

Mrs. Roth is honored

The Girl Scout motto "To help other people at all times," has been a part of the philosophy of Mrs. Ernest Roth of Bainbridge for the last three years. Mrs. Roth has served as the president of the Covered Bridge Girl Scout Council. The council, of which Greencastle is a part of and has received $3,000 from the United Fund Agency, and has over one thousand young girls in scouting from Putnam County.

Mrs. Roth has been active in scouting for almost twenty years and lives in Bainbridge. She was honored at a coffee today at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. J.L. Stamper, Mrs. Stamper is the District Director for this area of three counties of the council. All Brownies, Girl Scout leaders and their assistants were invited. Mrs. Calvin Dyer serves the neighborhood chairman.

Mrs. Dyer is currently working with the Covered Bridge Girl Scout Council on plans for a Girl Scout Festival to be held in May.

The Council has been strengthened under Mrs. Roth's leadership as well as many Girl Scouts in the Bainbridge and Greencastle area. Friends interested in scouting are welcome to come Tuesday at 9:30.

'FAVORITE SON SIGNS'—Signs boosting Governor Branigin as a 'favorite son' candidate for president of the United States have appeared in many places locally. Branigin will run in the May 7 primary against Senator Robert F. Kennedy and Senator Eugene McCarthy in the presidential preference race.

Dental health

This is a notice to all school representatives of the dental health summer program of stannous fluoride treatments.

This has been offered to all students in grades 2 and 5 and 8 in all school corporations in Putnam County.

The meeting to schedule times for treatments will be held at the Greencastle Gas Office at 1 p.m. Wednesday. Please bring envelopes and money to turn over to the treasurer at that time.

Committee in high gear

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—The "Branigin for President Committee" has its campaign machinery in high gear in efforts to send "favorite son" Governor Branigin to the Democratic national convention this summer armed with the state's 63 delegate votes.

Branigin entered the May 7 presidential preference primary as a proxy for President Johnson, then decided to remain in the race on his own after the President withdrew.

Rights bill facing crucial House test

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A civil rights bill to ban housing discrimination and punish the racial violator Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., deplored faced a crucial House test today at almost precisely the hour of his funeral.

The showdown was to come at a meeting of the House Rules Committee, which agreed March 19 to decide today whether to send the Senate-passed bill to the floor for a yes-or-no vote Wednesday.

Strategists for the bill were confident they had more than enough votes in committee. Once the measure got by rules, they felt King's assassination had swung the balance in the House in favor of accepting it unchanged and sending it on to the White House.

But there were still a number of potential threats. At the start, the committee planned to hear final witnesses before voting, and Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., urged supporters to arrive promptly at 10:30 a.m. and stay in attendance to prevent any procedural upset.

The bill, put together by the Senate and passed 71 to 20 on March 11, would outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of 80 per cent of the country's homes and apartments by 1970.

In an unforeseen mirroring of the events of the past five days, it also would set stiff federal penalties for racial violence, either against minorities or by them. In provisions that might have been applied to King's slaying, the bill would prohibit interference with persons in exercising their rights or encouraging others to do so. Penalties would range as high as life imprisonment if the interference resulted in death. To crack down on civil disorder, the bill would set penalties of up to five years in prison and $10,000 in fines for crossing state lines or using interstate facilities to promote rioting, supplying weapons for use in riots, instructing rioters in the use of weapons or explosives, or interfering with officers or firemen during civil disorders.

In addition, the bill would establish a set of rights for Indians in their dealings with tribal councils and courts.

8 arrested 6 jailed

David Atha, 16, rural Cloverdale, was lodged in the Putnam County jail at 5:10 p.m. Friday by Deputy Sheriff Bob Ziegelman.

The youth was booked for trespass at the Fillmore School. Two college students were arrested Friday night and jailed for public intoxication.

William L. Holton, 20, was taken into custody on Main Street and slated at 8:04 p.m. by Officer John Pursell.

William P. Beatty, 21, was jailed at 9:02 p.m. by DePauw Security Officers Russell Clapp and Russell Coleman.

Charles Gregory, 26, Fillmore, was booked at 11:18 p.m. for public intoxication by Sheriff Bob Albright.

Herbert Lee McGraw, 20, Avenue D, was arrested and jailed at 4:20 Saturday afternoon by Officers Russell Rogers and John Purcell on a warrant charging assault and battery.

John T. Moag, Larchmont, New York, was arrested at 10 p.m. Saturday for reckless driving in Robe-Ann Park.

Marvin Overshiner, 24, 1040 Avenue D, was arrested at the Monon Grill at 5:43 Sunday morning by Officer Alva Hubble and booked at the jail for public intoxication.

High level talks held on Vietnam

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
THURMONT, Md. (UPI)—President Johnson planned to sit down today with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, the ranking U.S. civilian official in Saigon, for a second round of high-level talks on Vietnam.

Bunker, who was flying in from South Vietnam, was to join the Chief Executive, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford at Camp David, the presidential retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

Johnson disclosed Monday that he had received his first formal word through diplomatic channels from Hanoi on preparations for preliminary talks leading to peace negotiations.

"We shall be trying to work out promptly at a time and place for talks," he said. U.S. officials indicated that a reply would be sent to Hanoi very soon. In announcing Hanoi's reply, the President was careful to note that the United States was keeping its war allies fully informed on the diplomatic exchange.

Any hint by the United States of anything other than solidarity with the shaky South Vietnamese government could bring about the Saigon regime's downfall.

Thus it was expected that Bunker's conference with the President would be more in the nature of an overall review of the situation in Vietnam, rather than concentrating exclusively on the reply from Hanoi.

The White House disclosed that the official reply of the North Vietnamese government to the President's April 3 message arrived about 4 a.m. EST Monday by cablegram through diplomatic channels, probably Laos.

Assassin may be in Mexico

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. may have fled the country, according to indications today. The FBI has asked Mexican authorities to aid in the search.

A police spokesman in Mexico City said Monday that a drawing of the suspect, a composite of descriptions by persons who saw the white sniper in the Memphis rooming house from where King was shot, has been distributed throughout Mexico and at border crossing points.

The Mexican spokesman refused to divulge any further information.

"There is an investigation going on, that is all we can say," he said.

U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, in Washington, said Monday the "trail has lengthened" since Friday, the day after King slumped to his death

High and the low pay last respects to King

By H.D. QUIGG
UPI Senior Editor
ATLANTA (UPI)—The men who lead America and the men who sweep its streets came to Atlanta by the thousands today to pay their last respects to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., at a funeral unique in the nation's history.

The body of the slain integration leader lay in state in his red brick Ebenezer Baptist Church, awaiting family services at 10:30 a.m. EST and the team of prison farm mules that will draw his casket through the streets of Atlanta.

His followers searched through the night for a wagon to carry the casket.

Behind the coffin will come an estimated 50,000 persons, marching four miles from the church to Morehouse College in a last tribute to the man who won a Nobel Peace Prize marching on the dusty roads of the South.

Humphrey Attends

The mourners numbered Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, representing President Johnson; Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Senators Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy, rivals for the presidency. Several governors, the ambassadors of most of the world's nations, dozens of lawmakers, athletes and entertainers came with construction workers, maids, milkmen and 1,000 garbage collectors from Memphis, whose strike King was supporting when he was killed.

At the ceremonies at Ebenezer Baptist Church, closed to all but the family, close friends and nationwide television, a tape recording of one of King's last sermons was to be played. The Rev. Ralph Abernathy, new leader of King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), was to officiate.

After the ceremony, the casket was to be placed on a wagon drawn by two mules for the journey to Morehouse College.

"Dr. King was particularly attached to the idea of the mules as being symbolic of the needs of poor people," said an SCLC official.

Children Present
The widow and her four children were expected to walk behind the wagon for a block and then ride the rest of the way.

At the quadrangle of Morehouse, King's alma mater, tributes will be offered by the Rev. Andrew Young of SCLC; Roman Catholic Bishop John Wright of Pittsburgh; Dr. Joseph Lowrey, chairman of the board of SCLC; Deacon Charles Collier of the Ebenezer Church and Atlanta Mayor Ivan Allen.

Mahalia Jackson will sing "Precious Lord, Take my Hand," a favorite of King's which he requested seconds before he was slain. The service was to end with the anthem of his movement—"We Shall Overcome."

The body was to be taken by hearse five miles to South View Cemetery for burial, with Abernathy and the Rev. Victor Williams presiding.

Others expected to attend included Mrs. Medgar Evers, wife of the slain Mississippi Negro leader; Governors Nelson Rockefeller of New York, George Romney of Michigan, Harold Levander of Minnesota, Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania, and Otto Kerner of Illinois; Mayor John Lindsay of New York; three of President Johnson's Cabinet members and Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall; entertainers ranging from Marlon Brando to Leontyne Price, and former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali.

Never in American history has a Negro been accorded such a funeral, there is no record of a national mourning of this magnitude ever before held for someone never connected with the government.

Prize winner

James E. Robinson, Springfield, Ill., sophomore at DePauw University has captured the university's $200.00 Borden Prize for scholastic excellence. Awarded annually by the Borden Foundation of New York City, the honor goes to the DePauw freshman who has compiled the highest grade average. Announcement of the winner occurs during the recipient's sophomore year. The cash award was made Sunday night to Robinson during the Rector Scholarship Foundation dinner. Robinson is a mathematics major. He outstudied his nearly 700 freshman classmates while earning a 3.97 grade average. Special guests at the Rector banquet over which Director of Admissions and Financial Aid Louis Fontaine presided were President and Mrs. William E. Kerstetter and Dean Robert H. Farber.

Richmond seeks federal help

By HORTENSE MYERS
RICHMOND, Ind. (UPI)—Mayor Byron E. Klute and other city officials headed for Washington today to explore with federal officials possible avenues of assistance for the two-block area of downtown Richmond destroyed Saturday in a thunderous explosion and fire.

At latest count, Richmond police listed 43 bodies recovered from the rubble. Of that, 37 had been identified. Only six remained on the missing list.

Two persons originally on the missing list turned up alive. One was a hitchhiking college student, Bruce Barnes, age and address unknown, who turned up Monday in Akron, Ohio. He had been dropped near the scene of the explosion by a motorist about five minutes before the blast.

William Bradshaw, 72, Richmond, also was found safe and sound Monday after being on the missing list.

Two Still Critical
Seventeen persons remained hospitalized here, two in critical condition. Another was hospitalized here, two in critical condition. Another was hospitalized at Indianapolis.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., spoke to businessmen Monday night at a local country club, explaining government regulations concerning aid.

It was generally agreed that a number of problems are involved in securing any federal assistance. Bayh noted that no Office of Emergency Planning funds would be available because no federal buildings were lost in the explosion and fire.

He said Small Business Administration loans at 3 per cent interest are available only when loans cannot be obtained from commercial institutions. There was some possibility of aid from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, but only for public facilities.

Rescue workers returned to work today, sifting through the debris of eight shattered buildings. Officials speculated that if any more bodies are found, there would probably only be one or two.

Klute said inspection of buildings not too badly damaged began Monday and as each building is approved it will be returned to public use. Inspectors looked for such dangers as loosened cornices and crumbling plaster.

Although the blast and fire destroyed nearly two blocks of buildings, an area six blocks long was damaged.

Head For Washington
Mayor Klute and other city officials agreed to take up the problem in Washington and were scheduled to leave for the capital today.

Damage in terms of money has been estimated at $30 to $50 million. The face value of insurance policies on the destroyed buildings is only $12.5 million.

State Treasurer John K. Snyder said $3 million in state funds were being placed in two Richmond banks to bolster available loan money.

State fire marshal Norman Fesler and other investigators joined Richmond Fire Chief Donovan Johnson to probe the cause of the catastrophe. However, no official ruling was expected for some time.

The most prominent theory was that gunpowder in the basement of the Marting Arms Sporting Goods store was triggered. But it wasn't determined whether the blast originated in the gunpowder or whether a possible gas leak could have been ignited first.

The gunpowder was used by owner Don Marting to reload shells.

Klute said looting had not been a problem.

Kindergarten Round-up

The Greencastle Community Schools will not have a Kindergarten Round-up this spring. Kindergarten-age youngsters and their parents are most cordially invited to visit the kindergarten during the remaining days of April and the month of May. Please call the school principal for an appointment to visit.

Ready to talk says Hanoi radio

By ALBERT E. KAFF
TOKYO (UPI)—A North Vietnamese envoy is ready to meet with Americans at Phnom Penh or any other place acceptable to both sides for talks on ending U.S. bomb raids over North Vietnam, Hanoi Radio said today.

An English language broadcast stressed Hanoi's past insistence that the initial talks be held for the purpose of obtaining American agreement to stop all the bombing "and other acts of war" against North Vietnam. Only after that, the broadcast said, can formal peace negotiations begin.

(In Washington, officials indicated some meeting place other than Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, would be preferred because the United States has no embassy there and would not have adequate communications facilities. Cambodia broke off diplomatic relations with the United States in 1965.)

Quoting Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh the broadcast said that "a representative with ambassador rank of the government of the Republic of Vietnam is ready to make contact with a representative of the U.S. government in Phnom Penh or in another place to be mutually agreed upon."

It said Trinh's statement was in answer to questions by Charles Collingwood, a correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) who recently visited North Vietnam.

Trinh's statement said that in the course of the opening contacts "the American side will specify the date when the unconditional cessation of the U.S. bombing raids and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam will become effective.

Much of the remainder of the broadcast consisted of familiar attacks on the United States and on the Saigon government.

Graduates

Marine Private Calvin C. Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer H. Hess of 1101 Ave. C, Greencastle, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego.

He will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45 caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects, hygiene, first aid and sanitation, and the customs, courtesies, history and mission of the Marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join the Marine combat forces.

It broke our hearts to lose you, But you did not go alone, For part of us went with you The Day God called you home.

A happy home we once enjoyed How sweet the memory still, No one knows the silent heart-aches, Only those who have lost can tell,

Of the grief we bear in silence For you we loved so well. Sadly missed by Her family

Dear Folks: Many, many people have written in and told me different ways to dry sweaters. If you have a dryer, naturally the best thing is to lay it on top and stretch it to size and let it dry there. Other people dry them on screens, etc.

Well, you know those aluminum folding chairs that have woven plastic in the bottom and back? This is the greatest for drying sweaters! The reason is that the air comes up from the bottom... it's webbed you know.

If you have an old chair, I do suggest to put a bath towel over it first. These chairs accumulate soil.

That's why our clothes sometimes get dirty when we're sitting on them in white shorts or slacks. These chairs need to be washed from time to time.

So the next time you're watering your garden, wash down those chairs, too. They dry quickly and the aluminum and plastic are not harmed by water.

How's that for a blue-ribbon idea? Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: When making belts for my dresses, I cover the buckles while I'm at it.

As this is the first part of the dress that shows wear, it gives me a ready-made fresh idea? Heloise

Endorses Branigin

Charles Shuee, Putnam County Democratic Chairman has endorsed Governor Roger D. Branigin as the favorite-son candidate in the Indiana Presidential Primary election May 7.

Shuee said he has notified Governor Branigin and Gordon St. Angelo, Democratic State Committee Chairman, of his support and has offered all available assistance towards a victory on May 7.

In reply to Shuee's notice of his support, St. Angelo said, "It is extremely gratifying to know that Democratic party officials throughout the State are serving as living examples that Hoosiers are free and independent people and that they will resist the attempts by persons from outside the State to tell them how to vote."

St. Angelo reported that Putnam Democratic Chairman Shuee's support of Governor Branigin and 103 other county Democratic leaders is indicative of the Indiana spirit to let Indiana decide for itself as to who should emerge victorious in the May 7 primary election.

"Governor Roger Branigin is committed to no one except all the citizens of Indiana and these Democratic County Chairmen have captured the same spirit, vitality and dedication," St. Angelo said.

LADIES NIGHT American Legion Post #58 WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10 GUESTS INVITED LARGE JACKPOTS

Two county coaches resign posts

Two North Putnam Community School head basketball coaches have handed in their resignations with hopes of landing positions in larger schools. Carl Treece, Roachdale head mentor, and John Hutchinson, Russellville's varsity basketball coach, made the announcements about their resignations today.

Treece said he was leaving Roachdale with the intention of staying in coaching, but in a larger or consolidated school. "I don't have any particular place in mind right now," he said, "but I'm looking."

While at Roachdale Treece compiled a varsity basketball record of 17 wins and 23 losses. Before that he coached junior high basketball at Tipton and claimed a 19-4 winning record. He has a Masters Degree from Purdue in Science and has served as secretary-treasurer for the Putnam County Coaches Association.

John Hutchinson turned in a respectable 9-12 record at Russellville this year and expressed hopes of finding a spot in a larger school too. Probably the highlight of the season came when his team whipped Fillmore in the County Tourney and then had Cloverdale licked for a half game in the final.

Hutchinson

It was John's first attempt at basketball. Before hand he had coached football in Michigan. His overall record there was 19-12-1 and his team finished second in the conference every year but one.

John is planning on staying in basketball, but will switch to football if he sees a chance for a good job.

Cinder Season

by FRANK PUCKETT, JR. BANNER SPORTS EDITOR

It may be the cinder season, but it looks as though basketball is going to die hard especially for one young college freshman who matriculated at Greencastle a year or so ago.

Mike Troyer, one of the most proficient scorers in the history of GHS, will be a most welcomed addition to the University of Washington basketball team next season. One of the best, if not the best, outside shooters to play for the Huskies, Troyer will join a young and promising varsity squad next season after shattering the freshmen scoring records this past year.

The 5-10 sharpshooter from the Midwest, as they say out there in apple land, not only broke the individual frosh single game scoring record twice this season but also erased the season scoring mark for Husky yearlings. In 21 games, Troyer scored 483 points, an average of 23.0. That output far surpassed the old mark of 402 points (19.1 average) established two years ago by another eagle-eye guard, Gary Ostenson.

Midway through the past campaign, Troyer broke the single game record with a fantastic 46-point performance in a 110-106 loss to the freshmen from the University of Puget Sound. A few weeks later, in enemy territory, Mike put on an unforgettable show, pouring in 52 points in a losing effort to the University of Oregon freshmen, considered by many as the top rookie crop on the coast. In his blazing performance against the Ducklings from Oregon, Troyer hit on nearly every conceivable type of shot, and wound up the game by connecting on 18 of 30 field goal attempts, sixty-percent, and making good 16 of 17 tosses from the charity line.

Only once last season did the opposition keep the Indiana youngster out of the double figure columns, and that came against Oregon State's frosh when Troyer hit his season low of nine points. In addition to his 46 and 52 point performances, Troyer scored in the 30's twice and the 20's six times, and shot a commendable 44 percent for the season from the floor and 72 percent from the foul line.

The big advantage Mike enjoys over many sharp-shooting guards is his ability to shoot on the run, going to or away from the basket. Although he favors the jump shot (and well he should) he has learned other shots to help him inside where the big men prey the basket.

Although most freshmen find they have a lot to learn before they make the transition to top-notch varsity competition, Mike has adjusted well to other facets of the game.

"I think he has shown he can do just about everything asked of him on the court," commented his freshman coach, Lynn Nance.

"I know he will help the varsity a lot next season, but I sure hate to lose him on our club." Before too long, there may be a number of opposing coaches who wish Mike Troyer would remain a freshman forever.

Rick Ford makes All-Stars

Cloverdale's star Rick Ford, most recently voted as Putnam County's Most Valuable Player and winner of that award, has been selected as one of Indiana's All-Star high school basketball players slated to play Kentucky this year. Word was obtained from an unofficial, but very reliable source.

Ford is supposed to get acquainted with some selected teammates tonight in Indianapolis. One of them is said to be Carmel's Billy Shepherd.

An official release on the subject should be forthcoming from officials within a week or ten days.

Swim record

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia's Vladimir Kosinsky shattered the world record in the 200 meter breaststroke Wednesday with a 2:27.4 clocking in a duel meet against East Germany.

The time was four-tenths of a second better than the market set by Jan O'Brien of Australia in the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo.

Memorial Day field continues to climb

The official entry list for the 52nd annual 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on May 30 reached 46 today with the registration of four cars by Robert C. Wilke of Leader Cards, Inc., Milwaukee, Wis.

Two of the cars will run as Rislone Specials and one of them will be driven by Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., Jud Phillips will be the chief mechanic on both of the cars sponsored by Rislone, but no driver has been selected for the second car.

Ford V-8 racing engines will be used in the Leader Card Racers and similar units are available for the other two Wilke entries, but he indicated that four-cylinder turbocharged Offenhauser engines may be installed in the Rislone Specials. Unser, who won the recent Vegas, Nev., will be making his sixth "Indy" appearance this year. He finished eighth in 1966 and ninth in 1967. In addition to his ninth-place finish in the "500" last year, Unser won two USAC big car races and placed sixth or better in 11 other USAC Championship events

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—Where there's a wish, there's a way for the quack to move in on the gullible customer.

The old fashioned spieler offering magical cures for all ills is disappearing from the scene, but he's replaced by more sophisticated pitchmen who bilk the ever-hopeful public for more than $2 billion a year. The trade is in odd-ball diets, off-beat treatments, or at best the useless pills, capsules and liquids. And their victims come from every educational and economic level.

More Serious
Even more serious is the danger to those who are sidetracked from medical diagnosis and treatment needed, often delaying until it is too late.

Pseudo-scientific quacks and the health cultists who promise everything from restored youth to cancer cures are discussed in a new publication of the Public Affairs Committee, a non-profit educational organization.

Called "Fads, Myths, Quacks—and Your Health," its author is Jacqueline Seaver, a specialist in writing of the health field.

One of the favorite areas of operations for the charlatans, she says, is in the diet field where they push peculiar diets or food fads.

"Downing combinations like vinegar and honey or eating 'health' foods won't hurt most people. What will hurt almost everyone though is following a lopsided, fad diet for long," she says.

Miss Seaver discusses the hazards of the reducing pills, about which several medical journals have warned and which are under Senate investigation.

No Easy Way
There is just no easy way to lose weight, she says. "The only solution is willingness to go on a medically-recommended regimen, and stay on it, possibly for a lifetime."

How to tell a quack?
Miss Seaver says that "while there is no sure rule for detecting a quack, if you ask yourself the following questions, the answers will probably give you the truth":

—Does the "doctor" use a special machine or a "secret" remedy that he claims will cure the disease?

—Does he say the medical profession is against him and has been trying to suppress his wonderful discovery?

—How did you hear about the remedy or the "doctor"?

N. Viets agree to talks

By STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson said today Hanoi has formally agreed to work at a time and place for U.S.-North Vietnamese talks.

Johnson said Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker is flying home from Saigon to join U.S. officials for policy talks which will begin Tuesday at Camp David, Md.

Bunker is expected to arrive in Washington Thursday.

Johnson said the United States was notifying its allies about receipt of an official note from Hanoi.

Without going into details about the message from North Vietnamese leaders, Johnson said: "We shall be trying to work out promptly a time and place for talks."

Johnson told reporters the other participants would include Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford.

Johnson said he planned to go to Camp David tonight with key White House staff members.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk said today North Vietnam has "chosen Cambodia" as the site for preliminary talks with the United States.

Shortly before his announcement, Radio Hanoi said North Vietnam was willing to meet American representatives at Phom Penh or any other mutually agreeable city for preliminary talks.

Since the United States has no diplomatic relations with neutralist Cambodia—and thus no embassy in Phnom Penh—it would prefer to hold the talks in Burma or India.

As the United States and North Vietnam move toward "establishing contact," there were indications that both sides may have begun some reciprocal reduction in the scope of their military operations.

Chicken Popular In Germany
BONN (UPI)—Chicken meat, once served only at the tables of the wealthy in Germany, has become everyman's feast. Consumption went up during 1967 by 9 per cent, a consumer's organization reports, to reach a total of 224 million chickens, almost four for every man, woman and child in the country.

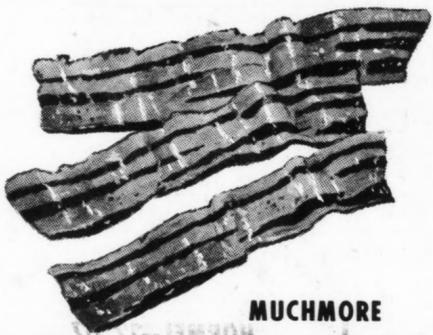

American producers popularized chicken here several years ago, but when German farmers realized the market they'd been passing up, they got into the business themselves, and forced the government to put up trade barriers to hold off U.S. competitors.

School releases poverty study

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—A University of Notre Dame study of three major cities claims mass attacks on poverty will fall unless they are adaptable to local conditions and attitudes.

"Our study is still going on, but preliminary findings indicate the poverty battle cannot be waged on a mass attack unless such programs as capable of being adapted where necessary to the conditions in a specific area," sociologist Hugh P. O'Brien said.

"Despite common denominators of poverty — low income, poor housing, inadequate schools — there are many differences, even among the same ethnic groups in different geographical areas," O'Brien said.

The study was conducted in New York's Harlem and Spanish Harlem; Washington's Negro and Appalachian blight areas, and Chicago's Puerto Rican and southern white slums. It showed marked differences from area to area.

For example, O'Brien said the Puerto Rican in Chicago feels much less entrapped in the ghetto than his counterpart in Spanish Harlem. Residential and employment stability is far greater among Appalachian immigrants to Washington than those in Chicago. The drug addiction which plagues Harlem is virtually absent in Washington's Q Street Negro slum area.

Only half the households eligible for welfare had even bothered to apply for public relief grants, according to the study.

The study involved 2,500 households and 9,860 persons and was undertaken under a $564,302 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity, OEO.

It found that job training programs have had virtually no impact in ghettos.

"Fewer than 20 per cent of those we interviewed, who had left or been graduated from school, had had any form of job training," O'Brien said.

Most of those who received job training got it from employers. Only 5 per cent received such training from government or non-profit agencies. The total dropped to 2 per cent among teen-agers, he said.

Not only must mass attacks on poverty be better directed to the needs of the population they are aimed at serving, they must be accompanied by major changes in social institutions, O'Brien found.

"Such institutional change has not yet been brought about, with the possible exception of the legal services program, which appears to have accomplished some necessary changes in legal structure and procedures as they relate to the poor," O'Brien said.

San Antonio's World's Fair is the first international exposition ever held in the southern half of the United States, National Geographic says. The $156 million fair seeks to combine the gaiety of a festival, the vigor and spontaneity of the frontier, and the sophisticated adventure of Space Age Technology.

Washington window

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House: It was possible from behind White House fences to get fleeting glimpses of what was happening to America's image abroad during violence that swept many cities after the death of Dr. Martin Luther King.

There was an urgent telephone call to the White House Sunday from London. One of America's better known columnists, Rowland Evans, was flying over the Atlantic aboard a commercial airliner bound for Washington.

The airline's London office wanted to arrange, through the good offices of the White House, "safe conduct" for Evans from Dulles International Airport in suburban Virginia to the columnist's home in the fashionable Georgetown section of Washington.

The conclusion at this end of the overseas call was that the British airline people, in concern for a passenger, thought Washington had been turned into one large battleground.

Actually, the route from Dulles to Georgetown was far from the area of the nation's capital where the disorders were centered. But the impression abroad must have been that the entire town was in flames.

Worried African diplomats telephoned both the White House and State Department for advice on what to do during the worst of the Washington violence.

The Advice
The advice was to stay away from the trouble area and conform with the curfew, although police and soldiers probably would not have been too stringent in curfew enforcement for vehicles bearing diplomatic license plates.

Yesterday we described an extraordinary play by L. Spier which enabled him to make six hearts on the accompanying hand. He won the spade lead, cashed three trumps and the ace of diamonds, led a club to the ace, discarded the king of diamonds on the club king, ruffed a club, and then led towards the jack of diamonds.

Such imaginative play is worthy of the highest commendation but, sad to relate, the outcome was rather tragic. The hand was played at five other tables with the following results:

At the second table, South played six notrump, got a spade lead which he ducked, won the spade continuation, and then cashed six hearts and two diamonds. This brought East down to three cards and he could not keep both his spade and club guards. So declarer made six notrump for 990 points, which was 10 points better than the 980 Mr. Spier scored.

At the third table, the contract was also six notrump. West opened a diamond, dummy's jack won, and South made thirteen tricks on the same squeeze for a score of 1,020 points.

At the fourth table, East doubled a six heart contract, hoping thereby to induce a diamond lead from partner. However, West led a spade. The charming lady sitting South took the spade and cashed her hearts and diamonds. East threw so many spades during the play that declarer thought the nine of spades was a trick. When she attempted to cash it, East found himself on lead and had to play a club into dummy's A-K-J. The lady scored 1,200 points.

At the fifth table, South played at six hearts redoubled. Here West did lead a diamond and East ruffed. It was his last trick. He too ran into the squeeze and South scored 1,570 points.

At the sixth table, South also reached six hearts, but East elected to sacrifice at six spades. He made only six tricks and North-South scored 1,100 points.

We hereby extend our profound sympathy to Mr. Spier. His play was superb, but every other North-South pair came up with a better score. That's life. (© 1968, King Features Syndicate, Inc.) 4-9-68

Television in review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The large-scale effect that the life of Dr. Martin Luther King had on both black and white America was imparted by television's weekend coverage of the aftermath of his murder.

tributes, services and other reactions showed how the snow balling effect of the story indicated the depths to which Dr. King had touched the nation's subconscious.

Above all—as in the reporting of the aftermath of the assassination of President Kennedy—video was a great and constructive force in showing how most Americans, black and white, reacted with maturity and dignity to the tragedy.

Image Of Restraint
Although one saw pictures of some riots resulting from the death, the overwhelming image transmitted was one of more restraint than many persons had expected. In this way, television not only did its reporting job, but contributed to at least the temporary stability in the nation.

In the early commentary, CBS-TV's Eric Sevareid had the courage and insight to observe that the national mourning indicated a certain healthiness

April arrives, history made

By MIKE FEINSLBER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—April arrived in America and the United States had had enough of winter.

It had suffered the insult of a questioned dollar, the injury of the Pueblo, the fear of siege at Khe Sanh and the direct diagnosis of the President's of concern in the land, despite other attitudes. Although the networks did an admirable job in their coverage, some industry observers felt they might have made a gesture which many Negroes told me they would have appreciated and respected. The suggestion was:

On the day of the killing, at least, and on Sunday's national day of mourning, the networks might have done what they did when President Kennedy was assassinated—suspend all advertising and eliminate all of the regular trivial programming.

Commercials Mar Mood
The constant interruptions of sickening commercials while nation was in a traumatic state constantly made it all but impossible to maintain a continuous mood of dignity. One can imagine the reaction to these abominable intrusions, especially the feeling of Negroes, to many of whom King's death was at least as agonizing as the murder of President Kennedy.

Network reporting of the King assassination aftermath continues today and Tuesday. Today the subject is the Memphis march King had planned to lead, and which now will be led by his widow. On Tuesday, television will present coverage of his funeral in Atlanta. Both events begin in the morning.

Tonight's scheduled Academy Awards broadcast on ABC-TV has already been postponed until Wednesday at 10 p.m. EST, out of respect to Dr. King. The broadcast had faced the unhappy situation of going on the night before the funeral, without any Negro performers or presenters taking part in the program because of their mourning. They will participate Wednesday.

National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders which saw forming "two societies, one white, one black—separate and unequal."

On the last day of March the President went on television, renounced political ambition and was saluted in Congress for sacrifice and statesmanship. And—profoundly surprising—the Communist regime in North Vietnam said the electric word: "Talks."

Then came the crack of a rifle. Martin Luther King was in Memphis, preparing to march again. He had led a march there in support of garbage men, mostly Negroes, who were on strike for union recognition and the dues checkoff. The march had erupted into riot, embarrassing King, who preached that nonviolence was not yet out of season in America.

Fatal Outing
King stepped onto the second floor porch of a Negro hotel in Memphis, the Lorraine. A companion called up from the street that he'd better wear his overcoat; the evening promised to be chilly. King leaned down to hear him say something else.

Across the street, from a bathroom in what was described as "a flophouse," a single bullet from a Remington pump rifle equipped with a telescopic sight was fired, mortally wounding King. The marksman escaped. King, 39, a Georgia preacher, son of a preacher, the intense advocate of nonviolence, the Nobel Peace Prize winner, "de laud" to younger black militants, but chiefly the nation's bridge between the black man in the slum and the white man in power, died in the same hospital emergency room where James Meredith had been treated. Meredith was wounded from ambush while on a one-man march from Memphis to Jackson, Miss., in the summer of 1965.

Within two hours of King's death the President of the United States, who on Sunday had prayed for peace in Vietnam on television, was again on television, soliciting national prayer "for peace and understanding throughout this land."

No Politics
Having paid $250 each, about 2,800 Democrats were eating in the ballroom of the Washington Hilton and it promised to be a heady political evening. The President was to speak and so was Hubert H. Humphrey and the Democrats would listen closely for that careful wisecrack a politician who is not quite ready to announce uses to say: "I'm running, fellows."

Instead, when Humphrey rose he said: "Martin Luther King has been shot and he is dead." "We are steeped in violence," said Sen. Frank Church of Idaho. "It is the curse of the land."

The sun had not yet set in California when the first stone was thrown and the first easy-credit television set was stolen. The South reacted first. Automobiles were stoned in Birmingham. Police used disabling gas in Raleigh for crowd control. Two policemen were shot in Memphis. A furniture store was looted in Miami.

Trying magic again in the nation's biggest Negro community, Mayor John V. Lindsay left the Broadway show he was attending and walked Harlem's streets. In Greensboro, N.C., Gov. Dan K. Moore called out the National Guard.

Trouble Widespread
Before the day ended, disorder was reported also in Nashville, Tenn., Tallahassee, Fla., Toledo, Ohio, Greensboro, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, New Bern and Wilmington, N.C., Hartford, Conn., Detroit, Mich., Itta Bena, and Jackson, Miss., Tampa, Fla. Syracuse, Monticello, Ithaca, and Tarrytown, N.Y., Tuscaloosa, Ala. and Washington, D.C.

The White House, President Johnson again on television: "Once again, the heart of America is heavy—the spirit of America weeps—for tragedy denies the very meaning of our land. The life of a man who symbolized the freedom and faith of America has been taken. But it is the fiber and fabric of the republic that is being tested. If we are to have the America that we mean to have, all men—of all races, all regions, all religions—must stand their ground to deny violence its victory in this sorrowful time and in all times to come."

Outside the White House that Friday, young Negroes pranced by the steel gates with their booty of stolen radios, defying the guards: "Shoot me, kill me!"

Washington is a city of 485,000 Negroes and 285,000 whites, the northernmost southern town in America with slums equal to any, a city dependent upon an often indifferent Congress for government, no model city in a place where "model cities" are legislated about.

Now in rancor one Washington spilled over the other. Fleeing to their town houses and apartment towers in the suburbs civil servants released from their desks early drove through the city's streets and had to turn on their headlights in daylight to see through the acrid smoke of burning slums.

Troops Guard Capital
For the first time since President Hoover had the bonus marchers chased away 36 years ago, federal troops—ultimately 11,600 of them—occupied Washington. American troops mustered on the lawn of the White House and machine gun emplacements stood on the front steps of the Capitol.

Downtown store windows were smashed a short stroll from the White House. Ambassadors in the safety of their embassies could hear the scream of sirens and see the glow of slums in flames. What they said of this in their diplomatic dispatches to their own capitals must have made interesting reading.

The White House "situation room" is normally the nerve center of the American government at time of international crisis in the Middle East or Cuba or Budapest. Now it received reports from the 9th Precinct and the 13th.

On Sunday, Hamilton, N.Y., and Des Moines, Iowa, were added to the list of troubled cities.

The President now dispatched troops to Chicago and Baltimore. Washington at last was peaceful.

A few days before the rifle shot in Memphis, the wheels of bureaucracy had completed one task here and produced a handsome paperbound book, thicker than the Bible, containing the complete text of the report on the President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

On page 265 appeared the conclusion, which read:

"It is time now to end the destruction and the violence, not only in the streets of the ghetto but in the lives of people."

The book is on sale by mail through the U.S. government printing office. The price is $2.

Golden Circle anniversary

The Golden Circle Club held their 31st anniversary dinner March 28 at Torry's Restaurant. The table was beautifully decorated with spring flowers.

Fourteen members enjoyed a delicious meal with Marie Craft giving thanks.

A short program was given by Marie Craft, Bessie Fellows and Vesta Stearly.

A beautiful poem was read by Bessie and a contest given by Marie with Lucille Herbert and Lena Trussell winning prizes. Eva Diel won the door prize which was a beautiful potted plant.

The flower fund was collected and cards were sent to the sick. Everyone received a gift and special gifts were given to the club's four charter members.

A big thanks was extended to Bessie, Marie and Vesta for making the anniversary a big success.

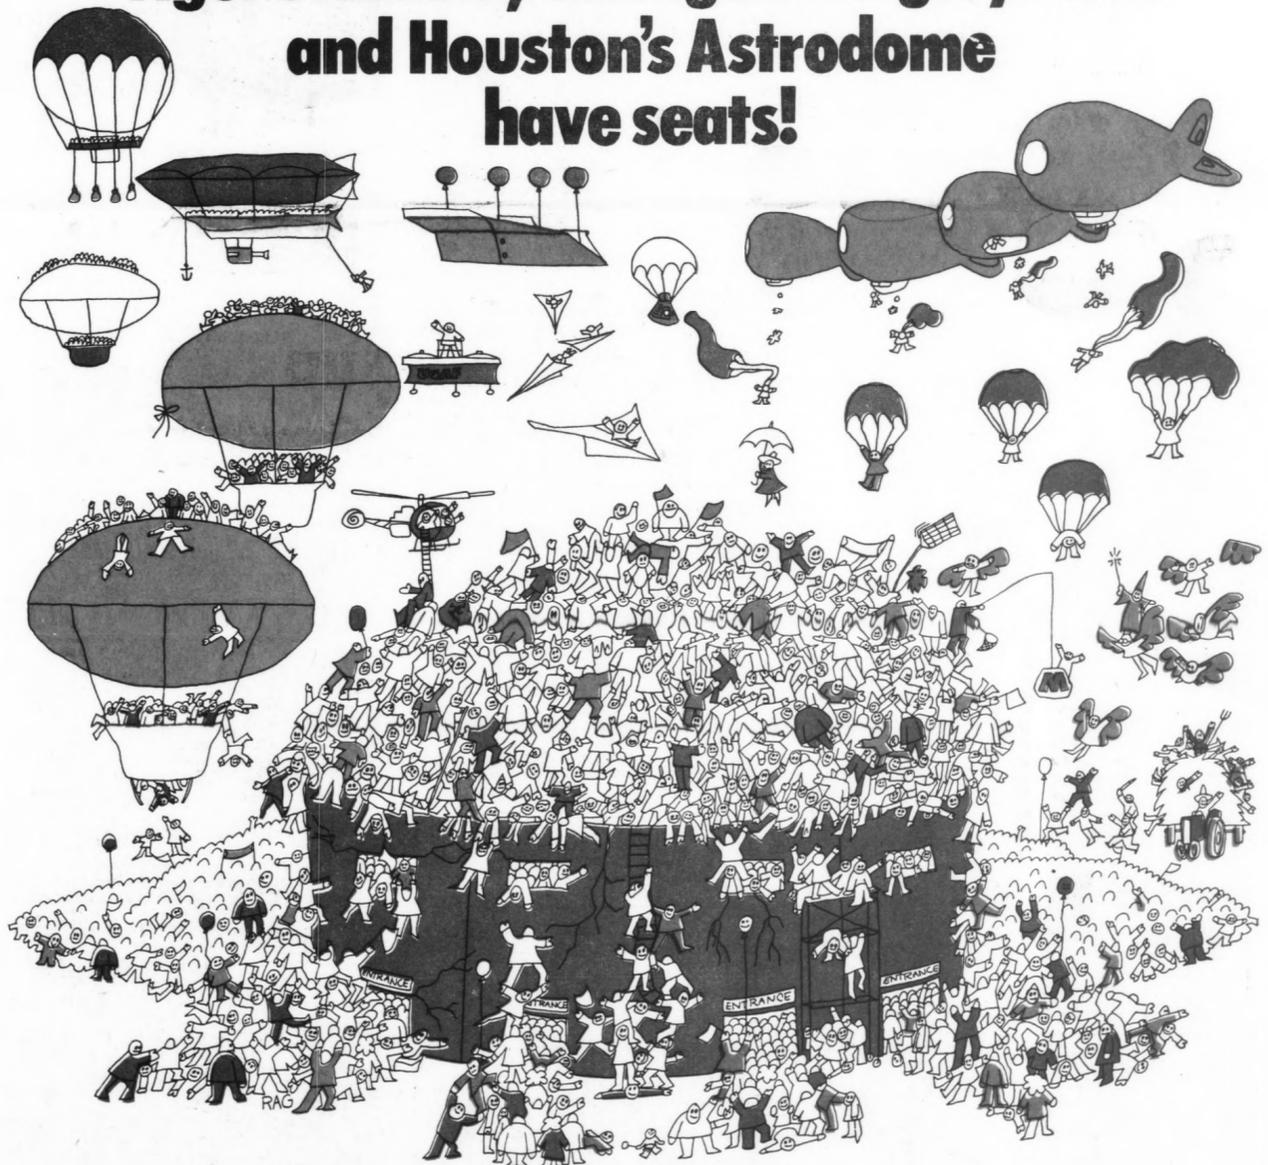

The next meeting will be a pitch-in-dinner at the Reelsville Lions Club building April 25 with Etta Hinote as hostess.
