

THE CONDITION OF LABOR

REPORTED GOOD AT THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION. The condition of labor was reported good at Central Labor Union meeting last night.

The grievance committee reported that the Aurora bear boycott had been satisfactorily adjusted. The committee had conferred with the Commercial Club regarding the request of organized labor that the club annul the contract with the Jenney Electric Light Company for lighting its new building.

A grievance was preferred against W. H. Barr, an East Washington-street merchant. It was referred to the grievance committee for investigation, as was a request for a boycott on the Rothchilds, furniture manufacturers of Cincinnati.

It was reported that eighteen conductors had been discharged by the Citizens' Street Railway Company, and that it was the purpose of the company to run the English-wood and Hawthorne lines without conductors. A lively discussion took place.

The financial secretary Ross made a report showing the receipts for last quarter of $108.53; expenditures, $231.50.

The Bureau shops. The crucial moment of opening of barber shops is growing warm, and those who had charge of the work last Sunday reported satisfactory progress. There were fewer shops open than on the Sunday before, and the only customers were the regular patrons of the shops.

The Eureka laundry has been unionized. Work in the building trades is extra good. Switchmen's Union has moved to Main street.

The stonemasons of Evansville have returned. Teamsters and Shoemakers' Union elected officers at its last meeting.

THE INDIANAPOLIS NEWS. PUBLISHED BY W. H. HARRISON. Editorial Rooms, 273 1/2 Business Office, 181 1/2.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1892.

NOTICE.

The circulation of The Indianapolis News for twelve months to October 1, 1892, was an average of 25,677 for each day. For September, 1892, the average was 25,756 for each day.

Sympathy With the President.

Everybody reads the sad bulletin touch-line Mrs. Harrison's gradual decline toward the dark valley with profound sorrow, and with unqualified sympathy for the President.

About Voting.

The columns of The News have been laden of late with opinion and assertion by the friends of the paper as to how they shall vote, and how all men ought to vote.

The Veterans at Home.

It is not hard to say of Veteran Union Soldiers that, when they come to Indianapolis, they are at home. They are at home here in a double sense; in the sense of a heartiness of welcome, the true meaning of which we believe the people of our community better understand than those of Indianapolis.

As these that this town of Indianapolis itself awoke to life and grew, coming up from a peaceful country village of a few thousand inhabitants to a city whose streets for years had echoed to the tramp of legions, and whose abiding places had sheltered the soldier in all the manifestations which war produces.

The lament of lacking funds still comes from the political headquarters, national and State. Some way, unless all signs and reports fall, men are not contributing to the campaign efforts this year with the alacrity and liberality of former years.

Money in Campaigns.

There can be no doubt that campaign committees often use money for illegitimate and unworthy purposes. The very abundance of money has in time past tempted them thereto. Full chests also led to the planning and carrying out of campaigns on too elaborate and extravagant a scale.

It is a sad state of things when a poet is unable to create, and must write out of his memory.

Other campaign expenses which have increased enormously of late years are those of printing and postage. The committees send out vast quantities of campaign literature, prepared by highly paid writers. They also undertake to supply the partisan press of the best sort with partisan intelligence and sound doctrine.

Reports are afloat that Federal officials are being assessed and mulcted in part of their salaries for the good of the cause.

The difficulty in raising campaign funds we consider, as we have said before, a hopeful sign. It means we believe more appeal to reason, less to prejudices and passion; more reliance upon principle and less upon paraphernalia; more dependence on simple oratory, and less on organization.

Jeffersonian Simplicity.

In the campaign of eight years ago a great deal was said about turning the rascals out, and installing in their places administrators whose public acts should be characterized by simplicity. The Republicans, it was said, had been in office so long and had fattened at the public crib through so many years that they were aptly described by Hamlet in his melancholy plaint about the insolence of office and the spurns.

Just why Jefferson's name should be used as a synonym for what is homely or simple it is difficult to determine.

Some Pennsylvania lawyers are making as high as $200 per day in pushing foreigners through the naturalization mill. No wonder that there is a sentiment in some quarters against restricting immigration! Now that Ward McAllister has discovered that Columbus was a good man, though of lowly origin, we presume the Exposition and the attendant demonstrations will have to be abandoned.

Mr. Ham of Georgia.

Mr. Ham of Georgia is one of the coming orators of the South. Nearly everything he says is full of meat. Pumpkin pie, well-frokked with odoriferous spices, smile serenely from Indiana pantry shelves. The great Democratic majorities in the South have withdrawn the sectional lines. The recent attempted corner in short ribs is the bone of contention in Chicago.

The Life Beyond.

The stars are not extinguished when it sets. The sun is not extinguished when it sets. To shine in other skies, then reappears in ours as fresh as when it first arose.

French-Canadian Immigration.

The immigration of French-Canadians to the United States has not attracted much attention, and yet it is one of the most remarkable movements of population on record. It is admitted by the Canadian authorities that during the past few years not less than a million emigrants have crossed the line into this country.

W. D. Walton, of Petersburg, Va., was struck in the arm-pit by a mine ball at the battle of Spotsylvania Court-house.

The New York Board of Education has taken a cautious step toward the introduction of the Froebel system by making an appropriation of $2,000 for kindergartens in the primary schools of that city. A Kennebec (Me.) lady has made pants of five field crickets. Each has a name, and seems to know it when spoken.

It is a sad state of things when a poet is unable to create, and must write out of his memory.

Several years ago Thomas Bailey Aldrich wrote a poem called "Memory." It contained these lines: The wind comes briskly up this way, Crisping the brook beside the road; They pause here at dawn's low load Of pine-needles, and shook listlessly Two petals from that wild rose tree.

Florida fig trees are bearing their third crop now, this season being an exceptionally favorable one for the fruit.

Florida fig trees are bearing their third crop now, this season being an exceptionally favorable one for the fruit. There are several varieties of figs which ripen at different seasons. The purple and brown figs are now at their best, and Florida papers speak enthusiastically of their lusciousness, when eaten right from the tree.

Gov. Chase has his headquarters in the field, sure enough. He can make speeches in several counties every day, and, in between times, officiate at weddings and deliver lectures on non-political subjects.

Gov. Chase has his headquarters in the field, sure enough.

Gov. Chase has his headquarters in the field, sure enough. He can make speeches in several counties every day, and, in between times, officiate at weddings and deliver lectures on non-political subjects. Even Joe Pifer, over in Illinois, can not get around at a livelier rate. If half the colonizing schemes the party organs are prating of have any basis in fact there has been no such general shifting of population since the incursions of the barbarians into the Roman Empire. No wonder the railways are reporting increased passenger earnings.

Navajo people who go poking around at night about ghettos about this time of year.

Navajo people who go poking around at night about ghettos about this time of year. They are not genuine spooks, however, but rosebushes, clematis and other landscape ornaments which the cautious housewife wraps in ghostly raiment to keep off the frost.

YOUNG AMERICA asserted itself in New York yesterday by hauling down an English flag and tearing it in shreds.

YOUNG AMERICA asserted itself in New York yesterday by hauling down an English flag and tearing it in shreds. But it protested against the flag first, and only because it was fluttering on the breeze unaccompanied by the Stars and Stripes.

ADDITIONAL tribes of Indians in Indian Territory are ceding away their lands. The term of negotiation on the part of the Government's commission is about in this wise: "We have come to take your lands, and you will please consent!" The campaign of education and of silence is trying on the politician. If the people would exhibit some enthusiasm, jobs, processions, carry torch-lights, and yell, he could form some conjecture as to "where he was at."

GENERAL PRESS COMMENT.

When party affiliations conflict with patriotic principles, the latter must be relinquished. (Pittsburg Dispatch.) The State elections in the South have exposed the game just soon enough to insure their defeat. But for those elections the country might have kept up to the last and hosts of Northern Republicans have followed Weaver to the cold shades of Adulm. They know better to-day, in the light of the Georgia election, and the solid South will be confronted, as it has been before, by a solid North—solid for protection and honesty at the ballot-box. (Hartford Post.)

The great need of the time and of the country is the proper understanding by the individual citizen of his rights, duties, powers and privileges, and his intelligent, and honest, and fearless exercise of the same.

The great need of the time and of the country is the proper understanding by the individual citizen of his rights, duties, powers and privileges, and his intelligent, and honest, and fearless exercise of the same. When a large number of the voters of the States maintain their rights the Government remains honest; when such a proportion of citizens become indifferent (which is often the case) the Government becomes dishonest—which has happened—the Government becomes corrupt and degraded. (Kansas City Star.)

Certain it is that thoughtful and intelligent men are not content with making money, but are anxious to do something for their country.

Certain it is that thoughtful and intelligent men are not content with making money, but are anxious to do something for their country. Mr. Foulke and Mr. MacVeagh think the time has come to call a halt. That thousands upon thousands of citizens agree with them will be made apparent, even by McKinley himself, in the great election which is now less than five weeks away. (Boston Globe.)

"Not make American tin!" shrieked Napoleon McKinley at Boston.

"Not make American tin!" shrieked Napoleon McKinley at Boston. "We can make anything in America." So we can, dear Napoleon. We can artificially make real rubies for our farmers' wives at a cost of $500 for each one the size of a pin head. We can help three or four million people to make American tin-plate by doubling the tax on every tin article that our 60,000,000 of people use. That is just what we are doing. We are making tin-plate, an honest man like Wayne MacVeagh could be sent to Kroppe's gun-works at last. (Cincinnati Enquirer.)

Alliance papers are suggesting that electors in the North and West should be made Judge Graham President.

Alliance papers are suggesting that electors in the North and West should be made Judge Graham President. This recalls the plan proposed at St. Louis by one of the People's Party leaders. Having gained the honor of being the greatest of the Alliance electors here Weaver and still his votes to the highest bidder. He did not mean for money, but for measure. Whichever candidate would agree to grant the greater amount of nationalities, him should be traded the Alliance electoral votes. In this a lesson in political integrity for the old party. (Kansas City Times.)

Unquestionably the newspaper is largely or wholly responsible for the change that has been effected in campaign methods.

Unquestionably the newspaper is largely or wholly responsible for the change that has been effected in campaign methods. It has speared every political convention in the hands of the party bosses, and has applied to every voter the letters of acceptance of the candidates, and has exploited their merits and condemned their defects. Every stage of the campaign, every phase of it has been intelligently dissected, and voters do not need to learn how they should vote from the hired men mouthing on the stump or from clubs and brass bands. (Philadelphia Record.)

We are not vain enough to suppose that the advocates of Mr. Harrison's election will take our advice, but we do not refrain from writing them that they are overlooking the "seamy" business which concerns the State banks and their circulation.

We are not vain enough to suppose that the advocates of Mr. Harrison's election will take our advice, but we do not refrain from writing them that they are overlooking the "seamy" business which concerns the State banks and their circulation. The promotion of those who can be influenced by it is very small, and of these we venture to say that there is scarcely a man in the State who does not know that the revival of the old bank circulation as it was before the war is as impossible as the revival of the pony express across the plains. Now, in a contest like the present, where the issue will decide the contest are neither fools nor partisans. The great body of each party will vote with the party, but the decisive votes will for the most part come from those who are not to be influenced by this kind of argument; at least they are more likely to be turned from their vote to the party that uses it. (New York Times.)

Does the public at large know that in the Hub there is a club, called the Wintergreen, of women all confessedly over thirty? (Here let it be said in parenthesis that the members are all women over sixty.) Mrs. Mary A. Livermore is one of the leading spirits in it. (Boston Post.)

Lady Tennyson, years ago, before honors fell heavy, was a noted housewife. Her husband was proud of her achievements, and once she had written a letter over her living by poetry, Mrs. Tennyson makes a capital tea-biscuit. Mrs. Marion Talbot has been appointed assistant professor in the department of social science at the University of Chicago. She is also engaged in organizing the relation of women to the university. Miss Talbot received her first and second degrees in arts from Boston University, and later graduated in science from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Her husband, the late Mrs. Alphonse Daudet, the wife of the illustrious novelist, is a writer herself of no mean distinction. Her collected works are now being brought out by the publisher, Lemercier. ("L'Union des Femmes") and "Enfants de Meres" are perhaps the most popular of Mrs. Daudet's books. She is above all the interpreters of Parisian home life, and her chapters on childhood are among the most charming that have ever been written.

THE GEORGIA ELECTION.

The testimony of Georgia is added to that of Florida and Alabama, and that the People's Party movement in the South is very small potatoes indeed. (Chicago Post.) The magnitude of the Democratic victory in Georgia is appalling to the Republicans. It blots out all the hopes they were building on the strength of the third party. (Detroit Free Press.)

More than fifty thousand majority for Governor. Northern and the West are Democratic.

The South will cast its entire vote for Cleveland and Stevenson.

The South will cast its entire vote for Cleveland and Stevenson. Our people see no reason why they should leave the Democratic party. They know that it is their only hope of good government and of relief from the unjust burdens they now endure. (Atlanta Journal.)

This result is not surprising. In neither Florida nor Georgia was there any good leadership, and whatever strength the People's Party had was frittered away.

This result is not surprising. In neither Florida nor Georgia was there any good leadership, and whatever strength the People's Party had was frittered away. The Democratic majority in Georgia is too large. It will have a depressing effect on the Populists of the Northwest, where Harrison electors' votes are wanted. Majorities which are too big are often as unwelcome as no majority at all. (St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

It will give new courage and confidence to the Democracy in the East and West and will add new inspiration to the gallant fight it is making for Cleveland and Stevenson.

It will give new courage and confidence to the Democracy in the East and West and will add new inspiration to the gallant fight it is making for Cleveland and Stevenson. The election in Georgia brings into prominence a fact too little noticed thus far, namely, the growth of independence among the colored voters of the South. In Georgia the negroes declined to be led by the white Republicans into voting for Populist or third party candidates, but voted the straight Democratic ticket. The result is that it will take the census taker to estimate the size of the Democratic majority. The Populists, Republicans and all else left out of sight. (Baltimore Sun.)

If the members of the People's Party in the North who were formerly Republicans have a proper sense of self-respect, they will resent this deception by refusing to aid in the election of a Democratic President.

If the members of the People's Party in the North who were formerly Republicans have a proper sense of self-respect, they will resent this deception by refusing to aid in the election of a Democratic President. If the Southern men who profess to be in sympathy with the principles and purposes of the new party make it a point to go on voting in the old way, then certainly the Northern men who support Weaver may justifiably abandon him and resume their former political allegiance. The manifestly reasonable and patriotic course for our purpose. (St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)

THE PEOPLE'S VOICE.

THE OTHER SIDE.

The News is consistent in its Present Course.

To the Editor of The Indianapolis News: I observe that some of your Democratic correspondents who, I venture to say, have rarely, if ever, scratched a tick while they praise you for your independence...

I have read The News constantly and attentively from its beginning, and have held it in high esteem, but I fail to see anything in its past career which would warrant the expectation that it would now support Cleveland.

Since I have been in the city, I have almost uniformly supported the working-man, and this without the bias of triumph or dishonest demagoguery.

The News, while in no sense a bloody shirt passer, has ever been in sympathy with the maintenance of the Federal Union.

Again, when he was President, some one called his attention to a lot of faded rags, stored some where in the War Department, known as rebel flags, which about 1862 were burned, or ground up for paper or shoddy long ago and forgotten.

In his last message Mr. Cleveland took strong ground against the violation of the civil-service law.

Should Cleveland succeed, in case of his death, which God forbid, Adlai Stevenson, a copperhead and a pronounced rag-money man stands officially back of him, and would become President.

It is true that in his last annual message Mr. Cleveland announced himself in favor of free trade.

Finally, Mr. Cleveland, if appearances mean anything, is now on his benched knees supplicating the aid of Tammany.

It requires a good deal of gall, of blind partisanship, or of both, for any one, in view of the past, to insist upon your supporting Cleveland.

CROSS THE TURKAT'S HEAD.

Read The News for Reasons Why This Should Not Be Done.

One of the greatest evidences of independence in the News since the chance of ownership is in the good natured patience in giving space to readers who have views on the subject, either of fip-some flattery or why he can not vote for the President this time.

Why is a voter who cites "personal" reasons for not supporting a candidate always met with the reply that it is not the man you vote for, but the party's platform?

When Mr. Harrison knew that he was indebted to Mr. Dudley for the "advice" which rescued Indiana from the enemy after our own poll showed that the enemy had seven thousand the advantage of us...

In the campaign of 1888 Western Republican papers kept reiterating that "if elected, President, Mr. Harrison would be President"; "no politician could run his office as this not accepted literally, and did it not lead Mr. Harrison to overdo this-part so much as to be unduly suspicious of every Republican politician who approached him, and so unnecessarily to hurt and insult many honorable leaders?"

Why this Motive Alone is Slightly Immoral and Cowardly.

To the Editor of The Indianapolis News: In Thursday's News you have a long editorial on throwing away votes.

You can not measure the rightness of a principle by the degree of its acceptance by men. Where true moral heroism exists death itself is not defeat, but oftentimes its canonization; the principle lives, though the martyr who served it perishes.

When Whittier and Lowell thought slavery a curse Jeff Davis said: "Very well, think so, but keep your thoughts to yourself."

When in 1840 Mr. Birney polled 7,059 votes in C. Calhoun said: "We can stand all the praying and preaching of these crazy abolitionists, but now they have begun voting this country will either be all free or all slave."

You and Senator Sherman say the Republican party was formed of Whigs, Free-soilers and Democrats. That is true, but how could the Republican party have been formed of these three elements if the old abolitionists, true to their principles, had not continued to agitate and vote a third ticket until they won enough Democrats and Whigs over to form a new and successful party?

It is the earnest wish of all patriotic citizens to see "Old Glory" waving from every public school-building or grounds in the city and to carry the program for the salutation of the flag, as the exercises will not be complete without this. I would, therefore, most respectfully suggest that the patriotic friends of the schools named herein call a meeting for the purpose of organizing their respective school districts for funds to provide each school with a national flag and staff.

the one lose his vote as much as the other? If I vote for Mr. Harrison there is no question but that, if he is elected by that vote, that Mr. Cleveland will stand by the one on which he is running.

Why should they? Harrison and Cleveland both support the same tariff, and the difference is that the Democrats make no pretensions of favoring temperance, while the Republicans make themselves ridiculous by their hypocritical claims to temperance and morality—between drinks.

In Every Case Another Demonstration of the Superior Skill of the Specialists of the Stackhouse Medical Institute in the Treatment of All Curable Chronic Diseases.

The success achieved by the specialists of the Stackhouse Medical Institute in the treatment of catarrh and kindred diseases has never been paralleled.

The prosperity of this institution has been well merited. Years of the most careful study into the cause, character and complications of this class of chronic disease have been supplemented by many years of practice among the most difficult and stubborn cases.

Few clergymen are better known in the city of Indianapolis than the Rev. D. M. Brown, who recently accepted a call from the First Congregational church at Dayton, Ohio, and removed with his family to that city, where he now resides at 348 West Monument Avenue.

MASTER MORTON BROWN.

"Four years ago," said he, "before we moved to Indianapolis, we lived at Knightstown, Ind. I caught cold that winter and it kept getting worse until I had a bad case of catarrh. I had headaches nearly every day. The least amount of exercise made me tired. I had a cold nearly all the time and my nose was often stopped up so it was impossible to breathe through it. My eyesight began to grow dim so that I had to wear spectacles. The worst symptom in my case, though, was deafness. My hearing kept growing worse until we were all afraid I should become entirely deaf."

"Nothing that was done for me helped my case any until I went to the Stackhouse Medical Institute. I had only taken treatment there a little while until I began to get well. Now the headaches have stopped; I have no more dizzy spells; I feel much stronger; my eyesight is good and I have recovered my hearing. Everybody that is bothered with catarrh ought to go to the specialists of the Stackhouse Medical Institute and be cured."

Shrodes has been appointed freight and ticket agent of the Chicago division of the Big Four at Easton, vice J. M. Shields transferred to Manchester. W. M. Jackson has been made agent on the St. Louis division of the Big Four at Oays, vice N. W. Miller transferred to Tower Hill, Ill. C. O. Whitte has resigned as stenographer in the office of Engineer W. Cushing and by maintenance of way on the Indianapolis division of the Pennsylvania lines.

Work Eminent and in Progress. The Lake Erie & Western freight offices at Sandusky are completed and the officials have moved into them. The Michigan Central is building a passenger depot there, which will be used by the Lake Erie & Western. The Lake Erie & Western yards at Tipton now have three and a half miles of track and will have seven miles before the end of the year. The Big Four and Lake Erie & Western, who have been joint owners of the station facilities at Rushville, have separated. The latter road will put up a fine building of its own. The Lake Erie & Western will soon begin work on a new station at Milton. It will have all the modern improvements. Additions will be made to the stations at Alexandria, Elwood and Ambia, and new ones will be built at May and Spring Park, Ind., and Goodland, Ill. The new station at Shirley, on the Peoria & Eastern, is almost completed. The Pennsylvania station at Urbana, O., is progressing rapidly. The foundation is in and the floor joists were laid to-day.

A Run That Sets the Pace. Train No. 7, on the Indianapolis division of the Pennsylvania, has set the pace of rapid running on the Southwest system. It is scheduled at five hours and ten minutes from Columbus to Indianapolis, but it has made the distance in four hours and eleven minutes. Deducting all lost time, the train averaged sixty-nine miles an hour for the entire distance of 188 miles. Engineer Gibby was on the east end and engineer Ted McGrew on the west end. Conductor H. H. Fletcher had charge of the train.

Railroad Personnel and Paragraphs. The Belt road paid out $17,000 to its employees yesterday. H. H. Cheney, formerly Lake Erie & Western agent at Frankfort, is in the city. The Belt transferred 18,908 cars last week. Of these 988 were loaded with stock. Conductor W. M. Robertson's trotter took first money at the Chillicothe races. An interlocking switch is to be put in at Veedersburgh on the Peoria & Eastern. E. A. McCormick, general passenger agent of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, is sick. The Sunday train on the Indianapolis & Vincennes is said to be the best paying train on the road. The Lake Erie & Western earned during the first week of October, $77,822.42, an increase of $11,715.78.

Within a year the block system of signals will be in use on the Big Four between this city and Cincinnati. About 90 per cent of the men working on the Belt road have their own homes and a number of them have money in bank. J. Turner, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania lines, has returned from his trip through Canada. F. T. Hatch, engineer of maintenance of way on the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania lines, is taking a two weeks' vacation. The new main track around the Belt was opened yesterday by the Big Four, and General Yardmaster Hicks now has plenty of room. An additional 300 tons of steel is to be put down on the Indianapolis division of the Pennsylvania lines between Millard and Cable. Conductor Harry Smith, of the Louisville division, Pennsylvania lines, will probably not be able to return to work for at least six months. The Big Four switchmen at Columbus are threatening to strike at 6 o'clock this evening unless they are paid the Cincinnati scale of wages. The Big Four has opened a telegraph station at Manchester on the Chicago division. Assistant General Superintendent Jarvis, of the Lake Erie & Western, will attend the Peru barbecue. He will leave his watch and money at home. The Big Four yesterday put into use its new tickets. The pattern are being made and the coupon and punch the date and number of the train on which the ticket is to be used.

Minor Municipal Matters. Water mains have been ordered in Union street from Hill street to Grand avenue. Constable or Trenchard was ordered to clean the crossing of New Jersey and Walnut streets. C. M. Foster was authorized to have the city's portion of the sidewalk at Pennsylvania and Walnut streets.

The city engineer was ordered to ascertain why the alley running east from Kinross street to the first a-way east has been closed up. The engineer was asked to submit an estimate of the cost of properly repaving the block pavement of Delaware street, from St. Clair to Seventh street.

The city engineer was instructed to ascertain if a number of property owners had led up their lots as ordered by the board. If not the board will do the work. In a day or two the Department of Public Health will begin cutting weeds. President Morrison says the board wants to hire a lot of scythes owners to do the work.

The Board of Public Works has decided that the prices asked for asphalt for the Circle and adjacent streets are too high, and will not let the contract. Material other than asphalt will probably be used.

On the coming of electric lights about 5,400 lamp-posts are to be removed. The posts belong to the city, and will be stored away. At present only the posts in the territory bounded by North, South, East and West streets will be taken down.

More Damages Wanted. Last week Mrs. Martha Coleman recovered a judgment for $500 against the Citizens' Street Railway Company for injuries received in a collision between a West Washington street car and a Big Four freight train. The street-car company was the only defendant in the suit. This morning her husband, George Coleman, and the Big Four for $10,000 damages for the loss of his wife's services. Mrs. Coleman asked for $20,000 in her suit.

CAPTURED BY THE LADIES. What occurred at the Noon Hour in a Popular Tailoring Establishment—An Evening Reception.

Probably no merchant tailoring establishment on earth ever had as large a number of lady visitors as dropped in upon the Kahn Tailoring Company yesterday in their new and airy quarters at Nos. 22 and 24 East Washington street.

Announcement had been made through all the papers that yesterday would be "opening day," with a reception to friends and patrons in the evening. There was a surprise maturing for this popular house, and at noon it burst upon the establishment in full force. Roses and carnations had been provided as souvenirs for those who should call, and in noon hundreds of ladies and misses flocked into the place to see what was to be seen and accept the floral tokens. These fair visitors were saluted from the "downy" stairs and invited from the private and public schools. They chattered away as they roamed among the handsomely-displayed fabrics, admiring everything, as well they might, and the place was as vocal as a tropical forest.

Through the day many hundreds of gentlemen friends and patrons called, extended their congratulations to this first-class enterprise and gave their best wishes for its success. Each was duly decorated with a boutonniere, and the consequence was the street, with its flowery promenaders, took on an exceedingly festive appearance. At the evening reception the store was thronged with people, and a number of beautiful as the visitors, ladies and gentlemen, moved among the aisles of palms, the kaleidoscope throng being reflected over and over again from a score of mirrors. The Zumbi orchestra added to the joyousness of the occasion by discoursing the best music in its repertory.

This great tailoring house is one in which Indianapolis has shown its faith in the city by an abundance of patronage, and this favor has been appreciated, a quid pro quo being furnished in the most stylish and perfect fitting garments worn in any community and afforded at the lowest prices.
