

JAPANESE AIR ARMADA BOMBS CHINESE LINE

BLAST AWAY AT DEFENSES BETWEEN TAZANG AND KIANGWAN

AIDED BY GROUND FORCES

Nippon Artillery and Infantry Assist Planes in Terrific Assault On Chinese Line

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26, (UP)—Almost dropping from exhaustion, Japanese officers directing the offensive against Shanghai pushed on toward their objective today, meeting Chinese resistance with grim determination.

The heavy attack conducted yesterday swept the Shanghai battle front beyond this peaceful countryside, where Gen. Kenkichi Ueyea and his staff officers have kept to their posts without sleep for more than 60 hours.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26, (UP)—Japanese sent a sensational armada of bombing planes against the Chinese air forces at Hangchow today, and claimed to have destroyed 14 enemy planes while infantry and artillery battered away at the Chinese line between Tazang and Kiangwan.

The Nipponese bombing fleet numbered 25, including heavy, comparatively slow moving bombers, and their fleet convoy of lead spitting pursuit and battle planes.

It was a battle fleet to rival many seen in action during the World war.

Three Chinese planes were shot down during the sensational air battle over the Hangchow airport, the Japanese claimed. Eleven other Chinese planes were destroyed by bombs, they claimed.

The airport, southwest of Shanghai, is the Chinese air base, and the Japanese claimed they had destroyed the entire Chinese concentration of fighting planes.

The personnel casualties among the Chinese are not known. If other Americans, such as Robert Short shot down in a sensational air battle a few days ago among the Chinese at Hangchow, they may be among the latest victims of the Japanese air force.

TOKIO, Feb. 26, (UP)—The British, United States, French and Italian ambassadors asked the government today not to land Japanese reinforcements at the international settlement in Shanghai.

The request was made directly to foreign minister Kenkichi Yoshizawa. It was understood that the ambassadors also expressed the wish that Chinese and Japanese forces withdraw from Chapei and a neutral zone be formed around the settlement.

SUES ON NOTE ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN STOLEN

Suit to collect a note of $500 either destroyed or stolen from the plaintiff, has been filed in circuit court by the Roachdale Bank, administrator of the estate of Paulina A. Barker, against Will V. Barker, Columbus Barker and William Hynton. A demand of $650 is made by the plaintiff bank through its attorney Charles McGaughey of this city.

The plaintiff charges that the note, executed April 5, 1924 by the defendants and made payable to Morgan Barker, husband of the deceased, was duly inventoried and duly appraised as part of the assets of the Paulina A. Barker estate. The note is alleged to have disappeared on or about January 16, 1932.

YOUNG MAN SHOOTS SELF AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT

INDIANA HARBOR, Ind., Feb. 26, (UP)—A young man alighted from his automobile after a slight collision with another car today, drew a revolver from his pocket and put a bullet in his head, dying instantly.

Papers in his pockets identified him as Harold McCoy, supposedly of Canton, O.

Police were mystified by the suicide and an automatic rifle and quantity of ammunition found in the machine added to the puzzle. The automobile had been purchased in Hammond, Ind., where the man gave his address as 2113 Mahoney Road, Canton, O., or general delivery, Whiting, Ind. A police check showed there was no such address in Canton as given.

Three Killed As Auto Hits Train

PROMINENT HAMMOND ATTOR- NEY AND TWO WOMEN VIC- TIMS OF CRASH

HAMMOND, Ind., Feb. 26, (UP)—Three persons, one of them a prominent Hammond attorney, were killed today when their auto crashed into a moving Grand Trunk freight train southwest of here.

The dead: George Eder, 45, Hammond attorney.

Mrs. Mae Behrens, Hammond.

Mrs. Catherine Clark, Hammond.

Trainmen were unaware of the accident until the train stopped at Chicago an hour after the accident occurred and found wreckage of the auto on the train.

Eder was driving the auto. His family said he and the two women were returning from Cedar Lake after taking a sister of one of the women to her home.

Pieces of the Eder auto were strewn along the track for a distance of 300 feet and the mangled bodies of the victims were thrown onto the right-of-way.

FAINT GLOW OF HOPE FOR PEACE SEEN

HINTS REACH U. S. THAT JAPAN WOULD LIKE TO END SHANG- HAI TROUBLE

WANT DEFINITE VICTORY FIRST

Tokio Sources Indicate Japanese Will Favor Peace If Chinese Will Give Up Shanghai

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26, (UP)—A faint glow of hope for peace was seen by officials here today beyond the bloom and smoke now enveloping Shanghai.

Very definite hints are reaching the state department that Japan would like to end the vexing Shanghai embroglio, but perhaps not until some semblance of victory has rested on Japanese arms.

To obtain the victory, Tokio is sending to China one of its outstanding soldiers, Gen. Yoshinori Shirakawa, and enough reinforcements to total about 45,000 troops. Shirakawa is a full general and supreme war councilor.

If Japan defeats the Chinese army at Shanghai, Japanese sources indicate, Tokio will be glad to consider a proposal to end hostilities and establish a neutral zone, internationally policed, about the city. This would be in line with the British-American peace proposals rejected by Tokio several weeks ago.

American officials are cognizant of one grave danger—that Japanese may force Chinese soldiers toward the international settlement and thus risk involving western troops in the actual fighting. Every effort, it is said, will be made by the foreign soldiers and diplomats to avoid such a disaster.

VISIT SCENE OF SUICIDE

It was estimated today that about 2,000 people have visited the river bank near the White River bridge, where W. F. Cassidy of this town is believed to have leaped to his death sometime Wednesday night. Leaving his topcoat and hat on the bridge it is thought that he leaped from the pier to the water 30 feet below.

Hundreds of people have joined in the search of the river bank and the water, while literally thousands have gathered on the bridge or the north bank of the river to watch operations. —Spencer World.

Dr. Oxnam complimented the team highly for their success, stressing the fact that the squad was undefeated on the home floor this winter. Needless to say the dismissal of the classes for the rest of the week made a big hit.

THE WEATHER

Generally fair and continued mild tonight and Saturday.

Claim Fly Paper Soaked In Water Fatal To Youth

CHICAGO WOMAN ON TRIAL AS SUSPECT IN UNIQUE POISON CASE

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (UP)—A unique death plot in which flypaper poison was employed was claimed today by state witnesses in the trial of Mrs. Margaret Summers, 48, on murder charges.

She is charged with poisoning her nephew Thomas Meyer, 16, with arsenic in order to obtain his insurance.

Medical testimony had showed the youth died on chronic arsenic poisoning but the state had been unable to discover that Mrs. Summers had access to any quantity of arsenic.

By chance state attorneys learned two witnesses had purchased fly paper sheets for the defendant during last March and April. The boy died in May.

The contention was advanced immediately at the trial that a fatal dose of arsenic could have been obtained from the flypaper, each sheet of which placed in water would form a weak arsenic solution.

The defense pointed out statements printed on the flypaper packages that ill effects would not result from drinking the water in which the paper had been soaked. This was countered with an argument that physicians claimed the youth died from chronic poisoning and that repeated doses of the solution would have been sufficient to bring death.

PROTEST IS REGISTERED BY RUSSIA

SOVIET AROUSED OVER AL- LEGED NIPPON PLANS FOR TROOP MOVEMENTS

WHITE ARMY CHARGE MADE

Russian Government Asks Official Report on Reported Plans Of Japanese Forces

MOSCOW, Feb. 26, (UP)—The Soviet army is ready to spring to the defense of Russia's frontiers against any attempt at intervention by czarist Russians or foreign powers, Gen. Vassily Blucher, commander in chief of the special far eastern army, told a mass meeting of government leaders at Khabarovsk.

Blucher made his address on the anniversary of the Red army on Feb. 22. The text of the address received here today revealed the tensely patriotic state of mind in the Soviet region bordering on Manchuria.

The Soviet standing army numbers more than a half million. Its reserves number four and a half millions.

MOSCOW, Feb. 26, (UP)—The Soviet government has expressed sharp dissatisfaction with Japanese plans to transport troops to points on the Soviet-Manchurian frontier and with alleged Japanese support of anti-Soviet white Russian activities, it was revealed today.

The press at the same time charged Japan was organizing a white Russian army to attack Soviet forces at Vladivostok.

Leo Karakhan, assistant commissar of foreign affairs, asked Japanese ambassador Hirota for confirmation and explanation of four reports:

That the Japanese command at Harbin intended to transport troops to the Soviet front.

That the command proposed to reduce fares for soldiers transported over the Chinese Eastern Railway.

That Russian enemies were increasingly active under Japanese protection and support.

The nature of the proposed independent state of Manchuria.

The Soviet press charged that the Japanese were organizing the white Russian army to attack points at the end of the Chinese Eastern railroad while the Japanese themselves attacked the other end.

ALL ASSESSORS WILL MEET IN COURT HOUSE

TO FIX ASSESSING SCHEDULES AND GET FINAL INSTRU- CTIONS TUESDAY

All township assessors and their deputies will meet in the courthouse next Tuesday for their final meeting before beginning the 1932 assessment work in this county. County Assessor Charles Marshall stated Friday that all assessors would attend the meeting.

Schedules for the 1932 assessment of personal property will be made out by the assessors in an effort to equalize the assessments over the county. Assessors already have been instructed to assess real estate at its "true cash value" as the law requires. This is expected to result in the forty per cent reduction demanded by farm organizations over the entire state. City property also is expected to drop in assessed valuation this year.

Inasmuch as the assessors will appraise real estate and assess its value, every effort has been made to make them thoroughly familiar with property values. Due to the fact that most of the township assessors are farmers themselves, they will endeavor to fix the assessments satisfactorily.

Property owners who feel that assessors have not assessed them fairly may take their assessments up with the county board of review which meets in June for the purpose of hearing complaints and equalizing assessments over the county.

Farmers have been invited to attend the meeting next Tuesday to help fix the schedules for personal property but it is believed few will attend due to the fact that very little complaint has been made in this county on personal property assessments.

In 1923 the London Daily News sent him to Spain as special correspondent at the time of the coup d'etat there. He lived there one year and has since returned to make Spain his home when he is not on lecture tours. Langdon-Davies has been a candidate for parliament in the Epsum division of Surrey.

This is the fourth year for the Rector fellowship awards which were begun in 1929 and supplemented the Rector scholarships which are awarded high school graduates for undergraduate work.

Mayors Meeting At Martinsville

ORGANIZE FOR PURPOSE OF OBTAINING UTILITY RATES THRU LEGISLATION

MARTINSVILLE, Feb. 26.—Mayors and city officials of numerous Indiana towns met at the Home Lawn sanitarium here today at the invitation of Mayor Schmidt for the purpose of perfecting a permanent organization to carry on the fight to secure rights of citizens and municipalities in the matter of utility legislation. At the previous meeting held here a few weeks ago Mayor Schmidt was instructed to appoint a committee of mayors who would prepare a plan of organization and present this plan to the meeting here Friday. This committee is expected to report Friday.

The decision of the Wabash Valley Electric Company, now a part of the North Indiana Power Company, to carry the Martinsville rate case to the United States supreme court, is evidence that the battle for a reduction in utility rates and to uphold the Federal court decision which was favorable to Martinsville, will be a fight to the finish. Since the Federal court decision in upholding the theory that the property serving a municipality should be used as a basis for rate making purposes is far reaching and will in the end affect all cities and towns in Indiana, the meeting here Friday assumes unusual interest and there is evident a determination on the part of the officials attending to wage the fight to a successful conclusion, so that legislation may be obtained that will assure the rights of citizens and municipalities in utility rate charges.

SEED

Cooperation is one of the greatest needs of our day in the solution of problems incident to our stage of civilization. Our competitive system has had its virtues and in modified form will continue to have. Competition to excel in order to enrich society is salutary but the desire to excel in order to enrich ourselves and perhaps impoverish others is a relic of barbarism that must go under our highly complex social organization. The present depression has revealed in many ways that no man in any sphere of social life can be impoverished without an impoverishment of every fellow creature. The old competitive church system must give way to a united effort toward one great purpose of uplift. The cynosure of business will eventually be, first, to render the best possible service to all and, second, a complete partnership of all who serve in establishing the business. It seems like a slow process but signs are abundant of a new day. Radicals of yesterday are quoted as authority today and tomorrow we will build monuments to those we now decry. It is a fine thing for the manhood of a city to invite and feel their way as to how they can coordinate their efforts.

FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER DAILY LENTEN DEVOTION

PREPARED BY THE REV. DWIGHT J. BRADLEY SPONSORED BY THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA.

"IF ANY MAN EAT THIS BREAD" (Read John 6:47-59.)

If we have receptive hearts, we shall feel in need not only of light but also of food for our spiritual sustenance. Our souls like our bodies grow hungry. Christ serves those who love Him and believe in Him, as a wholly satisfying nourishment. He is "the living bread which came down from heaven." When He first declared this great truth, there were many who were offended by His claim and complained that "This is a hard saying." It is indeed a "hard saying," to those whose hearts can not receive it. It becomes, however, a very beautiful saying when we have found that God comes in Christ with a promise of complete satisfaction for every possible or conceivable want. Since God is the fundamental necessity of our souls, and Christ is the manifestation to us of God, it is profoundly true that if we partake of this bread which is Christ, we will live forever.

Prayer: We thank Thee, O heavenly Father, that Thou hast given Thyself to us through Jesus Christ. We bless Thee for the light that shineth upon us, and for the spiritual bread with which our souls are nourished. May we partake of this, Thy food unpriced, to satisfy our great hunger; and, as we partake of it, may we do so with thanksgiving, in fellowship with all our brothers, Thy children, who share in Thy love and in Thy plenteous grace. Amen.

Local B. And P. Women Attend Brazil Meeting

In February, 1929 a chapter of Business and Professional Women was organized in Brazil. Eight members, with Miss Catherine Tillotson, president of the local club, held the initiation ceremonies for the newly organized club there.

The Brazil club has continued to thrive until now it is one of the most outstanding clubs in the First district. A membership of about forty-five sincere and wide-awake members, all seemingly obvious, that strong local clubs form the foundation upon which our state and national federation structure rests.

They have had most capable leaders, and at this time Mrs. Hazel Kellar is their efficient president. The club is proud to have one member among the state chairmen—Miss Mary C. Jones as emblem chairman.

The Brazil club sent the local chapter an invitation to their third birthday anniversary, which they celebrated last evening, with a beautifully appointed dinner. Decorations in keeping with the patriotic spirit of the bi-centennial of Washington were used.

Following the delicious three course dinner a program of music was enjoyed, after which the international relations chairman, introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Adah O. Frost, state president of the Business and Professional Women of Indiana. Mrs. Frost brought a very inspiring message on promoting "Inter-National Friendship." In her interesting way she took her audience with her on the "Good Will Tour" that she enjoyed in 1929. Tours like the Good Will tours are one great step toward Inter-National harmony. She took her listeners across the ocean, landing in London, thence to Haag, Amsterdam, Switzerland and Geneva, down the Rhine to Rome, meeting many notable men as well as women, in the various groups as the party was feted and entertained so royally along the way. Many things of interest were learned from her vivid description of costumes, handicraft, social, religious and civic lives.

Mrs. Frost said: "Their great desire is for World peace and as they look to America for inspiration, we must work for high standards, promote good feeling, the more good we can do the more abundant will be the result. In the words of President Hoover, 'Wage Peace as man has waged war.'"

Miss Susie Talbot, president, Mrs. Gertrude Werneke, Miss Ella Beckwith, Mrs. Dessie Bryan and Miss Metta McCoy were the members from the local club who enjoyed the hospitality of the Brazil chapter.

PRESTON, Eng. (UP)—For fifty years Houghton Hodson had few equals in the rat-catching profession. As official rat-catcher for Preston, working along the river docks, Hodson caught and put to death several thousand rats a year. It was not pleasant work, but he stuck to it grimly, always keeping count of his victims.

Finally the figure rose to 40,000, a record. Hodson carefully drowned the 40,000th rat, then removed his hat and coat, jumped into the river and drowned himself.

The coroner returned a verdict of suicide of unsound mind.

DECLARES HOPPER WAR
LIN, Neb. (UP)—War has been declared in Nebraska on the yellow black grasshopper which last year ruined north Nebraska grain is expected to be a war that will be fought against the fruit fly, the corn borer and the corn root worm.

entomologists and insect hunters have sounded a warning that the measures adopted throughout the country this year will determine the extent of grasshopper ravages next summer.

Thousands of eggs, deposited in the soil by the hoppers, are ready to hatch with the first warm rays of summer sun, unless an extreme cold grips the northern part of the state, or unless farmers take preventive measures.

It has been shown that the grasshopper will resist a temperature of ten degrees below zero being.

Entomologists have made surveys to determine the number of eggs deposited in the soil in order to map the control measure. The survey was made of 629 of the state's 93 counties. This is the first survey of hoppers of last summer which migrated during the fall and winter in all sections of the

EXPERTS URGE BETTER BANKERS AND BANKING

NEW YORK, (UP)—Better banking and better bankers would prevent recurrence of the orgy of bank failures that has accompanied the present depression, authorities believe. They are convinced also that this should come by evolution and not by sudden change in basic laws governing banks.

They point out that the present time is a poor one to make radical changes, and add that the existing banks are the strong ones and able to weather the depression to the end.

The trend of the majority of observers is toward a modified branch banking system, "where economic conditions and legal authority make this expedient."

This suggestion comes from the American Bankers Association which at its last convention also suggested liquidation, or consolidation, of banks where changed local conditions render this possible; wider affiliation among state banks with the Federal Reserve; a more general practice of banks to analyze cost of carrying accounts and other operating details to make all classes of function profitable; a more general application of the theory and practice of secondary reserves; avoidance by banks of undue borrowing merely to increase their own profits by re-lending at higher rates, or to over expand credit to local business in order to increase their own business; co-operation among bankers to promote mutually beneficial conditions and practices; and insistence upon higher educational effort and qualifications among employees.

In the field of legislation to assist better banking, the association believes several changes would be beneficial, including the broadening in the states of branch banking laws where conditions warrant; establishment of sound minimum capital funds, under which banks would be allowed to operate, specifically at least $50,000; provision of funds and regulations to keep the official staffs to a level of ability and integrity that will inspire confidence; greater care in granting new charters to guard against over-banking.

The association also believes it would be beneficial if the Federal Reserve would exercise more freely its right to examine banks and exercise discretionary powers to refuse rediscunts to banks indulging in objectionable banking methods.

Who Said Winter Had Deserted Us?

You may be able to tell some folks that the "Winters ain't what they used to be," but you can't convince Coloradans of that. Here is pictorial evidence that the snowman is still on the job in some parts of these United States. The recent blizzard in Colorado tied up railroad traffic for three days, leaving passengers marooned on stalled trains. Three locomotives are shown pushing a rotary plow through fifteen-foot drifts in an effort to clear the roads. Looks like Winter is still with us!

"I like a Fair Fighter"

THAT'S one of the things I like most about Chesterfields... the attitude of the people who make them. They positively lean over backwards to be fair and square.

"I've been watching their advertisements for years. And do you know the thing that struck me most forcibly? They're so reasonable! Just a plain straightforward statement of facts. No wild claims... Nothing that's hard to believe!

"I wouldn't want to be a competitor of Chesterfield! They make too good a cigarette! I really believe they're the mildest I ever tasted.

"I can smoke Chesterfields any hour of the day or night... They're so mild, I don't even bother to keep track of how many I've smoked. They must be purer, too... they certainly taste better to me!"

SENSE OF SMELL USED BY WOMEN WHILE SHOPPING

HAMILTON, N. Y. (UP)—Evidencing to show that women use their noses as much as their eyes when they go shopping has been gathered by students of Dr. Donald A. Laird, Colgate university psychology professor.

Utica housewives—250 of them—recently were used as "subjects" in the experiment to show that subliminal, or subconscious, impressions influence purchases.

A garment, no matter what its quality, generally will sell better, according to Dr. Laird's theory, if there is something about it to impress the would-be purchaser without his knowing it.

Dr. Laird tested his theory by faintly scenting three pairs of hosiery of identical texture, size and color, and asking the housewives to select their choice from them and another identical pair having only the natural, slightly rancid odor of newly made hose.

Half the women chose narcissus-scented hose as the best, while all of the remainder, except nine, chose one or the other two scented pairs.

"Although the nose used were as identical as machines can make them," Dr. Laird said, "the housewives usually gave some apparent physical reason for picking the 'best pair.' The most common reasons were texture, finer weave, sheerness and feel.

"It was amusing to see them give an apparently profound reason for selecting the one pair when it was the scent which actually made them select it."

EXPERTS PLAN NEW TROY HUNT IN ASIA MINOR

CINCINNATI, O. (UP)—The University of Cincinnati will sponsor archaeological investigations on the site of ancient Troy, in Asia Minor, next spring, it was announced after the Turkish government had granted the university permission to begin the project.

One of the objects of the expedition will be discovery of the cemetery of Troy, the existence of which has been confirmed by modern archaeological research. Several cities were believed to have successively occupied the site of Troy.

Another object of the expedition will be the testing of the stratification of the Trojan site in view of present knowledge of the early bronze age in the eastern Mediterranean area.

Dr. Carl W. Blegen, professor of classical archeology in the graduate school of arts and sciences at Cincinnati university, will sail this month to take charge of the work. He will go first to Athens, Greece, where he will meet Dr. William T. Smeaton, of the university. The two will go to Istanbul, Turkey, to begin their enterprise.

University of Cincinnati is believed to be the only American municipal university sponsoring an archaeological expedition in Europe or Asia.

COMMENTS ON THE LIVE STOCK SITUATION

A two-day cattle market continues, resulting in an unusually early seasonal narrowing of the price spread. A strong undertone prevails in prices of low grade steers which is expected to become a substantial prop under the whole cattle market. Too many feeders are heading for March, but conditions are stacking up favorable for the spring and summer. Low grades are safe until early June with the late summer best for the better grades of fed steers.

The hog market continues to face stubborn resistance with, so far, little seasonal improvement. Liquidation of lightweight hogs continues with less breeding stock being held. Many hogs can be safely held for April, with the summer and early fall market quite favorable for late fall pigs.

Considerably fewer packing sows are in prospect for the summer. Conditions are favorable for substantial price improvement with some seasonal weakness in June and early July.

The lamb market shows advance evidence of considerable strength which is expected to continue well into spring. Relatively short supplies are in prospect for March and April. However, periodic glut on eastern markets are to be watched.

Developments are under way which will make for a more favorable live stock market during the spring and summer. Very definite steps are being taken by the Government to release frozen assets, to extend credit, and to discourage the hoarding of money by private individuals. So, plans are under way available for credit purposes increased currency a large gold which has been hoarded by the Federal Reserve.

With more credit available and with the production of money in circulation, there is a substantial improvement in industrial conditions which is expected to make for a greater demand for agricultural products. Some general inflation is being along with an unsumptive outlet for goods make for higher live stock during the spring and summer.

Saga of Modern 'Valjean' To Have Happy End

Sixteen Years a Fugitive From Justice, Lamont Signor, Recently Recaptured, Won Pardon Through Intercession of Citizens Where He Started New Life.

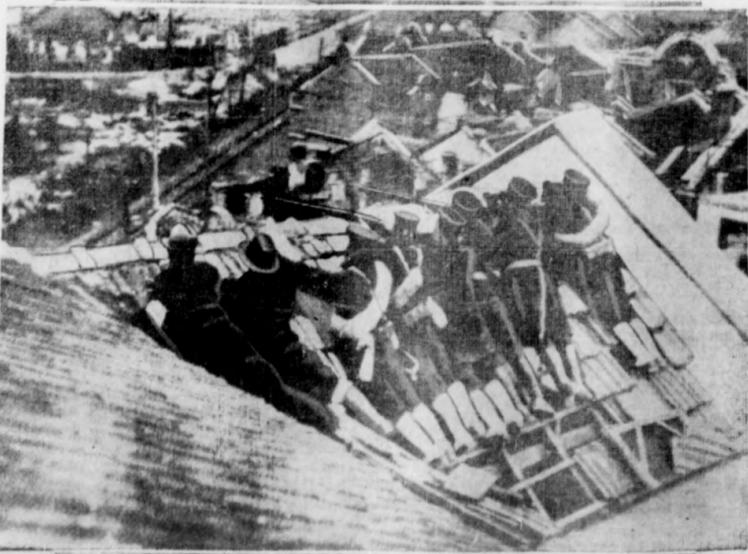

For the first time in sixteen years, since he escaped from a farm at London, Ohio, where he was serving time for the murder of a woman, Lamont Signor knows the meaning of real happiness. He was pardoned for extradition to that State, but his fellow citizens of Pine Hill, Ind., up a petition, stating their opinion of Signor and setting forth an excellent record during the sixteen years he had been in the community. This they sent to Gov. George E. White, who was so impressed by Signor's determined efforts and in rehabilitating himself that he granted the man a full pardon. FLIERS TELL WOMAN CORRECT TIME OF DAY

EL PASO, Tex., (UP)—Jennie Martin and Paul Carpenter, air line pilots who fly between this city and Los Angeles, are welcomed daily over the path of their flights by lonely homesteaders.

Martin and Carpenter, although they never have met any of the homesteaders, know practically all of them by name, the result of letters of introduction to the airmen.

The two fliers drop daily papers to the homesteaders. One woman wrote them asking them to write the correct time on the next paper they dropped her.

"My clock has stopped," she explained.

Rheumatic Pains Yield Readily To Hoyt's Compound

THIS INDIANA LADY TELLS HOW HOYT'S BROUGHT HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

"I surely can recommend Hoyt's Compound to all sufferers for I know that there is a remedy that really does good," states Mrs. Nannie Condiff, of Staunton, Indiana.

The Hoyt Man

"I suffered constantly from some ailment or other, but I believe the worst of all was the awful rheumatic pains in my back and hips and arms. My kidneys were deranged too and my food would not digest. I felt weak and light headed and was very nervous.

"Hoyt's Compound was certainly a wonder medicine in my case. It seemed to go to the very seat of the stomach and kidney trouble and work them right out of me. It has settled my nerves so that I sleep sound at night and enjoy my rest. I am not troubled with rheumatic pains as before and I surely can recommend this medicine to all sufferers for I know that there is a remedy that really does good."

See the Hoyt Specialist at the National Rate Store, south side the courthouse in Greencastle. Hoyt's Compound is highly recommended and sold by all leading druggists everywhere.

even more tasty varieties which are longer in finding their way to the table. Among the extra early vegetables are rhubarb and asparagus. Of course, it takes several seasons for plants to establish themselves sufficiently to allow heavy cutting. However, one or even two year roots are not very expensive. They should be planted along the side of the garden so that there will be no interference with annual plowing or spading.

A very heavy application of stable manure should be plowed or spaded into the perennial vegetable bed before planting. Three to five tin cups full of commercial fertilizer to 100 square feet might also be worked into the bed as it is being prepared.

Horseradish is another perennial vegetable that is very easily grown. Sage, thyme, and catnip were always found in the old time garden but are rarely found in the modern planting.

There is no reason why a row of 260 Premier strawberry plants should be omitted from their area of the garden. Twenty-five to fifty plants of Cumberland raspberries or Eldorado blackberries would bring a welcome variation into the fruit menu. The last two fruits are somewhat more difficult to care for but after the first year may be mulched so heavily with straw or leaves that no summer cultivation will be necessary.

MOVIES

AT THE GRANADA

"Maker of Men," the Columbia picture showing at the Granada theater Saturday, stars Jack Holt in the role of a college athletic coach—a bulwer of American youth—and features Richard Cromwell as his son.

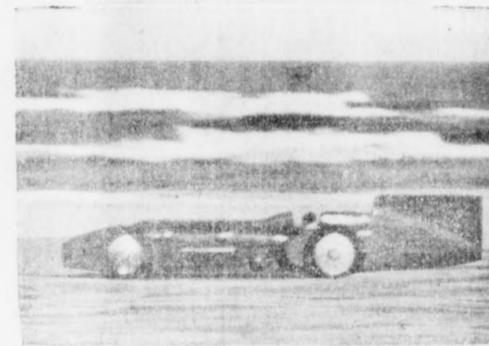

A father and son drama, the story reveals the struggle of the son to reconcile his own fears with his father's ambition to make a great athlete of him! He does not share his father's love of sport. To him it is brutal play with a maimed body poor reward for empty glory. He can't take physical punishment and he doesn't see why he should be called "yellow" because he doesn't want his body battered.

Why can't his father understand the terror that paralyzes him? Will he be a craven all his life, or will he find his manhood in the depths of despair to which his failure plunges him? These are some of the interesting questions put forth and answered in "Maker of Men," an original story written especially for the new team of Jack Holt and Richard Cromwell. Joan Marsh, of the newest group of Wampus Baby Stars, plays the feminine lead. Walter Catlett and Paul Hurst provide comedy, Robert Allen and John Wayne are a couple of husky collegians and Natalie Moorhead, Richard Tucker and Sidney Bracy have prominent roles.

PLANE OBEYS TRAFFIC LIGHT WASHINGTON, (UP)—A "stoplight" for air traffic control has been perfected by the Aeronautics Branch of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

The projector, which resembles an over-fat pistol, works on the same principle as ground traffic lights at street crossings. It throws a red or green beam and thus can be used to signal a pilot whether or not to land.
Of course, other forms of signals may be devised.

Col. Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of Commerce in charge of aeronautics, recently conducted a flight over Washington to test the new projector. An assistant stood on the ground holding the light while the plane flew from 2,000 to 3,000 feet overhead and at as great a distance as six miles from the airport. The projector operator manipulated the trigger which controls the light and the beam shifted from green to red and red to green. By means of sights, the operator could spot the plane and direct the beam at it. The beam was clearly discernible to the occupants of the plane.

The Department's new device gives a beam of 37,000 candlepower, which makes it visible day or night at great distances and even though the visibility be poor.

BOYHOOD HOBBY
DEVELOPS NEW BUSINESS

PUEBLO, Colo., (UP)—Out of a hobby, a new industry has been born here.

When he was a boy, William L.
Danev, Colorado Fuel & Iron Company employe, wanted to build a miniature locomotive.

In 1925, he did build one. It was a success. Danev decided to see if there might be others in the United States who had the same desire.

He advertised. That was in December, and he has had hundreds of replies.

Now local foundries have arranged to furnish parts for the miniature trains, and catalogues have been issued, showing plans and various parts.

RESTORE SWEDISH FLAGS

STOCKHOLM, (UP)— Swedish

by France, to which country they were exported after an auction sale here, in 1820. The relics have been stored in the Museum of the Invalides
many decades, having once formed a part of the private collections of Emperor Napoleon III.

TIGERS END SUCCESSFUL NET SEASON

DEFEAT WABASH IN FINAL TILT
BY DECISIVE SCORE
OF 31 TO 21

HAVE PERCENTAGE OF .875
DePauw Basketball Squad Chalks Up 14 Victories In 16 Starts During Winter Months

The DePauw Tigers, champions of the Buckeye conference, closed a most successful hardwood court season
Thursday night by defeating their old rivals, Wabash, 31 to 21 in an interesting game played on the Bowman gym floor. This tilt also marked the final appearance of Rex Moffett, star forward, and Derrill Copeland, veteran guard, in the Old Gold uniform as each graduates this spring. By stopping the Little Giants, the Methodists finished the winter card with a percentage of .875. Coach Tubby Mof-fett's proteges were undefeated on the local court but lost a pair of heartbreakers to Ohio University and Miami. Included in DePauw's list of victims for the year are Cincinnati,
twice; Ohio Wesleyan, twice; Denison, twice; Ohio university, Miami; Franklin, twice; Wabash, twice; Earlham and Indiana.

Against the Scarlet quintet, the Tigers jumped into a 4-point lead
soon after the initial tip with Graham and Moffett scoring from under the hoop on passes from Eubank.

At one time during the first half the count was 14:3 against the visitors and the half ended, 18 to 8.

Pete Vaughn's huskies fought valiantly during the final period but the DePauw netters led throughout the contest by 7 points or more. Eubank, Copeland and Perkins led the Tiger scoring attack in addition to turning in splendid guarding games. For Wabash, Fobes was high point man with three field goals.

In a curtain raiser the Wabash
freshmen handed the DePauw yearlings a 24 to 18 beating.

"Tony" Hinkle, Butler coach, and Everett Dean, Indiana mentor, were among the large crowd of spectators present.

"The GAY BANDIT of the BORDER" by TOM GILL

SYNOPSIS

Ted Radcliffe is called to Verdi, a small village on the Mexican border,
by Bob Barkness, his late father's friend. Radcliffe Senior had lost a fortune in Mexico years before. At a party given by Major Blount of the U. S. Army, Ted meets Paco Morales, ruling power of Mexico,
and his beautiful niece, Adela. Morales tells how El Coyote, the mysterious bandit, killed a man about to reveal his hideaway. El Coyote steals from the rich, particularly Morales, and gives to the poor. Major Blount announces that the U. S.
cavalry will join in the search for the bandit. A wounded Mexican, believed to be one of El Coyote's band, is captured. Later Bob tells Ted he has a message for him which will make him lose his trust in the world and strip him of everything he has.

CHAPTER IX

A Mexican servant dozed in a corner, and with a nod Don Bob dismissed him, then going to the fireplace three sticks of fragrant mes-quite on the embers. He pointed to a deep leather chair.

"Sit down, Ted. There are cigarettes and pipe tobacco."

For a time he busied himself with the glowing logs while Radcliffe watched him closely. "It's about father?" the younger man asked at last.

Bob slowly filled his pipe, then
sat before the fire.

"Yes, part of it's about your father. But most of it is about you.
Up until the time your father died,
just how much did you know about
his affairs?"

"Nothing except that they were perfectly sound. He always had the strongest kind of backing."

"He was a great gambler, remember. I mean in the big, adventurous sense."

"He loved to experiment and try what others never dared. He was always willing to back his judgment with his last penny. It's that's what you mean, yes, he was a gambler.
And why not? There was always his own fortune of a good many millions behind him."

The man opposite was silent for a time, then at last he said quietly:
"I had a letter from your father just before he died five years ago. It things had broken badly. He had put everything into a number of new ventures. Most of it was in those big Mexican plans of his. Then, without warning, the Mexican government canceled its agreement for that power project and withdrew his permit for the irrigation work. As a result all those hundreds of square miles he had leased became overnight just so much valueless sand. Then came a quick panic of early spring. It caught him. It wiped him out."

"Ruined?" The whispered word seemed to linger in the quiet room.

"Utterly. I think it broke his heart. Not just the money, not that,
but the death of all his plans, the crashing of twenty years of work and dreams." Bob's long fingers trembled on the chair and his eyes followed the rising sparks as they swirled up the chimney place. "His first thought was to keep it all from you," he added softly.

"But didn't he know—he must have known—that I'd rather a thousand times have faced the music
with him?"

"I don't believe he could have endured your seeing him beaten. I think he wanted always to remain
the big, successful demogog of your childhood—until the end. And end came in six months. But before your father died he had paid off every cent. It left him with a few scant thousand dollars, and these he turned over to his bankers. They were to put you through school and give you those two years abroad."

Radcliffe's grim face looked up.
"And I thought it was just an allowance."

"It took every penny your father owned. Well, it was his wish that you should have those years unclouded. And now you've had them."

A silence, broken only by the crackling logs, while slowly the first realization of it all crept in upon the man.

The world was tumbling about him. That great stalwart father of his, with all his power, the very symbol of power and success—the idol of his childhood, had ceased to exist.

Radcliffe shook his head, as if to rid himself of this nightmare. It couldn't be true—life wasn't like that.

Suddenly he found himself walking the length of the room. "It's not real," he said once. "I suppose, tomorrow, I'll accept it—I'll have to.
But now it's as if it all were happening to someone else—while I stand by and watch." He whirled back toward the quietly seated figure. "But why did he send me out here to learn all this?"

"For two reasons. First, he wanted me rather than a stranger to tell you. And second, he wanted me to give you this." Don Bob walked to his desk and held up a long envelope. "His last word to you."

Radcliffe's fingers closed gently,
almost reluctantly, on the envelope,
and for an instant his eyes dimmed to see his own name written there in that careless, heavy scrawl of his father's. It was like a voice out of the past grown suddenly articulate
—a whispered word from the dead.

Motionless he stood there, then felt Bob's hand laid on his shoulder, and while the freight flickered on their steady faces those two men stood looking into each other's eyes. Behind them a clock chimed midnight.
It had a quality, that moment, the quality of a bond between them, and in graver times they were both to think of it again. Very slowly he tore open the envelope.

"Ruined?" The whispered word seemed to linger in the quiet room.

"At last he raised his eyes from the closely written pages and spoke in a voice that tried ineffectually to be calm. "I can't read it all to you—it's like dad talking once again about his plans for me and the things we were to do together." His voice stopped, then went on. "And it tells all you've already told me, but at the end dad says this: 'I have a reason for sending you out there. Bob may guess it. Especially when I say it has to do with Paco Morales.
Study him, Ted, my boy. He is an education, old Morales. But his intuition is sometimes a little high.'"

For a moment Radcliffe looked at Don Bob, then read on: "I want you to be happy as I have been happy. I want you to be true to yourself—there is no other success in life. My love to you always—"

The voice stopped abruptly. He folded the letter and after a long silence asked, "What does father mean about Morales?"

The older man mused over his cigarette. "Ted," he said at last, "if the real story of your father's downfall is ever told, we're going to find that Morales played some part in it.
I know how the man works. I know, too, he was supposed to stand behind your father's development plans in Mexico with money and, what is more important, with his influence over the Mexican government. I believe the old Spaniard promised your father full support, and then,
when the time came that he needed
support, Morales withheld his money and turned the government against the work. That meant the end."

"But father's plan was for irrigation. His dreams were of a great ditch that would bring water to the desert and change this dry cattle country to farms. Wouldn't that have benefited Morales' land?"

"The land, yes. But not Morales.
Legally Morales owns not over ten thousand acres about the hacienda.
But by the terror of his vaqueros
he is king of more than a million.
And of course Morales pays a little to the proper officials to keep the thing quiet. So you see that to bring prosperity and people to this land would mean the end of Morales' reign."
