Unique Pipe Laying. The Superior Water, Light and Power company have been engaged for several months in the work of extending the Superior to Lake Superior for water. The entire distance from the pump station to the crib, which rests in forty feet of water in Lake Superior, is 855 feet, and 3,920 feet outside of Minnesota Point. The entire 2,950 feet of pipe was jointed above the surface of the water and hung suspended in spaced slings. The object was to cut the slings and allow the entire section of more than half a mile to drop into the water.

It was not intended to attempt the feat for several days, but the approach of a northeaster hastened matters. The job was done hurriedly, but with distinguished success. When everything was in readiness the signal was given, and several of the slings were cut simultaneously. The great black tube, 10,000 tons weight, instantly broke away evenly and dropped squarely into position at the bottom of the lake.—Cor. St. Paul Pioneer Press.

"Perceptible Chill in the Air." The recent cold weather for the winter was begun Wednesday morning when the atmosphere was intensely frosty. The air was so full of frost that the appearance of a fog was given. The lowest point reached by the mercury in this city, and reported, was 40 degs. below zero. It required the thickest kind of clothing and vigorous exercise upon the part of pedestrians in the early morning hours to keep comfortable.

At Shirley it was 42 degs. below zero, 44 degs. at Edgington, 33 degs. at Sebec, and the same relative report comes from many other places in this vicinity. The weather was the chief topic of conversation. During the day it grew considerably warmer, but there was a very perceptible chill in the air, and late in the afternoon it was again quite cold. The night was very frigid.—Bangor Whig.

Big Book. An enormous volume, thrice as large as the bulkiest family Bible that ever existed, a massive tope of Bible in a country parlor, has reached the Capital. In gold letters on its broad back are the words, "History of Members, Second Session, Fifty-first Congress." In this book are recorded not the private history of members, but all their public acts. Every time a member votes, every time he introduces a bill or petition, and every time he is recorded as not voting or paired will be recorded in the huge book, and future biographers will find already prepared for their use a vast amount of data. If the size of the volume is any indication of its importance it ought to be preserved in a treasury vault.—Washington Post.

Lowell's Great Lawyer. Gen. Butler's voice is not so powerful as it used to be. In fact, it is difficult to hear him a dozen feet away, though he occasionally fires up and some of his old time force presents itself. He still relies considerably on the sympathy of the jury, especially when he is defending a comely woman. His method of arguing his case is the same in substance as it always has been. Plenty of wit and humor run through his speech, and these, with all the pathos his case will permit, continue to make his always eloquent plead more effective. His favorite attitude while addressing the jury is to brace his broad shoulders against the clerk's desk. His hands are deeply thrust into his pockets; he seldom gestures.—Boston Advertiser.

Rev. Dr. Edward A. Foggs, the venerable rector of Old Christ church (Episcopal) of Philadelphia, has tendered his resignation, to take effect on Oct. 1, 1891, that being the day on which he will terminate his thirty years' rectorship of the parish.

ADVERTISE

"It sometimes appears a doubtful experiment to many to enter into a yearly contract for advertising—not because they have judiciously tried it, and failed in securing desired results, but because they know nothing about it, but imagine they do, and their conclusions lead them to confidently assert it, doesn't pay." The farmer does not go into his field, sow the wheat, and go out the next day to reap the harvest. He cultivates the field, works weary months as a final reward secures a harvest. It's just so in advertising—you must sow seed, cultivate the field and irrigate the soil until the harvest comes. It is not one faint endeavor in advertising, but a series of repeated appeals that brings profit."

In other words, KEEP * EVERLASTINGLY AT * IT.
