CITIZENS WILL FILE ANNEXATION REMONSTRANCE

MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT RESULTS IN STEPS BEING TAKEN

Greencastle people living within the area taken into the city recently by the annexation ordinance passed by the city council, numbering some 150, attended a mass meeting in the assembly room of the court house Tuesday evening to protest against being taken into the city. One woman, Mrs. Geddes Fox Ridge, spoke in favor of the proposal, while all others were against it.

Albert Williams acted as chairman of the meeting. He said he was there because his father had 10 acres of ground which had been taken into the city. C. C. Gillen spoke on the behalf of the remonstrators, saying that if they desired that action, he had been employed by the city for the purpose of representing them in their fight against the ordinance.

Mr. Gillen explained that a remonstrance must be filed within 10 days of the last publication of the ordinance passed by the council. Then it is filed with the Putnam circuit court and the city is made a defendant in the action and an "old fashioned" law suit is held. Mr. Gillen, in response to a question, said the cost to the remonstrators, unless the council rescinded its action, would run from $600 to $1,000. He told them that if 75 per cent of all people living within the area remonstrated, it would be much easier defeated than if a few opposed it.

Roscoe Scott proposed that a committee be named to select a group to head-up the opposition and Guy Williamson, Chas. Martin, Albert Williams, Joe Arthur Sutherland, Clyde Street and Mr. Scott were named on that committee. They held a meeting in the rear of the assembly room and reported the following:

Chairman, Charles Martin. Albert Williams, secretary. Vernon Shirley, treasurer. Raymond Reeves, Robert Moody, Joe Davis, Allen Binkley, Jack Gardner, Guy Williamson, Arthur Sutherland and Frank Boyce, were named to represent the various sections affected by the annexation ordinance.

Roscoe Scott said he understood the last session of the legislature made it possible for the township trustee to furnish fire fighting equipment, but others said this had always been the law.

The next step of the committee will be the solicitation of signatures to the remonstrance along with sufficient funds to pay expense and the filing of this remonstrance in the circuit court within ten days.

GOOD MEETING HELD BY LIONS AT CLOVERDALE

PHONE OFFICIAL DISCUSSES HISTORY OF THE TELEPHONE

The Cloverdale Lions Club had one of its most interesting meetings of the year Monday night. The meeting was called to order by Lion President Wayne Brannen after which a very fine meal served by the W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church was enjoyed.

A couple of new features were added to this meeting. A drawing was held which was won by H. L. Henson. Gene McCullough won a free meal because he was one of the most outstanding hand shakers of the Lions Club. Art McKamey, tailor of the club was kicked out of office for a short time so he could be fined 30c for violating one of the rules of the constitution. After paying his fine, he was duly installed as tail twister again.

Several guests also made an appearance: Loren Lindley, E. L. Keller, Mr. Miller of New Richmond, owner of Midland Telephone Company, and Carl Ready of the Cloverdale Exchange.

Much discussion was given to the Putnamville Charter night.

Estil Meek, program chairman, then introduced Mr. Belzer, display manager of the Indiana Telephone Company, who gave a fine talk on communication. He said that communications started back with the cave man and now has been brought up to the modern times. Morris had the idea of the telephone 100 years ago. It was then followed up by Alexander Graham Bell who in his earlier life was a teacher of invisible perch. Mr. Belzer showed certain replicas of old style telephones. He also stated at the present time fourteen million calls were handled daily in New York City's telephone exchanges. He also talked of high and low frequencies. He talked of television that is now in existence between New York City, Philadelphia, and Washington, D. C., and of the coming possibilities of radar. He had a model of the telephones that are put in the cars and spoke of hearing aids. He then gave a demonstration of voice recordings among different members of the club.

Several Old Age Beneficiaries To Be Dropped From Welfare List May 1

Effective May 1, property owned by any person who is receiving old age benefit assistance from the Welfare Department, will be subject to a lien to the extent of the assistance given.

The Local Welfare Department is paying 522 persons old age assistance and it was reported today that some of these folks during the past few days have transferred their real estate holdings to children in order to prevent it being a lien for cash assistance given after tomorrow. The Department was also expecting others to make transfers today. It was said at the Department that those who have transferred their property to others to prevent it becoming available to the Welfare Department as a lien, will be removed from the Welfare role immediately. Just how many this will effect is not yet known, but it may run as high as 15 to 20.

The Department is expecting at least ten per cent of those who have been receiving aid, to be off the list after tomorrow at their own request as they own property and are not willing for it to go to the Department for their assistance.

PHONE STRIKE WAGE DISPUTE BREAK LOOMS

6,000 PENNSYLVANIA WORKERS BACK ON JOBS WITH PAY HIKE

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(UP)—The wage deadlock in the national telephone strike showed the first signs of breaking today since the walkout began 24 days ago.

The most hopeful development came early this morning when 6,000 striking plant and maintenance workers in Pennsylvania were ordered back to work under an agreement providing basic wage increases of up to $4 a week. They struck five days ago.

The Pennsylvania workers belonged to an independent union but government conciliators believed their agreement might speed a general settlement with affiliates of the key union in the strike—the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

Negotiations between NFW's strong long lines union and officials of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., continued here, and both government and union sources predicted the company would be ready by nightfall to make its first cash wage offer.

A T & T officials, who heretofore have insisted that the wage issue go to arbitration, were non-committal.

"I wouldn't get excited yet," one company spokesman said.

The NFW originally demanded a weekly wage boost of $12 but has sealed it down to $6.

The agreement between the Pennsylvania Federation of Telephone Workers and the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania provided a $3 weekly basic pay boost for maintenance and plant employes making up to $50 a week.

HOOSIER BOY CAPTURED BY RENO POSSE

RENO, Nev., April 30.—(UP)—An angry posse from Reno, seeking vengeance for the murder of one deputy sheriff and wounding of another, today captured a 17-year-old Indiana boy believed to be one of the two bandits who shot the officers.

Members of a search party found Larry Yancy, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., covering on the brush covered desert about seven miles north of here.

After his arrest, Yancy told officers that he and a partner, whom he identified as Gene Garland, about 20, of Reno, had staged at least five robberies in California during the past few weeks.

He admitted he was present when Deputy Sheriff Earl Griffith was killed and his fellow officer, Tom Lambert, was wounded at a road block 15 miles north of here this morning.

Yancy denied, however, that he had done the shooting, claiming that it was Garland who fired on the officers when they ordered him to stop.

Griffith was shot in the head while they were conducting the road block which had been set up after a police bulletin warned officers in northern California to be on the lookout for two men who held up two service stations in Susanville, Cal.

Lambert was fighting for his life today in a Washoe county general hospital. Doctors described his condition as "very serious." He received three blood transfusions within a few hours and was to undergo surgery immediately.

Meanwhile the posse, composed of at least 50 peace officers and civilian volunteers—many of them friends of the two officers—continued to scour the brush land for the other bandit.

District Attorney Harold Tabor said Yancy admitted robberies in Sacramento, Roseville and Susanville, Cal. He told the authorities that he met Garland in Reno several weeks ago and that after some discussion they decided to make money "the easy way."

20 KNOWN DEAD FROM TORNADO; MANY INJURED

PROPERTY DAMAGE IN MISSOURI AND ARKANSAS WILL BE HIGH

WORTH, Mo., April 30.—(UP)—A tornado and high winds killed 20 persons in Missouri and Arkansas and left this little farmhand community with a third of its population dead or injured today.

Thirteen were killed and 59 injured here yesterday when a tornado flattened three square blocks of homes and store buildings. Seven others were dead and 12 injured at Bright Water, Ark., in the northwestern corner of the state, after high winds collapsed stores, city and farm homes.

Missouri state highway patrolmen patrolled the debris strewn streets here to prevent looting.

Sweeping down out of a black cloud in the western sky, the tornado struck at 2:45 p. m. yesterday. It swept the town's main street like a broom, leveling everything in its path. All of the town's 15 civic and business buildings were flattened. Most of the houses were damaged, and many collapsed.

Two churches were destroyed and the third was badly damaged.

Most of the townspeople saw the dreaded black funnel coming and ran to their storm cellars. Others who took no warning from the darkened skies were killed.

The tornadic winds smashed automobiles, tossing mangled parts of the wreckage into tree tops, before speeding across the Iowa border, 13 miles away, where it caused heavy damage at Clio, Ia.

Mrs. Ann Trump, grade school teacher, and Mrs. N. A. Combs, a registered nurse and the town's only "medical man," were the heroes of this devastated town.

Mrs. Trump had begun the first grade arithmetic lesson, when a man ran by the school, yelling:

"A tornado is coming! Find some shelter!"

She calmly closed her book and led her 12 pupils to a nearby fruit cellar. A few minutes later the tornado leveled the school building.

The town, which has no doctor, depended on 59-year-old Mrs. Combs to treat its injured during the first hours after the tornado. The storm barely had cleared the town, when she turned her home into a first aid station and ordered the injured taken there.

Forty-three persons were given first aid treatment. Sixteen persons, one critically injured, were taken to nearby towns for hospitalization.

The dead were taken to nearby Grant City, where the Memorial Hall served as a morgue. Worth itself has no funeral parlor.

About 50 of the town's people left homeless by the tornado, slept on cots in the city hall at nearby Grant City last night. Another 80 homeless persons were doubling up with the folks whose homes suffered least damage.

"We will rebuild quickly as possible," said Mayor Startl Murdock, who was elected a few weeks ago. "I'm positive the town will not be abandoned."

Worth looked like a ghost town last night.

 $150,000,000 cut in funds for six war-ravaged nations.
 The measure was passed $200,000,000 despite veto that failure to provide the $350,000,000 asked by Truman might drive people into the arms of Communism. Supporters of the measure insisted $200,000,000 would be ample to take care of all until new crops are harvested abroad.
 Backers of the President's request hoped—though not confidently—that the House would reverse itself when a call vote was taken on the reduction, which was proposed by Rep. Bartel J. Jonkman, Mich.
 Another amendment, tentatively approved by the House and subject to a roll call, provided that no Communist dominated nations would be eligible for relief assistance until they permit American goods to handle the distribution supplies.

(Continued from Page One) week and $4 for others. Seven other fringe issues were settled, including a new progression schedule that will guarantee up to $2 more for some workers.

The settlement with the FTW did not mean resumption of normal service in Pennsylvania. Workers still out there included 1,000 employees of Western Electric and 1,600 employees of the A T & T, all affiliated with the NFTW.

In Washington Robert Creasey, chief negotiator for NFTW's long distance workers, was encouraged by the outcome of the Pennsylvania negotiations.

"Inasmuch as the first wage offers have been made," he said, "we anticipate a feeler at least from A T & T." He predicted the first cash offer would come today.

Federal conciliators—announcing only that "the clouds are clearing"—still had on hand their latest settlement formula. It was based on a substantial wage boost for long lines workers and assurance by A T & T that 21 affiliated Bell firms would follow the pattern.

They had hoped to present the formula yesterday but didn't get the change. Long lines negotiations broke up in a huff when company spokesmen held fast to their previous proposal—arbitration of wages.

Union sources predicted that a break also was imminent in negotiations with Western Electric. Henry Mayer, attorney for several striking unions of the National Federation of Telephone Workers, said he expected a wage offer from Western Electric today.

In Fort Dodge, Ia., meanwhile, 112 striking workers of the independent Fort Dodge Telephone Co., returned to their jobs under a new contract providing a 10 per cent across-the-board wage boost. It runs to March 15, 1948.

Erich Brandeis'

"We have neglected to sell ourselves to ourselves," states a very interesting letter that has just come to my attention. Since the letter is not addressed to me nor has it been written for publication, I can't divulge the identity of the writer. Suffice to say that he is a well-known man in an important position. "With the possible exception of George Washington, Abraham

Lincoln and perhaps one or two other Presidents, the writer comments, "no politician has ever made more than a minor contribution to the welfare of America as compared with the tremendous contributions made by the men of industry. "The inventions of Watt, Howe, McCormick and the accomplishments of the men who created great industries based on those inventions have added immeasurably more to the health, welfare, progress and well-being of every American than anything accomplished by politician and other highly publicized characters. "The list of such men, is long. The excitement and dramatic possibilities of the life of Henry Ford, for instance, could be an inspiration to every youth of this country. "The story of what American enterprise has accomplished in our system of private competitive business, the opportunities it has given, the tremendous contributions it has made to material welfare and, above all, to the preservation and extension of individual freedom and to human happiness, has never been properly told. "We have the greatest production ability in the world and are the world's best salesmen, but we have neglected, unfortunately, to sell ourselves to ourselves. Well, I don't think it is quite as bad as the writer charges in his last paragraph, but I do believe that we have given entirely too much publicity to the talkers rather than the doers. Every child knows the story of our so-called statesmen and of the politicians who are adroit enough to exploit themselves publicly. In every history book there are copious accounts of generals and military heroes. But very little is said about the magnificent accomplishments of our great inventors, our industrialists, our manufacturers and business men. "Capital" nowadays is considered an evil influence upon our lives. Yet, have you any idea how much good has been done with capital? The Rockefellers, the Mellons, the Carnegies, the Milbanks, the Lewisohns, and hundreds of others have used their millions for the betterment of mankind. Medicine, art, literature, religion and many other branches of our spiritual and cultural life have benefited tremendously by the good deeds of those people whom we are prone to criticize as greedy and grasping. So let us be fair. Let us judge our millionaires not so much by how they get their money but what they do with it after they

Inside WASHINGTON
Truman-GOP Clash Expected | Goods, Labor Supply Boost
If Three Big Bills Are Vetoed | Seen Increasing Farm Debts
Special to Central Press
● WASHINGTON—President Truman is generally expected to clash with Republican majorities in Congress by vetoing three major bills now in process of preparation. These bills would annul portal-to-portal pay suits, institute sweeping labor reforms and cut taxes. Deep rumblings of a veto against the portal pay suit bill have already echoed through Capitol corridors. Considerable delay has been encountered, however, in getting final action on the bill because of the difficulties confronting the Senate-House conference committee. If this bill finally reaches the White House and is vetoed, it will be the first major clash between the chief executive and the GOP-controlled Congress. If Congress should pass a comparatively mild labor bill, there is a chance that the president might approve it. The legislation now being routed through the two chambers, however, is loaded with drastic strike and union curbs. A presidential veto is generally predicted if a bill of this kind is finally passed. The tax reduction bill is almost certain to head into a veto unless the measure finally passed is far different from the "20-30" per cent income tax cut measure approved by the House. As to whether Congress would pass any of these bills over a veto—there is a possibility, in the case of the labor legislation, that this might be done. On portal pay suits the result of a veto is doubtful, while in the case of the tax bill a veto is almost certain to be sustained.

AMERICAN FARMERS ARE EXPECTED to go deeper into debt in 1947 than they have at any time during the past few years. The Agriculture department anticipates a net increase in farmers' debts this year and warns that short-term credit will be used extensively. The department attributes its predictions to two separate factors. First, it points to the increased supply of labor and goods; secondly, to prospects of continued good farm income. Favorable farming conditions last year, together with good prospects for 1947, are encouraging further expansion of farm production this year. The return of veterans and war workers to the farm is making more farm labor available and this trend may lead to more acres of crops and an increase in the number of livestock. This general expansion will in many cases involve the purchase of farm machinery, enlargement of farm buildings and the use of more feed, fertilizer and supplies. Farm people also want and need automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines, radios and many other durable goods which are only now re-appearing in quantity on the market. All these conditions are expected to influence farmers to borrow more money this year in the expectation of paying it back in the future. ● A YEAR AGO, when a telephone strike threatened the nation, negotiations had proceeded to the point where tempers were sharp. Charges and countercharges were being tossed about the conference room where the disputants wrangled. It seemed that the meeting would blow up and the strike be called. At that moment, Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwellenbach called his small acrobatic dog, Ginger, into the room. He put Ginger through her paces. The onlookers relaxed. The tension was relieved. Within a matter of hours an agreement was reached and there was no strike. Perhaps Ginger had little to do with it but observers gave her credit if only as a lucky omen. This year Schwellenbach tried it again as the phone strike loomed. He called her in, put her through her paces but the disputants went right back at it. Ginger had missed.

"Cap" Pistols Held Illegal

INDIANAPOLIS, April 30.—(UP)—Toy cap-guns are "def-illegals" in Indiana, state officials said today.

The tranquility of virtually every Indiana community came to an abrupt end immediately after the 85th general assembly legalized toy pistols and paper caps. Eight years of comparative peace among the Hoosier kiddies was disrupted with make-believe gangland wars and wild west shootings.

But spokesmen at the state house told the United Press today that the new law would not become effective until June 1.

For "firing, displaying or selling" such equipment, explained the state officials, violators—including parents, their children, wholesalers and retailers—were liable to a $100 fine, 90 days in jail, or both.

Herbert Kenney, chief of the state legislative bureau, said cap guns and allied toys were outlawed in 1939 by a law which at the same time outlawed all types of fireworks except those used in approved displays by licensed operators.

However, Senate Bill 290, passed in the recent General Assembly, separated cap guns and their ammunition from the 1939 law and put them back in the hands of the younger set—effective June 1.

Kenney said that many par-
