NEW YORK CITY.

The New Nathan Murderer-Garner's Resignation-The Colored Republicans-Financial Matters, etc. NEW YORK, October 9.-The Times' special from Binghamton, N. York, says that Captain Irving and Detective Wadsworth with John Irving, the murderer, had been taken to the Nathan murder. Captain Irving says the prisoner had made statements to him which have not heretofore been published, and which have caused him to change his opinion relative to the importance of the revelations. Portions of his statements are still considered unmitigated falsehoods, but others are plausible and some of the highest importance.

WASHINGTON. Improved Condition of the Treasury Revenue Receipts-etc. WASHINGTON, October 9.-The condition of the United States Treasury, as compared with that exhibited by the financial statement made on the first day of this month is generally improved. The currency in circulation has increased. The currency in the Treasury amounts, in round numbers, to $3,880,000, an increase since the first instant of over $90,000. The special deposit for the purpose of $1,200,000, an increase of $50,000. The coin balance has increased from eighty and one quarter million dollars; all but $188,000 of that increase being in coin and the remainder in coin certificates. The total amount of legal tenders outstanding is $338,968,488, which shows that the legal tender reserves have been drawn upon to the extent of $2,966,488.

THE EXPOSITION. Its Continued Success-The Races Yesterday, and the Program for To-day. It is gratifying to note the satisfactory manner in which the Exposition and State Fair are progressing, and although it has been in full blast for over four weeks, not a day has passed without the arrival of new visitors. It is so gratifying to note the managers shall declare the Exposition closed for the present year. It is some consolation however to know that the State Exposition is now a permanent fixture, and with each year additional attractions will be added to its greatness. It overreaches the title, "State Exposition," and may more properly be termed the "World's Exposition."

Yellow Fever at Du-buque. Du-buque, October 9.-A case of yellow fever terminating fatally occurred in this city Tuesday night. The patient, a colored man, died on Thursday, where he got the fever. Another case occurred Sunday night. The appearance of the fever in this city has been kept very quiet, consequently there is no excitement.

NEW YORK LIBERAL CONVENTION. The Nominations and Platform. One hundred and thirty-two delegates were present at the New York Liberal Convention, at Elmira yesterday. The Hon. John Cochran called the Convention to order, and the Hon. John C. Conkling was made permanent Chairman and made an address, which was frequently applauded. A Committee on Resolutions was appointed, with Potter Sheldon as Chairman. The resolutions congratulate the people on the growing disposition to oppose any perversion of the civil authority; reaffirm the principles set forth at Cincinnati more than a year ago; denounce Congressmen who voted for and retain the so-called back pay; and applaud those who returned it to the Treasury; regret that the President should so mistake the morality of the American character, and so disregard the honor of the American name as to sanction the sanction of the "L" bill, and charge the Republican party with the responsibility of its passage, demanding its repeal; regard as of the highest importance that the lines of transportation between the East and West be improved so that no interest can justly complain of the facilities afforded for the corrupting influence of great corporations; thereby agricultural interests are crippled and the development of the country retarded; assert that the internal policy of the States and municipalities should not be interfered with by federal authorities; charge the Administration with being responsible for the continued disordered financial condition of the country; and regard as of paramount importance the return of specie payments. The Convention also resolved that the thanks of all freemen are due to the tribunal which has vindicated the right of local trial by jury and the freedom of the press. A State ticket was nominated as follows: Secretary of State, Diehrich Willers; Comptroller, Nelson K. Hopkins; Attorney General, Daniel Pratt; Treasurer, Thomas H. Raines; Canal Commissioner, James Jackson; Engineer, Sylvanus H. Sweet; State Prison Inspector, M. K. Platt.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS. What Morton's Committee Will Recommend. The Senate Committee on Elections and Privileges after a prolonged sitting, have decided to report: First, to abolish Electoral Colleges. Second, that the President and Vice President be elected by the people, voting directly for the candidates. Third, that each State shall be divided into as many districts as the State is entitled to Representatives in Congress, to be composed of contiguous territory, compact in form and as nearly equal in population as may be, and the person having the highest number of votes for President in each district shall receive the vote of that district, which shall count one Presidential vote; that each State shall be entitled to two Presidential votes at large, which shall be counted for the person having the highest number of votes in the whole State. Fourth, the person having the highest number of such votes in the United States shall be President. Fifth, these provisions to be applicable to the election of Vice President. Sixth, Congress shall have the power to provide for the holding and conducting of elections for President and Vice President, and to establish tribunals for the decision of contests as to the vote in any district or State, and to make regulations governing the proceedings of these tribunals. By the adoption of the district system of voting by the people directly for candidates, with two Presidential votes in the State at large, and the plurality rule for determining the result, the people as a whole, and not merely the electors, will be brought as nearly home to the people as can be, not to make an election by the nation as one community, and yet recognizes the States as such, while it enables the people of each district to vote for their own President, and under the State to cast a solid vote, as heretofore the present section. It tends to dispense with the convention, which is now necessary in order to form an electoral ticket for each State, and it enlarges the participation in the election to every citizen who may select for President or Vice President. By the plurality system the election will always be final, and there can be no necessity for an election by the House of Representatives, which is so much objected to.

ADDITIONAL CITY NEWS. The sale of seats for Mrs. Stowe's readings has commenced. Professor Pearson's concert will come off at the Academy next Wednesday night. Thomas McGavin and Joseph Dage have been arrested for excessive profanity and such. Trial by the Mayor to-morrow. Robert Bruce, the printer so badly hurt by Will to-day for selling designs, has been removed to the City Hospital for treatment. His condition is not at all dangerous; so reported by Dr. Cominger. Jennie, a bright and beautiful little girl, the daughter of Thomas Redmond, Esq., died yesterday of the night of malignant croup. This disease seems to be prevalent throughout the city, for Mrs. R. is not only one of the household gods, but she is a pupil in the Catholic school, and her classmates will attend her funeral to-morrow afternoon.

BYERS vs. GARRATT. The News is authorized by Byers's friends to challenge Garratt in the regular four ball game, any number of points from 1,000 up, for $250, at the City Hall, or within thirty days, according to how Jacob may elect. Mr. Garratt refused Byers's challenge, but he is not satisfied with the result, and he has taken the case to the Mayor to-morrow. A meeting of directors of the National Trust Company, whereby loans made to delinquent customers will be taken up and the company enabled to resume business before the 15th inst. A meeting of directors of the National Trust Company, whereby loans made to delinquent customers will be taken up and the company enabled to resume business before the 15th inst. A meeting of directors of the National Trust Company, whereby loans made to delinquent customers will be taken up and the company enabled to resume business before the 15th inst.

DIED. ROBERTSON-Grand daughter, William and Roxanna Robertson, on the 8th of October. The funeral will take place to-morrow, October 10, at the family residence, No. 366 West Washington street, at 10 A. M. REDMOND-October 8, 1873, Jennie Redmond, in her seventh year, of violent croup. Funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 P. M., from her parents' residence, 416 South Meridian street, at 10 A. M.

Passing Counterfeit Money. A couple of colored gentlemen who answer to the name of Emanuel Porter and Gabriel Lockwood, were arrested at the Exposition grounds yesterday for attempting to pass a $20 counterfeit note. They first attempted to pass the bill at the ticket office, but succeeding, made another effort to pass it off on Wm. Selkirk, at which time they were arrested and taken into custody by Officer Phillips. A preliminary hearing was had this morning before United States Commissioner Kneifer, which resulted in their being bound over in the sum of $300 each to await the action of the Grand Jury. They gave the required bond and were released.

Special meeting of Western Lodge No. 2, Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held this evening at 7 o'clock. By order of JAMES BRADY, Chairman of Committee of Arrangements.

terday and attracted much attention by their fine appearance. The races yesterday afternoon drew a large crowd and proved to be a very interesting occasion. Eight horses put in their appearance when time was called, but Charley Evans easily won the race, time 2:30. The grand trot of the season takes place this afternoon, open to all, for a purse of $300. "Red Cloud," "Hoosier Tom" and other noted times have been entered for this trot and an interesting and exciting time is anticipated. A number of prizes have been received from exhibitors in regard to awards made, alleging partiality, etc., all of which the Board promptly laid on the table.

To-morrow is the last day of the Exposition, and there is no doubt that it will be the occasion of one of the largest crowds that has yet been in attendance since the commencement. There will be an outpouring from the city, and the different parts of the State will be largely represented. Mr. Van Rensselaer, a well known artist from Baltimore, was looking around the Exposition this morning, and pronounces the Art Gallery a superior display to Cincinnati or Louisville. At a meeting of the State Board this forenoon it was decided to introduce a new and attractive program for to-morrow, and to that end there will be a meeting of the committee on amusements this afternoon.

To-morrow will also be set aside for the sale of pictures at private sale, and parties desiring to purchase can learn particular terms and price from E. C. Tuttle, Assistant Superintendent of the Art Department. The following program will be rendered by Bradshaw's band this evening: Weidt Row Fair-Thou Art... Tilton Grand National Medley Pi-pour... Heinicke Fromental March and Polka... Webb Tactaren Gallop... Samuels

A GOOD SHOWING OF RED RIBBONS. The city marble and granite works, 48 and 50 Kentucky avenue, Lewis, Whitehead & Co., proprietors, received the first premium on every piece of work entered by them for award at the Exposition. An extensive display of Florida Hall the visitor will notice some of the finest specimens of handwork in marble ever turned out in the West. The two elegant monuments of Italian marble are equal in design and artistic workmanship to any ever placed on exhibition in this country, and so far as beauty and finish goes, are probably not surpassed. On these monuments the committee very properly awarded the first premium. In the same collection the busts of Governor Hendricks and Dr. Bobbs are both exhibited, both striking facsimiles of the originals, and are highly complimentary to the genius of the sculptor. The citizens of Indianapolis may point with pride to work so meritorious, knowing it to be the result of native genius. An extensive display of monumental work from the yards of this firm can also be seen in the grounds, near the north entrance of the building, and from the cards announcing the sales in duplicate of the different designs, it is evident the enterprise of the exhibitors is appreciated by those who desire memorials to friends who have gone before them. The taste exhibited in the display made by Lewis, Whitehead & Co. has been highly complimented by visitors from abroad, while the citizens of Indianapolis are unanimous in praise of their home enterprise. The following awards were made this firm: On monumental marble work, first premium; on sculpture, first premium, silver medal; on modeling, first premium, silver medal; also honorable mention for display on the grounds.

ADAMS, MANSUR & CO. SOCIETY MEETINGS. MASONIC MEETINGS TO-NIGHT. Stated meeting of Keystone Chapter, No. 6, R. A. M., at 7 o'clock. Special meeting of Myrtle Lodge, No. 308, at 7 o'clock. Special meeting of Western Lodge No. 2, Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held this evening at 7 o'clock. By order of JAMES BRADY, Chairman of Committee of Arrangements.

In the Evangelical Alliance yesterday, the Romish Church was the subject discussed.

The War Department has decided to strike the raiding Cherokees at Pueblo, and administer summary punishment.

The second general convention of Roman Catholics Total Abstinence Societies of the United States was begun yesterday in New York.

The Committee of Seventy, Tuesday night, resolved that it was expedient to dissolve, and appointed a committee to wind up the concern.

A fire destroyed a square of buildings bounded by Marigny, Mandeville, Goodchildren and Moretis streets, New Orleans, Tuesday. About forty small houses were burned. Loss, $50,000.

The Government yesterday obtained a verdict for $25,000 in the action against Oscar King of New York, and his bondsmen to secure the payment of internal revenue taxes to that amount.

A fire in Toronto yesterday morning burned Walker, Poole & Co.'s engine and boiler works; Leake's wharf and Irwin & Co.'s engine shop. A number of schooners at the wharf were damaged. Loss heavy.

A Washington dispatch says that Senator Cameron had a long interview with the President Tuesday, and reports the latter, as well as himself, strongly opposed to drawing on the forty-four million greenback reserve.

Governor Noyes, through his attorneys, yesterday filed his answer to the petition of the County Commissioners of Hamilton county, Ohio, denying every allegation of fraud and misrepresentation contained in said petition.

Delos E. Culver, of Jersey City, one of the wealthiest capitalists in New Jersey, has been adjudged bankrupt. He was Vice President of the New York and Oswego Midland Railroad Company. His liabilities are said to be eight millions.

It is reported that when the Assembly is asked to vote in favor of the elevation of the Count de Chambord to the throne of King Henry IV, Rouher will propose that the monarchial principle be established, but that it be left to the country to decide which monarch is preferred.

Two miners were arrested by the police of Camborne in Cornwall on Tuesday. Toward evening a mob of several thousand men attempted a rescue, and attacked and brutally treated the police. Some of the buildings were gutted and several persons were injured and taken insensible to the hospital. Quiet was restored by midnight.

A delegation of the Reform Association called on Mayor Havemeyer yesterday, read a series of charges against Comptroller Green, accusing him of paying one person over $7,000 for lobbying at Albany last year, and other large sums of public money for keeping himself in office, and that he was not able to discriminate between just and unjust claims, and contesting cases in courts, thereby entailing immense legal expenses upon the city. The Mayor, in reply, said the charges were of a very serious character, and he would ask Comptroller Green to explain.

The Isothermal Line has probably gone up in the Eastern current.

A LITTLE OVER THREE MILLIONS of clearing house certificates, out of twenty millions, have been retired by the New York banks.

The Evangelical Alliance had the Pope under consideration yesterday, and strict regard for truth compels us to say they made it lively for the old man.

In our article on "The Financial Outlook" day before yesterday we stated from memory that the currency at the beginning of the panic of 1857 was nearly equal to what it is now. An examination of the figures shows that it was less than half as much. The circulation of the banks amounted to $214,778,822, and the specie amounted to nearly one hundred millions.

The money stringency can be greatly alleviated if men will pay their bills as far as they can. Every day there are men refusing to pay small amounts when they have the money in their pockets and could settle them as easily as not. That is wrong. One man's failure to pay may cramp fifty others. What money there is should be circulated. When a man has no money he can't pay, but when he has, he can and ought to.

A WRITER in the New York Times in a carefully-considered article on the resumption of specie payments, gives the following facts to prove that this is the most favorable opportunity we have had or are likely to have, in which to make the effort. He is firmly of the opinion that the payment of five millions in gold by the government, would reduce the premium on gold to par. He says:

Everything favors resumption now. Our imports from the 1st of January to the 1st of October, 1873, show a falling off of $27,000,000 from those of the same period last year, our exports an excess during the same period of over $48,000,000, an improvement in our favor, in exact figures, of $75,871,472 for the first three quarters of the year 1873. Of specie the exports have been $41,523,011 in 1873, against $59,075,264 in 1872, and $69,702,111 in 1871. This ratio of improvement will be daily increasing for the remaining quarter. The recent crisis has arrested the imports, except of coin, to a very great extent, while every day's news from Great Britain and the Continent points to even larger takings of our breadstuffs than had been supposed. The shortness of local, but continental, A carefully-considered article in the London Saturday Review on "The Wheat Crop," estimates "that England's deficit is prob-ly 12,000,000, and that of France 6,000,000, or together 18,000,000. England, the only buyer in the past year, has imported from all other countries, France included, nearly 13,000,000 quarters of wheat. The two countries now require that quantity, and fully 5,000,000 more, between them. The question is, can this quantity be obtained?

WHETHER the assessment for city taxes is necessary or justifiable is a question that will admit of discussion. Nearly one-third of the taxes is for school purposes, and the School Board insist that the tax levied is absolutely required for the erection of school houses, the pay of teachers and for incidental expenses. The city has increased rapidly during the past two years, and the rapid growth involves increased expenditures that must be met by taxation. Whether the City Council has exercised the economy and care in its disbursements is a matter, we say, about which there may justly be a difference of opinion, but this does not seem to apply to State and county taxes, which amount in the aggregate to near $808,000, an increase of about 80 per cent. over last year. There seems to be no justification for this enormous increase, and it is within the province of the County Commissioners to grant some relief. With over double the assessment of last year the levy is ten cents on the $100 less. The change in financial affairs will make the burdens of taxation exceedingly onerous this year and unless there is a great change in monetary matters a great many will find it difficult, if not impossible, to meet their taxes at the end of a severe winter. And we see but one remedy, and that is for the County Commissioners, the City Council and the School Board to revise their action and see if there can not be a reduction of taxation that will be some relief to the tax payers.

It is the tendency of permanent and responsible bodies to fall into routine, and accept a conformity to rules as a discharge of duty. The work is apt to be less regarded than the way of doing it. The means become gradually substituted for the end, and more time given to the evolution of some parliamentary intricacy than to the measure out of which it has grown. Of course when rules become the "be all and end all" of the public service of such a body, they are multiplied, set up at every crevice through which might come some disorder of routine, tied about every opportunity that unregulated energy might seek to get something done, heaped up crushingly on the resistance of those who are not disposed to take inaction for duty. Parliamentary proceedings are tangled into a labyrinth, of which few hold the clue, or care to follow it when it is found. Into this condition Congress is falling, and its fall has been hastened by that pernicious misconception of a wise maxim, which the Jeffersonian Democracy so long identified themselves with, that "the less a government does the better." They did not distinguish between the "less" outside and the "less" inside of the proper province of government. The more a government does, and the more promptly it does it, inside of its limits of duty the better. The Democratic misapplication made idleness the supreme object, and "how not to do it" the best wisdom, of Congress. In this spirit the rules were devised. They are intended ostensibly to prevent a minority from being abused and trampled on by a majority, to check precipitate action, to obstruct chicanery and corrupt contrivance, and to some extent they do it. But they were intended by those who made them, to carry out the Democratic idea of making government do as little as possible, quite as much as to effect the real purposes of the existence of Congress. They were devised in the spirit of "how not to do it" as fully as in the spirit of preventing "it" being "done" wrong or hastily. They are now, with a deeper perception everywhere of the proper relations of government and people, a serious hindrance to business. More, they are the great resistance to all reforms. They are the best implements of craft and unscrupulous management. It was by a trick of the rules that Alexander H. Stephens, in 1855, struck out the title of the Kansas bill and thus got it out of the Committee of the Whole, when its death was assured, and passed it. And what that infamous act did is written in blood all over the land. The rules are the invariable aid of corruption resisting reform, of dishonesty dodging exposure. We need a change here. We need fewer rules and more regard to the work they should be subordinate to.

AN OBSTRUCTION.

Life gave him little in return for so much work. He would not drink; he could not smoke; his private morals never were impugned by anybody, and were the example of his family. He had a high forehead, and had a boyish head and a healthy habit. To ladies he was courteous, but without any discovered intention to marry again. He nurtured no resentment, although he could get mad at moments, and had his times of pain without depression. His temperance was rather superficial and sanguine, and his greatest power was to keep up hard work under the pressure of good animal spirits. He was a clean man in speech and thought, and his religious nature was steady, reverent and orthodox, although I never thought that about any very deep spiritual matter. He did not possess an arduous soul, although money was necessary to him at the rate he was living; and he lacked wholly the critical faculty, and that warm indignation to stamp upon a deviation of rectitude if it came unperceived. Not a particle of the reformer existed in this Christian banker, although he once resented and protested against an effort which he saw to be unchristian and Roman Catholic. The Protestant Episcopal Church, individualism he never had, and no great appreciation of the physical world. He made him, and he belonged to the times. He might say, with that oft-repeated soliloquy. I have ventured, like little waltzes that swim on bladders, but far beyond my depth. It is the way of the world to call a ruined man to account when it lost the opportunity and the heart to do so at the period of his prosperity. It is the way of the reformer to call a man to account when he has failed. The Hon. Schuyler Colfax passed his word upon it, and took off his jacket to bull it through. Gen. Rosser and other men of apprehension wrote letters and other men congratulated him up to the last minute. Mr. Cook never saw the North or his land-grant, Jacob M. Howard and the other Howard, of Michigan, sang isothermal hosannas to the enterprise. A certain amount of reality must belong to the work when it is so rapidly being pushed forward; and the physical world is a very real thing, shown even more economy and expedition than the Union Pacific enterprise. If there be any good in that country, there, at least, is a road opening up much of it. Our money thought is to look he may again reach the surface than of the extent of the deeper depth below. Yet, strange as it may seem, there is at this very moment a plot forming to press upon Congress at its next session the issue of one hundred millions more of greenbacks, under the name of the country with the present sum of seven hundred millions. There is no secrecy about this scheme; it is talked of in more than one influential quarter. What is equally serious—the press, almost everywhere, has been talking of the terrible calamity which would befall the country if it were to be abandoned. We need a change here. We need fewer rules and more regard to the work they should be subordinate to.

INFLATION.

A Plan to Continue the Speculative Era.

(From a contribution in the N. Y. Times.) The entire inadequateness of a circulating medium consisting solely of paper, has been absolutely demonstrated in the recent crisis. To what extent prices would have fallen, and what further a terrible calamity would have been endured, but for the happy chance that there was a moderate sum of currency at the disposal of the Treasury at the critical moment, need not now be inquired. He who has fallen half way down a precipice takes the plea that he can not carry on the business of the country with the present sum of seven hundred millions. There is no secrecy about this scheme; it is talked of in more than one influential quarter. What is equally serious—the press, almost everywhere, has been talking of the terrible calamity which would befall the country if it were to be abandoned. We need a change here. We need fewer rules and more regard to the work they should be subordinate to.

INFLATION.

Hitherto the Speaker of the House has been selected, partly reasons aside, for his temper, his social bearing, his "bon homie," and especially for his familiarity with the rules, his facility in tracking business through the labyrinth that routine may force it into; his ready perception of "points of order"—the unalleviated curse of all public bodies—his tact in controlling exasperations and preventing collisions. He has been pointed out by the rules, not by the business the rules should have been made for. He has been sought to fill a duty made, not by the needs or interests of the people, but by routine. He has been looked for as a presiding officer solely, so far as the public could see, and so far, probably, as most of the members have tried to see. Now this needs change, too. It is one of the most vital of all the reforms demanded by the times. The Speaker, as we urged some days ago, is not merely a presiding officer, a moderator of the body he belongs to. He is the master of its business. He is the director of the legislation of the country. No President has a title of his power over the laws, over the public treasury, over the taxes, over the expenses, over commerce. No ten of the highest officers in the government, with the whole Supreme Bench at their back, have so much to do with the interests of the people as he. He makes all the committees of the House, and the committees do all the business of the House. What they don't want done can't be done, at least in nine cases out of ten. Now the Speaker has only to make his committees, the active and positive legislative powers of the body, to suit any interest he may be enlisted in by conviction or purchase, to force all the work of Congress in that direction. It can't be helped, for the committees are with him—they are his handiwork—and the committees control the "regular order," except against the phenomenal demonstration of an adverse two-thirds vote. He has the rules, all the means of obstruction, all the bulwarks of "how not to do it, if it can't be done in the way I want it," to help him. No man has any business with such a power. It ought to be limited or taken wholly away, and the Speaker left to be what he was meant to be originally, a mere keeper of order and arbiter of differences. But as the power remains, the thing to be done now is to look closely to the affiliations and interests of the candidates, to make sure of their freedom from the influences hostile to reforms and necessary public business, and see that they are bound, as firmly as men can be, to make fair committees, and give all sections and interests of the country a just representation where alone a representation is worth anything, on the working bodies of the House.

Jay Cooke.

(Geo. Alfred Townsend's Pen Picture.) Cooke had a private secretary and photographer, about fourteen servants at the villa, about 200 employes in his three banking-houses, and a vast pay-roll in his railroad and insurance companies. He is believed to have been worth $7,000,000 when at his highest.

HIS CHARACTER.

Life gave him little in return for so much work. He would not drink; he could not smoke; his private morals never were impugned by anybody, and were the example of his family. He had a high forehead, and had a boyish head and a healthy habit. To ladies he was courteous, but without any discovered intention to marry again. He nurtured no resentment, although he could get mad at moments, and had his times of pain without depression. His temperance was rather superficial and sanguine, and his greatest power was to keep up hard work under the pressure of good animal spirits. He was a clean man in speech and thought, and his religious nature was steady, reverent and orthodox, although I never thought that about any very deep spiritual matter. He did not possess an arduous soul, although money was necessary to him at the rate he was living; and he lacked wholly the critical faculty, and that warm indignation to stamp upon a deviation of rectitude if it came unperceived. Not a particle of the reformer existed in this Christian banker, although he once resented and protested against an effort which he saw to be unchristian and Roman Catholic. The Protestant Episcopal Church, individualism he never had, and no great appreciation of the physical world. He made him, and he belonged to the times. He might say, with that oft-repeated soliloquy. I have ventured, like little waltzes that swim on bladders, but far beyond my depth. It is the way of the world to call a ruined man to account when it lost the opportunity and the heart to do so at the period of his prosperity. It is the way of the reformer to call a man to account when he has failed. The Hon. Schuyler Colfax passed his word upon it, and took off his jacket to bull it through. Gen. Rosser and other men of apprehension wrote letters and other men congratulated him up to the last minute. Mr. Cook never saw the North or his land-grant, Jacob M. Howard and the other Howard, of Michigan, sang isothermal hosannas to the enterprise. A certain amount of reality must belong to the work when it is so rapidly being pushed forward; and the physical world is a very real thing, shown even more economy and expedition than the Union Pacific enterprise. If there be any good in that country, there, at least, is a road opening up much of it. Our money thought is to look he may again reach the surface than of the extent of the deeper depth below. THE EVENING NEWS
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1873.

CITY NEWS.

The morning passenger trains to-day came in
well loaded.
N. Ohmer & Co., will establish a depot restaurant
at Terre Haute.
The stone work on Roberts Park M. E. Church has been completed.
A gorgeous Directors' car has newly made its appearance on the I. C. & L.
One Phillips, of Morgan county, was robbed of $180 at the Esposition yesterday.
The Brunswick table to be used in the billiard match was brought here from Chicago.
The oral argument in the Clem case before the Supreme Court was concluded yesterday.
Eddy Earl has been missing from his home, 124
East St. Joseph street, since yesterday morning.
The American Christian Missionary Convention will be held in this city at Christian Chapel, October 21.
Timothy T. C. and not Councilman Darnall brushed up by the collision yesterday on North Mississippi street.
Mothershead & Morris have discharged eighteen workmen on account of the stringency in money matters.
The rooms of the State Board of Agriculture in the State House, have been refitted and newly carpeted.
George S. Warren starts tonight for Gardner,
Massachusetts, to be present at the golden wedding
of his parents.
Alack Hanna, the old bachelor, four miles south of the city, left last night for Chicago, whither he went after a bride.
An old gentleman was robbed of $400 in money
and $1,500 in checks, while on the Vincennes excursion train yesterday.
The Directors of the Meridian National Bank yesterday elected W. E. Gallup President, in lieu of Col. Farquhar, deceased.
John Walker was arrested yesterday for stealing a yoke of oxen from the Insane Hospital, which he afterwards sold to Kegan.
Geo. Deane, book-keeper at the Hotel Bates and a clever gentleman, has severed his connection with that hotel and will live away to Detroit.
Miss N. C. Worsham, of Smith's Valley, ten miles south of here, was last evening, while riding on South Illinois, thrown from the wagon and had her left arm broken.
Claude Ryan, while engaged in putting in a gutter
on North Illinois street, yesterday, missed his footing and fell to the ground, a distance of twenty-eight feet, sustaining severe if not fatal injuries.
A. B. Harper, member of Prof. Wiley's chemistry class at the University, was considerably injured about the face yesterday by the explosion of some chemicals with which he was experimenting.
The Jeff road is not disposed to release its grip
upon the coveted right to lay a second track from McCary to the eastern terminus of Hanway street, and its friends have introduced an ordinance in Council to grant full possession.
A full house of "funatics" witnessed the Ned Buntline race of hercules at the Academy last night; and it is expected to see the "grand old stage, with its memories of histrionic art," degenerating into such humiliating theatricals. Bah.
The Emmet Guards made a handsome appearance on the street parade yesterday, and at night they danced in Washington Hall to the music of Smith & Meyer's band. Like all entertainments by the guards, they had a large crowd.
Emil Demmon celebrates his thirty-fifth birthday this evening by a festive gathering, to which a large number of friends have been invited. This morning a number of them rallied impromptu and presented Emil a valuable gun, direct from Yarmy.
This morning workmen unroofing the three-story brick St. Joseph's church, missed the gravel slip, paper, etc. by the shoveled into the street
below, filling the neighborhood with the dirtiest
and rattling pebbles upon the heads of passers by.

ENOCH MORGAN'S SONS'
SAPOLIO
Is a substitute for Soap for all Household purposes,
except washing clothes.
SAPOLIO
for cleaning your house will save the labor of one cleanser. Give it a trial.
SAPOLIO
for windows is better than Whiting or Water. No removing curtains and carpets.
SAPOLIO
cleans Paint and Wood, in fact the entire house, better than Soap. No other substitute. Saves labor. You can't afford to be without it.
SAPOLIO
for Scouring Knives is better and cleaner than Boil Brick. Will not scratch.
SAPOLIO
is better than Soap and Sand for polishing Tinware.
Brightens without scratching.
SAPOLIO
polishes Brass and Copper utensils better than acid
or Oil and Kotten stone.
SAPOLIO
for washing Dishes and Glassware is invaluable.
Cheaper than Soap.
SAPOLIO
removes Stains from Marble Mantels, Tables and Stairways, from hard-finished walls, and from China and Porcelain.
SAPOLIO
removes Stains and Grease from Carpets and other wool fabrics.
There is no one article known that will do so many kinds of work and do it as well as Sapolio.
Try it.
A new and wonderfully effective Toilet Soap, having no equal in this country or abroad.
HAND SAPOLIO
as an article for the bath "reaches the foundation"
of all dirt, opens the pores and gives a healthy action and brilliant tint to the skin.
HAND SAPOLIO
cleanses and beautifies the skin, instantly removing any stain or blemish from both hands and face.
HAND SAPOLIO
is without a rival in the world for curing or preventing roughness and chapping of either hands or face.
HAND SAPOLIO
removes tar, pitch, iron or ink stains and grease;
for works in machine shops, mines, etc., is invaluable. For making the skin white and soft, and giving it a "blow of beauty," it is unsurpassed
by any cosmetic known.
HAND SAPOLIO
costs 10 to 15 cents per cake, and everybody should have it. You will like it.
DON'T FAIL TO TRY THESE GOODS.
Buy it of your merchant if he has it or write for our pamphlet. All About Sapolio, and it will be mailed free.

THE EVENING NEWS

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1873.

I. R. M. Brometer, No. 30, 62 Thermometer, No. 22

CITY NEWS.

Judge Gresham has returned and will open Court
this week.

The test will and testament of Carl H. Balke, was admitted to probate to-day.

The County Clerk moved into his new and more convenient quarters this morning.

The Grand Jury made a partial report this morning, after which they retired for further deliberation.

John S. Spann obtained a judgment for $500 against H. C. Sailors, in Judge Blair's room this morning.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Franklin
Stanley and Melissa F. Stewart, Nathan Wetters and Polly Smith.

Henry Thees was arrested to-day on a Grand Jury indictment for malicious trespass, his bail
being fixed at $300.

George Coble was fined $12.50 for differing with No. 2 C. W. Man as to what the proper number for a certain house ought to be.

The street cars on the Virginia avenue and Washington street lines have been withdrawn to accommodate Exposition passengers.

The refreshment stand of Frank Neff on the Fair grounds was attached this morning by a constable,
to satisfy a claim of Chap Williams against the same.

Miss Jane Bennett was divorced from her husband, Madison B., in Judge Newcomb's Court this morning. Habitual drunkenness and failure to provide for the cause.

W. J. McClellan, correspondent of the Baltimore American; Col. Payton, of the Richmond Engineer, and Edward Van Reuth, artist, of Baltimore,
are in the city doing the Exposition.

A second attempt was made Tuesday night to burn the passenger train at Jamestown, by H. H. Raymond, on School street, but the flames were smothered before doing any serious damage.

A hastily suit yesterday Judge Howland was very suddenly disposed of before the plaintiff's counsel dismissing the case after the Judge had charged the jury and they were about to retire.

Rev. Mr. Crawford, of Irvington, was summoned
as a witness in a case before Judge Perkins, yesterday, but failed to put in an appearance on account of some ministerial appointment. An attachment was issued for him and this morning he came into court, and after paying the cost of attachment, it was dismissed.

I. B. and W. Again.

Early yesterday morning, at Jamestown, the Bloomington passenger train was wrecked by a defective switch, and last night about eight o'clock
the company received another off-the-track disaster. The Crawfordville accommodation, due here at 8:30 P. M., some nine miles out, struck a broken rail, which the engine and baggage car rolled down a steep embankment. The passengers were pretty severely shaken up, but the conductor reports none disabled or even considerably bruised. The train was running at a moderate rate of speed.

Billiard News—Match To-night, etc.

The one particular item of interest to-day, especially in certain circles, is the match game tonight, at Washington Hall, between "Shaffer" of Chicago, and Shaffer, a recent graft upon the players of this city. The play will be on a hundred point French carrom, on an V. Brunswick table.
To-morrow night the same place and upon the same table, is a match between Garratt and Shaffer, regular four-ball play; the last to score 1,500 to be the victor.

Mr. Shaffer and two friends, Brunswick and Palmer, arrived last night and are domiciled at the Washington Hotel. It is probable he will set as referee to-night, and that Montgomery will be umpire for Shaffer. Figured down, there is but little outside betting, but few old eyes or tens being "planked" on either side. The Chicago men say little, but freely take anything offered, and odds are set to one that Shaffer will win. His last amorous match, with Bussinger, wherein his average was greater than his opponent's highest run,
and wherein he scored the best general record ever made in a four-ball carrom game in the West, slightly "rattled" his more youthful opponent here, and for that matter Shaffer's backers also, and makes them fight shy of "covering" talk with him.

It may be that the "boy" will astonish his friends,
and cause Shaffer and his backers, Palmer, to curse
the walking between here and Chicago, by not winning much prospect of that from the present outlook. There are more small bets being made upon Garratt and Shaffer, than upon Shaffer and Shaffer, Jack somewhat at a discount, although he and his
more intimate friends are sanely confident.

Dea's heap of fellows who have put up against Garratt heretofore, to their sorrow, especially the last time he played Evers, and these are now sagely shaking their heads and saying, "the kid can beat him, that sure; but then—Jack's shaver is more of a nerve." As a billiard scientist shaver is more of a success; in "nervy playing against odds" Garratt has the advantage. However, there is no use in prophesying; and those who "dote" upon the game had better go and see for their own satisfaction.

The Female Reformatory.

A few lines yesterday mentioned the arrival of Colonel Shuler, Warden of the Southern Penitentiary, having in charge female convicts for transfer to the State Reformatory, for the first time yesterday officially opened for the reception of "guests."
A full and accurate account of the institution, the building, etc., of this institution was made in the News some weeks ago, and, by the way, pretty generally copied in the morning papers of this city
without credit, and for this reason it is unnecessary to go into details. The present officers are
Mr. Sarah J. Smith, Superintendent; James
Smith, Steward; Mrs. Johnson, Matron; Martha Pray, Teacher; and Robert Gray, Engineer. The convicts transferred by Colonel Shuler were seventeen in number, and the following shares mean-ingly sent from date of sentence, crime, and term
of imprisonment:

Sarah Hubbard; Grant, 1856; murder; life.

Mary A. Longnecker, Marion; 1865; murder;
life.

Sarah J. Williams, Washington; 1868; murder;
life.

Amanda Seibert, Marion; 1869; forgery; 5 years.

Mary Ann Adams, Jennings; 1871; murder; life.

Jarah J. Stephens, Tippecanoe; 1872; grand larceny; 2 years.

Mary Lewis, Marion; 1872; manslaughter; 6
years.

Amanda Turner, Marion; 1872; grand larceny; 2
years.

Bridget Mulholland, Vigo; 1873; grand larceny;
3 years.

Nelly Walters, Vanderburg; 1873; grand larceny;
2 years.

Georgia King, Warrick; 1873; grand larceny; 2
years.

Nelly Howard, Marion; 1873; grand larceny; 2
years.

Madhiah Gray, Vanderburg; 1873; murder; 14
years.

Bell Evans, Marion; 1873; petit larceny; 1 year.

Ella Johnson, Marion; 1873; petit larceny; 1 year.

Francis Hill, Marion; 1873; grand larceny; 3
years.

Jeanie Harper, Floyd; 1873; petit larceny; 1
year.

Want to Compromise.

Prosecuting Attorney Parker has been approached late by parties against whom are pending ten or more cases in the Criminal Court, offering to have judgment entered in three or four of the cases, provided the remainder will be dismissed.
They do this on the supposition that the Supreme Court will declare unconstitutional the indictments on which they are convicted, and are disposed to let the Prosecutor make sure of a part of his cases, rather than he should lose them all, if the Supreme Court has passed on the question now under advisement. Mr. P. is not so sure of the success of the Supreme Court will decide in favor of the State, and is disposed to make no compromise.

Order Instituted.

Excelsior Council No. 2, Order of United American Mechanics, was instituted last night with the following officers: Counselor, C. P. Cary; Vice Counselor, C. Seaman; Recording Secretary, W. H.
Martin; Assistant Secretary, A. Van Camp; Financial Secretary, J. T. Sedman; Treasurer, G. W.
Culver; Inductor, W. H. Shook; Exalted Ruler,
Green; Inside Protector, Amos Marshall; Outside
Protector, D. C. Hill.

Amusements.

Prof. S. S. Baldwin was down for an exposé of Spiritualism to-night at the Academy, but the order has been changed, and an engagement for two nights made with W. Shook and M. E. Morgan, the first delineator of Yankee character, who will be supported by Charles Lovell, R. J. Johnson, Mortimer Wood, Z. Evans, W. M. Norton, and Belie Barnum. The program for to-night is Shook's specialty of the "Creole" or the Yankee in Cuba, which will be followed by the comedy of "Our Country Cousin."

Questions.

To the Editor of The Evening News:

If you have time, please ask why the teachers in Indianapolis are to be paid in city orders, to-morrow?

What has become of the $20,000 tuition fund, reported a few weeks ago?

How much can a teacher teach for scrip?

SHINPLASTER.

Remember that you are looking for the lightest running sewing machine, and that you will find it to be the Wilcox & Gibbs sewing machine at Medina's Temple of Fashion, 12 W. Washington street.

Your buildings may be situated a reasonable distance from all liability to taking fire from other buildings, and being destroyed,
but this will not prevent accidents happening on your own property that may cause its destruction. All things are considered in writing up the risk, and the safer your property the lesser the rate. The companies for you to select are those represented by A.
Aborn, Esq., in the Etna building, North Pennsylvania street.

LOCAL ITEMS.

The popular demand for novelty,
beauty, dash and style, is answered by De-Dee, Conner & Co., in the introduction of the prevailing styles of headwear. You will find them at 22 West Washington street.

College Guards Ball to-night at Mozart
Hall.

"Out, damned Spot!"—The energetic exclamation of Macbeth is mentally ejaculated by every housewife when confronted by the manifold variety of stains and spots that disfigure articles of household ornament and use. But the "spots" are not so easy to remove by ordinary means. A little Sapollo brought into timely use causes them all to disappear as if by magic, and bring peace and satisfaction to the housewife's mind. As cheap as common soap and a hundred times more effective.

Alexander & Craig.

This firm is becoming noted for manufacturing the best confectionery to be had in
