GRAND CHAMPION "JUNIOR"—Kent Evens holds onto 1,005 pounds which was worth $630 to him last night at the 4-H livestock sale. The grand champion steer, a Charolais, named Junior was purchased by the Greencastle IGA.

From mumps to bucks in 12 months

Bainbridge lad sells grand champion Charolais steer

Last year 13-year-old Kent Evens wanted to go to the fair. He wanted to show cattle. But he was sick at home with the mumps.

Last night, the Bainbridge lad became the first Putnam County 4-her to ever sell a grand champion Charolais steer here.

The 1,005 pound steer named "Junior" was sold for $630 dollars on a bid of 62-cents a pound, 10 cents off the record price at the Putnam County Fair.

Extension office youth agent, Jerry Williams, called the accomplishment of having a Charolais steer in the championship ring a rarity. The French origin animal is normally bypassed for the top honor by the judge for the Angus or Hereford breed.

It was not the case here yesterday. But adding to the rarity was the fact that only three such Charolais steers were entered in the entire judging, Williams said.

Even's father, Morris Evens said the boy decided to show a Charolais steer last October after the Indiana State Fair and after his bout with the mumps.

"We knew the odds were against us since this breed doesn't normally win, but I guess it was the right choice alright," he said. Evens owns the Century Concrete Inc. near Bainbridge on U.S. 36.

Also at last night's 4-H sale, which ended at 10:30, Greencastle senior Carolyn Torr paraded her grand champion barrow, a 183 pound Duroc in front of the buyers for a sale of $136.25 to the Greencastle Livestock Center. William DeBoer was the buyer. Miss Torr got a bid of 75-cents a pound.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Torr, the nine year 4-Her was wearing blue jeans only modeling a formal Sunday afternoon at the 4-H Dress Revue where she won the grand championship.

She will also be representing Indiana at the national 4-H Congress judging at Chicago for her scrapbook entry on her previous years work in 4-H crafts.

The champion market lamb, owned by Judy Fordice, rural Greencastle was purchased by Central National Bank. The same banking company also purchased the Grand Champion pair of lambs from Dale Bruner, rural Greencastle.

Tonight at 7:30 p.m., the finalists will compete for the 4-H grand champion showmanship award. The 4-her will have to show four types of animals including steer, swine, sheep and dairy.

Tomorrow the West-Central Indiana Gold Medal Beef show and the Registered Quarter Horse show will climax a week of fair activities. The finals of the amateur talent show will be at 7:30 p.m.

Cong guerrillas rage through Marine patrol

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
SAIGON (UPI)—About 120 guerrillas caught 19 U.S. Marines near the threatened coastal bastion of Da Nang today, killing five and wounding the other 14. The surviving Leathernecks called in artillery fire on themselves to chase the Communist attackers away.

UPI correspondent David Lamb reported the Marines were encamped in foxholes overlooking a valley 20 miles southwest of Da Nang when the Communists opened up. Only when allied artillery began slamming in, 35 minutes later, did the guerrillas pull back, he said. Seven Communists were killed.

Communist forces building for a country-wide offensive at the same time attacked a 24-man Marine unit nearby and killed nine Leathernecks and wounding seven. Twelve guerrilla bodies were found.

American Infantrymen, moved into the foothills south of Da Nang to head off a Red push into the city, Thursday fought six running battles and reported 60 Communists dead against one U.S. soldier wounded.

The fighting south of Da Nang, 360 miles north of Saigon, pointed to the threat of the Communist offensive President Johnson and his commanders warned was in the making. A Communist ambush there Sunday killed 20 Marines and wounded 40.

In Saigon, a male and a female terrorist Thursday threw a bundle of explosives into the home of Huynh Van Dao, an aide to President Nguyen Van Thieu, during a cocktail party. No one was hurt in the blast, spokesmen said.

Killed in accident

By United Press International
Indiana's 1968 traffic fatality toll stood today at 830 compared with 798 a year ago.
Lee Farris, 19, Indianapolis, was killed Thursday night when a car struck a tree on the northside of the capital city.

Lightning Raid
The Communist attack on the 19-man Marine reconnaissance team came before dawn and ended so quickly, there was no time for reinforcements to counter-attack the Communists, Lamb reported.

The pre-dawn fighting signaled increasing Communist movement in the threatened northern provinces of South Vietnam, where 4,000 new American troops have been stationed to forestall the Red offensive President Johnson warned is coming.

For the first time in nearly two weeks, U.S. B52 bombers struck into the southern half of the Demilitarized Zone against Communist soldiers moving across from North into South Vietnam, headquarters said.
Two Navy lieutenants, Norm McCoy of Birmingham, Ala., and George Hise of Des Moines, Iowa, shot down a Communist MIG21 over North Vietnam Thursday, the 110th Communist interceptor lost to U.S. pilots in the war.

Land sinking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A number of areas in the United States are, by geological standards, sinking rapidly.
This was reported during the weekend by the Coast and Geodetic Survey, which said one reason was the activities of man, including removal of big petroleum deposits.

Czech leaders fight anti-Russian feelings

By JAMES O. JACKSON
PRAGUE (UPI)—Czech Communist reform leaders fought today to keep their people turning anti-Russian.

They struggled with public feelings aroused by their four-day confrontation with Kremlin leaders—a meeting in which they Czech leaders managed to buy time for their reform program.

Czech citizens had watched with tense nerves the summit on the Soviet border Monday through Thursday. For the Soviets had been threatening to use armed force to stamp out their Czech comrades' eight-month-old switch from Stalinism to more liberal rule.

Czech leaders including Josef Smrkovsky, parliament president, came back Thursday night to find 15,000 persons jamming the main square in Prague's old town. The crowd roared for word that the Czechs still were masters in their own house.

Smrkovsky wiggled through the crowd and onto a balcony near the spot where, 20 years ago, earlier Communists proclaimed Stalinism triumphant in Czechoslovakia. Smrkovsky told the crowd they could be sure Czech sovereignty is still intact.

He said the leaders came back "deeply convinced that we have fulfilled with honor the task our people gave us."

He mentioned something that had been disturbing the crowd—

the agreement with the Soviet politburo to meet Saturday at Bratislava with all the bloc foes of the Czech reform program, Poles, East Germans, Bulgarians, Hungarians as well as the Russians.

Smrkovsky said the five bloc members will not be sitting in judgment on Czech communism.

"In Bratislava on Saturday we shall not talk of polemics which were among us after the Warsaw Letter (written two weeks ago by the five bloc members and lashing the Czech reforms) nor will our home Czech affairs be discussed. These are our own affairs," Smrkovsky said. The crowd in the square was not fully satisfied.

The exchange in the square reflected what informed sources said was one of the bargains struck by the Czech and Soviet leaders in their meeting at Cierna Nad Tisou this week. That was a promise by Prague leaders to discourage anti-Soviet voices in their press and public.

Western observers said Smrkovsky, who said he was tired after the four-day summit, came to the square only to keep the demonstration from getting out of hand and resulting in an anti-Soviet blast.

The crowd had gathered in search of more information than the bland communique that ended the four days at Cierna Nad Tisou. First the crowd tried to push into Prague Radio. Then it mustered in the square.

Indianapolis policeman shot

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Police officer Louis Kearns, 26, suffered a gunshot wound in his arm Thursday night in a gun fight with two men, one of whom apparently tried to kidnap him.

Kearns said he picked up a hitchhiker when he went off duty at midnight and the man pulled a gun when they drove about three blocks and forced him to drive to an address on the southwest side of the city.

Kearns said that when they arrived another car pulled in behind him. He said he rolled out of the car while the hitchhiker rolled out the other side, dropping a pellet gun.

Kearns said the man fired four shots at him and one hit him. He said he also fired at the other car and two shots struck the vehicle but the two men drove away.

The race almost is on; hopefuls ready to run

By RAYMOND LAHR
MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The down to the wire contest for the Republican presidential nomination was openly converted into a three-way race today by the appearance of a functioning campaign organization for Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. For the first time since 1952, the outcome may be in doubt until the balloting on the third day of the GOP National Convention, which opens Monday.

The creation of a Reagan organization to challenge Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York surprised no one. Still Reagan persists in calling himself only a favorite son candidate until his name goes before the convention Wednesday.

Reagan, Rockefeller Alliance Reagan supporters scoffed at polls and delegate counts showing him a weak third behind the two more active candidates. But they were working in an uneasy alliance with Rockefeller campaigners to block a first or second ballot nomination for Nixon.

F. Clifton White, one of the key men in Barry M. Goldwater's successful pre-convention drive in 1964 nomination, announced Thursday that he had been asked by the California delegation to coordinate convention activity for Reagan. He demurred, however, at being called Reagan's campaign manager.

White was hired by the delegation as an adviser and to collect information—as he put it —about "the mood of delegates" to the convention. He told a news conference that he had reported six weeks ago that Reagan's undeclared candidacy was attracting "considerable support and interest throughout the country."

Claim Delegates Switch Rockefeller managers, in their effort to stop Nixon on the first and second ballots, have in puted to Reagan more strength than even Reagan's own backers claim. The Rockefeller organization says Reagan has picked up more than 40 delegates from Nixon in the past few days. A key Reagan backer said 15 to 20 might have switched.

The latest UPI tally shows 679 delegates now committed to or leaning toward Nixon, 294 for Rockefeller, 166 for Reagan. The others are uncommitted or pledged to favorite sons. "Leaning" delegates of course may change their minds before the balloting begins. It takes 667 delegates to clinch the prize.

While Nixon and Rockefeller campaigners argued about the meaning of public opinion polls, White commented that "you take your choice and pick the one you like." He said current polls cannot be taken as an indication of the election result Nov. 5.

Suspended sentence

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Johnnie Royalty, 23, Evansville, was given a 90-day suspended sentence by Federal Judge Cale J. Holder Tuesday on a charge of resisting arrest as an Army deserter by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Testimony at a hearing on Royalty's plea of guilty showed that the 5-foot-5-inch 125-pound Royalty fought and threatened FBI agents and police when they tried to take him last May for being absent without leave from Fort Riley, Kas., since the previous December.

DEAR HELOISE:

When we moved cross-country recently we traveled in two cars, a daughter with each of us. I worried ahead of time as to how I could communicate with my husband who was going to drive in the lead car. Then I found the answer.

I bought two sets of little colored plastic flags (used at service stations, sales, etc.). I made a small hem in each, large enough to insert a "flag-pole" the bottom part of a wooden coat hanger.

Then we thought up a code for the different colors. Blue meant we needed gas, yellow that we were hungry, orange meant we were tired and to pull off the road for a while. Red meant stop immediately, car trouble. White was the O.K. flag and was used to acknowledge the other person's message.

It really worked during the daytime and we avoided many unnecessary stops. Of course, at night the flags were no good and we blinked our lights for stops.

One more thing... our daughters were the flag wavers, as the driver, of course, couldn't manage this and keep an eye on the road. Eva Rodgers

And if you can't find plastic flags, you could just use solid color cloth scraps and put them on the stick with thumb tacks.

We all salute you, Eva, for your excellent travel plan. I'll bet a sailor hat that you've a bit of "Navy" blood in you! Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

To dry throw rugs or bedspreads quickly, put the article over the line and place three or four coat hangers under them, crossways.

This will spread them out so that the air gets in between the folds. H. E.

DEAR HELOISE:

The chore of making beds is easier now that I've sewed large buttons on the underside of my mattress (about six inches from the corners) to fasten the elastic of the mattress pad to.

I just give the elastic a twist, then over the button and it holds the pad nice and smooth so it doesn't wrinkle under the sheet. Dixie Birmingham

DEAR HELOISE:

When crumbs have collected in the bottom of my cookie jar, instead of throwing them away, I save them until I have about one-half cup.

Then I make chocolate or vanilla pudding and ripple the crumbs all through it like marble cake.

It saves two ways: it stretches the pudding and you don't throw away those crumbs you originally paid for.

The crumbs could also be used with graham cracker crumbs for pie crust. If they are from different kinds of cookies, it doesn't matter one bit, they're even better. Joan Hamilton

Hey, hey, how about that for a penny-pinching hint, gals? That's the kind that's right up my alley. Thanks, Joanie. Heloise

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE: For those who are generally discouraged, try my remedy...

I drew a plan of my dream house on a large paper sack with a pencil and ruler. I let a half inch equal a foot and even drew in the furniture and used crayons to color it.

Then whenever I feel that I can't stand things a minute longer, I get out my "blue-print" and just dream for a few minutes.

You'll be surprised the way you'll feel after putting it away until the next slump. And who knows, perhaps someday you'll be able to pull out that plan and really do something about it! Mrs. J. C. McKenzie

DEAR HELOISE:

After using a liquid sweetener for about five years, I finally learned how NOT to get that drop of real sweet stuff all in one spot in my cereal.

I now add sweetener to my milk (who uses cream?), then add my cereal. Upside-down cereal I call it. Grace Parks

Willard Burnham, age 23, Mt. Etna, an escapee from the Indiana State Farm, appeared before Circuit Court Judge Francis Hamilton, Wednesday morning. He entered a plea of guilty and was found guilty. He was sentenced to one to five years in the Indiana Reformatory with recommendations.

Another escapee from the Indiana State Farm appeared before Judge Hamilton, Thursday morning. Aaron V. Malone, age 22, East Chicago, Ind., pled guilty and was found guilty. He was sentenced to one to five years in the Indiana Reformatory with recommendations.

Madden voices disapproval of farm bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Ray Madden, D-Ind., voiced his disapproval of a Tuesday decision by Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, to ask the House to approve a four-year extension of present major farm programs, by charging that the farm program has "degenerated into a fat cat operation . . . with the bulk of the money going to corporation farms, those who need it least."

Madden was certain to support limitations to the bill if it is not killed by the House. He would prefer the latter.

The bill before the House would extend for one year, through 1970, the government's major production control and price supports programs for wheat, feed grains, cotton, and wool. The programs are scheduled to die Dec. 31, 1969, and farm belt spokesmen — especially from the wheat producing areas — insist farmers need a year's extension guaranteed now to plan their operations.

The Senate earlier this month approved a four-year extension. Now, Smith says he thinks he has enough votes to get the job done in the House. Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman told reporters Smith's four-year amendment would receive 220 votes, more than enough for passage.

Smith was more careful in his assessment of prospects. He said only that he was confident of winning if all who promised him support showed up to vote.

Smith's decision confirms Republicans' worst fears. The House Republican Policy Committee for the GOP presidential nomination have endorsed the one-year extension. But some Republicans, notably Rep. Page Belcher, Okla., were so fearful that Congress would wind up approving a compromise within the House-Senate range, they were determined to oppose even the House bill.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., who lost out on an early attempt to block consideration of the bill on a technicality, was prepared to ask for a $10,000 limitation on government payments to industrial farms.

Smith said he has been working for about three weeks with Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., on an apparent tit-for-tat agreement: Farm bloc support for her plan to liberalize food programs for the poor for four years, in return for a four-year extension of farm programs.

Mrs. Sullivan's amendment for a four-year, open-ended food stamp program won House approval just before the Farm Bill was taken up.

Sirhan faces court, expect not guilty plea

By JACK V. FOX
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dozens of persons witnessed the June 5 assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and saw a gun wrenched from the hand of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan moments later.

Today, the slender defendant was appearing in court to answer the charge he murdered Kennedy, and it was anticipated his attorney would plead innocent or innocent by reason of insanity.

The 24-year-old Jordanian-born Sirhan was summoned to a mini-fortress courtroom only 50 feet from his cell on the 13th floor of the Hall of Justice where armor plate shields the courtroom windows and the 80 newsmen and spectators are searched for weapons.

Sirhan was expected to appear at 9 a.m., PDT, (Noon EDT).

Russell, Parsons, the defense attorney, revealed Thursday that a plea had been decided upon and would be entered today.

Asked if Sirhan concurred in the plea, Parsons said: "Oh, yes. I wouldn't do anything without his approval."

Kennedy was fatally wounded shortly after midnight in a pantry of the Ambassador Hotel moments after a jubilant celebration of his victory in the California Democratic presidential primary. One of the three bullets penetrated his brain and he died 25½ hours later.

Sirhan had the option of pleading guilty, innocent, innocent by reason of insanity—or a double plea of innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

Late Thursday, Parsons filed a legal brief opposing modification of a sweeping court order prohibiting extra-judicial statements by persons connected with the case.

At Sirhan's last court appearance, Dist. Atty. Evelle Younger said he will seek either revocation or modification of the "order re publicity" issued by Superior Court Judge Arthur L. Alacron the day Sirhan was indicted. The order had the effect of clamping a virtual news blackout on the case.

After the plea, Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer was expected to set a trial date. Parsons has said he will seek to have the trial held back until November when the election is over. The attorney said he would not ask a change of venue.

"He can get as fair a trial here as in Caribou, Maine," he said.

Breakfast club host retires

CHICAGO (UPI)—Don McNeil will retire Jan. 1.

McNeil, 60, host of the nation's oldest radio show, the Don McNeil Breakfast Club, said Thursday he had no definite plans. He recently celebrated his 35th anniversary with the American Broadcasting Co.

"The decision to retire was far from an easy one," he said. "No one has had a longer or happier association with ABC than I. Although things were never better, all good things must come to an end. "So why not quit when you're still ahead?"

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barker and Dale and Dick Barker entertained at their country home, Sunday, with a family get together. Three birthdays were celebrated. Those attending were Less Barnes; Mrs. Helen Bosley, Beech Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barker and children; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bosley; Mrs. Dave Bratton and children, all of Indianapolis; Mrs. Linda Hutson and daughter, Lori; Mrs. Velma Hobson and son, John; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Rooksberry; Fred Aterburn, Rockville; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer, Flora, Ohio; Miss Bess Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Sigler and Mr. and Mrs. Don Jeffries and children. All departed late thanking the Barkers for an enjoyable day.

Mrs. Hattie Unger entered the Putnam County Hospital, Sunday. Our deepest sympathy goes to the Hazlett family, Marine Lance Cpl. Robert D. Hazlett, age 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hazlett, former resident of Parke County, was killed in action in Vietnam, near the demilitarized zone. His body was taken to Portland Mills Cemetery for burial last Sunday afternoon.

The Irwin Reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glendyn Irwin on state road 43 last Sunday. There was a large crowd, several coming from quite a distance. At noon the table was laden with good food. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Irwin served homemade ice cream and ice cold watermelons. All departed late thanking the host and hostess for a wonderful day and appreciating the invitation to return next year for the reunion.

Mrs. Dorothy Unger and Mrs. Ann Barker shopped in Indianapolis, Monday.

Bill Newgent is still in the Methodist Hospital, Indianapolis.

House guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Williams Sr. are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Roush and children, Cindy, Sherri and Todd, Ostrander, Ohio. Mrs. Roush is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Williams. She is the former Sandra Welch. Another granddaughter, Beverly Williams, is also a guest this week. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Williams Sr. attended the funeral of Claude Lawler, Lebanon, Monday. He was Mrs. Williams' uncle.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Roush and Mr. and Mrs. Williams and children shopped in Brazil, Tuesday afternoon.

society and all it stands for. They argue as follows: C.A.R. only appears to support the Birch point of view. Actually, though, his letter is not an honest and sincere defense of Birchism but a cynical and shameful attempt to make everyone believe what liberals and sane conservatives have always said about the Birch Society--that it is a haven for all sorts of weird kooks who are unburdened by even an elementary knowledge of the rules of evidence, logic, and English composition. Look closely at his letter, they say. Though it is advanced as a Birchite tract, even a casual reading of it shows it to be the most obvious kind of "unpatriotic drive!"--to use William F. Buckley's phrase. Not even the most devout Birchite, they assert, really believes that Martin Luther King was killed by the Communists or that the "Indianapolis Star and News" can significantly educate anybody about anything. Birchers may not be the most intellectually agile people in the world, they admit, but few of them are "that" bad. In reality, therefore, C.A.R. is not the Birchsymp he claims to be but a clandestine and insidious master of deceit who seeks to tarnish the image of the Birch Society and undermine public confidence in the caliber of the Birch mind. In fact, C.A.R. is obviously an ally of Richard Dean, if not Dean himself.

The liberals and sane conservatives, of course, deny this. Although they quite agree that C.A.R. is engaging in duplicity, they have a very different explanation for it. Working on the assumption that Birchers are naturally devious (why else are they so secretive about their membership and activities?). They argue that C.A.R. is actually a member of the Birch Society and of TRAIN who is trying to hide his identity by pretending he is merely a Birchsymp. At the same time, he wants to let other members know that he is really a member in good standing without, of course, saying so. What gives him away, the liberals and sane conservatives say, is the very way he signs his letter: "C.A.R.," they claim, refers not to his initials but to

Bayh not interested in being vice president

WASHINGTON (UPI)--Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana said Wednesday he was not interested in running for Vice President on the Democratic ticket this year, but he was "deeply honored" at the suggestion by Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H.

McIntyre, in a speech from the Senate floor Wednesday, urged Democrats to nominate Bayh for the vice presidency. McIntyre also said he was sending letters to all prospective Democratic presidential nominees, asking that Bayh be considered.

Bayh had a previous appointment and was not present in the Senate when McIntyre delivered his speech.

The Indiana Senator said he was somewhat surprised that McIntyre delivered the speech because he said he told the New Hampshire lawmaker on Monday he was not interested in the nomination.

Bayh is running for re-election to a second six-year term in the Senate.

He said he was "deeply honored that a distinguished United States Senator should even consider me for this nomination, but that my only interest is in seeking a second term for Senator from the State of Indiana."

"I cannot overstate my gratitude and appreciation for this gesture on the part of Senator McIntyre, but neither can I overstate the fact that I have given this idea no consideration," Bayh said, "and I cannot foresee any occurrence that would change my intention to his status in the TRAIN organization. "C.A.R." is merely a clever code word for "member," for aren't TRAINS after all made up of CARS, they ask? Not only is C.A.R. merely a member of TRAIN, they continue, he is obviously a rather lowly member who is bucking for higher status by writing such obsequious claptrap about the Birch Society and TRAIN organization, at which time he will be the LOCOMOTIVE -- or "LOCO" for short.

Everyone, both Birchers and liberals and sane conservatives, wish him luck.

SEVERAL BOOK PUBLISHERS are said to be urging a Wyoming rancher named Percival to write a book entitled, "How to Bag Two Deer Without Firing a Single Shot."

Seems Mr. Percival nailed his first deer with his pick-up truck. The garage man in the town nearest the conquest estimated that for $700 he'd made the pick-up truck look good as new, then loaned Mr. Percival his own car to drive back home. Four miles out of town--you guessed it!--Mr. Percival plowed into deer number two. We spare you Mrs. Percival's comments when her intrepid husband got home.

After Susan had been away at Wellesley College for a fortnight, she long-distanced her mother to plead for fifty dollars for a new dress. "I've had dates for six consecutive nights with a divine Harvard senior," she explained, "and have worn each of the dresses I brought with me. I just must have another one for a party this Saturday night." Mama's cold response was, "Get another boy friend and start over."

There's an usher in a Broadway theatre that hasn't housed a hit show in three years--just a dreary succession of "turkeys" that close after five or ten dismal performances. "I'll tell you how bad it is," volunteers this usher. "I haven't had to change my flashlight batteries since 1965!"

New hair styles

PARIS (UPI)--One of the most important ingredients of the new Paris look for this fall and winter had nothing to do with coats, dresses, suits or evening gowns.

It began with a new hairdo. Gone were all the busy, bushy, elaborate hairstyles that meant hours at the coiffure and a half-dozen hairpieces.

Not one Paris haute couture salon showed hairstyles that could be considered elaborate by comparison with last season's curls and complicated hairstyles.

This season the head was small, either cropped close like a boy's or pulled into a womanly chignon.

Sometimes for evening a piece was added to make the bob look like long hair or the chignon look bigger, but it was seldom so extravagant that one stopped to think "that has to be a hairpiece."

The Chignons were especially small and neat at Dior and one pretty blonde Swedish model wore a cropped cut that looked almost like Twiggy's old hair style.

Adding to the small head look were dozens of helmets and hoods. Dior made tiny helmets like baby bonnets and fastened them neatly under the chin, sometimes with chain, sometimes with a fabric strap. Other times there were detachable hoods growing out of jersey tunic blouses.

Orioles trail Tigers by six on 2-run single

By PETE ALFANO
UPI Sports Writer

Earl Weaver didn't turn too many heads during spring training when he tabbed unknown Ellie Hendricks as a potential major leaguer and it took nearly two-thirds of the season, but, the Cleveland Indians are finally taking notice.

Hendricks, a 27-year-old rookie who beat the Indians Wednesday night with a two-run homer, came through with a two-run single in the ninth inning Thursday night off 17-game winner Luis Tiant to lead Baltimore to a 5-1 victory and move the Orioles to within six games of front-running Detroit.

Hendricks, a native of the Virgin Islands, slammed 41 homers in the Mexican League last season and then added 15 more for the Puerto Rican winter league club managed by his present skipper, Weaver.

During the spring, Weaver, when a coach with the Orioles, said of Hendricks: "I think he's of major league caliber, he's strong and he'll hit them out."

Little Action
Hendricks has played only briefly this season, going 17-for-68 for a .250 batting average, including seven homers.

His single followed a walk to Frank Robinson and a double by Boog Powell off Tiant, now 17-7. Hendricks scored on Brooks Robinson's double and Robinson eventually came across on winning pitcher Dave McNally's sacrifice fly.

McNally scattered six hits while posting his 14th win of the season against eight losses.

In other American League action, New York edged Boston 1-0, Washington slugged Detroit 9-3 and Minnesota defeated Chicago 4-1 in the only other games scheduled.

In the National League, Atlanta topped New York 4-2, Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 6-1, St. Louis edged Philadelphia 2-1 in a game shortened after 7½ innings because of rain, Chicago tripped Houston 4-1 and San Francisco blanked Los Angeles 2-0.

Bahnsen Wins It
Rookie Stan Bahnsen hurled five perfect innings and yielded only three hits and Bill Robinson, subbing for Roy White, drove in the only run with

Rick Berry law suit lingers on

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Basketball's lengthy lawsuit between Rick Barry and the San Francisco Warriors went into the deep freeze today with no ruling scheduled until the end of this month.

Superior Court Judge Walter Carpeneti heard final arguments Wednesday then said he was leaving on vacation this weekend. He added that he would decide the case by the end of the month. He is due back Aug. 26.

The Warriors, a member of the National Basketball Association, are suing to have Barry play another season for them or give them $812,000 in damages. The former University of a seventh inning single as the Yankees edged Boston and Dave Morhead.

Ron Hansen, a strikeout victim in six previous official at-bats, connected for a grand slam homer and Mike Epstein and Bernie Allen hit two-run homers as the Senators blasted Detroit behind the eight-hit pitching of Joe Coleman.

Bob Allison drove in a pair of runs with a single and a homer and Dean Chance, making his first relief appearance of the season, preserved Jim Perry's eighth victory as the Twins downed Chicago.

Need more money

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Several speakers at a public hearing Thursday on post-high school education urged that more tax dollars and prestige should be given to vocational training.

Robert E. Martin, education director for the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce, said he was hopeful the 1969 Legislature could be spared a continuance of the battle over who should control vocational education and could proceed with plans for its growth.

He said he felt students in the various institutes sponsored by the Indiana Vocational Technical College "should have the same state support as those students going to state-supported baccalaureate colleges."

Martin was one of about a dozen speakers before the morning session of the State Policy

Dead Marine believed fighting with Cong

SAIGON (UPI)—A band of U.S. Marines two weeks ago shot and killed a white American male identified as a Marine who they said was leading Communist troops into battle, the Leatherneck patrol leader said Thursday.

The caucasian wore green fatigues, regulation webbed gear and a red sash around his waist and carried a U.S.-made M14 rifle, Marine Cpl. Charles H. House of Glendora, Calif., told UPI cameraman Charles Gerretsen.

House said four of the five Leathernecks who saw the man identified him from photographs as a U.S. Marine missing in action since September, 1965.

A fifth Marine, however, disagreed and said the white Communist soldier was an American civilian, also listed officially as missing.

The Marines described the caucasian as about five feet eight inches tall, sharp-faced with slightly pointed ears and with long brown hair combed back.

The report from House's patrol was the first concrete indication of an American fighting on the Communist side in the Vietnam War, although there have been numerous unconfirmed rumors.

House, with the 1st Marine Division, said his nine-man patrol had set out on a reconnaissance mission in the lowlands around Phu Loc, about 12 miles southeast of Phu Bai, on July 13.

It was two days later, he said, and they had "just finished eating" around noon "when I saw this caucasian walking from behind a big rock."

"He wore green fatigues, regular webbed gear and a red sash around his waist," said the Leatherneck.

House said the man "held his rifle in the Marine fashion, weapon held out in front of his body" and that "the VC or NVA (Viet Cong or North Vietnamese) were behind him."

House said the caucasian glanced behind him, and that "this gave me time to go for my M16 (automatic rifle)."

At the same time, he said, Lance Cpl. Perry C. Gordon of Baldwin, Miss., "opened up, killing the VC or NVA and wounding the caucasian."

The white man slumped, House added, and "was in pain." He said the man cried out "help me, help me," twice. "He must have had 10 bullets in him," House said, "I did as he asked—and shot him."

Almost simultaneously, he said, another Marine, Lance Cpl. Kim Wilker of Waseca, Minn., "threw a hand grenade which lifted the caucasian off the ground."

The white man was "in his death spasm" and "we were receiving heavy fire" from a ridge to the left, then "about 20 to 25 Viet Cong or NVA came charging down," Walker said.

House said he pulled his patrol together and "we high-tailed it out of there."

House said that when the patrol members told their story to military authorities in Phu Bai, "they showed us pictures of people who had been missing in action."

It was from these pictures, he said, that four of the five who had seen the man's face identified him as one missing Marine, while the fifth pointed out another photograph.

House said he and Gordon returned to the area three days later, but by that time "the bodies were gone."

Foreign news commentary

By CHARLES R SMITH

HONG KONG (UPI)—The Red Chinese army shows serious cracks at the top command level as it celebrates its 41st birthday today.

It is not a very happy anniversary despite the increasingly important role the army is playing and despite an order from Peking for the entire population of 700 million to "love" and "support" the army.

The huge military establishment is showing grave internal strain. It also is coming under stronger civilian criticism than ever and occasionally is the target of violent attack.

With most of Red China's normal administrative structure damaged or destroyed by the cultural revolution of Communist Chairman Mao Tse-Tung, it is the army that is holding the country together.

Assigned Domestic Tasks
Soldiers are supervising the railroads, helping with the harvests, keeping civilian aircraft flying, watching over factory production, giving military training to Red Guards and helping run the schools.

Military men are operating special "Mao-thought" indoctrination courses for millions of adults, running defense industries, guiding research and development programs for nuclear weapons and missiles while trying to maintain public order.

At the same time, the army is charged with keeping war supplies flowing to North Vietnam, Laos and Viet Cong forces in South Vietnam. It also has more than 50,000 men in Vietnam and Laos helping maintain communications and transport facilities damaged by American bombing.

Despite these extra duties, the army is expected to maintain combat readiness on Red China's extensive border areas.

Defenses Weakened
Military intelligence analysts in this listening post believe the numerous non-military demands being made by the cultural revolution undoubtedly have affected the army's ability to respond to attack from outside.

The ability of China's military machine to mount an attack outside the country's borders has been impaired even more seriously, these sources said.

According to the analysts, the army's preoccupation with internal politics has been reflected by a much less aggressive posture in sensitive border areas and by a less belligerent tone in policy pronouncements on such issues as the Vietnam War.

BIDDING QUIZ

You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North East South West
1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
3♣ Pass ?

What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠KJ74 ♥6 ♦Q852 ♣Q943
2. ♠K75432 ♥K ♦K84 ♣K72
3. ♠K863 ♥972 ♦QJ9 ♣QJ5
4. ♠AJ985 ♥J83 ♦KJ ♣A63
5. ♠KQ96 ♥Q5 ♦762 ♣AJ86

1. Four spades. The jump raise is not forcing, though it does carry a strong invitation to game. The opener generally has about 18 points, part of which may be in distributional values. In addition, the opener guarantees four-card trump support.

2. There is ample reason to go on to four spades. The hand is a queen better than a minimum spade response; we can very likely make at least ten tricks.

3. Four notrump. A slam is very probable and the number of tricks we can take will almost surely depend on how many aces North has for his jump raise. Blackwood is therefore used to elicit this information.

4. If North responds five spades (showing three aces), we bid six. If North shows four aces by responding five clubs (indicating no aces or all four aces) we undertake a grand slam. Of course, if North responds five hearts (showing only two aces) we quit at five spades.

5. Three notrump. Nine tricks at notrump might prove easier to make than ten tricks at spades. Partner usually converts to four spades in this sequence because of his distributional values, but occasionally he has a notrump type of hand and will pass.

6. Six spades. Since we have a full opening bid of our own, greatly enhanced by the known spade fit, we are practically sure to have an excellent chance for a slam. Partner jumped to three spades when, so far as he knew, our spade response might have been based on 6 points.

The alternative bid is four clubs, intending to contract for at least six spades later on, but the chances of a grand slam are slim and it is probably better to use the direct method of getting to six. There is not much point in unnecessarily disclosing information to the opponents.

7. Four clubs. Again there is a chance of a slam, but whether it can be made depends largely on the makeup of North's hand especially with reference to his diamond holding. The four club bid is a slam try, for if we were interested only in game we would bid four spades directly. The eventual contract depends on North's response to the cue-bid.

Shopper's guide

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that meat and poultry, several fresh vegetables, and some fresh fruit are in excellent supply in food stores and supermarkets for weekend food shopper.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys should always be considered as they continue to be the most abundant meats. Beef roasts and steaks are also in usually good supply along with ground beef in some areas. Smoked picnic are again the featured pork item followed by hams, roasts, bacon and chops.

Fish filets and halibut steaks are fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, corn, lettuce, tomatoes, onions and potatoes are in good supply and should be readily available in all areas. Also, look for good stocks of watermelons, cantaloupes, and peaches in all areas, and bananas, plums and blueberries in some areas.

Flying hazard

STOKE-ON-TRENT, England (UPI)— The city council warned courting couples Wednesday that they were endangering their own lives and those of others by hiding in the long grass at the local airport.

Engineers discover pollution remedy

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)— An air pollutant that eliminates pollution in water has been discovered by two environmental engineers at the University of Notre Dame.

Dr. Wayne F. Echebberger Jr. and Dr. Mark W. Tenney, working in a three-year study financed by the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, experimented in scummy Stone Lake at Cassopolis, Mich., and learned that fly ash can eliminate up to 90 per cent of the typical pollutants found in fresh water lakes.

Fly ash is a coal and oil fire waste product commonly trapped in the smokestacks of American power-generating and industrial plants.

Stone Lake was polluted by sewage from the City of Cassopolis until December, 1965, when it stopped discharging pollutants into the water. Echebberger and Tenney then set about to see if the "sick" lake could be "cured."

They discovered that fly ash strained the water somewhat like a cigarette carbon filter, that it released lime to purify the water, and that it settled on the lake bottom and retarded the release of mud pollutants.

Thus far, the experiment has not turned the polluted water into pure drinking water. But it appears that when it is coupled with other measures such as weed cutting, the process can reverse the decaying process and perhaps restore the lake to some recreational uses.

The engineers said fly ash treatment is not suitable for large lakes. They also have not determined what effect it has on fish.

The material is readily available. About 25 to 30 million tons of it are produced each year. That's enough to treat 400 lakes the size of Stone.
