WINTER COMES

Monday was the first day of winter as well as one of the shortest days of the year. Sunday was also one of the shortest days, and it won't be so long until there will be considerable difference in the length of the day.

The sun rose this morning at 7:02 o'clock and will set at 4:39 o'clock. So far as we know the sun was shining somewhere, but not in this community.

Saturday night as well as Sunday night were bad for motorists who were on the highways. A dense fog settled down over the city shortly before eight o'clock and Sunday night it was almost impossible to see any distance.

Western Union Strike Averted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (UP)—A threatened pre-Christmas strike of 50,000 Western Union employees was averted today but the postponement raised the possibility of telephone and telegraph strikes in close order next spring.

At the request of the government, three AFL unions called off the nationwide telegraph strike they had threatened to start "at any time." The unions and the company agreed to begin new wage negotiations.

If the negotiations again bog down, the telegraph wage dispute may be moving toward a new boiling point just about the time some 250,000 telephone workers will be demanding new contracts.

The Telephone Workers Union, the Communications Workers of America (Ind.)—served notice today that it would seek new wage increases when its contracts expire next spring.

Union President Joseph Beirne said three seemed no alternative to new wage demands. He said Congress has indicated it has "little intention of doing much" next year to halt or reduce rising prices.

The threat of an immediate telegraph strike was removed last night when company and union officials accepted a government proposal and agreed to let a public fact-finding investigate the "wage-profit" relationship in the telegraph industry.

The three AFL unions—The Commercial Telegraphers, The Telegraph Workers and the Telegraph employees—had accepted a similar government proposal last month but it was rejected at that time by Western Union.

Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said the Fact-Finding Panel would have no power to "determine or make any finding as to what, if any, wage increase shall be granted." The unions had asked a 15-cent-an-hour pay increase.

Ching said he would announce the names of the panel members "shortly." He said they would be given 50 days to investigate the dispute and make a public report. After that, the unions and the company have agreed to resume direct negotiations on the wage demand.

A walkout by the three AFL unions would have tied up Western Union service everywhere in the nation except Metropolitan New York, where Western Union employees are organized by the CIO.

Retired Monon Employee Dies

Fred Query, age 63 years, passed away Sunday evening at 8:30 at his home in Cloverdale. He was a retired Monon employee, and had spent most of his life in the Cloverdale community.

The deceased was a member of the Red Mens Lodge and the Masonic lodge in Quincy, Ind. Survivors are: the widow, two daughters, Mrs. Violet McHenry of Gosport, and Mrs. Loyal Cummings of Quincy, two sons, Chester, of Cloverdale and Herman of Indianapolis.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Whitaker Funeral Home in Cloverdale. Burial will be in Cloverdale cemetery.

Friends may call at the family residence in Cloverdale.

TAXI DRIVER INJURED IN AUTO MISHAP

TWO OTHER MINOR ACCIDENTS REPORTED
HERE BY POLICE

One man was in the Putnam county hospital Monday as result of one of three traffic accidents in the Greencastle vicinity over the weekend.

Leon Phillips, driver of a local taxicab, was admitted to the hospital at 1 o'clock Sunday morning following a mishap near the intersection of roads 36 and 38 north of Greencastle.

According to state policeman George Hecko of the Putnamville Post who was called to the scene Phillips was going east on 36 when his taxi went out of control about two miles west of Morton. The machine careened across the pavement and crashed into an embankment on the north side of the highway. Phillips was painfully injured in the accident and the taxi was badly damaged. He was traveling alone at the time, Hecko stated.

Two other mishaps Saturday within the city limits were investigated by local police who reported some property damage but fortunately no one was hurt.

A 1946 Hudson sedan, driven by Albert Shuey, Route 4 and a 1937 DeSoto coach, driven by Vern Hardenbrook, were involved in a minor crash on south Jackson street at 4:30 p. m. Saturday.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, a 1939 Pontiac coach driven by Everett Masten, Route 2, and a truck driven by William H. Perkins, route 4, got together at the corner of Vine and Columbia streets. The slick condition of the streets was blamed for this mishap.

Rites Tuesday For Mrs. White

Mrs. Maude S. White, age 84 years, died at her home in Commercial Place early Sunday morning after a short illness.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Martha Redding, two sons, Thomas and Ellis White and a step-son, James White, all of Greencastle; a sister, Mrs. Cordis Phelps and a brother Frank Moore, both of Tennessee.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Apostolic Gospel Tabernacle, in charge of Rev. Charles W. Raines. Burial will be in Deer Creek cemetery. Friends may call at the home.

Helicopter Falls Killing Two Men

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 22.—(UP)—The Oregon Journal's helicopter, pioneer of a new style of aerial journalism, crashed and burst into flames last night, killing C. S. (Sam) Jackson II, 34, Journal associate publisher, and Ambrose M. Cronin, Jr., prominent Portland businessman.

Jackson, grandson of the founder of the Journal, and Cronin, father of six, died in the flaming wreckage of the green-and-white craft on the West Hills golf course, only 200 yards from Cronin's home.

Jackson's grandfather, C. S. Jackson, established the afternoon Journal in 1902, and was an early day vice president of United Press. At the time of his death, young Jackson was associate publisher and treasurer of the Journal and manager of KALE, the journal's radio outlet.

Cronin was a son-in-law of Caroline Leadbetter, former president of the board of directors of the Portland Oregonian, morning newspaper. He was president of the Electrical Distribution Co., secretary of the Cornin Co., of Portland, and director of several corporations, including the Oregon Pulp and Paper Co., Salem, Ore.

Jackson, Stanford University graduate and a navy pilot in World War II, was at the controls when the helicopter crashed. He had been a lunch guest at the Cronin home Sunday noon.

Plane Crash Kills Four at Terre Haute

Wreckage of a private plane which crashed on a farm two miles southwest of the airport at Terre Haute, Ind., killing its four occupants. The dead are Steve Student, 21, Coal Dale, Pa.; Will Student, 26, Kansas City; Raymond Zielinski, 22, Redding, Pa.; and Charles J. Fossler, jr., 21, of Penfield, Pa. The accident occurred during the night probably due to lack of fuel. (International)

Discussed 1948 4-H Club Plans

Nineteen 4-H Club leaders and local 4-H committee members met at the county extension office Friday afternoon and discussed plans for the 1948 4-H club year.

The extension agents, Mr. Harris and Miss Smith summarized the activities of the 735 boys and girls enrolled in 1132 4-H Club projects during the past year. Ten 4-H achievement programs were held in November with 1324 in attendance.

Enrollment in beef, dairy, sheep flock, poultry flocks and sow and litter projects for the coming year was requested to be in the county office not later than January 1st.

4-H Home Economics project enrollment may continue until the local leaders file their permanent club membership in April and May. It was announced that the handicraft project would be revised to have it provide better background for the room improvement and interior decoration activities of the older club girls.

Present at the meeting were: Mrs. James Nicholson, Mrs. Bob Wichman, Mrs. Harold Sibbitt, Mrs. James Torr, Mrs. Wm. McElroy, Mrs. Ray Evans, Mrs. Ed Early, Mrs. Durbin O'Hair, Mrs. Robert John, Mrs. Ralph D. Clodfelter, Mrs. Claud Etcheson, Mrs. Ceda Mitchell, Mrs. Charles Star, Mrs. Everett Ellis, Mrs. Mildred Cook, Mrs. Doris Salsman, Noel Nicholson, James Risk, Irwin Wallace and Kenneth Harris and Lucile Smith.

Plan Special Farm Meetings

Announcement of extension schools or special winter meetings for farmers of Putnam County has been received by the County Extension Office. The first school will be on Livestock Marketing to be held Wednesday afternoon, January 7.

The announcement came from the office of Associate Director L. E. Hoffman of the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Service. "These schools present opportunities for the farmers of Putnam county to obtain the latest information on agricultural subjects, and to plan for 1948 activities." The subjects of the schools, the dates and the specialist assigned are as follows:

Livestock Marketing—Jan. 7, 1:00-4:00 P. M. Court House Assembly Room, Paul Mitchell

Dairy Management, Jan. 16, 1:00-4:00 P. M. Court House Assembly Room Ed Gannon

Farmstead Improvement School, Jan. 27-28, 10:00-3:00 each day, Mr. Hull, Mr. Damaree, Mr. Mayer, and Miss Hutcheson—Gobin Memorial Church

Farmers and homemakers of Putnam County are invited to attend all of these meetings. More complete information will be given later through the press but local farmers should reserve these dates as important functions through the Extension Office.

Miss Gates First Willkie Scholar

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 22.—(UP)—Patricia Gates, daughter of Governor and Mrs. Ralph Gates and a senior in the department at Indiana University, today was named the University's first Wendell Willkie scholar to the United Nations.

Under the appointment, which includes a study grant of $300 by the I. U. Foundation, Miss Gates will go to Lake Success, N. Y., for two months to take a course made available to students chosen by American universities.

Selection of the governors' daughter was based on "her outstanding scholastic record, her interest in the field of government, her leadership in extra-curricular activities, and the extent to which the benefits of training and knowledge of the United Nations would be passed on to others upon her return to the campus," I. U. officials said.

FAMED FLYING TIGER KAS CHINESE BRIDE

SHANGHAI, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault of Flying Tiger fame was honeymooning today with his new Chinese bride, 24-year-old Anna Chan, newspaperwoman and daughter of the former Chinese consul general in San Francisco.

The two were married yesterday at Chennault's home, Hollywood, in the Hungjiao suburb of Shanghai. Chennault, 57, was divorced early this year by his first wife. He has six sons and two daughters by his first marriage.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Dr. Y. W. Chan, who formerly served in San Francisco and recently was appointed consul for Kuching, Sarawak. The bride's stepmother, who recently arrived from San Francisco, also was present.

Best man at the wedding was Col. Thomas Gentry, Chennault's longtime comrade in arms, and the bridesmaid was Miss Cynthia Chan of Canton, older sister of the bride.

Other guests included Arthur Rosen, U. S. vice consul, and George Yeh, assistant Chinese foreign minister. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ralph Mortenson.

Mark Hellinger Died Suddenly

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22. (UP)—Mark Hellinger, 44, columnist, short story writer and movie producer, will be buried Wednesday, the day he was to announce an agreement with David O. Selznick which would have made him one of the top men in the motion picture industry.

Hellinger, the first man to cover New York's Broadway as a news beat, was stricken with a heart attack late Saturday night while watching the private showing of his latest movie in his hilltop mansion.

He was taken to Cedars of Lebanon hospital and died about 2 a. m. yesterday in the arms of his wife, ex-Ziegfeld Follies beauty Gladys Glad.

LATEST WIRE NEWS

Pauley Among 711 Speculators

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Edwin W. Pauley, special assistant to the Secretary of the Army, was the only current government employe listed today among 711 "big time" commodity traders who were disclosed by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Ralph K. Davies, business associate of Pauley and former deputy petroleum coordinator for war, was the only ex-government official named as an individual in the first installment of Anderson's speculators list, which eventually will bare more than 14,000 names.

The first list showed that the heaviest single 1947 traders in wheat futures to be named so far was the Nacional Distribuidora of Mexico City, which had speculative holdings totaling 4,925,000 bushels.

Other top 1947 wheat traders named included: B. F. Lindheimer, Chicago and Los Angeles sportsman, Paul E. Berry, Chicago, Cargill, Inc., Minneapolis, Edwin B. Cox, Dallas, Tex., J. H. Griffin, Chicago, E. T. Maynard, Chicago, Duane Norton, Cumberland, Iowa, Daniel F. Rice, Chicago.

Only Hoosier name on the first list of wheat traders was that of Ura Seeger, of Marshfield, Ind. The M. A. Delph Co., Inc., of Indianapolis, was listed as one of the large speculators in lard futures.

Says Wallace Will Announce

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 22.—(INS)—Gov. M. E. Thompson of Georgia, said today that he had just learned from Washington sources that Henry Wallace will announce his candidacy as a third presidential party candidate.

Thompson said he had been informed by "high Democratic sources" that Wallace will announce his candidacy Dec. 29 probably in Chicago.

15-Year Prison Term For Dancer

HAVANA, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Patricia "Satira" Schmidt, 22-year-old Toledo, O., dancer was sentenced today to 15 years in prison for killing her lover, John Lester Mee, one-time Chicago lawyer and PT-boat commander.

Found guilty of homicide in the fatal shooting of Mee aboard the yacht "Satira" in Havana harbor last April, the girl also was ordered to pay a fine of $5,000.

Four Ambushed In Arab Village

JERUSALEM, Dec. 22.—(INS)—The underground Irgun Zvai Leumi, armed with tommy-guns and bombs and wearing battle-dress uniforms, swooped down on an Arab village today and killed four persons.

The attack is believed to have been in retaliation for yesterday's Arab ambushes of Jewish convoys, in which two Jews were killed and four wounded.

STATE MOURNS THE DEATH OF NOTED WRITER

MEREDITH NICHOLSON
PASSED AWAY IN INDIANAPOLIS SUNDAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Indiana today mourned the death of Meredith Nicholson, former U. S. ambassador to Paraguay and Nicaragua and last of the authors of the golden era of Hoosier literature.

Nicholson died yesterday in a hospital where he was taken two weeks ago. He suffered diabetes and bronchial pneumonia. He was 82 last Dec. 9.

His family was expected to announce plans for his funeral today. His only survivors is a son, Meredith Nicholson, Jr.

Nicholson's road to success was a series of stepping stones in which one job led him into another until he became one of Indiana's best known authors, an authority on political philosophy, and the representative of this nation in Latin America.

He was born in Crawfordsville, Ind., the same town in which Lew Wallace, author of Ben Hur, was born. Nicholson's father was a farmer who fought as a captain in the Civil War.

As a boy, Nicholson worked in a drug store. Later he became a printer's devil. Meanwhile, he "read" the law. His experience in printing led him to a job as reporter for the old Indianapolis Sentinel, after which he spent 13 years on the staff of the Indianapolis News.

It was during this time that he began serious writing. His first published work was a volume of poems entitled "Short Flights." It appeared in 1891. Gradually he turned away from the news field and devoted more of his books.

In time, critics ranked him along with Indiana's other great writers—Wallace, Booth Tarkenton, James Whitcomb Riley and George Ade.

He took greater pride, however, in his essays than in his more than 30 novels.

"I hold that anyone can write a novel," he said.

Through the years, he devoted more and more of his essays to political subjects. He was an independent Democrat. As result of his political writing, President Woodrow Wilson offered to appoint him minister to Portugal. Nicholson turned it down because he did not approve of Lisbon as a place to raise his children.

He accepted, however, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed him minister to Paraguay in 1933. He served five years and then became minister to Nicaragua.

Friends said that his powerful build, strong facial features, sense of humor and powerful sense of civic responsibility contributed much to his success as a statesman.

JAMES G. REASOR TAKES AUCTIONEERING COURSE

James G. Reasor is at home from the Decatur School of Auctioneering where he spent three weeks in completing the course in livestock judging, sales service, sales management, pedigree reading, and advertising, and other services which come in connection with the average farm livestock sale.

He was one of 165 young men taking the course from 33 states and four provinces in Canada. The class included farmers, bankers, and other professions.

Brazil Netters Here Tomorrow

Coach Harold "Babe" Wheeler and his up and coming Brazil high school netters will invade the Greencastle gym Tuesday evening to meet the Tiger Cubs. Due to the long-standing rivalry between the two schools, fans are assured a red hot basketball encounter.
The Cubs, as result of their victory over Delphi last Friday night, will trot out on the hardwood court determined to give the Brazilians some of the same medicine. On the other hand, there is nothing that Babe Wheeler likes better than to defeat Greencastle in any kind of sport, so you have "the makings" of a real feud.
There will be a curtain raiser at 7 p. m. followed by the main attraction about 8:15.

Air Forces' C-82's.

Four Died In Airplane Crash

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Dec. 22.—(UP)—Civil Aeronautics Administration officials said today that an empty gas tank forced the pilot of a small plane to attempt an emergency landing which killed four persons on a snow-covered knoll here during the weekend.
The victims were identified as Steve Student, Jr., (211 E. Ridge St.), Coaldale, Pa., Charles J. Fassler, Jr., Penfield, Pa., Raymond Peter Zielinski, (614 Ave. 5) Reading, Ja., and William Paul Student, 26, Kansas City, Mo.
Wreckage of the blue Stinson cabin plane was found Saturday morning by Lloyd Ellis, a farmer into whose field the plane crashed.
CAA Technician M. E. Walker, at the Terre Haute airport said the gas tank was empty. The plane did not catch fire, he said.
The CAA control tower at Hulman Field, two miles northwest of the crash scene, reported it had been in touch with the pilot for an hour before the crash. A pilot had messaged the field that he wanted to land at Terre Haute because of fog and a low gasoline supply.
A flight map in the plane had a circle around Columbus, O., and authorities believed that was its destination. The plane had taken off from St. Louis and and with other friends was to have remained for dinner.

Jackson flew the helicopter from its home base atop the new Journal building in downtown Portland to the golf course, landing near the Cronin home. During the afternoon, it was suggested that Jackson and Cronin make a flight together.
They took off at 4 p. m., circling over the golf course and hovering above the Cronin home while Cronin's family and dinner guests watched from the veranda.
Suddenly, the plane faltered. Some eye-witness accounts said the engine seemed to sputter. Others agreed that the helicopter apparently was caught in a downdraft. At 400 feet altitude, it made a sudden U-turn, wheeled and plummeted to the earth.
Cronin's family, a few golfers and residents in the golf club area saw the helicopter plunge swiftly behind a hill. It skidded and turned end over end, then exploded with a puff of flame fed by gasoline.
Witnesses ran to the wreck but the intense heat made it impossible to recover the burned bodies for 15 minutes. Cronin was thrown clear. Jackson's

SANTA LETTER

Would you please bring a nice, Dear Santa—big sign for the Putnam County Hospital, and place it on the highway where people can see it; also some markers in town where strangers as well as confused townsmen, if they had a wreck, could find it. If you haven't any signs, bring a Red Cross. I was two hours finding the hospital last week. I asked 16 people and each gave me different directions. When I finally found the hospital, I felt dizzy and am

NOTICE TO BIDDERS OF LETTING GARBAGE CONTRACT
Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Greencastle, Indiana, will receive sealed bids for the sale of all garbage collected by the city of Greencastle from March 1, 1948 to Feb. 28, 1950. Set price to be based on per 100 weight, to be delivered to the premises of the purchaser, provided however, no bid will be considered if such premises are more than 5 miles from the city limits of Greencastle. Upon the acceptance of said bid by said city, the bidder will be required to enter a written contract with said city, which contract shall provide that such bidder will prepare or have prepared adequate facilities to receive and handle such garbage from an improved highway, and shall contain such other provisions as may be required and deemed proper by said city, and such bidder will be required to give bond in such amount as may be determined by said city for the faithful performance of such contract. Bids will be properly and completely executed with non-collusion affidavit as required by law. Bids will be received at the office of the clerk-treasurer of said city until 7:30 o'clock p. m. January 5, 1948. A bond or certified check payable to the city of Greencastle, Indiana, will be required to be filed with each bid in the amount of $100. The right to reject any and all bids and to ask for new bids is reserved. Witness my hand and seal of

The Bainbridge Community Service Club met Thursday night December 11 with Mrs. Ralph Clodfelter, whose home was tastefully decorated in keeping with Xmas.

The meeting was opened by the President and group singing the song of the month "Joy To The World." Each member was asked to give clothes to the Red Cross and the Club voted to buy a health bond. The Club also voted to draw names and have a shadow Pal for the coming year.

After the business session the 1948 officers were installed by Mrs. Bernice Steward in a very pretty candlelight service. Mrs. Dale Ross being the new president.

two parts and today is so faint it cannot be observed by the naked eye." Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper, director of Yerkes Observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., said splitting of the comet "must be the result of the comet coming very close to the sun." Splitting of the comet occurred on Dec. 18. At that time the two components were of equal brightness and about five seconds apart. By Dec. 19 the distance had increased to seven seconds and the north-west component was three times as bright as the other.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 22.—(INS)—The Speer Siamese twins have "continued their slightly down-hill course over the week end," according to a report issued at noon today from James Whitcomb Riley hospital in Indianapolis. Dr. Donald Casley, director of the Indiana University Medical Center, said the twin boys—joined together by a rigid bony structure at the tops of their heads—were not assimilating their formula. He said:

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(INS)—President Truman's commission on higher education wants the government to spend one billion dollars a year in federal scholarships to provide college education for 20 per cent of the nation's non-veteran students. The commission urged that 135 million dollars be expended by the federal government in 1948-49 to aid needy college students as a "starting point" in the program.

Communication of Hungary Too Slow for Muscovites | See "Feud" Twixt Vaughan And Pentagon High Brass

WASHINGTON—Reports reaching the State department from Hungary indicate that the communizing of that country is not proceeding as rapidly as the Communists wish. Censorship has not been imposed as completely and thoroughly as in most of the other satellite states.

This and other factors have aroused speculation on why the Communist regime has not taken sterner steps. However, the Communists are making "reforms." The latest is aimed at curbing the "lobbyists" of the old capitalist regime. Recently a decree was issued which reported that large delegations from the provinces had come to Budapest to speed settlement of issues before the Parliament.

The government, it is reported, took "energetic measures" to stop this practice. A decree was issued. It provided that delegations from the provinces might approach the authorities only in exceptional cases, and then in groups of no more than three.

Officials suspect that this is an indication of the instability of the new Hungarian regime which fears that too large groups converging on the capital might threaten an anti-Communist coup.

VAUGHAN'S FEUD—There is little love lost between Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, President Truman's gregarious military aide, and officers of the regular Army. Observers see continuing indications of a "feud."

Vaughan, a reservist, is said to have been responsible for the chief executive's recent decision to scrutinize the records of regular officers who have been retired with tax-free pensions for disability not incurred in combat.

The troubles of Maj. Gen. Bennett Meyers—a regular—gave the White House aide a springboard from which to launch a probe of the disability retirement setup.

Vaughan has made no secret of his belief that a number of retired officers are riding the gravy train and he has vowed he'll "get something done" about it. This has not endeared him to the Pentagon brass.

The White House general encountered an Army roadblock when he decided to take all the members of the Sunday school class he teaches to the Army-Navy football game as his guests.

His request for a huge sheaf of tickets was bounced back and forth like a shuttlecock in a badminton game, and he finally was compelled to settle for "only a few" of the precious pasteboards.

Insiders in Washington military circles expect new developments since Vaughan is not the type to accept rebuffs without retaliation.

WOMEN WORKERS—The problem of women workers is beginning to crop up more and more in bargaining conferences between labor and management. Some unions apparently are worried about competition that women add to the manpower market for the payroll dollar.

An example of the union view is contained in the contract recently signed by Lever Brothers company, soap manufacturers, and the I.O. Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers union.

This agreement bluntly and specifically banned the employment of married women except where they are self-supporting due to divorce, a legal separation, physical disability or death of a husband, or if the husband is in military service.

Obviously, this type of union demand could not, and will not, be pressed in industries which have traditionally employed women such as textiles, apparel, drugs and the like.

However, where the employment of women was a war-born development, you can expect increasing attention on the part of the unions to clauses dealing with female employees.

REGARDING BANKS

By R. D. McMain, President, Indiana Bankers Association, Indianapolis, Dec. 22 (INS)—In every section of the country men of business are launching programs concerning their services or products which they hope will be accepted by the public.

The day-to-day financial services performed for thousands of individuals in every walk of life offer to banks a timely opportunity for influencing public thinking about the importance of those institutions.

Banks are being encouraged to bear their full share of responsibility in selling the American economic system to the people. That it needs selling at all is evidence enough that those who influence the operations of the free enterprise system haven't realized the seriousness of the assaults against it.

No longer can bankers consider it sufficient to provide financial service to the communities in which they operate—they must convince the committees that no one else can do it as well as they can.

In the past banks have provided services they felt to be expected of them. But in the complexities of our modern economy new responsibilities and new needs have given birth to improved banking methods and techniques. Banks are no longer mere institutions of deposit and lending, but civic enterprises geared to the needs of every person and organization—from the wage earner to the biggest corporation.

To consolidate their positions on the community level, banks are adjusting their own internal affairs and turning attention to the development of people rather than the management of things. The first step in the program calls for a re-appraisal of personnel and employment policies. Scientific selection of employees, supervised training courses, evaluation of jobs and opportunities are becoming standard practices with banks.

The favorable factors of bank employment are being brought to the attention of employees and the public to prove that bank personnel policies do not suffer by comparison with industry. The much discussed guaranteed annual wage and guaranteed annual job which industry has been asked to provide, have been enjoyed for years by employees of banks. Through pension and retirement plans, banks establish a definite pattern for advancement of department managers and junior executives to positions of greater responsibility.

Banks are good citizens and keenly aware of their community responsibilities. Officers and employees actively participate in civic movements, knowing their banks will grow in direct proportion as the community prospers under the stimulation of their leadership. Banks have the power within themselves—and the opportunity is theirs—to use their influence and character in molding public thinking in such a fashion that our economic system will stand secure in spite of any criticism made against it.

The banks of the nation—each in its own community—through their millions of daily contacts, can contribute in a substantial manner to selling and making better understood the economic system which makes our present day banking services possible.
