THAT WHITE HOUSE DINNER. Gen. Wright Tells of Booker T. Washington's Luncheon. MEMPHIS, November 25.—Booker Washington did not dine at the White House as the guest of President Roosevelt and family, as has been previously charged. This is the announcement made by Gen. M. J. Wright, who says: "President Roosevelt had been anxious for some time to obtain a truthful light on the situation in the South. Finally, at the suggestion of the auditor of the Southern and Northern men of both parties, he sent a message to Booker T. Washington, asking him to come to the capital for a conference regarding the negro. Washington came, and the conference, which was started by the president in his office and was changed to his private office because of repeated interruptions, continued for five hours.

ANTI-SMOOT RESOLUTIONS. Ministerial Alliance will Try to Keep Mormon Out of Senate. SALT LAKE CITY, November 25.—The Ministerial Alliance of Salt Lake adopted resolutions strongly opposing the proposition to elect the auditor of the United States of Reed Smoot, one of the twelve apostles of the Mormon church. A copy of the resolutions will be sent to every ministerial alliance of prominence in the country at once, and also probably to President Roosevelt, every Congressman and United States Senator and others prominent in politics. The resolutions say the campaign in favor of Smoot is an effort to uple church and state and the majority of his supporters are polygamists.

ELKHART BUILDING SITE. Treasury Department Selects Lot at Main and Jackson Streets. [Special to The Indianapolis News.] WASHINGTON, November 25.—The Secretary of the Treasury has selected the lot at the corner of Main and Jackson streets, Elkhart, as the site for the new Federal building. Two delegations from Elkhart, one from the different sites, visited Washington, and both sides were heard.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE. In Store for Those Who Doubt. When you read that a sufferer of many years standing has been completely restored to health by Smith's Cure, you are inclined to doubt the statement. The fact, however, is that it is true. It is claimed for the Cure—all it is impossible to confine his claims to it; if the advertiser could not see the good effect from testimonials as to its merit, why he relied upon implicitly, also that the cures brought about by the Cure are of a marvelous nature. The genuineness of the testimonials here given is vouched for, and is but one of thousands of others. I had a friend who had been cured by the Cure, and he thought I would try it, as I had not. I got the Cure and gave it to my friend. He had been cured by the Cure, and he thought I would try it, as I had not. I got the Cure and gave it to my friend. He had been cured by the Cure, and he thought I would try it, as I had not. I got the Cure and gave it to my friend.

IN DR. MILBURN'S CHURCH. Semi-Centennial of Plymouth Congregational Church, Chicago. [Special to The Indianapolis News.] CHICAGO, November 25.—The congregation of the Plymouth Congregational Church will celebrate its fifty-first anniversary next Sunday. In 1827 forty-eight anti-slavery advocates organized the Plymouth Congregational church. The only living founder of Plymouth church is Mrs. Zephania Eastman, now eighty-three years old, whose husband was prominent in the councils of the church in the stirring days of the slavery agitation. He was a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln.

News Want Ads. One Cent a Word. The Delineator Girl can be picked out from an assemblage at the first glance—by a woman. Men only know she is more smartly gowned than the rest. "The something about her" is what makes the smart costume smart, and mere men are not supposed to know just what that is. Many women do not. But the "DELINEATOR GIRL" knows, from the tips of her dainty buttocks to her hat, that crowning touch; the chances are that she trimmed it herself—at any rate she knows how to. Would you like to see what a "DELINEATOR GIRL" looks like? "Just get The Delineator."

TRACEWELL WOULD ACCEPT JUDGESHIP

Treasury's Comptroller, However, Is Not a Candidate for Judge Baker's Place.

A HARRISON COUNTY MAN

Tracewell Has Made a Record in His Present Position, and is Popular with Hoosiers at Washington.

[By James P. Hornaday, Staff Correspondent.] WASHINGTON, November 25.—Of the Indians conspicuous in office at the national capital, Robert J. Tracewell, of Corydon, Ind., Comptroller of the Treasury, has the best record known to him better than Indiana, for his public services have nearly all been performed here, and, for the most part, have been of such character as not to attract attention in his own State. It would be pleasing news to his friends here to hear that he had been appointed judge of the United States District Court to succeed John H. Baker, at Indianapolis. If the appointment does come to him, it will be unthought, for he is not a candidate for the place, and will ask for it.

TO HARRISON COUNTY.

Mr. Tracewell is in the prime of life. He is fifty years old last May. He was born in Virginia. At the age of two years he went with his parents to Harrison county, Indiana, and ever since that time the county has been his home. In 1874 he was a graduate from Hanover college, and immediately entered his father's law office at Corydon.

ROBBERED FREIGHT CAR.

Baney denied being in Chicago at the time the woman said she saw him. Mr. Parker in his investigation found that the man from whom Baney's brother-in-law, from there it was sold; the money was divided among the three and Baney took $2 more than his share.

WHITNEY IN DEATH CELL.

Mr. Parker did not rest with Baney, but had many talks with Guy Vantassel, and in prison. One day he had Vantassel taken to the death chamber, where room is bright and cheerful, with good furniture, and a Bible lying on a table.

WHITNEY'S CONFESSION WRITTEN IN A LETTER.

He said that he is the man who cut Hinshaw. "Kid" Whitney also made a confession. He was in the Indiana Reformatory at Jeffersonville, in June, 1920, and wrote Mr. Parker a letter, asking him to go to that place. Whitney's story is that Baney, Clarence Bruner and himself had arranged to rob a store at Plainfield, and there they robbed the Hinshaw house.

NOAH BANEY'S STORY INVESTIGATED CLOSELY.

Parker Believes the Convict's Account of the Murder Is True. The Noah Baney sensation had its run in the newspapers, and finally was lost to memory by all but one man. Mr. Hunt and Mr. Parker were taken to Belleville, Ill., where they were held in the murder was committed, showed how everything was placed, and told how the crime was committed, as detailed to him by the others.

IN DR. MILBURN'S CHURCH.

Two Judicial Appointments. WASHINGTON, November 25.—The President has decided to appoint Ashley M. Gould, United States district attorney for the District of Columbia as associate justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia to succeed the late Justice Bradley. He also has decided to appoint Francis M. Wright, of Illinois, to the vacancy on the Court of Claims, caused by the death of Judge Davis. He was endorsed by the Illinois congressional delegation.

But the man had not been in front of the place was a four-horse truck, and Mr. Parker was pleased to find that the man he was looking for was the man for whom he was searching, and who had left it in charge of an agent to be sold. It took another day to find the agent, and then Mr. Parker learned that the truck was in the lot, and there he went.

Hub Deep in Mud in Washington Street

A Sight that Was Common Years Ago, but that is Rather Unusual Now—in a Trench.

Years ago it was not such an uncommon thing for a wagon to get mired in Washington street, but the sight of one "stuck" near the curb in the city's principal thoroughfare, between Meridian and Pennsylvania streets, yesterday afternoon, was so unusual that it attracted a crowd. The wagon had sunk to the hubs in the trench where the merchant Heat and Light Company's pipes and conduits have been laid. The asphalt covering for the trench has not been replaced and the rain had made the mud tenacious.
