

MANY TONS OF BUTTER.

NEW YORK HAS MORE OF THE ARTICLE THAN SHE WANTS.

The Export Trade Not as Lively as It Should Be, Resulting in an Overstocked Market—Shipments of Adulterated Stuff.

NEW YORK, July 17.—The large accumulation of butter in this city at present is almost unprecedented, for there are about 15,000,000 pounds of this article stored away in the city and vicinity, and the supply is increasing at the rate of 3,000,000 pounds per week. The end is not yet, for the country reports plenty of good feed and the cows are in a prosperous condition.

Many commission merchants are seriously asking themselves: "How long is this going to last, what is the fate of the accumulated stock?" The export trade, although pretty satisfactory this week, is not what it should have been, and one merchant hinted that the small amount of butter exported was, in a certain measure, due to dishonesty on the part of some exporters.

Yield, adulterated stuff has been shipped to Europe and sold as genuine American butter. The consumers were not slow in finding out the imposition, and the result was a prejudice against American butter. European dealers turned their eyes to other countries for their supply. It is true that most of the fine table butter remains in this country, and the adulterated stuff is watered whose flavor has been affected are shipped to Europe, where they are skillfully doctored and improved.

Another One of the Whitechapel Horrors Reported To-day in London.

NEW YORK, July 17.—A cable copyright to the World from London, dated at 9 a. m., a low part of Whitechapel, called Old Castle street, was the scene of another atrocious murder of the well-known Whitechapel type. A large mass of bloodied bodies and traces of a desperate struggle bear testimony that Jack, the ripper, has again reappeared. The body was found in a narrow alley, and the bodies of unfortunate women who have taken to the streets for a living.

Four months ago the extra force of policemen and detectives who had been on duty specially for the purpose of trapping the Whitechapel murderer, were discovered by the bodies of unfortunate women who have taken to the streets for a living.

St. Louis, July 17.—Another mysterious affair has occurred in the Western suburbs of the city which recalls the Anna Weiss case. At an early hour this morning the dead body of an unknown man was found on Union avenue, near the narrow-gauge railroad, not far from the place where the remains of Anna Weiss were discovered.

shocks which were instantly fatal to others, but the electrician who invented the machine to be used for executions in New York claims that when the full shock has been applied to dogs, the animals used for experiments, it has always killed. In consequence of the doubts as to the force of the current required to surely kill, it will probably be necessary, if the New York murderer is made a victim of the experiment, to apply the full shock, a voltage of 2,000 ohms of alternating current, and it is not improbable that something dreadful may happen. The force of such a current is sufficient to make a point of salt water boil in twenty seconds, and death would ensue, it is estimated, in fifteen seconds. Still, it is asserted that a shock of this force would cause no pain.

By the time Millet's "Angelus" gets here, unless the Treasury will relax the iron rule of law as construed by counsel of the department, it will be the costliest picture ever bought or sold, except, possibly, Murillo's well-known "Virgin resting one foot in the crescent of the moon, with her hands folded on her breast," which has been copied often, and in many varieties of form than any other painting in the world. The French Government paid the estate of Marshal Soult, while in command in Spain, robbed a convent of this gem of art, and as he reconciled himself to the restored Bourbon dynasty, he was allowed to keep it to keep his plunder. If the Treasury will not suspend its rigid rule to let the "Angelus" in duty free, there ought to go to Washington a strong petition backed by a strong delegation of men of sense from all parts of the country, to secure a law of Congress a little more liberal and less idiotic than the present one.

This movement looking toward the establishment of a Salt Trust in the United States, which is to include England also, is going right along. The Republicans, therefore, are justified in assuming that the salt magnates don't care whether their product is left on the roll of dutiable articles or not. Salt must be put on the free list.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

We welcome this new and powerful ally to the cause of tariff reform. The cause is bound to prevail, and it is a very Republican paper that thus paves the way for the party toward that end instead of allowing it to go blindly into a cul de sac with the cause of monopoly and thus become identified with it in the popular mind. The Sugar Trust, the Coal Trust, the Salt Trust, not to mention many others, are entrenched in a protective tariff as a main bulwark of their monopoly. Knock this defense away, and they would have to stand just like the American laborer has to stand in competition with the world. Tariff reform is bound to come. It may be delayed, but it can not be defeated—and it is doubtful if it can be much longer delayed.

There are sufficient things of public interest pending to keep the town enlivened with healthy activity. Labor day is not far off. It ought to witness a great demonstration. The State Fair approaches and we ought to see whether a suitable night celebration might not profitably mark the time. Then there is the laying of the cornerstone of the Soldiers' Monument. As it is probable that the attendance on the G. A. R. convention at Milwaukee will be small, the cornerstone celebration should be planned on a scale to make it an old soldiers' picnic, so to speak, and attract them in regiments and brigades. Distinguished people should be invited and features added that will make the event the center of the widest interest. Without defining details it is pertinent to suggest such things as a great chorus of voices for music appropriate to the ceremonies, the crowd joining in some heart-speaking hymn; then such things as a camp-fire at night, a ball, social features to mingle distinguished guests in the general acquaintance. The President might be induced to come. This monument promises to be the finest soldiers' monument in the world. Let us give it a "send-off" in keeping.

A DISPATCH from Rome says that the Pope has asked several Cardinals "whether it was advisable that the council to elect his successor should be held in Rome or somewhere else." This settles any doubt that may have been hitherto entertained as to the Pope's earnest desire of the scheme of his removal of the Holy See from Rome. We have never believed that he would leave the Vatican, though some of the Cardinals may have earnestly urged it, and he may have expressed a qualified approval of it, but this question as to the place of meeting of the council to elect his successor shows that he has not only deeply considered the proposal, but is ready to accept and act on it if the Cardinals think it best. Wherever the Pope dies there the electing council must meet to determine his successor. So the question to the Cardinals is substantially a suggestion that if they don't feel free and safe to hold their conclave in Rome he will go somewhere else to die, and presumably to live out the remainder of his allotted days. Allowing the dispatch reporting this incident to be correct, it is the most direct and unequivocal statement of the Pope's views of the matter to the world.

To the American public, at least, if not to that at home, the withdrawal of consent for the Irish Nationalists from the Parliamentary Commission, leaves it in a new aspect altogether. It has always been an agent of the Government to find or create damaging revelations against the Nationalists, but acting under pressure of advice counsel on both sides it has had to measure its partiality with caution. The first conspicuous break through these restraints, making an unequivocal exhibition of its animating spirit, was that which moved the Nationalist counsel to withdraw; that is the refusal of the Court to order the production of the records of the "Loyal League," from which emanated the suggestion, if not the complete work, of the Times' articles on "Parliament and Crime." There was a strong chance there of a discovery of the fashion of the Pigott revelations, and one as likely to damage the case of the Times and the ministry, and that chance must not be risked. So the record was refused by Justice Hannan. The motive was as well known to everybody who followed the course of the investigation as it had been fully revealed. The withdrawal of the national counsel emphasizes that knowledge.

There is no longer a doubt that the celebration of Labor Day in Indianapolis this year will be upon a larger scale than has been undertaken heretofore. It has been determined, in the first place, to make it strictly a labor affair. There will be no industrial display, militia or other "trappings" connected with the street parade, while the marshals and speakers will be selected directly from the ranks of labor unions. The following unions, up to last night, were represented on the committee: Bricklayers, Plasterers, Hod Carriers, Painters, Salesmen, Cigar-makers, Hair Spinners, Typographical No. 1, Typographical No. 14, Pressmen, Federal Labor Union, Bakers, Hotel Waiters' Brotherhood, Molders' No. 17 and Molders' No. 56. The committee will meet at the Central Labor Union Hall Sunday morning at 10 o'clock sharp, and at that time at least twenty-seven out of a hundred of the city will be represented. The Central Labor Union hopes to realize $500 from the picnic at Hammond Park (Schiefel's Mill) on the afternoon of the 17th, and to expend the proceeds of a series of public eight-hour meetings in one of the large halls or theaters during the approaching winter.

The Railway Federation. Resident members of the Firemen, Switchmen and Brakemen's Brotherhood are great admirers of the recent amalgamation of the three bodies. The Federation will be strengthened still more by the addition of the new and progressive Lodge of Railway Conductors. Thus united the railway employes have a strength that of itself will save them from many a conflict. Corporations are not to be trifled with, and a fight with them is a "sizing up" of their antagonists. As long as the railway employes stand a solid front, and use their power to the utmost, they will not be taken advantage of. The railway employes have been a good while debating this step, and now that a union has been formed, it is to be hoped that it may result in great good to them.

Colored Workers. The Hotel Waiters' Brotherhood is considering the question of entering the American Federation of Labor, and probably will do so. They will join this rapidly growing and powerful branch of the labor army. There is a lack of organization among colored people, and every time they are called upon to stand up for their rights, they are placed at serious disadvantage. In the Hod Carriers' Union there is an excellent illustration of the benefits of organization. The members of this union are organized into a body of $1.50 for ten and eleven hours work was the rule. Now $2 and $2.25 for nine hours are the prices paid for union labor, and there is no other kind of employ in this city, upon the uncertainty of which workers would work an hour on a job where non-union hod carriers are employed. When the Hotel Brotherhood joins the Federation its members should engage with the Hod Carriers in looking after the thorough organization of the colored wage-workers.

Indianapolis vs. Chicago. The fight between the Union printers of this city and Chicago for the possession of headquarters of the International Typographical Union is fairly open, and both sides have gone to the limit in comprising the International body of their strongest antagonists. Messrs. B. F. Allen & Co., of Chicago, and Messrs. B. F. Allen & Co., of Indianapolis, are the two parties in the contest. The Indianapolis side is sound and convincing, from the Indianapolis standpoint. Just how it will appear to the members of the International Typographical Union has a big union, but our local "prints" are good stayers when a fight is on, and they have faith in their ability to win the battle and retain the headquarters.

Local Notes. The wheelmaker reports a steady growth. Work in printing offices is growing somewhat slack. The eight-hour sentiment is growing rapidly in this city. The bakers have trade matters well in hand and are not in a hurry to organize. The first typographical union in this city was organized in 1859. The Locomotive Firemen, Brakemen Brotherhood and Switchmen's Association will be invited to join the trade unions in celebrating Labor Day.

General Packard's Rival. General Jasper Packard, who is the editor of the New Albany Tribune, is only straight-out Republican paper in that section of Indiana, made many speeches during the late campaign and wrote numerous editorials in praise of the Government. It was thought immediately after Harrison's election that General Packard had a cinch, as we say out West, on the Internal Collectorship in the New Albany district. "But who do you think wants the place now?" said New Albany man to me yesterday; "somebody less than Dick Thompson, or Ferre Haute, or Gary, or Ellettsburg, or any of the other Republican platforms ever since John C. Freeman ran for President."

No Escape from the Trust. No sugar-refining plant is so distant or too obscure to escape the attention of the Sugar Trust. Out in St. Joseph, Mo., the local refinery has been absorbed by the monopoly and closed up. Thus, the natural diversification of industry in the country is impeded in the interests of tariff-sheltered combination of Eastern capitalists. If the people of the great West ever intend to control their own industrial development it is high time that they should begin to assert themselves.

RESCHER, the Long Branch Faro Winner, and His History. Rescher is an old Western gambler. The Pigott affair spoiled all the injurious effect on the Nationalist cause that the report might have had, and now the abandonment of the Commission to a wholly ex parte proceeding will leave the report about as idle a thing as "a painted ship upon a painted ocean."

THE RAGE FOR POLITICS.

REORGANIZATION OF THE REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE. And Virtual Opening of the Campaign for 1890-The Senatorial Situation as Considered by John W. Buskirk.

The meeting of the Republican State Central Committee to-morrow is expected to bring to the city quite a gathering of prominent members of the party from all over the State. It is the first meeting of the committee since the election, and there is a large amount of accumulated business that must be disposed of.

The sentiment among Indianapolis working Republicans is that the late General Michener should be made the chairman, but many outside members of the committee hold different views.

John Overmeyer, of North Vernon, is also mentioned for the place, but as can be learned he has little following. Unless there should be some change in the situation after the members of the committee reach the city, the chairmanship will likely be given to Mr. Michener.

There seems to be few candidates for the Secretaryship. Professor LaFollette is being considered favorably for the place, and it looks like he can have it if he wants it.

In addition to reorganizing, the committee will determine upon some plans for the next campaign. Attorney General Michener says that in case he is made the chairman he will begin work on the next campaign this fall and keep it up continually.

Judge John W. Buskirk, of Bloomington, is in the city for a few days, stopping at the Grand. He arrived last night from Martinsville. "I have been trying to get away from politics and business since I can remember," he said, "and so I am in the dark as to what is going on except what information I get from the press. I see that the New York United States Senatorial question is up."

"Well, what do you think about it?" "I never heard Michener's name mentioned before, but I heard that Governor Hovey would be a candidate."

"As between Gray and Voorhees, what is your opinion?" "Oh, I think Voorhees would be re-elected beyond any doubt, and there are good reasons for thinking so. Voorhees is at that age when defeat means his political death, and this Democratic party knows that. Gray stands well with the party, but should he be defeated it would not injure him in the least, and he would still be a prominent figure in the party."

"Then Voorhees would be elected, not because the party loves Gray the less, but Voorhees more?" "Yes, that expresses it."

"What chance do you consider Governor Hovey has?" "That depends, of course, on the Legislature. Indiana is really a Democratic State and about the time of the election the Democrats were after the election of Michigan. A great many of them will be disappointed and will not be enthusiastic in the fight, and the Democrats, of course, will win. I really do not know what Governor Hovey's chances would be should there be a Republican Legislature—which is not likely."

GARBAGE BILLINGSBATE. Mountain of Refuse at the Fall Creek Crossing—Need for a Remedy. Out at the Indiana avenue crossing of Fall Creek, on the far side, is a vast dumping ground. A small mountain of garbage has been made there by the accumulations of years. At the top is a thick layer of decaying vegetable matter, including piles of rotten fruits and berries. Tin cans in countless numbers cover the pile, and billingsbates odors are wafted on the breeze. Not far away is the City Hospital. Situated right on the banks of the creek and at the edge of a swamp, the hospital has enough unhealthfulness to contend with in its surroundings without the additional danger brought by the garbage.

A householders' opinion: "It is strange to me that the Council does not take some steps toward disposing of the city garbage. It is a shame that in a city the size of Indianapolis the authorities pay no attention to the collection of garbage. It is almost impossible to get garbage removed. I have known barrels of fish to stand for a week before the garbage collector had been notified that they were ready to be removed. The Council could not only improve the health of the city by some wise garbage legislation, but it could put money into the treasury. In other cities the garbage is converted into fertilizing material, and that is what should be done here. The city ought to own a garbage machine, and then have a system of collection that will insure the taking away of all the refuse promptly. Or, if that plan isn't satisfactory, allow some one to establish a fertilizer factory. Then collect the garbage and sell it to him at a moderate price. There are several plans that are feasible, and some of them ought to be tried this summer."

reported insurance carried on 1807 risks in this city, $2,000,000, an increase of twenty per cent. in business in the year. Net assets reported, $181,888, with no liabilities; membership, 1,200. One year's premium only during the company's five years of existence has been charged—effecting a net saving of $25,000.

A NEW DEPARTURE. Indianapolis Defeats Boston and Glascock Succeeds Bancroft.

The Hoosiers being ignominiously defeated by Washington, and then winning handsomely from Boston, shows the vagaries of ball-throwing in the National League. Indianapolis game yesterday, and there was little doubt of the result, looking at it from a Boston view, when the "Bean-esters" led off with three runs in the first inning on Brown's single, McGeechey's muff of Nash's high fly to right, a steal, Brotherton's two-bagger and singles by Richardson and Johnston. One was added to the Boston score in the fifth inning off Brotherton's double, Richardson's scratch hit and slow throwing to second. In all the other innings, however, the "Bean-esters" were blanked, and they were outplayed at every point.

For several reasons it is politically important that the committee exercise good judgment in reorganizing. Whoever is selected at this meeting will serve through the next campaign. It is not to be expected that the national administration will have a personal interest in the campaign, and whoever is selected as chairman of the committee will find a great responsibility resting upon him. However, he will receive incentives enough to do good work, for it is generally conceded in Republican circles that to carry the Legislature means that the chairman of the committee shall be entitled to the seat in the United States Senate, now occupied by Mr. Voorhees.

The sentiment among Indianapolis working Republicans is that the late General Michener should be made the chairman, but many outside members of the committee hold different views. A good many Republicans of prominence among the Congressmen here are urging that Joseph I. Irwin, of Columbus, be given the position. It is claimed that he is not as more familiar with the needs of the hour, and that he possesses a higher order of executive ability which would be valuable at this time. There is no doubt but Irwin would make an excellent chairman, but he will be just as valuable to us in another capacity, said one of his friends. "He is a man who is always in line, and in twenty-nine years has not failed to be at all times of valuable service to the party."

John Overmeyer, of North Vernon, is also mentioned for the place, but as can be learned he has little following. Unless there should be some change in the situation after the members of the committee reach the city, the chairmanship will likely be given to Mr. Michener. There seems to be few candidates for the Secretaryship. Professor LaFollette is being considered favorably for the place, and it looks like he can have it if he wants it. Base Ball Notes. Emmett Seery is said to be in mortal terror of Bancroft, and frequently, on making a play for him, he is heard to mutter, "I'm getting away from the players' bench in order to avoid Bancroft's scolding." Mr. Brush says that Bancroft is a hard loser and lacks the nerve to stand up under played. One scolding and Glascock was put in charge of the club, the new deal going into effect with the New York series of games. The Chicago and St. Louis clubs are both managed by players, and it is thought that Glascock will be equal to the duties which have been added to his work. This position was offered him last spring, before the resignation of Bancroft was announced, but he declined it. He has great influence over the players, both on and off the diamond, and the position will give him a chance to show the stuff that is in him.

A "KNOCK-OUT." Open to the Women and Free for All—Sullivan and Kilrain Knocked Into Space—Kelleher Offers Something Profitable for Men and Boys to Talk About. There was considerable excitement at Kelleher's but store this morning. Mr. Kelleher was interviewed on the subject, and when questioned as to why he had cut the prices so ridiculously low, giving a choice of any straw hat in the store for seventy-five cents, most of which are worth $2, and none sold for less than $1.25 (many are a line of full-shaped Manillas, well worth $2.50, but will now go with the rest for only 75c) he replied: "Well, I'm selling a fresh stock next season. Yes, we have also cut the prices on all our fashionable summer Derby's—all the fancy colors—gray, blue, English tan, tobacco brown, maple, nut, silver pearl. These hats formerly sold at $4, $3.50, $3, and none less than $2.50, but will now push them to a pinch at $1.25, $1.50 and $2." Mr. Kelleher is also selling at 25 cents each an excellent line of men's straw hats well worth three times the price. Boy's straw hats, 10c, 15c, 25c. Children's fancy straw hats and caps given away at any price. Open every night till 9 o'clock. This a fair, square knock-down by Kelleher, and no mistake. West Washington street, No. 23, is the place.
