

WHITNEY FOR PRESIDENT.

A BELIEF THAT THE DEMOCRATS WILL NOMINATE HIM.

His Alleged Strength As a Candidate - The Missouri Democratic Convention - Governor Porter's Views On the Silver Question.

New York, August 6.—The Herald prints the following: In the opinion of many prominent Democrats, a formidable movement is likely to take shape in a short time in favor of the nomination of William C. Whitney for the presidency, in 1896.

At this moment, the eye of nearly every aspirant for the White House is anxiously turned toward Mr. Whitney. There is more than one substantial reason in the possession of the Herald why Mr. Whitney may be regarded as a probable nominee.

It will be necessary to a great many persons that Mr. Whitney and Mr. Cleveland are on terms of cordial friendship. Ever since the election of 1882 a popular election has been permitted to grow in the public mind, and the President and Mr. Whitney were not on the basis of intimacy which characterized their intercourse of former years.

Stories were circulated in detail, giving alleged reports of serious disagreements, and these were permitted by both gentlemen to be passed by as if they were very much of no denial was made of the mischief makers to believe that they have struck a bonanza of discord.

Now comes the statement from more than one source that Mr. Whitney has made up his mind that if Mr. Whitney desires the nomination next year he will have the quiet support of the national convention. Mr. Cleveland has repeatedly been said, does not desire a fourth nomination of a third term, but he desires to party take to the strongest man of the date, and one who will be of service to the party on issues which he can appreciate.

Mr. Whitney's position in this presidential campaign is not to be misunderstood. The former Secretary of the Navy can in no sense be regarded as a candidate for the nomination. He has been used to the nomination of Mr. Whitney as a candidate, but he has met all such suggestions with the statement that political success was distant, and that he would not enter on any struggle for the honor.

BLOOD IN HOLMES'S CASTLE

IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES MADE BY THE CHICAGO DETECTIVES.

With It—Minute Williams's Trunks Found in Quinlan's Possession—Emeline Clarendon at Dwigth.

Chicago, August 6.—Human blood was found yesterday in Holmes's castle by the Chicago detectives. Science aided detectives Fitzpatrick and Norton where other agencies had failed, and uncovered more startling evidence against H. Holmes and Pat Quinlan than has been heretofore found in the "castle."

KILLED FATHER AND SON. The Double Crime Committed By W. N. Lane While Drunk.

Versailles, Ky., August 6.—Yesterday afternoon W. N. Lane, a fence dealer of Lexington, Ky., shot and killed James Rodney, his father, and his son, James Rodney, at the Hotel Woodford, at the Hotel Woodford, at the Hotel Woodford, at the Hotel Woodford.

Early in the morning Lane arrived from Lexington, Ky., and went to the Hotel Woodford, where he was the proprietor, for a room in which to sleep off his drink. Shortly thereafter he returned to his room, and addressing H. Rodney, said: "The room you gave me is not fit for a hog."

A SHORT CAMPAIGN. In spite of the early convention of the Republicans it is probable that the people of Indianapolis will not have to go through a very long campaign.

But while it is much too early for the opening of the city campaign—which ought to be as brief as possible—it is not too early to remind the people of Indianapolis that they are not called upon to elect a President this year.

It is announced that France is anxious to negotiate an arbitration treaty with the United States, and that the Chamber of Deputies has unanimously passed a resolution looking to the accomplishment of such a result.

Another dry Sunday in New York. The next Legislature will either not pass any laws or will pass laws of a character so bad that Theodore Roosevelt is not up to a position to enforce them.

It will succeed in running electric trains at 150 miles an hour if it is found that it will then be even more difficult to catch a train than it is now.

Lucy Hamlin Banner, well known in the social circles of Indianapolis, writes Loring & Co., thus: "I was invalid for eight years. My trouble was fatty degeneration of the heart, complicated with rheumatism. Meantime, I steadily grew fat until I had increased from 118 to 168 lbs. Dr. Remy prescribed Dr. Edison's Pills and Salt, and in six weeks they reduced my weight forty-five pounds, and cured me of my chronic rheumatism."

Dr. Edison's Obesity Pills, Salt and Bands reduced me nine inches in a month.

Obesity, which sends you of champagne, and helps you to grow thin; is used in connection with the pills or bands or both. One teaspoonful of a tumbler of water makes a delicious soda.

The price is fifty cents a bottle. Six bottles for $4.00. Enough for one month. Address Loring & Co., 37 and 39 South Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Our regular Obesity Bands, any size up to thirty-six inches, are $2.50 each extra for each additional inch in length.

Send for "How to Cure Obesity." GEORGE H. HEARSEY & CO., keeps Dr. Edison's Obesity Pills, Obesity Fruit Salt and Bands, and supporting books in stock.

THE INDIANAPOLIS NEWS

before the campaign begins. The questions involved are not new. They have been for years the subject of discussion in this community. The people know what they want and what they ought to have. In the present case we believe they have reasonably clear ideas of what they may fairly expect.

Of course, nothing should be sacrificed in order to secure prompt settlement. Fortunately, the people are so well informed on the subject that they are in little danger of being deceived. They are not begging for favors, and if there is no disposition on the part of the street-car people to comply with what the public regards as the just demands of the city, the negotiation might as well be dropped at once and finally.

We believe that there is such a disposition, and that the city can secure it, not, indeed, everything it would like to have, but enough to make it worth while to accept the terms proposed. There should, of course, be an absolute renunciation on the part of the Citizens' company of its claim to a perpetual franchise, an agreement to pave between the tracks on all streets now or hereafter to be improved, and to pay for improvements already made on its right-of-way, some reduction of fares, and the payment of some proportion of the gross receipts to the city.

But the point which we desire to emphasize at this time is the desirability of immediate action. The questions involved in this negotiation should not be allowed to enter into the campaign at all. They have no legitimate place there. Already there is talk of the supposed wisdom of waiting for the new administration. That will be the plea of every local politician and "heeler" who is looking forward to the campaign as his harvest time. It would be a great thing for men of that stamp to have their street car issue thrown into our city election. But there is not one legitimate argument for delay—neither the argument from necessity. The city authorities and the representatives of the street car interests can get together this week and, if there is an honest purpose on both sides to come to an agreement, an ordinance can be prepared, submitted to the Council and passed by that body before the Democratic convention meets and the campaign opens. This issue will be eliminated from the election to the great advantage of all concerned except those men who make their living out of politics.

If the questions were new and unfamiliar to the people of Indianapolis the case would be different. But they are not new. They have been exhaustively discussed in all their phases. There is no excuse for ignorance, and no need for further enlightenment. The people and their government are both fully informed. No good can be accomplished by delay, though much harm may result from it. Therefore we insist that an agreement should be reached at the earliest possible moment, and that, if the agreement is satisfactory, it be ratified at once.

That sort of thing would be safe to say in pretty nearly nine cases out of ten. So far from feeling that a disparagement of the West particularly, was intended, The News knows that there is bad art in the East as well as in the West. There is bad art in Europe, and much of it. (Yes, there is bad art in the city of Paris, and much too much of it. No criticism of the average soldier's monument, in most cases with the figure of the private soldier with drooping musketeer leaning on his musket, repeated, is too severe, it is not impossible, that there are more just monuments in the West than in the East. That would be natural. There are more people here. What we resented was that the Weekly should simply assume from its knowledge of General Wallace in one particular that whatever he might say in another particular would be correct, and that as a matter of course the monument at Indianapolis belonged in the category of the artistic abortions that cumber the earth all over this land of the free and home of the brave.

We think we did rightly too in criticizing the Weekly's lack of information as to the monument here. We noted, however, that it had good company, but in that we could find no palliation. It is not that we resent a specific criticism. It is that we resent generalizations. When Hamlin Garland talked of a Western literature and of Eastern publishers being prejudiced against Western writers, The News condemned such outwitted an unscrupulous man, and yet a similar injustice the Weekly committed in its criticism of the monument here. If the idea that this people is homogeneous, that it is not heterogeneous, that instead of one center of civilization with all the remainder of the land as provinces, there are many centers of civilization and such a steady diffusion of light as exists in no other land in the world, were entertained at Eastern centers of civilization and by Eastern exponents of it, it would be a true idea and one that would enable esteemed contemporaries like the Weekly to look for things as they are and not attempt to construct a particular case out of a generalization.

CUBA MAKING PROGRESS. Another week passed without any serious interruptions to the progress of the Cubans in their war for independence. They continue to hold their own where they have not scored new successes. A few days ago the Cubans in New York established headquarters in that city, and from other points in the United States have come reports indicating that the friends of the movement in this country were greatly encouraged. Now, that General Campos has forbidden any news to be sent out which has not been passed upon by the Spanish authorities, it will be more difficult henceforth to get trustworthy information as to the progress of the rebellion. The Spanish soldiers, particularly those who went to Cuba with Campos a few months ago, are suffering greatly from the climate. spoorily fed from supplies brought from Spain or Porto Rico, the Cubans, with their intimate acquaintance with the products of the country, are able to fight cheerfully on bananas, guavas and the like, gathered as they need them. The latest estimate of the number of Cubans under arms places the number at 35,000. Spain has made another call upon her reserves, and more troops are to be dispatched to Campos. The war is proving a costly venture to the home government, which is already notoriously bankrupt. Two futile efforts have just been made to negotiate a new loan. It is said to be the intention of the Cubans to establish some form of government as soon as possible. Of course, until they do this, and give some signs of civil stability, they can not hope to be recognized as belligerents by foreign powers.

Embassador Bayard is reported from England as saying, according to the London Times, that the office of the President was one of great dignity, responsibility, and anxiety—in which there is nothing new. Further, that the President meets in the midst of a storm, self-confident and sometimes violent people—in which, further, it might be said, there is nothing new. But he added that it took a real man to govern the people of this country. Since when did any man govern the people of the United States? The crown does not even govern in England. It reigns, but does not govern. The people in England govern themselves. There has just been an example of it in their turning out one Ministry and putting in another. So entire is the reality that the Ministry in England is not called a Ministry, as it is on the continent. It is called the "government." To talk of the President of the United States governing is a topographical waddle. If Mr. Bayard meets in that sort of thing, he is what Hamble the head called the law—"The law is an ass," said Bumble the head.

Whether there is any outlook for a betterment of the telephone situation in the matter of prices and the sort of thing that comes from the competition of another company, there is one thing that the city can do to protect itself.

French and Belgian carrier pigeons were recently used from stationer leaving St. Nazaire, the first batch, released seventy-five miles from land, though the birds were not seen until they were taken up by the shore at once.

Signor Anasadi, a student, blind from birth, who was with high honor from the Florence Institute de Studi Superiori, the school for post-graduate university students, was recently blind in the United States, a patent having been taken out for this manufacture in 1877.

Dr. Edison's Obesity Pills, Salt and Bands Will Make You Thin.

Summer is peculiarly distressing and dangerous to fat people, who are very liable to disease in the warm months.

Edwin Sterling Strong, Indianapolis's popular elocutionist, who has been four years ago to get fat, I got up to 181, and at the same time contracted painful kidney disease.

Lucy Hamlin Banner, well known in the social circles of Indianapolis, writes Loring & Co., thus: "I was invalid for eight years. My trouble was fatty degeneration of the heart, complicated with rheumatism. Meantime, I steadily grew fat until I had increased from 118 to 168 lbs. Dr. Remy prescribed Dr. Edison's Pills and Salt, and in six weeks they reduced my weight forty-five pounds, and cured me of my chronic rheumatism."

Dr. Edison's Obesity Pills, Salt and Bands reduced me nine inches in a month.

Obesity, which sends you of champagne, and helps you to grow thin; is used in connection with the pills or bands or both. One teaspoonful of a tumbler of water makes a delicious soda.

The price is fifty cents a bottle. Six bottles for $4.00. Enough for one month. Address Loring & Co., 37 and 39 South Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Our regular Obesity Bands, any size up to thirty-six inches, are $2.50 each extra for each additional inch in length.

Send for "How to Cure Obesity." GEORGE H. HEARSEY & CO., keeps Dr. Edison's Obesity Pills, Obesity Fruit Salt and Bands, and supporting books in stock.

Also, A. KIEPPEL & CO., wholesale and retail, 111 North Pennsylvania St., Indianapolis, Ind., Dept. A, 113 State Street.

COKE REDUCED TO 60c per bushel. 80 for Crushed, per bushel. Write to be had at 25 North Pennsylvania Street. INDIANAPOLIS GAS CO.

I find the ROYAL BAKING POWDER superior to all the others in every respect. It is purest and strongest. WALTER S. HAINES, M. D., Consulting Chemist, Chicago Board of Health.

A NOBLE FIGHT.

AN EMINENT SOUTHERN LAWYER'S LONG CONFLICT WITH DISEASE.

Twenty-five Years of Prosperity, Adversity and Suffering. The Great Victory Won by Science Over a Stubborn Disease.

(From the Atlanta, Ga., Constitution.)

Foremost among the best known lawyers and farmers of North Carolina stands Col. Isaac A. Suggs, of Greenville. Mr. Suggs has resided in Greenville 22 years. While nearly every one in Pitt Co. knows Mr. Suggs' history, perhaps all do not know of his return to business again after an illness of 16 years. No man has gone through more than he, and lived. It was a case of the entire breaking down of the nervous system, attended by excruciating agonizing, unendurable pain. Opium and stimulants only relieved temporarily, and all treatments failed him. Only his love of family and friends prevented suicide. He held a report of the following interesting story:

"I kept at my work as long as I could but nature gave way at last and I succumbed to the inevitable. My entire nervous system had been shattered by the stimulants and opium I had taken, my blood had actually turned to water, my weight had dropped from 175 pounds to 125, and it seemed as if every day that I lived was a day of suffering. I could not bear the gentle hand of my wife to bathe my limbs with tepid water. I was simply living from hour to hour. I had made my will, settled my business and waited for the last strand of life to snap.

It was at this time that a somewhat similar case of my own was brought to my notice. This man had suffered very much as I had, his life had been despaired of as mine had, and yet he had been cured. The doctor that had cured him was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I investigated the matter thoroughly and found that it was true in detail. Then I procured some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began taking them and began to get better. I began to sleep like a healthy child, sound, calm and peaceful. My appetite came back and my nerves were soothed and restored to their normal condition and I felt like a new man. But the greatest blessing was the mental improvement. I began to read and digest, to formulate new plans, to take interest in my law practice, which I began to mean to me as soon as my clients realized that I was again myself. After a lapse of 10 years I ride horse back every day without fatigue.

"That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life is beyond doubt, and I am spreading their praise far and wide."

Inquiry about the town of Greenville substantiated the above facts of Col. Suggs' case, and that many others are being benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

PIAZZA CONVERSATION AND WHAT IT GENERALLY CONSISTS OF.

How To Make a Rose-Jar—A Woman's Plan To Keep Her Beauty—Busy—The Summer Girl's Idea—Apple Mary and Her Basket.

Philadelphia Times. The season is at its height at the various resorts, the long rows of rocking-chairs, the piazzas, and the word as to the conversation of the occupants of those chairs. Conversation, what crimes are committed in this name! The writer speaks with feeling, alas! too long a course of piazza banalities is not calculated to moderate one's speech.

Fancy them, oh, stay-at-homes; a group of women on a piazza of a morning. "What an opportunity," says little Mary, the red-headed Western exclamation, to discuss books, to broaden one's ideas, to talk over the last chapter of the engrossing serial. What a chance to brighten "one's" wits, to exchange thoughts—one would come home a different creature!"

Mistaken little housewife, unless indeed, more fortunate than her scribbling sister. For example, with bits of fancy work in their jeweled fingers, matrons, young and old, huddle together, gathered from East, West, North and South, sit away on their wicker rockers. Here, thinks the looker-on, is a golden opportunity. Let the crude Western exclaim, let the Eastern sister, some of the charming attributes, which, added to her own bright intellect, would make her a delightful converser with. But, no; some what aggressive, made so, perhaps, by the rude Western exclamation, she continues to roll her 'r's, refuses to modulate her voice, indulges in Western slang, and breaks into a fit of nervous or self-centered woman, on the other hand, nothing good for the Western sister, and quite fails to realize that the freshness of that whose some match combined with the repose that stamps the cast of Vere de Vere, which is added to her own refinement, to her now somewhat too conventional personality.

The Northern woman criticizes the Southern woman for her lack of good-habits, totally unconscious that the Southern woman, who wears a wreath of the fresh to all about her, secretly envies the pretty, drawing accent and the delicate fingers of the Southern woman, who is not one whit nor strives to soften a single syllable.

The Southern woman? She rocks languidly with a grace all her own, minus the nervousness of the Northern woman, who is not one whit nor strives to soften a single syllable. She rocks languidly with a grace all her own, minus the nervousness of the Northern woman, who is not one whit nor strives to soften a single syllable.

Apple Mary's Basket. Among all the thousands of fond parents and sweet girl graduates perhaps not a happier woman can be found than "Apple Mary." Every newspaper man in Chicago knows her. For twenty-five years "Apple Mary" (her name is Mary Cuneo) has braved the weather and climbed long flights of stairs carrying her basket containing from sixty to seventy-five pounds of fruit. Graduation week brought her to the realization of what she had patiently labored for for years. She had a basket full of fruit, and she was ready to go to the graduation exercises at the North Clinton, Ind., and she was valedictorian of the class.

THE SUMMER GIRL'S IDEA. This was a ducky bit of a summer girl, and the case in the case should have been equal to the occasion. It is really remarkable how many unequal men there are in cases of this kind. He had dutifully guided her into a charming spot overlooking a sweet little view of the valley from a shady nook on the mountain-side, hedged in by pine-trees, and a willow rose; and there he sat gazing at her with that peculiar look of rapturous admiration for a young man in a pink shirt and tan shoes to assume.

THE DUELLO IN INDIANA.

WITH SOME REMINISCENCES OF PUBLIC MEN AND EVENTS.

BY W. H. H. TERRELL.

JOHN ABRAM HENDRICKS—JOHN LYLE KING.

In the year 1817 a difficulty occurred between John Lyle King and John Abram Hendricks, a Madian, which considerably agitated that city. The latter gentleman had been commissioned a captain in the United States army. He had joined his command and had proceeded as far as Matamoros, in Mexico, whence it was recalled to the seat of war at that point Captain Hendricks, on account of ill health, as he alleged, resigned his commission, before his company had participated in any active service, and returned to Madison, Ky., at that time, was a correspondent of the Indianapolis Journal over the signature of "Ion," and in one of his letters published in that paper referred to the captain's resignation and return in terms which the latter thought susceptible of questionable imputations, and to which he responded in the Madison Banner, denouncing "Ion" as a liar and coward. "Ion," still maintaining his innocence, replied in a bitter and defiant tone, and declared that his real name was not "Ion," but "John King," and that he was the same man who had been associated together in Madison. They were of about the same age and mingled in the same social circles; they had both just entered the legal profession in the eyes of their friends, gave promise of distinction at the bar; and, as King was a Whig and Hendricks a Democrat, they were not only rivals in the rivalry of ambition, they would be future competitors for some of the prizes of politics, as well as for some of the honors of the law.

How To Make a Rose-Jar. This recipe for a rose jar was originally given me by an English woman, and I have since followed it very successfully. There is a refreshing individuality about our dainty chemistries wrought at home never found in those purchased. The work is light and delightful. Gather the petals every morning and let them lie in some cool place for about an hour, then wash them over occasionally with your pass by. Then they are ready to place in some large covered dish in layers, with salt sprinkled between.

How She Keeps Baby Busy. The idea that the members of the Professional Women's League are entirely unacquainted with practical child-rearing is simply because they reverse the ordinary grasshopper method, by dancing, i. e., writing, is destroyed by some of their club members. A housewife, highly profited by some of the experiences of observant actresses.

Both Averse To Interference. At the corner of Fourth avenue and Sixth street, a lady from Glenwood entered a crowded outgoing car. The conductor knew who she was, and that she resided in Glenwood. He suspected that she had made a mistake, and that she thought she was on a Second avenue car, so he crowded up the aisle and politely inquired: "Where are you going, lady?" "That's my business," she tartly replied.

Religion Stamped on Him. A man upon whom religion had left its mark ineffectually was observed at Ellis Island recently. He was one of a number of French immigrants brought before the commissioner for examination. He was a tall, handsome young man, a skilled iron-worker. Attention was drawn to his personal appearance by the fact that he wore his thick hair brushed down over his forehead, and he protested that they only tried to get his hair to stand up. He was reluctantly compelled to leave them, and returned home to his family for "ten days' vacation," but unable to endure the ridicule to which he had unwittingly subjected himself, he soon exercised up his effects and left the country.

PHILO RUMSEY—JOHN EDSALL. A ridiculous affair happened at Ft. Wayne many years ago, which is thus related by one of the old inhabitants of that city: "A grand, old-fashioned ball was given to which Mr. Philo Rumsey escorted a beautiful, but unexpecting, young lady, expecting, of course, to have an enjoyable time in her company. Alas! that uncertain as the hopes of Rumsey's felicity! Much to the surprise of the gallant escort, upon entering the dancing-room, his fair companion was unceremoniously 'captured' by a dashing young interloper, John Edsall, by name, who, having no partner of his own, led the bewildered captive out upon the floor and continued to dance with her through several successive sets, until, with indignation and fired by jealousy, Rumsey could restrain himself no longer. Tapping the impudent disturber of his happiness on the shoulder, he said angrily, 'What do you mean by that? You are supposed to be my partner, and you are dancing with another woman!'"

Wheels in His Head. Cleveland Plaindealer. "And now," shouted the exhorter, "let it be done when a man is running headlong, with lightning speed, along the road to destruction—let it be done when Jones (the runner) is under the size of 'y' arrowhead! She's too high again!"

Only rounded spoonfuls are required—not heaping spoonfuls.

A CITY OF NEGROES. Eatonville, Fla., Has No Whites in Its Rather Limited Population. Eatonville, Fla., is a city of 1000 people, in Florida. It is composed of only 400 or 500 people, but it is growing. Its peculiarity is that only negroes live there, while a near-by settlement, called Maitland, is composed exclusively of whites. This arrangement seems to be mutually satisfactory. Eatonville is the labor emporium for all the surrounding region. When not employed by others, the Eatonville negroes work for themselves. Each house has a lot of one-acre acre, which after the house is built, is planted with orange trees or with garden vegetables. No public are needed there, and the people all seem to be making money. Their vegetables meet a ready sale all through the sections, where there is a large negro population. The negroes all know Eatonville as a place where the colored people own everything, and they give its products their preference. A large school for colored children at Jacksonville has recently been removed to Eatonville. As this school educates 800 children, it will double the population of the city, and will add greatly to its prosperity. An Eatonville art school was established this winter, at which thirty colored students took lessons in drawing and painting.

DR. HOWARD EMANUEL CHAMBERS. A bloodless "meeting" took place in Frankfort, Ky., on the 25th inst. at the residence of Cedar Grove, about 189, between an impetuous, high-metled physician named Howard and Emanuel Chambers, the latter being a lawyer. The meeting was a practical joke, and as peacefully disposed as a Quaker. Offended at some prank or other perpetrated by Chambers, the doctor charged him to discontinue his practice, and to give up his law. Chambers, in reply, said that he would fight a duel. Nothing could have suited Chambers better; rifles were chosen, and the meeting was held at a place called "The Point," where the doctor had braced his nerves with a few "snorts" of old rye, and the obfuscation caused thereby gave the seconds an opportunity to play into Chambers' hands by charging the guns without balls.

THE MARKETS ON TUESDAY

INDIANAPOLIS AND CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Provisions, Wheat, Corn and Other Speculative Stocks—Brokers' Gossip and Comments—Local Jobbing Prices.

The wheat market to-day was a narrow one, with local orders doing most of the business. The "passage" statement showed a large decrease, nearly 40,000 bushels, for the week, but cables came lower, disposing of the crop scarce news from Germany and France. Clearances out of the country were small.

Corn was again weak, closing weak. Oats were weak on continued liquidation. Provisions dull, and inclined toward lower prices.

More Spree Wheat. An unusually large amount of wheat has been favored to promote the growth of wheat in the Northwest. With this exception about two weeks in the latter part of July, it has been exceptionally favorable during the entire season.
