Important Decision of the Superior Court, in General Term, Rendered this Morning.

The cases of The State against Gen. Kimball, late Treasurer of State, and his sureties to recover interest alleged to have been realized by him on the loan and deposit of State funds, were decided by the General Term of the Supreme Court, this morning.

The Court was divided, Judges Blair and Newcomb delivering opinions in the affirmative, and Judge Hand in favor of a reversal of the judgment at Special Term.

The majority held that the legislation of 1861, which makes the the loaning, et al., of the State funds by the Treasurer, a criminal offence, repealed the act of 1859, requiring the interest received on such loans to be accounted for and paid into the State Treasury.

Judge Newcomb placed his decision on the additional ground that by the 5th section of the Treasury act of 1859, the Treasurer could not place such interest in the treasury except by reporting the fact to the Auditor of State that he had received it, and accepting the Auditor's warrant upon himself for the amount of such interest, and that by making such report he must necessarily accuse himself of a violation of the criminal statute of 1861, and furnish evidence that might be afterwards used against him in a criminal prosecution.

That the Legislature had not the constitutional power to require the performance of an act having such consequences, and there being no other means by which the Treasurer could get the interest into the treasury, no civil action lies for a failure to make such report and payment.

Judge Hand holds that the act of 1859 was not repealed or affected by the act of 1861, and that it was the duty of Kimball to pay into the treasury the interest he may have received.

The counsel for the State prayed an appeal, in both the cases, to Supreme Court.

To the Editor of the Evening News:

In your report Saturday of the Central Committee the following occurs:

"Mr. Elliott, the defeated candidate for Sheriff announced to the Committee that he was satisfied with Col. Ruckle's nomination."

I never said I was satisfied with the nomination, did not so state to the Committee, did not authorize the publication of any such stuff, but I now say it is wholly untrue, and will, at the proper time, if necessary, publish a card and give my views on that subject; until then all notices, cards, or what ever else may appear in print are frauds upon the public.

CINCINNATI, May 6.-Careful estimates of the amount of press matter telegraphed from this city during the Convention week by all the telegraph lines, places the amount at seven hundred and eighty-five thousand words, the greater part of which was sent during three days of the Convention and the day previous.

About fifty men prepared this matter. When it is taken into consideration the amount of work necessary before the press of the Convention, and the fact that correspondents in addition wrote long letters to their papers, some idea may be formed of the tasks of correspondents.

Fire companies from adjoining towns were telegraphed for, but the flames were subdued before they arrived.

WASHINGTON.

The Tariff and Appropriation Bills.

(Special to the N. Y. Tribune.)

WASHINGTON, May 5.-As soon as the Tariff bill comes up in the House, Kelley will probably be on Tuesday next, Kelley intends to move to strike out a clause as a means of killing the bill. This motion is not debatable and will at once result in a test vote.

If it is carried the bill will be dead, and there will be nothing before the House on the subject of tariff but Kelley's substitute. Kelley can carry his motion probably in the shortest time in which the bill can be perfected and finally passed.

(Special to the New York Herald.)

It is said that final action will be reached in the Senate to-day on the postal appropriation bill, which will include in addition to the Pacific Mail subsidy amendment, another for the benefit of the Australian line, and the bill will then go to the House. A serious riot took place at Charkoff, a large market town in South Russia, last week, caused by the interference of the police with the Easter amusements of the people. Fire engines were brought out to disperse them, and this so exasperated the populace that they attacked the police and fire stations and gutted them. The government ordered out troops which were stationed by the mob, whereupon they fired and many citizens were killed and wounded. The rioters then dispersed, and at last accounts the city was quiet but under martial law.

The Churches Yesterday.

The attendance upon the various services yesterday was quite large, especially in the morning, when most of the churches were comfortably filled. At the

UNITED METHODIST CHURCH.
 Rev. Dr. Tuttle, President of Wabash College, preached morning and evening. His morning discourse is spoken of as a most sensible and logical, as well as eloquent effort. In the evening he spoke on the seeming conflict between the Bible and science, showing that the statements of Genesis concerning the creation of man could not, in the light of modern science, be restated more truthfully or comprehensively. He closed with an eloquent eulogy of the Bible, which had withstood the criticism of the scholarship and skepticism of centuries, only to prove itself more the imperishable word of God.

UNITY CHURCH.
 Rev. Mr. Savery preached yesterday at Unity Church. His subject in the morning was "The Here and Now." He insisted that attention to things of the present, the getting of all the good there is in this life, and the doing of all the good possible, did more for the benefit of humanity here and hereafter than a continual effort to save souls in the future life. Much of crime was due to poverty, and a failure to make the best of what we have at hand, which spring from the neglect of the present in thinking about and laboring for the distant future. The subject was well handled, and afforded much food for reflection.

ROBERT'S PARK CHURCH.
 Rev. Dr. Baylis, pastor, announced a series of sermons upon the evils of intemperance, to be sketched under the following heads: 1. Our Serpent, and how it kills us; 2. Our Serpent, and his keepers; 3. Our Serpent, and how to kill him; 4. Our Serpent, and what the churches ought to do. The sermon upon the first was delivered last night to a very large audience, from the text: "At the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."—Prov. 23: 32.

Dr. Baylis introduced his subject by reference to the serpent charmers of the East, and he spoke of the peculiar faculty they possessed in drawing the reptiles from their concealment; in robbing them of their deadly fangs, and of the exhibitions following the capture, wherein the serpents were allowed to twine around the capturer's neck, encircle his person, and lodge within his clothing. The comparison between the serpents of the East and the serpent of his text was then drawn as follows:
 "Much as this oriental exhibition surprises us, we have a pet serpent of our own. It is more deadly than the cobra. The eastern snakes have their fangs broken, ours has not. Eastern serpents seldom bite, ours bites always—kills 60,000 people a year. Eastern mountebanks know how to charm their serpents; our serpent reverses it, and charms the mountebanks. There the foals play with the snakes; here the snake plays with the foals. There men live by the serpent; here the serpent lives on men. There people send for the charmer to come and rid their premises of the deadly pest; here we give men licenses if they have "good, moral characters" to bring the serpent to our neighborhood and our houses."

Taking this comparison as an introductory to his subject, Dr. Baylis then discussed affirmatively the following propositions:
 1. Intemperance is expensive to its victims; makes them poor and keeps them so.
 2. It invades the family, pollutes its purity, blights its affections, destroys its happiness, often severs its ties.
 3. Intemperance has sent some brilliant men into imbecility and premature graves, and has this tendency in all cases.
 4. Intemperance in many cases induces insanity, and children born of intemperate parents are often idiots.
 5. Intemperance stimulates crime.
 6. Intemperance grows upon itself—as the danger of its victims increases, their slavery increases.
 7. It is an outrage upon all the poor of the country, whether they themselves drink or not; for every bushel of grain distilled is so much waste and increases the cost of what remains.

8. The sale of liquors is carried on, as a rule, by an unprincipled class of men.
 9. Intemperance is more expensive to society than all other crimes combined.
 10. It prepares men for the ravages of epidemics.
 11. It robs men of manhood.
 12. It damns souls.

The statistics advanced by the pastor in support of the above propositions contained a sufficiency of "hard pan" truth to startle the most careless person present, and in his argument there was such reasoning that the questions, "Whither am I drifting?" and "Do I Come Under this Category?" came straight home to every "intemperate toppler," "moderate drinker" and "occasional tippler" present.

If the introductory sermon can be taken as an index of the proposed series, every thinker in the city should hear the entire course, whether he believes in temperance agitation or not.

Florence Nightingale's Owl.
 Florence Nightingale picked up a tiny little owl in an Eastern country many years ago. It hardly cared to get out of her way while she was walking. She put it in her pocket, and that pocket was its chief home for twenty years, for it never got any larger. It was affectionate, playful, and no Greek ever looked with more reverence upon the goddess of wisdom and her owl than the children did upon the kind lady who was known to carry this familiar wherever she went. Miss Nightingale's name did not make the owl jealous of the more famous bird of the night, but perhaps restrained it from screeching. When the philanthropic lady went to the Crimea, she took her owl with her, and it amused many a poor wounded soldier whom she nursed. It returned to England with her, and died a few years ago, loved and respected by all who knew its many virtues and amiable disposition.

General Railroad Ticket Office,
 In Spencer House, West End Union Depot. FOWELL & NEWBY, Proprietors.
TO THE PUBLIC.

A few of the many reasons why the Citizens of Indianapolis and vicinity should patronize the Spencer House Ticket Office:
 1st. Because it is the only Ticket Office in the City of Indianapolis where the traveller can be furnished with any information in regard to the Shortest, Best and Quickest Routes from Indianapolis to all points, North, South, East and West.
 2d. It is the only Railroad Ticket Office where you can be furnished with correct Time Cards of all the Railroads centering here, showing distances, time of arrival and leaving, and connections of all trains running into the Union Depot.
 3d. It is the only Office in the city where you can get Tickets at Reduced Rates to all points, where competition is offered by rival lines.
 4th. It is the only General Railroad Ticket Office where the public can see correct Railroad Maps, etc., and have the Shortest, Quickest, and Best Lines pointed out.
 5th. It is the only Office where any inducement is offered to Emigration, either in Tickets or Freight; the only place where Emigration is made a specialty. Emigrants, Take Notice!
 6th. The only place where you can get Tickets at all hours, or have them delivered to your house, office, or place of business, at all times, free of charge.
 These are but a few of the many reasons that can be adduced why the citizens of Indianapolis and vicinity should support an outside or city office; and as we have undertaken this new enterprise in the face of the combined influence of the several Railroads centering here and the Union Depot Ticket Office, we can but simply beg the patronage of the travelling public, assuring you that the truthfulness of these suggestions can be seen upon investigation. THE WEEKLY NEWS.
FOR 1872.

The year 1872, covering as it does an important Presidential election, will be of unusual interest, and every man owes it to himself and his country to keep thoroughly acquainted with the progress of current events. He needs to be informed in regard to the great questions at issue, and for such information he must look not to a party paper, that tells only what is favorable to its own side, but to a disinterested and every-thing it fears may in the least injure its party, no matter how full of moment it may be, but to an independent journal. Such a paper is THE WEEKLY NEWS, which aims to tell the truth fairly and without favor.

It is Allied to No Party.
 And is fed upon no public pap, but is always free to express its convictions of right and duty. During the past year it has discussed political questions with ability and honesty, has criticized men and measures when it thought criticism was deserved, and has commended them when they deserved praise.

ITS PAST IS A GUARANTEE OF ITS FUTURE
 THE WEEKLY NEWS will, as heretofore, contain interesting miscellaneous reading for all classes. For the Farmer it will have a large quantity of matter concerning the Farm and House. For the Wives and Daughters, interesting stories, valuable recipes, etc., and its

THE CITY.
 THE Trade Palace Monthly will be issued to-morrow.
 The State Librarian has commenced "house cleaning" in the Capitol.
 The Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture is receiving entries for the June trial.
 JOE WALLACE, one of the efficient Deputy County Clerks, is a candidate for Mayor of Bridgeport.
 The City Treasurer is expected to make an exhibit of the city finances to-night at the Council meeting.
 ISAACS LONG has declared himself a Liberal Republican candidate for Councilman in the Fourth Ward.
 The trial of Pat Harty, charged with wife-whipping, was postponed in the Mayor's Court until Wednesday.
 A MEMBER of this city, according to the Sentinel, has developed a "faculty" of striking straight from the shoulder.
 MARRIAGE licenses were issued to-day to William H. Hart and Spicy A. Hillman; Charles Bracken and Margaret Brady.
 FIFTEEN "Items" taken bodily from the American of last week, appeared in the city department of the Journal this morning.
 More life.

JAMES H. HEDGES, present Coroner and City Sexton, is the leading candidate for re-appointment to the latter position by the new Council.
 AUCUST DREHL, convicted in Judge Elliott's Court of embezzlement nearly one year ago, and sentenced to the penitentiary, has been pardoned by the Governor.
 The Superior Court, in general term, this morning appointed Cyrus J. Dobbis, R. J. Craft and R. S. York, regular bailiffs, and Henry Bailey and A. H. Newcomb, specials.
 The 24th annual meeting of the Indiana State Medical Society will be held in this city May 21. All the railroads except the Indiana Central, Vincennes and Bloomington, will return delegates and members at reduced rates.

LOUIS HEYMAN has filed complaint in a civil action for damages against George, Henry and Charles Heikam, Jonathan B. Ryan and Fritz Helbing, for alleged false imprisonment on the 30th of April last. Damages are laid at $10,000.
 The People of yesterday says the editorials of The Evening News are always of a sensible character. They do not run off the handle in abortive attempts at wit but discuss a subject with reason and commendable discretion.
 While a member of the police force was attempting an arrest at 60 Massachusetts avenue last night, and was breaking down the front door, the expected woman prisoner broke out a rear window, jumped to the ground, and made good her escape.
 The County Commissioners met in special session this morning. Outside of granting an allowance of $215 to Marion Kelly, for assessing Pike township, nothing of material importance was transacted up to the noon adjournment.

The Homeopathic Medical Society will meet to-night at the office of Dr. Corliss. The Doctor will read a paper.
 The Secretary of State at noon to-day received official notification that at a meeting of the Directors and stockholders, held in Owensville Thursday last, it was formally decided to dissolve the West Vernon, Princeton and Eastern Railway Company.
 During a riot opposite the State House, on Washington street, Saturday evening, one of the pounced victims yelled murder so lustily as to arouse the police in a half-dozen wards. Before their arrival, however, the assailants fled, and the immediate neighborhood swore positively that no riot, nor semblance of one, had occurred.
 Distinguished Visitors.
 Messrs. C. R. Ladd, G. W. Ray, S. Palmer and P. H. M. Brooks, special committee appointed by the City Council of Springfield, Mass., to inspect the Holly Water Works at Peoria, Illinois, and other points, are in the city on their return home. This afternoon they visited our Water Works and leading manufacturing, under the escort of Mayor Macanley, and to-night will leave for the East.
 Picnic.
 The coopers of the city are holding a picnic to-day in the Douglass Grove, near Crown Hill. They first paraded through several of the principal streets, forming procession at Mozart Hall; afterwards were conveyed to the grounds by the Street Railway Company. The grove is a very beautiful one, lying alongside the Lafayette and Street Railway tracks, and is an admirable place for these holiday enjoyments.
 The remains of Hatfield, who was murdered by Foster, were buried in the Old Cemetery so near a roadway that the Sexton was required to remove them. He postponed the work until a few days ago, and it is a fact that upon digging down he found the grave filled with its contents. By whom or when the body was taken, Coroner Hedges has no knowledge. The report is contradicted that the remains of Mrs. Cluck were likewise stolen.
 Death.
 Alexander Franco, a prominent Hebrew, and one of the first to settle in Indianapolis, died at his residence, corner Maryland and Illinois streets, this morning. Mr. F. combined in a remarkable degree the elements of popularity; he was liberal to a fault, and through a long and useful life was never known to refuse a charitable contribution. He died at the advanced age of 72. The remains will be buried to-morrow, the different Odd Fellows, Masonic and other societies to which he belonged turning out in force.

Greeley or Hell.
 A good old life-long Democratic farmer came into town on Saturday on a load of wood, wearing a white hat that had seen service enough to have been one of the discarded coverings of the Sage of Chappanna himself. A white hat already lays a man under suspicion of Liberalism, and the old farmer was exempt from neither the suspicion nor the fact. At length another Democratic veteran hailed him to inquire if he was really going to countenance the new movement. "Well, I don't see any other how," replied the life-long, "It's Greeley or Hell!"
 Removal of Buildings.
 The penalty imposed for violation of the ordinance prohibiting the moving of building across bridges belonging to the city, is not sufficient to prevent a constant recurrence of the evil. A large two-story dwelling, kitchen attached, was this morning in transit across the "yellow bridge"—the extreme weight of which must have tested the strength of the bridge supports to an unwaranted extent. It is granted that the removal of buildings is occasionally a necessary measure, but should not owners be compelled to seek locations to reach which the property of the city would not be endangered? The risk to the city is too great. For instance, should the yellow bridge give way under the pressure of a weight similar to the one referred to above, what redress would the city have for damages if the contractor for such removal, or even the owner of the building, had not sufficiency of property from which to recover? The penalty provided by ordinance would not cover first cost.
 Destructive Fire.
 About 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Cummings, the watchman, discovered a fire in Messrs. Ryan & Higgins's Bent Wood School Furniture Manufacturing, on the Lafayette railway, near the Yellow Bridge. It originated in the mass of shavings and sweepings that had been cleaned from the several departments on Saturday evening and deposited in the engine room for use in the furnace; and from a light flickering blaze on the moment of discovery was in a second changed to a seething, roaring flame, that swept up to the dry material stored in the room above, and from that ran rapidly through the building. The alarm was given to the No. 1's, and in a remarkably short time that company had a stream playing from the fire plug. The engineer of this company, comprehending the emergency, turned in a second alarm without waiting for orders from Chief Glaesler, and by this action brought the entire department very promptly to the scene. By their joint workings, the fire was prevented from spreading to the adjoining buildings, and a greater portion of the contents of the factory saved, although in a more or less damaged condition.
 The loss is estimated at $7,000-$2,500 on building, on machinery, $1,500; stock, $3,000—and is insured in the Westchester and Star, of New York; Amazon, of Cincinnati; Queen, of Liverpool, and National, of Danbury, to the extent of $7,300.
 Workmen commenced yesterday in removing the debris, and the firm expect to be operating again within two weeks. The most serious loss is the detention in filling orders.
 There was a report that the fire was the work of an incendiary, but Mr. Ryan scouts this idea. He is of opinion that the shavings used in rubbing down the furniture to which the priming had been applied, and which by this means had become saturated with the mixture of oil, turpentine and naphtha, having become clogged in the hopper by which they are sent from the third floor, ignited by spontaneous combustion.
 An annoying feature is the loss of 800 desks, which were finished and would have been shipped to New Orleans on Saturday, but for a trifling occurrence.

Daring Bank Robbery.
 On Saturday, between 12 and 2 p. m., a daring robbery was committed at the Meridian Street National Bank, by which about $25,000 in currency was carried away, without even a clue that would lead to its recovery, just "how" the robbery was effected remaining a mystery. One solution is the following: While the President and Teller were absent at dinner, leaving the cashier in charge, a stranger came in and engaged his attention concerning a loan that he desired from the Savings Bank fund. He was informed that Mr. Harrison was the only official who could negotiate loans from this fund, and was referred to him. In the meantime it is supposed that an accomplice entered the bank from the rear, crept behind the safe, and by a well-judged "reach" secured the money and disappeared by the same way he entered. The only possible entrance the robber had, if he came the rear way, was by a door leading direct to the water closet. Inside the closet the shutter to a small opening in the privy was found unfastened. This aperture is about twelve by fifteen inches in dimensions and nine feet from the ground, opening upon a small court about twelve feet square, which is surrounded by a brick wall nine or ten feet high. Leaning against this wall was an old but strong shutter, long enough to reach the aperture in the closet, and serve as a ladder of escape from the enclosure.
 Another solution, and one less valuable, is that the accomplice might have entered the bank from Meridian street, while the Cashier's back was turned, crouched down by the counter and then crept the whole distance to the safe. This was possible, but highly improbable, as there was almost a certainty that he would have been detected if he left by the same means.
 No matter "how" the fact is that the robbery was committed, and, considering the situation, it is one of the boldest on record. The loss does not effect the financial standing of the bank in the least, and is principally annoying to the officials because it may shake the public confidence to a slight extent. It should not, for depositors may safely wager their last dollar that the attempt could not be successful the second time.
 A meeting of the stockholders will be held at four o'clock this afternoon, and an assessment will at once be made to cover the deficiency caused by the robbery.

BUSINESS NOTIONS.
 Sixteen Years of Success.
 In 1856 the now famous Mustang Lintment was first made known to the public by an extensive system of advertising. From that time to the present, the demand for it has been steadily increasing until it has taken the lead of all embrocations, lotions, ointments and other external remedies, imported or domestic, ever introduced into the American market. In the most celebrated racing and trotting stables, in the establishments of stage and city car companies, and in the stables of private gentlemen, it is the only recognized cure for such diseases of the horse as require outward treatment. Nor is it less valuable as a local application for some of the most distressing complaints to which man is subject. Rheumatism, stiffness of the joints, neuralgia, sore throat, tumors, wens, earache, yield to its pain-subduing, counter-irritant properties, and burns, scalds and cuts are healed with incredible rapidity under its operation.
