SERVICES FOR DR. RICHARDS ON WEDNESDAY

LAST RITES FOR FORMER RESIDENT WILL BE HELD AT SPENCER

Dr. Renos H. Richards of Patricksburg, a member of the Indiana House of Representatives for four sessions, died Sunday night of a heart ailment in the Robert W. Long Hospital.

Dr. Richards was appointed president of the State Board of Beauty Culturist Examiners this year and had served as chairman of the Medicine and Public Health Committee in the House. He also had served on the County and Township Business Committee, Federal Relations Committee, Natural Resources, and Rivers Committee, Military Affairs Committee and Mines and Mining Committee.

A former treasurer and coroner in Owen County, Dr. Richards had practiced medicine there since his graduation in 1903 from the Central College of Physicians and Surgeons, which later became part of the Indiana University School of Medicine. He was a former president of the Owen County Medical Society and was a member of the American Medical Association.

A veteran of World War I, he served as a major in France and later on the Mexican border. He had been a medical officer in the Indiana National Guard and held a lieutenant colonelcy in the medical reserve at the time of his death.

He was a member of the American Legion, Masons, Knights of Pythias, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Survivors include the widow, three daughters and a son.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Patricksburg Methodist Church and at 3:30 o'clock in West Funeral Home in Spencer. Burial will be in Riverside Cemetery in Spencer.

CONGRESSMEN WILL OPPOSE PROMOTIONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—The nomination of 23 army officers to higher temporary rank threatened to cause a violent eruption today in a Congress already stewing over the slow pace of demobilization.

There have been mutterings in Congress about taking over the whole demobilization job from the armed services due to dissatisfaction with the speed and method of mustering out the nation's soldiers and sailors.

Then yesterday President Truman sent to the Senate the nominations of six brigadier generals to be temporarily major generals and 17 colonels to be brigadier generals.

"Ridiculous," snorted Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, D., Colo., ranking Democrat on the Senate military affairs committee which will consider the nominations.

"We ought to be demoting instead of promoting army officers at this stage of the game. This would indicate that the army intends to keep its strength up to 8,000,000 men instead of demobilizing as fast as it can."

Other committee members agreed. They felt it was useless to expect speedy demobilization as long as top ranks in the army were being increased.

Changes Made In State Police

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 11.—Twenty-eight members of the Indiana State Police department are affected by a series of personnel changes announced late yesterday by Colonel Austin R. Killian, state police superintendent, effective September 15.

The changes were made on a basis of competitive mental examination, service record with the department and other qualifications as required by law. The organization's enforcement divisions—uniform and detective—were affected, with the plainclothes section undergoing the most revision.

"We have a big job ahead of us and it is necessary to make the most effective use of our man power," said Colonel Killian, who on April 1 reorganized the state police along military lines to attain improved service through tighter executive and administrative control.

The police official asserted that "every department job is on a permanent competitive status."

Names of the policemen, their present places of residence and home counties, together with their rank and station designations follow:

Promotion—Robert A. O'Neal, Speedway (Marion), from Indianapolis post detective, to captain in charge of the investigation division; Albert R. BOARD CUTS 2 CENTS OFF COUNTY LEVY

90-CENT RATE SET BY TAX ADJUSTMENT BOARD HERE

By reducing the amounts of four minor items in the county revenue fund and striking off a balance of $2500 in the sum appropriated for boilers at the heating plant, the Putnam County Tax Adjustment Board lowered the 1946 county tax rate from 92 to 90 cents Monday. The 92-cent levy was set by the County Council at its session last week.

The board was shown by Mrs. Clara Jones, county auditor, that the balance of $2500 existed in the amount set aside for the repair work at the heating plant since the contract was less than the estimate.

The board, which convened Monday morning, completed its work Tuesday noon. The budgets of the various taxing units will be sent to the State Tax Board for final approval.

The Putnam county budget for next year now is as follows:

Cheese To Go Off Rationing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—It was unofficially reported this afternoon that cheese would go off ration tonight at midnight.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Cheese rationing will end "almost immediately." Lower grades of beef will become ration free before Oct. 1. Pork and bourbon whiskey are on the way back.

Those were today's food prospects as the swift elimination of ration controls and forecasts of bumper crops gave Americans assurance that the days of wartime food shortages are quickly drawing to a close.

The promise of a quick ending of cheese rationing came from a Department of Agriculture spokesman. He said the army no longer needs the amount of cheese it previously took and the department is planning to lift the 40 per cent government setaside of cheddar cheese.

A cheese industry spokesman said the industry is expecting a very early end of rationing because the overall supply is now approaching demand.

It was also learned from Agriculture Department sources that lower grades of beef will become ration free before Oct. 1. That is the date on which the United Press was told all meat rationing will end.

Religion Case Goes To Court

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 11.—(UP)—When Mrs. Vashti McCollum takes the stand today in her suit to bar religion from public schools, she will refuse to swear by the "Almighty God" to "tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

Instead, she will take advantage of an Illinois statute providing that witnesses who object to taking such an oath may "solemnly, sincerely and truly declare and affirm."

Mrs. McCollum, who classifies herself as an "atheist or rationalist," is heading a fight to establish whether schools can release pupils for periods of religious instruction, either in or out of school buildings.

The court battle, which some observers say may assume the significance and proportions of the historic Scopes trial, arose from Mrs. McCollum's petition to ban religious teaching from Champaign schools.

Both sides have promised to carry the case to the U. S. Supreme Court, if necessary, to obtain a final decision.

Mrs. McCollum, 32, is the wife of a University of Illinois horticulturist and a woman of decided views. She charges that her 10-year-old son was ostracized because he did not participate in the weekly classes in religion.

At yesterday's preliminary session, star witness for the defendant Champaign school board was a tiny, gray haired former missionary, who argued religious doctrine with Mrs. McCollum's attorney, Landon L. Chapman.

Miss May Chapin, for the last three years supervisor of the religious education program in Champaign, resisted all questions designed to prove that her classes had the effect of instilling racial prejudice in the pupils.

Under Chapman's questioning, Miss Chapin recited the Biblical tales of Adam and Eve, Noah and Ark, Solomon and his wives and Elijah and the flaming chariot. The tales, she said, were taught as Bible stories without comment as to their accuracy.

"Small, pert and neat, the dignified schoolteacher refused to say that Christ had been turned over to the Jews for crucifixion. Rather, she said she taught that Jesus was crucified by the Romans because, under Roman law, punishments were carried out by soldiers and not by any religious group.

H. E. MILLER HEADS 1945 FUND DRIVE

PUTNAM COUNTY COMMUNITY CHEST ORGANIZED MONDAY EVENING

The organization of the Putnam County Community Chest, Inc., was completed last evening at a meeting attended by prominent Putnam county men. The incorporation papers were filed with the Secretary of State and were approved on August 23, 1945. This action assures Putnam county of a permanent organization which will embrace a number of Putnam county organizations and will combine their annual drives for sustaining funds into the drive of the Putnam County Community Chest.

Harley Miller, prominent Greencastle business man, was named as chairman of the Putnam County Community and War Fund drive that will begin on October 8th and continue through October 18th. In the past few years, this annual drive has been known as the National War Fund drive and its funds were allocated to deserving county organizations as well as to various war time activities. Since this year a portion of the funds collected will still be used by the U. S. O. and other activities related to the war, it was decided to use the name of Putnam County Community and War Fund during the 1945 drive.

A quota of about $14,000 will be the goal of the drive in October. At the meeting last evening Lois Arnold was elected president of the Putnam County Community Chest, Inc. Mr. Arnold has participated actively in community affairs and is well known through out Putnam county.

Serving in an official capacity with Mr. Arnold are Ralph Fry, Cloverdale, first vice president; Galen Irwin, Roachdale, second vice president; S. C. Sayers, Greencastle, third vice president; Dean Louis H. Dirks, DePauw University, secretary, and Fred Pease, treasurer.

The officers were selected by the Board of Directors comprising Fred Pease, L. J. Arnold, S. C. Sayers, Dr. L. H. Dirks, Harley Miller, Sam Hanna, David Grimes, Ralph Fry, Mrs. Claude Crosby, Galen Irwin, Alva Carryington and Howard Hostetter.

Harley Miller assigned responsibilities in the organization of the county for the 1945 drive to begin next month.

HIGHEST U. S. AWARD GIVEN BATAAN HERO

MEDAL OF HONOR PRESENTED TO GEN. WAINWRIGHT BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, who endured 39 months of Japanese captivity, was resting up today from a new ordeal—too much acclaim from a grateful nation.

America's newest idol, the man whose gallant defense of Bataan and Corregidor gave his country time to plan its comeback, expects to spend today and tomorrow resting and having an abscessed tooth treated before flying to New York for the ovation he will receive there Thursday.

Walking with a cane, Wainwright was visibly fatigued after the four-hour public reception accorded him yesterday by hundreds of thousands of Washingtonians. The left side of his face appeared to be badly swollen. Immediately after the Pentagon press conference which wound up yesterday's ceremonies he and Mrs. Wainwright left for their Shoreham hotel suite.

It was learned that earlier in the day Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson served cocktails to Wainwright and his party in a private reception in Stimson's office. This type of hospitality, which took place soon after Wainwright's plane arrived, was a rare departure from Stimson's usual official receptions.

All the top war department officials, civilians and military, were on hand in Stimson's office to greet the returning hero of Bataan and Corregidor.

Following his appearance at the war department, Wainwright received the keys to the city at a gigantic public rally on the Washington monument grounds, appeared before both houses of congress separately and then went to the White House where President Truman bestowed on him the country's highest military award, the medal of honor.

In brief speeches during the day he urged the nation to maintain its preparedness to prevent successful attacks in the future. Declared there must be no easy peace for Japan and said he hoped the full story of Japanese treatment of war prisoners "may be revealed in all its ghastly detail."

Wainwright's press conference was extremely short and no questions were asked. He said simply that the Japanese "heaped indignities" upon him and his own men but refused to say more on the subject.

He reviewed the closing days of the war in the Philippines and briefly outlined his experience as a prisoner on Luzon, Formosa and Manchuria. He was liberated Aug. 16.

The general appeared to be much more interested in talking about the welcome he received from the capital than about his past experiences.

BRAZIL MAN JAILED BY LOCAL OFFICIALS

Leo Patterson, 26, of Brazil, was lodged in the Putnam county jail Monday night charged with interfering with city police. Officers said Patterson had been drinking and when they went to a downtown restaurant to quell a disturbance, his actions and talk resulted in his being taken to jail.

Stanley Buck, also of Brazil, and Irwin Sproule, of Staunton, companions of Patterson were allowed to return to their homes by the local authorities.

The Brazil man was released from jail Tuesday morning and charges against him were dropped by the police department after some of his friends appeared in his behalf.

To Roundup Jap War Criminals

TOKYO, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur gave the signal for a general roundup of major Japanese war criminals today with an order for the immediate arrest of Gen. Hideki Tojo, the premier who ordered the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

Subsequent arrests were expected to go right down through the Japanese military structure from the Imperial general staff to privates who as prison camp guards tortured American and other Allied prisoners.

American counter-intelligence teams already have left for prison camps to investigate barbarity complaints with power to make arrests.

As in Germany, members of the Japanese government and war-mongering industrialists also may be taken into custody for trial. There has been no authoritative word on the ultimate fate of Emperor Hirohito, who has been denounced by China and Australia as a war criminal.

MacArthur's headquarters already has indicated that major Japanese war criminals will be tried in proceedings resembling American courts martial.

MacArthur sent his order for the arrest of Tojo to the Japanese government as well as to appropriate American military commanders. A headquarters spokesman said the press would be informed when the arrest has been made.

Big 5 Envoys Meet In London

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Foreign ministers of the allied Big Five gathered today to shape the course of the post-war world, giving the top spot in the historic conference to the drafting of an Italian peace treaty.

U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, at a press conference before the opening session of the council of foreign ministers, confirmed that the Italian peace treaty hold the No. 1 priority in the program.

The foreign ministers of America, Britain, Russia, France and China were meeting at Lancaster House. An official British spokesman said the first formal business would be the consideration of the agenda.

The conferees concluded the preliminaries this morning in a round of activity clearing the way for the first formal session at 3:30 p. m.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin received Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov and Byrnes, who made pre-conference courtesy calls.

Byrnes, fit and tanned after his Atlantic crossing on the Queen Elizabeth, refused to discuss the United States position on any matters before the council. He would neither confirm nor deny reports that he had brought a proposal for disposition of the Italian colonial empire.

EX-JAP PREMIER FACING ARREST SHOTS SELF

HIDEKI TOJO REPORTED STILL ALIVE AFTER SUICIDE ATTEMPT

AT GENERAL TOJO'S HOUSE, TOKYO, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Gen. Hideki Tojo, seriously wounded but still living, was removed from his home in an American ambulance at 7:30 P. M. today. A few minutes earlier a U. S. Army doctor said the former Premier stood a good chance of surviving the bullet wound he inflicted on himself some three hours earlier.

Four stretcher bearers loaded Tojo into the ambulance for transportation to the first medical squadron of the First Cavalry Division near Tokyo's Meiji Shrine.

It was understood he would be taken later to the 98th evacuation hospital in Yokohama.

(Editor's note: Frank H. Bartholomew, United Press vice-president for the Pacific, was at former premier Hideki Tojo's side immediately after he shot himself today. Here is Bartholomew's eye-witness story of what may have been Tojo's last hours.)

TOKYO, Sept. 11.—(UP)—"I wanted to die by the sword, but the pistol had to do. I assume the responsibility for the war . . . banzai!"

Those probably were the last words of Gen. Hideki Tojo, the little Japanese premier who catapulted the United States into the war with his sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

He gasped them out during a momentary return to consciousness as I knelt at his side this afternoon.

Only 23 minutes earlier, he had torn a gaping wound in the left side of his stomach with a revolver bullet in a suicide attempt as American military police arrived at his suburban home to arrest him as a war criminal.

Tojo was seated in an easy chair, his legs crossed. He wore a blood-spattered white sports shirt, khaki whipcord military trousers and high boots.

He spoke in Japanese. It was translated for me, word by word, by T. Takamatsu of the Tokyo Mainichi staff.

"I wanted to die by the sword, but the pistol had to do," he repeated. "I assume the responsibility for the war. I now realize the war was bad for the people. I am now happy to die. Banzai!"

Then Tojo lapsed into unconsciousness again. His bald head was beaded with sweat.

Takamatsu and I had arrived at Tojo's home in the Setagaya district of the extreme western part of greater Tokyo at 4:10 p. m. Guards advised us Tojo was not at home.

While we waited, Maj. Paul Kraus of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's counter-intelligence corps arrived with orders for Tojo's arrest.

At 4:15 p. m., Tojo returned. He entered hastily, then opened a side window to his study and peered out, a smile on his face. He asked what was wanted. His gold teeth showed as he spoke.

Lean and brown, he appeared in perfect physical condition. Kraus told him: "Open the door so I can come in and present by credentials."

TOJO SHOOTS SELF (Continued from Page One) Kraus turned to an interpreter. "Tell him to quit this damn fooling around and let's get going," Kraus said. "Tell him to open the front door so I can present my credentials. Tell him to prepare himself for a trip to General MacArthur's headquarters at Yokohama."

Kraus turned to an interpreter. "Tell him to quit this damn fooling around and let's get going," Kraus said. "Tell him to open the front door so I can present my credentials. Tell him to prepare himself for a trip to General MacArthur's headquarters at Yokohama."

At 4:21 p. m., a shot rang out. Kraus rushed to the front double door. They were locked, but he pulled them open and ran into the entrance hall with correspondents immediately behind him. Other newsmen had arrived at the scene with Kraus.

The door leading from the entrance hall to Tojo's study on the left was locked. Kraus called on Tojo to open it.

There was no reply. Kraus mounted an interior step and kicked in the door.

Tojo was slumped in an easy chair parallel to the door. A red smear bubbled from his midriff. He was unconscious, but groaning heavily with every breath.

In the next room to the rear was a young man sitting cross legged on a mat, his head bowed in silence. Takamatsu said he was one of Tojo's sons.

Kraus sent a jeep to Tokyo for medical aid. Beads of sweat appeared on Tojo's brown, bald head. His groaning continued uninterruptedly. Photographers took pictures and correspondents roamed the house while we waited for a doctor.

Suddenly Tojo regained consciousness. He waved his left arm to summon interviewers. We crouched around him.

Then he made what undoubtedly was his dying statement assuming responsibility for the war and saying he now was "happy to die."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. Sept. 11—Sale of hunting and fishing licenses rose slightly during July and August over 1944 totals, the Indiana Department of Conservation reported today.

August sales totaled 376,536.90, a gain of $2,500, and sales during July showed a similar gain.

Milton Mater, department director, attributed the gain, which follows a sharp decrease during the first part of the year, to "renewed activity among the Conservation clubs" and added that a more strict enforcement program inaugurated by his administration "has undoubtedly played an important part in the increase."

He pointed out that the Fish and Game Division operates almost exclusively from license funds and said that "more license sales means more funds with which to improve our fish and game program."

The Conservation department recently announced an expanded research program to determine whether present fish propagation policies are proving successful in increasing the fish population in Indiana lakes and streams.

ESTIMATE VAST MATERIALS FOR FRANCE REBUILDING

NEW YORK, (UP)—More than 120 square miles of lumber and glass—enough to cover Paris three times over—will be needed to rebuild the million and a half ruined buildings of France, according to estimates of the French Press and Information Service here.

More than 12 million tons of steel, cast iron, cement and lumber will be needed, the agency said—10 times the 1939 daily capacity of French railroads. The estimated need for 90 millions tons of crushed stone, gravel and sand is 30 times the tonnage of the prewar French merchant fleet.

Biggest problem, the agency said will be coal—to manufacture and ship the urgently needed building materials.

CALIFORNIA FIRM PLANS 'TRUCKETTE' PRODUCTION

HUNTINGTON PARK, Cal. (UP)—A three-wheeled pickup truck designed to simplify small deliveries is scheduled for production soon by the Toolcraft Manufacturing Co.

This new model, first viewed by the public at the Lockheed Air Terminal in Burbank, Cal., will roll off the assembly line at the rate of 100 per day by January, 1946, Bill Foster, chief accountant at Toolcraft, said.

Foster explained that the "truckette" has one wheel in front and a two-wheel drive in the rear. A single driver's seat is located directly over the two-cylinder, eight-horsepower motor, and a square pickup body fits over the rear wheels. It has fluid drive making a transmission and differential unnecessary.

The new model will sell for about $500 in Southern California, Foster said.

These Aren't Just Electric Line Insulators...

THEY MEAN JOBS
—today and tomorrow
for Indiana workers

• That string of electric high-line insulators above is nine long. Count 'em! Looks like a lot of insulation! It is! ... and purposely so. To electrical engineers, those insulators indicate potent power. It means the electric lines carried there are what they call 132 kilovolt* ... that's Greek to most of us, but it means tremendous POWER to Indiana Industry!

Look around the Public Service Company's territory. You'll see lots of long insulator strings. Some are 5 long ... that means a 66 KV line. Some are 3 long ... that's a 33 KV. All of them mean that one of the finest power systems in the nation is serving the 622 cities, towns, and villages, and the adjacent rural areas of our Company's territory ... serving our great war plants now and our "peace plants" of the future.

That means JOBS ... jobs for Indiana's loyal war workers of today, jobs for our boys when they return from far-flung battle fronts.

*One Kilovolt equals 1000 volts

MORE POWER ... MORE JOBS AND PROSPERITY FOR INDIANA
