in New Albany, in which Dr. Grose congratulated the men upon "playing the game hard and playing it fair."

Guernsey Van Riper of Indianapolis, treasurer of the board, told the men that the alumni were going to do still more for the school than they had done. "Not only athletics," Mr. Van Riper said, "but all of the college enterprises are going to be supported by alumni. We want the university band to be made a bigger thing, for instance, and next year we intend to make possible the organization of a forty-piece band. We want to see DePauw made the best small college in the Middle West."

Other speakers said that if the spirit which characterized the banquet continued, DePauw could be made to excel any denominational school in the country. Coach Bogle spoke of being able soon to trample Purdue in the mud instead of Earlham.

Captain "Dick" Grady said that he had played his last game for DePauw and soon would be among the alumni. He said that he had enjoyed the good fellowship of his teammates throughout his football career and that he intended as an alumnus to be of as great service as possible to DePauw.

Heber Ellis was called upon by Toastmaster Jewett to say something on the prospects for a "new gym." Ellis said that it was the continuation of the banquet spirit in the heart of every DePauw student which was to show possible alumni contributors to a gymnasium fund that the school deserves the gymnasium.

The banquet program ended with a feature parody song by Noble Sissel. All of the DePauw victories of the season were mentioned in the song and the names of the members of the team included. The banquet broke up with a series of DePauw yells.

The banquet was given by the athletic board and the proceeds from the ticket sale were turned into the athletic funds.

SEASON ENDS IN DEPAUW VICTORY
The third touchdown was the result of a series of line plunges by Captain Grady, Thomas and Ade, Thomas carrying the ball over. The fourth quarter was played in a heavy down-pour of rain, and both teams resorted to a kicking game in which the DePauw team was much stronger. After several sensational sprints for long gains by the Old Gold backs, Ade smashed the line for 10 yards and scored the fourth and last touchdown of the game.

Thomas was the shining star of the DePauw, making many sensational runs for from 10 to 60 yards, while Rowan and Ade were excellent ground gainers. Bogue, the Quaker quarterback was the star of the Earlham team.

Four members of the DePauw team played their last college football game Saturday. They were Captain Grady, Moore, Long and Gardner. Immediately after the game the DePauw alumni presented Capt. Grady with a 165-pound hog, as a token of their true appreciation of his four years' work on the team and for his captaincy this year.

CONGRESSMAN RALPH MOSS IS IN TOWN
Congressman Ralph Moss, of Clay county came to Greencastle this afternoon, and spent several hours in consultation with James L. Randel, district chairman and other local politicians.

Congressman Moss will leave tomorrow for Washington to prepare for the approaching regular session of Congress, which will convene on the first Monday in December.

Mr. Moss goes to Washington a week in advance of the convening of the regular session, in order to meet with the sub-committee on Rural Credits which will prepare its report for Congress. GRAVEL ROAD BONDS EXEMPT FROM THE INCOME TAX LAW
Indiana gravel road bonds are exempt from taxation under the operation of the Federal income law. This announcement was made Saturday by Will H. Wade, manager of the bond department of the Fletcher American National Bank and Dick Miller of the firm of Miller & Co., following receipt of authentic information from the Treasury Department at Washington, D. C.

Millions of dollars of these bonds are held throughout Indiana, it is said. Every county in Indiana has issued such bonds and in possibly every township in the state there is some investor owning bonds of this character.

While Judge Dillon of New York, Frederick E. Matson of the firm of Matson, Gates & Ross and Weyl & Jewett of Indianapolis held that these bonds were free from tax under the operation of the law, other bond lawyers here differed and investors were at a loss to know just how to handle their coupons.

Realizing the complexity of the situation and anxious to get authentic information, Mr. Wade and Mr. Miller conferred with Thomas M. Honan, attorney general of this state. After some consideration a letter was sent to the attorney general at Washington who in turn referred it to the Treasury Department for answer. The answer of the department follows in part:

"In reply to your inquiry as to whether or not these bonds are the obligations of a political subdivision within the meaning of the income tax law and therefore free from the tax imposed by this law, you are advised that from the manner in which these bonds are issued and the character of assessment by means of which funds are provided for their payment, it is the opinion of this office that these bonds represent the exercise of the Government function of a political subdivision of the state, and that therefore the income accruing to individuals or corporations owning such bonds is not taxable under the act cited."—Indianapolis Star.

to open the rooms only at certain periods—and still the thefts continue. Watch boys and girls on Hallowe'en. They commit depredations which, according to our statutes, constitute malicious trespass. Consider hazing in colleges. According to law this is assault and battery and sometimes has led to murder.

And so the whipping post, the dark cells and other modes of punishment have given way to charts containing the A. B. C's. The work of educating criminals is still in the experimental stages and there is little data to show what success the change is having—Indianapolis Star.

Mrs. Wildman gets the 140-acre farm and all of the other personal property. She further gets the custody of their two children. Mrs. Wildman got 60 acres of the land from her father. The other eighty acres had been purchased by the couple during their married life.

Under the terms of the compromise each party is to pay their own court costs and attorneys fees. Mr. and Mrs. Wildman lived near Cloverdale. Mr. Wildman gets a pension of $24 a month.

ASK NEW WATER SERVICE RATES

C. T. Peck, Greencastle's city attorney, who has recently received a notification from the Public Service Commission of Indiana, informing the city that the Greencastle Water Works Co., had filed with that commission a petition asking the re-adjustment of the water rates in Greencastle, will ask the commission to set a late date for the hearing of the petition.

Attorney Peck took the matter up with the city council at the meeting Tuesday night and was instructed to go to Indianapolis and consult with the commission regarding the case. The city is to pay his expenses.

The object of the city attorney in having the case delayed as long as possible, is that the new city council, which will take office January 1, may have ample time to familiarize themselves with the case, before it comes to trial.

The time is so short that the present city council could not arrange to take the matter up before the term of the councilmen expire. The city attorney suggested that the latter part of February would be a good time to have the hearing of the case set. This would give the new city attorney and the new council six or seven weeks to prepare for the hearing.

The petition of the Water Works Co., is filed by its attorney, Ben F. Corwin of Greencastle. A copy of the petition was sent to Mr. Peck. In the petition it is alleged that the company is losing money under the present rates.

After setting out the rates now in effect the Water Works company, sets out a new schedule which it asks be legalized by the commission.

The rates which the company ask be fixed are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Gallons per month, Rate per 1000 gallons.
1 to 20,000 gallons, monthly, 40 cents per 1000 gallons.
20,000 to 40,000 gallons, monthly, 35 cents per 1000 gallons.
40,000 to 60,000 gallons, monthly, 30 cents per 1000 gallons.
60,000 to 80,000 gallons, monthly, 25 cents per 1000 gallons.
80,000 to 100,000 gallons, monthly, 20 cents per 1000 gallons.
100,000 to 200,000 gallons, monthly, 15 cents per 1000 gallons.
200,000 to 500,000 gallons, monthly, 10 cents per 1000 gallons.
500,000 to 1,000,000 gallons, monthly, 8 cents per 1000 gallons.
1,000,000 gallons and over, monthly, 5 cents per 1000 gallons.

The company shall own and furnish all meters used; and each consumer of water shall pay a minimum charge of one dollar per meter for water taken through each meter so furnished and at the rates above set out. Provided, however that one consumer shall have the right to require the installation of more than one meter in any one property, plant or institution, when necessary for a proper water service and such consumer shall be entitled to a rate for the total consumption in any one month, in accordance with the above schedule, the same as though such water used had been taken through one meter; but such special rate shall not apply to said total consumption if the quantity of water taken through any one of the meters so furnished to said consumer shall be less than twenty-five hundred gallons per month.

All consumers of water by meter measurements shall pay monthly for the water so furnished.

The Greencastle Water Works company shall have the right to require of any consumer before furnishing any water, a cash deposit, sufficient to secure the payment of charges for water to be furnished in any one month.

No free water service shall be furnished.

The rate of charges for the one hundred fire hydrants now located on the pipe system of the said the Greencastle Water Works Company, shall be sixty dollars ($60.00) per annum, per hydrant; and the same rate for each hydrant hereafter ordered on any extension of the present water pipe system, and such payments of rental for said fire hydrants shall be made semi-annually.

S. B. "Bud" Browning, who is in an Indianapolis hospital where he recently underwent a serious operation, is reported to be getting along nicely.

OBITUARY.

Elizabeth T. Carter, daughter of Thomas and Sarah Batman, was born Aug. 5th, 1845. She was the youngest of twelve children, all of whom excepting one with the parents, have preceded her to the beyond. A brother Woodson aBtman of Roachdale survives her. She was married to E. F. Carter on March 12th, 1867. To this union was born two children, Sarah A. and Edna Ora. She spent the greater part of her life on the old homestead where she was born and died and was one of the best known and most highly respected residents of that part of the county. She united with the Christian Church at Roachdale twenty-three years ago under the ministry of J. M. Brown. In later years she attended church at Bainbridge when health would permit. During the past summer she had enjoyed exceptionally good health until stricken with apoplexy. In spite of all that loving hands could do she departed this life nineteen days later Nov. 20, 1913, being sixty-eight years, three months and fifteen days. She was the first to die in four generations and leaves to mourn her loss one brother, a loving husband, two children, Sarah A. Gossie and Edna Ora Carter, five grand-children, Ethel M. Collings, Herbert C., Winnie M., Otha C. and Frankie E. and one great-grandchild, Artie E. Collings, all of whom were with her when she was laid to rest in the Bainbridge cemetery. Beside the immediate family there were many relatives and friends who ministered to her and the family during the last illness. The old homestead will never be the same without the cheerful hospitality and loving welcome from mother, grandmother and Aunt Bet.

FIVE DEGREES ABOVE ZERO IS MINIMUM.

Motorists living in the northern and central states are looking forward with some anxiety to the advent of cold weather and its effect on the manner in which the present grades of gasoline will vaporize when the crank is applied to a cold motor.

Some up-to-date information on cold-weather starting has been developed during the past summer by experiments made in cold storage, under the auspices of the Studebaker engineers. These experiments were based on the ordinary commercial grade of gasoline, and while some allowance must necessarily be made for the dead air incident to refrigeration, the tests will, it is believed come close to the actual condition which will prevail this winter.

It was ascertained that the lowest temperature at which gasoline would vaporize from a piece of waste, soaked in the fluid and dropped on the floor, was five degrees above zero. At this temperature the Studebaker "Six" used in the tests, started handily on the first turn of the electric cranking system. Below this temperature, however, the gasoline in the carburetor refused to vaporize. Naturally no explosion could be secured from the motor.

For the advantage of the motorist who occasionally finds himself facing the problem of starting a cold motor on a morning with the temperature around zero, several tests were made, the gasoline readily responding to any external application of warmth. The most effective, as well as the most simple plan was to place a rag soaked in hot water, over the intake. The car had been left over night in the cold storage apartment, with the temperature at twelve below zero. In the morning the rag was applied and the motor started promptly on the first turn of the electric cranking apparatus.

This test also calls attention to the fact that, by improved carburetion supplemented by the electric starting system, engineers have fully kept pace with the steadily lowering grades of gasoline, generally on sale. The motorist of former times, even with his advantages of high-test gasoline, found winter starting more or less trouble. On the other hand, the modern improvements have reduced cold weather starting to absolute simplicity, despite the vastly lower vaporizing point of the fuel.

AMUSEMENTS.

English Opera House, Indianapolis.

English's Opera House, Indianapolis, is to have the honor of presenting during the week of December 1st the Stratford-Upon-Avon Players from the birthplace of Shakespeare at Stratford, England. They will, of course, present a Shakespearean repertoire and Indianapolis is the third city in the United States to have the opportunity of seeing these players. Coming straight from Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, they bring with them a knowledge of Shakespeare gained from long years of study and effort to bring out all the beauties of this great author. The annual festivals which are attended by thousands of Americans have become one of the institutions of England of which they are very proud and have been the means of spreading the knowledge of these beautiful productions over the entire world. On this first American tour the Stratford Players are presenting fourteen of Shakespeare's plays and eight of them will be seen in Indianapolis. They are:

- "The Merchant of Venice."
"King Richard the Second."
"Much Ado About Nothing."
"The Taming of the Shrew."
"King Henry the Fourth."
"The Merry Wives of Windsor."
"As You Like It."
"Hamlet."

The company is composed of the best actors and actresses in England anywhere they have been seen critics have commended upon the evenness of the productions, every part, down to the smallest being taken by capable people.

Special arrangements have been made to take care of out of town mail orders for this week and parties are being made up from all the nearby towns to see some of these performances. The prices are 50c to $1.50, an unusually low scale for such a high class of entertainment.

Misses Minnie and Lydia Williams are in Indianapolis where they will see Marlowe and Sothorn in "The Taming of the Shrew."
